Those who have lived through the earlier days of the Spring freshets of great volume and force which swept down the Indian river channel can give living testimony to the rightness of the judgment of the experienced observers who moved decades ago to control this wasteful run off of waters from barren or denuded areas by establishing a system of dams and reservoirs. Foresters, agronomists, geologists and others shared in the projects which came to fruition on the draughting-boards of the engineers.

NEW MEMORIAL BUILDING nears completion at The Grove School, Lakefield. This is the latest of the group to be added to the famous independent school since it began its work and life in the original old Grove house, home of the first Headmaster and boys 72 years ago.—Examiner Staff Photo.

The Grove Of Lakefield Unique Old School

One of the oldest existing schools in the district and among the oldest of the 18 private boys' schools in Canada is The Grove School, Lakefield. It was founded in 1879 at the Lakefield Preparatry School. From that year to this it has had its ups-and-downs, but generally the path has been upwards. This year, for instance, a new Memorial Building is nearing completion. This will give extra dormitory space, class rooms and changing rooms for junior boys.

Like many of the other buildings of The Grove, the new Memorial Building is of frame construction, very much in keeping with the lakeside, rural character of the school. It will be ready for occupancy very soon after the new school term opens next Wednesday.

Remarkable Setting, Character

The school in its setting and character is one of the most remarkable in Canada. It has achieved its international reputation through the personality of some great teachers and headmasters, its sound schooling which fulfils its motto "Mens Sana in Corpore Sano" (a healthy mind in a healthy body), and above all, for its friendliness and unpretentiousness. That is it; the Grove School is an unpretentious place, for all its long history, distinguished graduates and fine equipment and staff. That quality enters into the spirit of school and boys. Although, and perhaps because, it is a private school intended by its English founder Sparkham Sheldrake for the "education of sons of gentlemen", it educates to a sense of responsibility and decorous modesty.

It is an unusual school: take for instance its dining room. This looks like the dining hall of a very pleasant modest summer resort. There are no great pillars and marble fireplaces; no triumphal arches. It has bare wooden tables, and ordinary pine walls. The windows look out over pleasant fields to the lake. The whole school gives a feeling of informality and ease.

The two most distinguished parts of the school fabric are the solid central old block in stucco and stone, with the dignified headmaster's house at the south wing; and the memorial chapel built in 1924. In the old central block are venerable worn desks at which sixth formers have sat for generations and from The Grove have gone out into the world to make their name and fortunes. The Memorial Chapel is a gracious, quiet place with its stained glass windows, its organ, its choir stalls in which the boys sit for morning and evening prayers daily. It is a boarding school, but day boys from Peterborough and district are now accepted.

Famous Old Boys

Grove boys have done well in various walks of life. Admiral Nelles, Max. Mackenzie (Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce), Donald Cameron (Deputy Minister of Health) and Victor Drury are all sons of The Grove.

The school has a naval bias. Its cadets are naval cadets, and sailing on the lake is part of the boys' training and recreation. Last year sons of four Canadian admirals were at the school. Boys come to it from many parts of the world: Venezuela, Arabia, the United Kingdom, the United States, and from all parts of Canada including the Maritimes, Peterborough and Vancouver.

A headmaster who has left a permanent stamp on the character of The Grove was the late beloved Rev. Dr. A. W. Mackenzie, headmaster from 1896 until his death in March 1938. The present headmaster is G. Winder Smith, appointed in 1940. Mr. Smith is an Old Boy of the school and a graduate of RMC and Queen's. He has been teaching at The Grove for 20 years.

Close Peterborough Ties

The Grove school has close ties with Peterborough, which is its base of arrivals for the new term and departures at the end. Grove teams play against Peterborough school teams, and Grove boys attend many musical and theatrical functions in Peterborough. Their distinctive scarves and ties and caps are familiar to Peterborough people in town and as they drive north along the highway past Lakefield.

It is a fine thing for this district to have in its midst this notable independent school, one of nine such in the entire province, one of the eighteen in Canada. It has no peer, Grove boys and Old Boys fondly believe.

Caring For Plox In Fall

By HENRY PREE, NEA

Home gardeners complaining that their hybrid varieties of Phlox have reverted to the magenta shades can blame themselves. Failure to remove the faded flowers permitted seed to drop and germinate; actually the original plants have died out and the seedlings have taken their place.

It is especially necessary to divide Phlox every three years as the clumps become hard and woody in the centre, and the blossoms lessen in size and quality.

If you want to preserve the wanted varieties and special colors one should depend upon division and immediate culling of seedlings. The best blooms are always on young plants. Phlox may be divided in September or early spring.

• • •

Cut the lawn high. Never clip shorter than 1½ inches in the summer. Why? Because too close cutting exposes the crown of the grass plants to the hot sun, and because continual close cutting results in a decreased root system that cannot adequately support a vigorous top to water during dry periods, give growth.

• • •

Oriental poppies are easy to grow from roots set out up to Oct. 1, when the plants are dormant. Set the plants two feet apart to allow for spreading. Dig the hole deep, covering the crown with three inches of fine soil.

Water thoroughly, but do not use a chemical fertilizer; instead, apply pulverized or well-rotted manure. Leaves will appear a few weeks after planting and will remain all winter.

Mulch with a light material such as straw or hay, keeping the mulch in place with wooden stakes or wire. Remove mulch in early spring. Good drainage is essential.

Divide Phlox in September or early spring for best results.

Plants may also be started from root cuttings about three inches long which are covered with an inch of earth and kept lightly mulched or partially shaded.

Perennial baby's breath is often planted with oriental poppies to conceal their fading foliage. For an early-blooming poppy, try Iceland poppy (Papaver nudicaule). Easily grown from seed, they bloom the first year and are charming in the low border or rockery.

The Iceland Poppy has charming white, orange, or reddish, fragrant flowers with a number of brilliant varietal forms. Aphids infest poppies but can be controlled by thoroughly spraying the upper side of leaves with nicotine-sulfate and soapy water.

Gardening Questions

Q—How can I eradicate ants from house and garden?—W.Y.

A—Ants in the garden are best controlled by putting cyanogas crystals into a hole leading to the nest, if you know where the nest is, or spraying or dusting the ant infested areas with chlordane. Indoor ants can be eliminated with chlordane dust sprinkled along the mop board or by using one of the proprietory jellies which, when carried into the nest, poisons the queen and her brood.

Q—Our peach trees were sprayed in early spring, but still the foliage is spotted. Will another spraying be helpful?—P.R.

A—Spray them with wettable sulfur and 50 per cent. DDT a week before the fruit is picked. Follow the manufacturer's directions for mixing. In future years follow the regular spray program recommended by your local county agricultural agent.

Q—A wild cherry tree in the yard is infested with webworms. Will burning of the webs get rid of the worms?—J.D.

A—Burning gets rid of the web, but it is dangerous and bad practice. The heat, if not the flame itself, will burn and kill the bark, causing a die-back of many branches. Remove the webs by pruning and then burn them. However, spraying with DDT or lead arsenate should be part of the elimination program.

To-Do and Voodo In Stately Home Of England!

By BON VIVANT

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND—When, as a youth, I was being exposed to the advantages of the Ontario educational system, I had to learn a piece about the stately homes of England, how beautiful they stand. I have been in residence at one of these for the past week, and can only conclude that a stately home needs not only an executive head, but also a competent staff of workmen, who are on instant call.

The first bit of unpremeditated entertainment to enliven my stay was the falling from a great height of two large oil paintings. These, hung one above the other, formed a part of the decorative motif of the entrance hall, which is a mere two stories in height. After a fall of ten and fifteen feet respectively, with the resultant smashing of sundry furniture, the knocking of a large hole in the floor, and imminent nervous prostration for the entire household, the paintings lost much of their impressiveness. In fact they bore a striking resemblance to something left over after an atom bomb experiment.

My host, although considerably shaken by the racket, consoled himself with the thought they were well insured, were not beyond repair, and didn't belong to him anyway. In the meantime he felt he could use something else to fill the bare space. His reactions, however, when the cistern sprang a leak were not so phlegmatic.

Cistern On Top

In order to appreciate a leaking cistern in a stately home, you must know something of its location. The one in question graced the top of a tall tower, strategically placed so when the cistern leaked it could do the maximum amount of damage. With the innate perversity of inanimate objects, the cistern elected to choose the witching hour of midnight to begin peratins.

The first intimation anyone had of the cistern's Vesuvius complex was when a feminine member of the household entered her bedchamber and enjoyed an inadvertent shower bath. Her loud cries for the lifeboats brought our host on the scene, and caused him to say some pretty stern things about cisterns in general and this one in particular.

Following his vocal outburst he organized a work party to make an ascent into the tower housing the cistern. Here the flood was in full flow, and the amateur plumbers were unable to locate the cause. Two points of worry arose at this juncture. Number one was the damage the flood was doing to the stately home, and number two the fact that as England is enjoying a dry summer, the antics of the cistern would drain the reservoir and leave the place waterless until the next cloudburst.

There seemed only one thing to do, locate a plumber. As this knight of the pipe and wrench lived eight miles away, and was not on the telephone, it meant an expedition. After assisting in the placing of jugs, pails, tubs, washhand-basins and other receptacles, I set off with my host to rouse the plumber. It has been the boast of the gentleman upon whom I am sponging that he knew the county like the palm of his hand. This boast, I was to learn, had certain points of inaccuracy.

We did splendidly for the first seven miles, but at this juncture faced a choice of four different lanes, without the slightest indication of which one lead to the village we sought. I plumped for ploughing the straight furrow, and taking the lane immediately in front of us. My guide, however, favored the left hand fork, and I bowed to his greater knowledge. This experiment finally brought us to a pasture where we gave a herd of cows a nasty five minutes while getting turned around to retrace our steps.

Head At Upper Window

A test run along the lane I had originally selected eventually brought us to a house. By a dint of pounding on the door, and giving tongue to 'view halloes', we produced a head at an upper window which made some terse comments upon those who could not let decent people sleep. The head was soothed, in time, and gave directions as to where we would find the plumber.

To reach the spot where this useful citizen had elected to make his home we had to negotiate an unpaved lane which offered several choices. We could bog down in a mud-hole, tear the bottom out of the car on a protruding rock, or miss the way and end up in the woods. A bit of skillful wheel twisting eventually decanted us into a clearing surrounding "la maison du plombier". Little good it did us, the plumber was in Manchester.

The only bright spot in the entire escapade was, on our return, to find one of the guests, with a mechanical turn of mind, had located how to shut off the entire water supply. Although inconvenient, it assured we would not all be washed from our beds during the night, and would serve until a plumber could be summonsed next day.

As misfortunes are reported to run in threes, we were on the 'qui vive' for the next manifestation of fate's hatred. It arrived three days later, when the entire electrical system failed. Frantic phone calls revealed it was not a local condition, but general, and we would have to make do with torches, tilley lamps, and other temporary devices.

Crows To Blame

The trouble was located the next day. Two crows, who weren't on speaking terms, had, by coincidence, sought rest from their travels on adjacent wires of the grid. In England these wires are much closer together than in Canada, and when the two crows sought to settle their differences by pecking out each other's eyes they shorted the whole electrical system for miles around, blew a fuse at the transformer, and roasted themselves to a crisp.

I had been, up until this time, much puzzled by an expression in favor with the gardener. When I met him out for an evening stroll and enquired as to whether he was off to the pub for a game of darts, he always replied his objective was "to dot they old crow." I now understand his hatred for these arrogant birds, and have lent him my full moral and financial support. The moral support may or may not be of much help, but the financial, which took the form of a box of shells for his ancient fowling piece, was received with evidences of great glee. I confidently anticipate a severe dotting for the old crow is in prospect.

Ladle In A Pot Of Gold

The Heart

O nothing, in this corporal earth of man,
That to the imminent heaven of his high soul
Responds with colour and with shadow, can
Lack correlated greatness. If the scroll
Where thoughts lie fast in spell of hieroglyph
Be mighty through its mighty habitants;
If God be in His Name, grave potence if
The sounds unbind of hieratic chants;
All's vast that vastness means. Nay, I affirm
Nature is whole in her least things exprest,
Nor know we with what scope God builds the worm.
Our towns are copied fragments from our breast;
And all man's Babylons strive but to impart
The grandeurs of his Babylonian heart.

—Francis Thompson (1859-1907)

A red squirrel inched head first down the trunk of a cedar tree outside my bedroom window the other morning. He machine-gunned me with his chatter for five minutes about the coming of autumn.

How right my bold friend was.

I got up to let the family pooch out of the porch and saw the river blanketed in dense fog. The rising sun was burning bars of light through the trunks of the tall trees on the island. A small convoy of fish ducks slid behind their parents into the mist, gabbling softly. I walked to the canoe dock and watched a jumbo bullfrog clinging to one of the sunken timbers. A two-pound catfish poked along the shallows along the surface water. The wild rice bed in the small bay drooped heavy with grain. A soft maple was changing color. People walked briskly to work along downtown pavements and by ten o'clock, when the fog had burned off, were reminding one another what a beautiful day it was.

Regardless of calendar or zodiac, it's fall, and no fooling.

What of Marshall Memorial Park?

Is the Marshall Memorial Park at Little-Big Cedar Lakes a dead issue? What has been done, or thought, about it? Nothing apparently. A full summer has come and gone, a play period in which several hundred Peterborough citizens and tourists have been denied a look at the place. A rough road was driven into the property last fall. There was brave talk early this spring about a charter and incorporation. Can interest be revived this fall, when the season of enjoyment is over?

It would seem that nature has been too lavish in the Kawarthas to enable us to focus our attention on one small spot that's begging for development for the ultimate enjoyment of all. There will come a day

Everybody Happy At The Parking Lot

Our able and hard working City Fathers who are continually under the bombardment of taxpayers might be relieved to know what tourists think of the Market Square parking lot.

"Peterborough offers the best parking facilities of any place we have ever been in," remarked more than one American tourist as he jammed his nickle or quarter into the meter and went away happily to shop, just around the corner.

Young farmer Morris Fallis of Cavan township is going to wear a steel war helmet in the fields from now on. Happened the other day he was tractor ploughing in the back fifty when his attention was drawn to two very large birds flying over the field near him.

He watched their graceful antics as the tractor chugged back and forth when, suddenly, he was almost knocked from his seat. A third bird, which he had not noticed, made a power dive at him, snatched the hat from his head and wheeled off and away. Morris was too stunned for a moment to figure out what had hit him. He had lost no hair, at any rate, but from now on will keep a sharp lookout 'round about AND straight up. He thinks they were a species of small eagle, probably were ospreys.

What sort of retail service is being offered tourists by Peterborough merchants?

Are sales people courteous? Is merchandise well displayed? Are tourists receiving exchange on their U.S. funds? Do they enjoy shopping in our city?

Chamber of Commerce officials who dug into all these vital questions found the answer was "Yes" in all cases in an extensive survey this week to determine retail service appeal.

They also found at a first quick run-down of their figures that the average American tourist party of three spent $175 in city stores. Main money items went for china and souvenirs—two customers spent more than $1,000 each in these classes—followed by groceries, blankets, linen and clothing, in that order.

The total money spent, at first glance, tells of an enormous summer business. When Jim Fraser's enthusiasm cools off, we shall hear of a close figure. It is big, he can say that much now.

Partridge hunter George Barns is anxious to know of hunting season dates this fall. They have just been released and in these parts will be from Oct. 6th to Nov. 3rd, inclusive. Bag limit, 5 birds per day, possession limit, 15. Hunters will have to be on their toes this year. Lush growth—dense underbrush—will prevent all but crack shots getting their limits.

A wry twist to things shows a decided upswing in 'lunge fishing during the past week or so. Just about the time when everyone was packing up to go home from the lakes, the monsters got hungry. It was ever thus. Evenings are short now, too, and cool. None but the really ardent sports will tear away from work to get a couple of hours in at their favorite lake. Mantel models will be making news from now on, we hope.

LEAD PETES TO WIN—Top attackers for the Petes' Timbermen in their 15-3 Eastern Canada senior lacrosse win here over Mimico last night were the above three aces. Russ Slater, at left, scored four goals and aided on another for five points; Ike Hildebrand tallied two and helped on two others; and Jerry Fitzgerald, at right, scored a pair and assisted twice, besides checking well throughout.

Petes Take Mimico, 15-3 Before 3,000 Crowd To Begin E. Canada Finals

Striking savagely fast and early, the Petes built up a quick lead on Mimico Mounties here last night and then romped on to take a soft 15-3 victory. It was the first of their best-of-seven Eastern Canada senior lacrosse finals, and they looked impressive before some 3,000 fans in Miller Bowl. The second game is in Mimico tonight with the third one here on Monday. Play was clean—with but three minor penalties, two to Mimico—and dull at times as the score mounted. The Mounties appeared tired from their recent semi-finals with Hamilton, and top-scorer Don McPhail (nursing an injured leg) was used sparingly.

On the other hand, the Timbermen were full of hustle right from the start and had built up a 6-0 lead before Mounties finally got a goal late in the first quarter. The visitors fought back hard in a fairly even second chukker, each side scoring twice, but the Petes went on from there for 3-0 and 4-0 margins in the last two stanzas.

Wootton Good

At times, goalie Moon Wootton was called upon for some of his four-star saves as the Mounties tore in close, but generally the Crowe crew kept possession of the ball and whipped it around. They appeared fresh after their rest and without injuries to roll whenever needed. They usually started a period strong and then took it a bit easier as they checked closely when the score mounted. Only one fight threatened, between Ken Dixon and Nit O'Hearn but nothing came of it.

Russ Slater led the locals at bat with four goals and an assist in a fine show of opportunism. Close behind him on the attack were Ike Hildebrand and Jerry Fitzgerald—who checked well, too—with four points apiece. Others prominent in the win were Arn Dugan and Bob Thorpe with three points each and Don Ashbee and Dootch Vitarelli with two. Singles went to Nit O'Hearn, Harry Wipper and Curly Mason. The losers' goals were by Benny Peterson, Ken Dixon and Scoop Hayes, the latter and Ken Lytle getting an assist apiece.

Scored Early

The first goal was by Dugan in less than a minute and the Petes roared in to blast home five more—one with Peterson off for slashing—before the visitors finally beat the Moon. It was see-saw in the second, Slater scoring on a pickup of a loose ball, Ken Dixon on a breakaway and Hayes on a rebound after Dugan scored in 37 seconds to open it. A Wipper-Powless try was disallowed, the ball hitting the crossbar.

Wipper got a smart one in the third from Slater and Hildebrand, Thorpe and O'Hearn adding ones, with Ashbee aiding once. O'Hearn also scored one other but it was in the crease, and he and Thorpe were robbed on others. Dixon and Nit roughed it briefly but nothing happened. Fitzgerald walked in unchecked to start the fourth for a goal and after O'Hearn returned from a holding penalty Slater's snap shot from Fitz counted. Hildebrand got another from Jerry on a partial breakaway and, after Simpson got back from a slashing penalty, Vitarelli wound it up on a pass from Thorpe as the crowd yawned. Teams:

Mimico — Goal, Hartley; defence, A. Dixon and H. Downer; centre, McPhail; wings, K. Dixon and Chard; rover, Stocks; alternates, Simpson, Peterson, Lytle, Hayes, Pritchard, Horwood and T. Downer.

Golf Tourney May Be Enlarged Include Canada

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 8 (CP)—International golf competition, which has been largely a family affair between the United States and Britain, probably will be enlarged next year to include Canada and perhaps Mexico and Argentina.

That, at least, is the hope of Canadian golf officials, who watched a picked Dominion team bow to the United States Walker Cup forces Friday at the Saucon Valley Country Club, 10-2.

"We hope to make this a biennial affair playing again next year at Vancouver," said Gordon Bowers of Vancouver, president of the Royal Canadian Golf Association. "The United States Golf Association is considering it."

Bowers said he hopes Canada can play the United States on odd years—that is, on the years the Americans are not battling Britain for the Walker Cup.

Need Incentive

There is no immediate likelihood that Canada or any other country will be brought into the Walker Cup orbit—as in the case of the Davis Cup in tennis. But hemispheric competition is almost a cinch.

"On the years we aren't playing the United States," Bowers added, "we'd like to meet Mexico or Argentina, or perhaps both. For the development of the game in our country need the incentive of international competition."

The Canadians acquitted themselves well Friday although they were able to win only two of 12 matches. England won only three in the Walker Cup matches at Birkdale last spring.

The Canadians gave America's best a good go of it, carrying every joust as far as the 15th hole and taking two of the US brightest stars, Dick Chapman and Frank Stranahan, all the way to the 18th.

Needs Some Races To Keep Right Attitude

TORONTO, Sept. 8 — (CP) — Spring Todd McKillop needs a race now and then to keep his attitude right. McKillop is a trotting horse owned by Dr. Alexander Hughes, of Orangeville, but raced by Fred Roloson, of Burgessville, to whom Dr. Hughes owes $1,700 board and training fees for the horse.

In weekly court Friday Roloson was granted permission to continue racing McKillop until he earns enough money to pay the bill but he was refused permission to sell the horse. Roloson told the court that McKillop is worth $1,000 but would rapidly deteriorate in value if withdrawn from racing.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

Yesterday, we mentioned the snaps and insides of the grid Orfuns—ignoring the American terms of centres and guards. Also, forgetting the term tackles, we'll list the local middles. They include Gord Beatty, 225 pounds, who shone for Camp Borden, Cobourg Ghosts and later for Peterborough; 220-pound Wally Farr, a six-footer who has played here some years, including the original Orfuns; Beaker Bartley, 200 pounds, with Orfuns three years; Frank Fitzgerald of Wildcats and Orfuns—best middle in the league; and Johnny Lynch of Ottawa (a 200-pounder) who coaches St. Peter's High. They're big, solid and experienced.

* * * * * *

As for the outsides—not ends—we have six-foot Don McGillis, who starred in recent years for Cobourg and Peterborough; Don Archibald, towering at six-four, of Rochester U. and Orfuns; Clive Naismith, six-two of Orillia, a provincial police officer who always gets his man; and Reg Burns, defensive outside and a terrific tackler. Lots of speed and height there, as well as pass savvy, so Coach Leo Deadey shouldn't have too many worries on his lines. We may have missed one or two, but that's pretty much the front-wall setup. Something on the backfield next week ere they open their ORFU schedule Wednesday here.

Orphans On The Prowl

Weather being right tonight at eight, Oshawa Pedlars open their best-of-three OASA senior "B" playdowns here against the local Orphans. Second game in Oshawa on Tuesday. Orphans erased Revoy's to earn a crack at provincial playdowns, this being the only Peterborough team left on that trail. Manager Harold Dormer moulded a good squad together to round out the league, though he was shy on pitching, Terry Woods having to carry the slab load. George (Red) Sullivan has been one of the valuable cogs in this machine and he doesn't depart for the pro puck wars until Sept. 15. The team rates support as it tackles a tough foe in the Motor Citizens. The Orphans will most likely face Norm Bagnall, one of the best pitchers in Canada.

It's do or die tonight when Mimico juniors and the Young Petes tangle at 8.45 in Miller Bowl. Third of their best-of-five Eastern Canada junior "A" finals, with Mimico leading by two games. Lou Vitarelli's young huskies have to get in there and grab a win or they're through for the season, after coming a long way. They can beat the big Mimico crew and force a fourth tilt on the latter's floor, but it'll be a nip-and-tuck number. If it's a nice night, this playoff gutted-stick game should draw a hefty gallery, as the juniors really turn it on throughout.

The Rest Did 'Em Good

Mimico Mounties and the Petes resume their best-of-seven Eastern Canada senior lacrosse finals here Monday eve, their third game. Second is tonight at Mimico, and some local fans are likely to make the trip. Petes won the first handily 15-3 here last p.m. before a big crowd, and weren't extended unduly in the process. The rest didn't hurt 'em any, while the semi-final series seemed to take something out of the Mounties. McPhail was on the limp and they just didn't come up with their old fight. It may be a different tale tonight, as we expect plenty of trouble from them ere the series is finished. But last night was a rather soft touch for the Timbermen.

* * * * * *

Game was quite clean and, in fact, dull in spots. Wootton had to be good at times, but he wasn't pressed very much over the route. Our leading point-getters this time were Russ Slater, Ike Hildebrand, Jerry Fitzgerald, with Arn Dugan and Bob Thorpe helping, also, and Don Ashbee and Dootch Vitarelli in on a pair each. Whole club clicked pretty fair, even though they missed some passes, and the score might well have been a little higher. Dugan appears to be in the pink again and ready to come up with his old-time dipsy-doodling rushes. Fitz is playing a really solid game out there, and has been for some time. But we'll know more of how Mimico shapes up for this series after seeing them at home this e'en.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Paul Dean came back to St. Louis Cardinals 13 years ago today in an endeavour to prove his once disabled right arm had regained its pitching power. Dean failed to make good on his recall from the Texas League and was again shipped to the minors with an outright release from the Cards.

Adjourn Hearing

WINNIPEG, Sept. 8 (CP).—A hearing of a permanent injunction to bar tackle Dick Huffman of Winnipeg Blue Bombers from playing for any club other than Los Angeles Rams Friday was adjourned "tentatively" until Monday. Chief Justice E. K. Williams of King's Bench said he would try to reach a decision before that time, and advise counsels.

DOUBLE AWARD—A great big buss was given Bernie Daoust, of Lachine, by Ruth Carrier, Miss Toronto of 1951, as he was presented with the Canadian championship in the 225 Class, Division II, in speedboat racing recently at the Canadian National Exhibition.

UNDERGROUND "SPORT"—Although frowned upon by law, the gory practice of cock-fighting is carried on in truly underground fashion by its devotees. All fighting cocks are equipped with steel spurs, as shown in picture at right. As in prize fighting among humans, weight is a factor in matching, and the contestants are weighed accurately, as shown in centre picture. For training purposes, the birds are fitted with sparring gloves of soft, padded leather. The murderous steel spurs are an inch and a half long, and the fight is always to the death.

Oshawa Beats Welch's In First Game

Oshawa Wholesalers pulled out an 8-4 victory over the local Welch's bantams in the Motor City last evening to start their best-of-three OBA bantam playdown series. The second game will be at three today in Riverside and the third, if necessary, there at six this evening.

Ray Clifford's crew outhit the homesters 8-5, but kicked in with half a dozen miscues to two for Oshawa. The latter scored a run each in the first, third and eighth, three in the second and two in the seventh. Welch's got one in the fourth and three in the ninth. A dozen of them went down on strikes as McIlmoyle of Welch's fanned 15 in a fine showing. Teams:

Welch's: Garvey 2b, Towns 3b, Guerin c, D. Baptie 1b, Coit cf, Byrne lf, Dorrington ss, Brown ss, McIlmoyle p, McKenzie rf, A. Baptie rf.

Oshawa: Germond ss, Norman p, Victor 2b, Badour rf, Steffen 1b, Proctor c, Milton 3b, Jeffs lf, Weldon cf.

Says Horse's Tail Tied To Starting Gate

CINCINNATI, Sept. 8 (AP).—A Hamilton, O., horse owner says he's got a "knotty" problem for the Ohio State Racing Commission to consider.

Someone, he claims, tied his horse's tail to the starting gate at Hamilton's racing park.

G. T. Becknell said in a letter to a Cincinnati columnist that the horse, Detroit Tiger, lost the race although it was a four-to-five favorite. The incident happened Aug. 22, Becknell told Ollie James of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Becknell said he wrote a complaint to the racing commission, "but for this I was suspended and could not run my horses." He said the commission will hold a hearing on his charges at Columbus next Monday.

O. C. Belt, commission chairman, was not available for comment.

Marlene Stewart Wins Junior Title

TORONTO, Sept. 8 — (CP) — Marlene Stewart, of Fonthill, 17-year-old Canadian and Ontario women's golf champion, put away her clubs Friday after adding another laurel to her crown—the Ontario Junior Girls' title.

On the Toronto ladies' golf club course Marlene ended her second season of competitive golf with a 76, just 14 strokes ahead of Shirley Woodley of the home club.

Last year Marlene was runner-up to Shirley Grant, of Toronto Lambton, who this year tied for third place with Barbara Siddall,

Orphans Take City Crown With 9-5 Win Over UEW

Orphans won the men's city softball championships Friday night at the Bowl by defeating UEW 9-5 in the sixth game of a best-of-seven final series for the Taylor Trophy, begun August 20.

Terry Woods again toed the slab for Harold Dormer's fighting lads, his 10th complete game in 11 starts since August 10, all playoffs and thus twirled his team to the title single-handed — a remarkable achievement. Reg Gordon, UE ace, opposed the Orf bean-pole as each hurler allowed seven safe bingles. Gordon fanned seven, Woods two; but the former walked five against one by Woods whose control was near perfect.

Red Hit Two

George (Red) Sullivan personally took over offensive honors for the night to ensure victory as he smote successive homers in the first and third with mates aboard to drive in five runs and put Orphans in the van, early. Both were terrific liners far over the right field barrier to bring his playoff circuit total to eight. He fielded brilliantly as well with three putouts and four difficult assists.

Fraser Wade, recently returned from a trip to the Maritimes, covered third for the winners and turned in an sizzling performance to prove a big factor in Orphans' triumph while every man gave his best. UE fought hard to the final out and threatened hard in the latter innings but were unable to overcome Orfs' early margin.

Orphans took a 5-1 lead in the first three on Wade's two walks, Curry's life and Sullivan's homers and added four more in the fourth on walks to Turner and Wade, Curry's double and O'Donoghue's triple. But Orfs were unable to do any more with Gordon after that while UE gradually whittled at the lead. The Dalton boys tallied one in the fifth, a pair in the sixth on Dalton's hard homer to left with Thompson on board. They came again in the eighth for one but that was all.

UEW—Casey, 2b; Thompson, 3b; Dalton, ss; White, lf; Wade, cf; Robson, rf; Castle, 1b; Walton, c; Gordon, p; Grafstein.

Orphans: Wade, 3b; Curry, 2b; Sullivan, ss; Lewis, rf; Scriver, cf; Jaquith, c; Turner, lf; O'Donoghue, 1b; Woods, p.

Umpires—Smith and Borland.

Robinson Alters Tactics For Turpin Fight

By WHITNEY MARTIN.

POMPTON LAKES NJ, Sept. 8 (AP)—Ray Robinson lolled in the shade, flipping the pages of a magazine as he listened to a baseball broadcast.

With his middleweight title fight against champion Randy Turpin only five days away he was the picture of a relaxed, well-conditioned athlete.

"I could fight tonight," he said.

Friday was a day off for him from his training chores and the ex-champ was in an affable mood.

"I think I'll win," was as far as he would go in a prediction.

"We live and learn, they say," he continued. "I learned a lot in the first Turpin fight. I learned I'll have to fight his type of fight this time. I've had to change my tactics.

Does It Well

"Turpin does everything they teach fighters not to do, but he does it well. He's a good hitter with both hands. He hit me up here," he pointed to a spot high on his cheekbone, "and it hurt."

Someone mentioned the cut he suffered in the fight, a wound requiring 10 stitches, and suggested that it had bothered him.

"Naw," he said. "I just didn't have it that night."

"You know," he added thoughtfully, "that defeat made me a bigger man. The reception I got when I got home and in France, after I lost, showed the people were back of me. I even got a telegram from the President.

"Of course I felt bad about losing. Losing the people's championship. It wasn't my championship, and it isn't Turpin's. It belongs to the people."

Leafs Nip Wings Twice In Three Games

By The Associated Press.

The International League season ends Sunday, but positions for the 19th Shaughnessy Governor's Cup still are in doubt.

The playoffs, scheduled to start Tuesday, Sept. 11, bring together the league champions and the fourth-place club, while the second-place team meets the third-place finishers.

Montreal already has clinched the flag and is awaiting the results of the final two days of play. Rochester currently is in second place, three games ahead of Syracuse. The Chiefs lead fourth-place Buffalo Bisons by 2½ games. Toronto Maple Leafs in fifth, still are in contention for a playoff berth, as they trail Buffalo by two games.

Twi-night doubleheaders were on the agenda all around the circuit Friday night, but in Toronto three games were played. A suspended game that started May 27 was completed with Leafs shading Rochester 4-3.

Divide Pair

Wings captured the opener of the twin bill as Jackie Collum bested Johnny Hetki 4-3. Russ Bauers blanked Rochester 2-0 in the afterpiece to give Toronto a split.

Buffalo and Springfield divided a doubleheader. Red Barrett's sparkling relief pitching enabled Bisons to win the opener 8-7 but Cubs rallied to take the nightcap 4-3.

Syracuse and Baltimore also broke even. Orioles nipped the Chiefs 3-2 in the first game, but dropped the second 4-2 as lefty Bill Miller posted his 16th victory.

Dick Libby and George Hamberger went the route as Ottawa Giants swept a pair of games from Montreal 2-1 and 5-1.

Yanks Back In First Place As Club Triumphs Over Washington Nats 4-2

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

Baseball may be a young man's game but the "old men" are shaping the destiny of the pennant races in the American and National Leagues. New York Yankees are back in first place in the American League thanks to Joe DiMaggio, 36; Johnny Mize, 38; and Allie Reynolds, 32, who led the club to a 4-2 triumph over Washington Friday. Doubles by Mize and DiMaggio drove in three ninth-inning runs and gave Reynolds his 14th win. Cleveland's Indians are only one percentage point behind the Yanks because of the brilliant pitching of 32-year-old Feller. The star right-hander gave the tribe split in their twi-light doubleheader at St. Louis. Feller shut out the Browns 7-0, after Ned Garver had pitched St. Louis to a 4-2 opening victory.

Five innings of shutout relief pitching by 37-year-old Ellis Kinder helped Boston Red Sox gain a split in their twin bill at Philadelphia, keeping them close to the leaders. Kinder, aided by three hits and two tallies by Lou Boudreau, 34, received credit for Boston's 8-5 opening win. Athletics, however, won the nightcap 11-4 as Billy Hitchcock, 33 batted in five runs with two triples and two singles, and 35-year-old Eddie Joost cracked a three-run homer.

Retain Lead

Brooklyn retained its 5½-game bulge over New York Giants in the National League race as 33-year-old Preacher Roe pitched an 11-6 win over Philadelphia. Third baseman Billy Cox, 32, with two doubles and a triple, drove in four Dodger runs. It was Roe's 19th triumph against two losses.

Monte Irvin, 32, hammered his 19th homer and drove in three tallies to lead Giants to a 7-3 win over Boston Braves. Thirty-year-old Larry Jansen went the route for his 18th victory.

Elsewhere 32-year-old Virgil Trucks pitched and batted Detroit to a 2-1 nightcap victory over Chicago White Sox in 14 innings. Tigers, behind the five-hit pitching of Teddy Gray, also won the opener 4-1.

Leads Cards

Billy Johnson, 33, hammered in four runs to lead St. Louis Cardinals to an 11-4 victory over Pittsburgh. Cincinnati won an 18-inning 7-6 decision over Chicago's Cubs when Dixie Howell, 31, hit a long fly to score Hank Edwards, 33. The blow came off 41-year-old Dutch Leonard.

Yanks came from behind to whip Washington and Sid Hudson in a bizarre finish. They opened their half of the inning trailing 2-1. Joe Collins singled and went to second on a sacrifice.

Hudson fanned Mickey Mantle for the second out but Mize pinch hit a double to score Collins with the tying run. Gene Woodling singled pinch runner Billy Martin to third and went to second when Hudson took a full windup pitching to DiMaggio.

Joe then sent a drive that bounced into the right field stands. The official scorer ruled both runs counted and credited DiMag with a ground-rule double even though the rule book states that only one run should count. Later, president Will Harridge upheld the scorer's decision.

ST. JOHN'S ANGLICAN CHURCH in Emily township will celebrate its 112th anniversary Sunday. The first church in Emily township, plans for it were made in 1837 and the first log structure completed in 1839.

St. John's Church In Emily First Built 112 Years Ago

One of the oldest churches in the Peterborough district, St. John's church in Emily township, is celebrating Sunday its 112th anniversary.

The church's history dates back to 1837 when the Rev. George Street, a travelling missionary from Newcastle north, made arrangements for the building of the church.

The original church, a log structure, was built by the people and the materials were all donated. When completed in 1839 about two miles east of Omemee, it was the first church in the Emily district.

St. John's church was officially opened in 1840 but services were held before, according to Archbishop Sweatman's notes. The first permanent minister was the Rev. Will Shaw who took over the church duties in 1839.

The desire of the people for a clergyman resident was expressed in the notes of a travelling missionary.

He said, "July 1839, from Cavan on Sunday morning I rode to Emily a distance of 10 miles and at 11 o'clock I met the largest congregation I have ever seen assembled in the back woods.

"These numbered about 250 persons. The school house though spacious was unable to contain the whole congrgation so that numbers sat near the outside windows.

"After the service was concluded many members of the congregation, several of whom had come from a distance crowded around me to express their earnest desire for a settlement of a clergy. Amongst them tears showed their sincerity."

Although the present church is not on the site of the original church, it is believed to be close to it.

Since the church opened in 1840, there have been 18 rectors. The present rector is the Rev. Charles Richmond who recently took over the church duties from the Rev. F. W. Pooley who was moved to Toronto.

Mr. Richmond was formerly at the African Anglican church, Kajiado, Kenya.

Special services Sunday at 11 p.m. and 7 p.m. will be held to ovserve the anniversary. Holy Communion will be celebrated at the morning service while Archdeacon W. P. Robertson, St. John's Anglican church, Peterborough, will be the guest speaker in the evening.

Tuesday night anniversary festivities will be a fowl supper at the church. About 200 are expected to attend.

Choose Officers

Christianity Is Missionary Record Of High Endeavor

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, DD

Christian missions began when Jesus sent His twelve disciples out to preach the kingdom of God and to heal the sick (Luke 9:1-6), and when He appointed another seventy, and sent them forth, also, two by two, into "every city and place, whither He himself would come" (Luke 10).

The Gospel spread to Antioch in Syria(there were 16 Antiochs in the ancient world), and from Antioch began the great missionary journeys of St. Paul, and his companions, and the others who shared his zeal to preach the Gospel in the regions beyond.

Even in the darkest period in the world, and in the church, there have been adventurous, pioneering souls, fired with a passion to extend the boundaries of Christian faith, Christian knowledge, and Christian conquest.

Missions and missionaries have had their disparagers and critics, but the missionary annals as a whole provide a record of high endeavor, on the part of self-sacrificing, earnest, devoted servants of Christ.

Trader Horn, in his book so widely popular some years back, remarked that David Livingstone was more disposed to say "Let us march" than "Let us pray"; but the implied criticism, while it emphasized Livingstone's great work of discovery and exploration in the opening up of Africa, was a futile jibe in so far as it affected Livingstone's deepest purpose.

He was in Africa as a Christian missionary. The story of his life,

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CIII. No. 57 — SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1951 — PRICE TEN CENTS

Prince of Wales Addition World of Glass, Light For Beginners At School

As architects use more glass and less brick and wood for today's schools, there remain at least two requisites that were requisites in the good old days—chalk and teachers. The new addition to Prince of Wales school on Monaghan Rd. is no exception. One kindergarten room is all glass on the west side, and has a small stage of its own. Blackboards, following the modern trend, aren't black; they're green-painted glass.

Entrance to the school is through what is actually a short wooden tunnel with double glass doors in the centre. The entrance is surrounded by glass, and in front of the windows on either side are beds of petunias and geraniums.

The foyer is panelled in varnished pine on the north walls, with doors opening into offices. The south and west walls are of brick, and the east wall, of course, is the glassed-in entrance.

Way To Classrooms

Running south from the west side of the foyer is a nine-foot wide corridor, brick on both sides, with olive-painted doors leading into the six classrooms.

The classrooms, save for the large kindergarten room, are much the same, with slight variations in the color scheme.

Ceilings are one-third panelled with soundproof tiles; the rest with plain, off-white fibre board tiles. Lighting is for the most part fluorescent, with satin-finish metal spotlights to illuminate the green blackboards.

The fluorescent lighting that provides light for pupils at their desks is diffused by metal grid-work over the fluorescent tubes.

Work Counters

Work counters are standard equipment in the new Prince of Wales addition. They are built low so that children can easily work on the hard, black surfaces. Underneath the counter tops are bookshelves and supply cupboards.

Floors are linoleum tile, mottled white on grey. Around the green boards is white trim. At the rear of each room are five cupboards, with all doors opening as one on a long metal arm. Each room, too, has its own toilets and wash basin.

Two hundred and thirty pupils are in the school, which is occupied altogether by the primary division (the first two public school years).

Windows in the new addition have aluminum sash, with storm windows and screens built in. Above the windows are glass blocks laid in up to the ceiling.

The teachers like it; they believe it is easier to work with children in such surroundings, and they say that the green blackboards are easier to write on. The chalk, second of the old-time requisites, is still white.

Circulation Up At Library During Summer

During June, July and August the adult and juvenile departments at the public library reported increases in circulation over 1950. But the departments at the branch library on Park St. registered a slight decrease.

In the adult department at the main library the increases for the three months were 355 in June, 444 in July and 688 in August. At the branch library the circulation dropped in the three months from last year, 98 in June, 215 in July and 43 in August.

During the three months only once did either juvenile department drop below last year's figures, in July at the branch library by 131. During the other months at both libraries the circulation this year was above 1950's.

At the end of August at the main library the total adult circulation so far in 1951 was 75,063 as compared with 69,979 in 1950. The branch library's adult department figures, 10,550, gives the libraries a total of 85,613, an increase of 5,171 over last year.

Both the libraries record an increase in circulation over 1950 in the juvenile departments. At the main library 40,390 books were circulated to the end of August as compared with 35,091 last. year. The branch library's circulation increased from 15,514 to 17,972, giving a total increase for both libraries of 7,728.

The increase for both libraries in both departments so far this year is 12,839.

Mallory, director of the Small Industries Branch, Department of Defence Production, that alternative employment be found for the men.

SHORT HAULING

Civic progress is over-running the unofficial neighborhood playground on Rubidge St., north of Colonial Weaving Co. It was a low field that collected water in late winter. Night frosts made a sketchy rink of it. Hockey, and baseball in summer, have been tolerated for years by the owner. Now comes a permanent pavement on Townsend St., and the lot was a short haul for the removal of gravel and earth, that is about to be replaced with the base of the permanent road structure.

Unemployed Increase In District

Number Without Jobs Hit Record Low In July; Now Up

After dropping to a record low in July, unemployment insurance claims in the Peterborough district rose slightly again in August, William Mellis, manager of the National Employment office, said today.

An increase in the number of part-time claims made the claim load at the district office rise to 633 in August as compared with 566 in July. Mr. Mellis pointed out that a number were working shorter hours at the Western Clock company and had applied for unemployment insurance money.

Work Part Time

Three companies in the city the Western Clock, the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet and the Dominion Woollens, are now working short weeks. Two Campbellford companies, the Campbellford Cloth and the Toronto Carpet, are also working the shorter week. These employees have applied for unemployment funds.

In spite of the slight increase August's claims were lower than those in 1950, 704. This year 372 men and 261 women were on claim in August as compared with 449 men and 225 women last year.

Both the men's local and postal claims were lower in August than in 1950. In the city 296 men were drawing money and in the district 76. This is down compared with August 1950 when 334 city men and 115 district men were on claims.

Fewer Women

This year the number of women on claim in the city decreased from 216 to 199 but the district women's claims increased from 39 to 62.

The number of men registered for work was nearly the same as last year, 463, but the women, job-hunting decreased to 284 from 351 in 1950.

Men's vacancies were 87 in August as compared with 89 last year, but most of them required experience for skilled workers such as tool makers, machinists, draftsmen. Jobs for women decreased by seven to only 18, most of them demanding experience as stenographers and typists.

There may be a lapse back to warmth, but generally, the gradations of winter are setting in, perceptible in such seasonal phenomenon as the cloud of fog on Peterborough's lake. The climax will be mid-winter depth of ice, and then a relaxing and melting to open water and April.

Two Army Officers Hurt As Car Crashes Into Store

Two British Columbia army officers were injured early today when their car went out of control at the Welcome turn on Highway 2 and crashed into a store. In Port Hope hospital with cuts, bruises and suffering from shock are Lt. Frank Bussieres, 24, and Lt. O. J. Lester, 27. Neither of them is seriously injured and they are being attended by Dr. E. L. Rathall.

The two men were travelling west along the highway early today and the car went out of control as it reached the Welcome cutoff. It plowed into the lunch room owned by Bill Trewin, situated on the northwest corner of the intersection, knocking down the whole south wall of the building and shattering a large plate-glass window.

Car Wrecked

Damage to the building is estimated at $500. The car, bearing BC markers, is a complete wreck.

One of the two officers was thrown out of the car by the impact but both were able to give an account of what happened when OPP Constable F. A. Clough arrived from Cobourg to investigate.

Neither Bussieres nor Lester know the district as they had just motored from British Columbia. They were posted from a BC station to Picton.

Escapee Jailed On 13 Charges

COBOURG, Sept. 8 (ENS). — Walter Fryar, escaped Burwash inmate who was captured at gunpoint near Grafton two weeks ago by Provincial Constable C. Meadows of Cobourg, was sentenced to Kingston Penitentiary by Magistrate R. B. Baxter yesterday. A total of 13 charges had been laid against Fryar and he received two years and six months on each charge, terms to run concurrently.

Magistrate Baxter commented that in arriving at the decision to send him to Kingston Penitentiary he had taken into consideration the circumstances which had been outlined by the accused in a letter to the magistrate. He admitted that it was not a long term in prison and indicated the court's willingness to co-operate with the accused. Fryar escaped twice from Burwash, but his record was only of two years' duration.

The charges were as follows: August 15, theft of a car at North Bay; August 15, theft of a car at South River; August 15, theft of a car in Broder Township, near Sudbury; August 19, theft of a car in Clarke Township; August 19, breaking and entering with theft at Toronto; August 18, breaking and entering with theft at Toronto; August 19, attempted breaking and entering at Clarke Township; August 20, theft of a car at Bowmanville; August 19, breaking and entering with theft at Darlington Township; two breaking and entering charges, with theft, in Broder Township during the month of August.

Cole told police he didn't see the stop sign on Dublin at Reid St., and Begley said he didn't see Cole's car until he was almost upon it.

Begley's car left skidmarks 43 feet long.

About $400 damage was done to the right front of Begley's car, and $150 to the right rear of the Cole auto. Both cars are 1951 models.

Albert E. Larke Inducted In Springville

SPRINGVILLE, Sept. 8.—The Rev. Albert E. Larke Friday night was inducted into the three-point pastorate of Springville United Church. He succeeds the Rev. E. F. Linstead minister there for nearly two years.

Mr. Larke came from Gore's Landing where he was minister for four years.

Officiating at the service was the Rev. H. G. Douglas chairman of the Peterborough Presbytery. The charge to the minister and congregation was delivered by the Rev. E. Rowland, Grace United Church.

The need for a belief in God was the theme of the sermon delivered by the Rev. D. P. Morris, Bridgenorth.

Mr. Morris said that the need for such a belief was evident from a perusal of history, and it was also borne out by his personal experience.

In the absence of the secretary of the presbytery, Mr. Larke was presented for induction by the Rev. H. F. Malcolm, Bailieboro.

A prayer was offered by the Rev. Albert Osbourne, Trenton, NS, a personal friend of Mr. Larke, and he also brought greetings from the Maritime Conference of the United Church.

Later a social hour was held and the pastor met his new congregation informally. Church organizations brought greetings from their members.

Skunk, Porcupine Handled Gingerly

Bruce Menzies, Peterborough Humane Society inspector, handled two animals with the utmost of care during August. Included in his monthly report in animals picked up were a skunk and a porcupine.

Besides these Mr. Menzies picked up 26 cats and 16 dogs, at the same time issuing warnings to 25 owners. He also destroyed 18 dogs and 26 cats.

Mr. Menzies after inspecting the fall fairs at Apsley, Lakefield and Marmora reported everything as "satisfactory."

APPROACHING FALL

Peterborough citizens are looking nervously up at the trees as they suddenly realize at a few spots along the streets that they are scuffing through fallen soft maple leaves. Can it be that late in the year?

STATION PAVEMENTS

Street paving equipment may have climbed up on to and over the two railway station platforms in the last week or so. At the C.P.R., the only remaining boards span the creek. All the rest of the long parade walk is asphalt surface on gravel base. At the C.N.R. the road top has evidently been laid over the concrete. Presumably these are small jobs by Warren Paving Co. while they are here this season.

Two Cars Damaged In Hit-Run Accidents

Two cars were slightly damaged Friday night in two separate hit-and-run accidents, one on George St., and the other in a parking lot off King St.

Peter D. Brown, of Toronto, left his car in a King St. parking lot while he went to a movie. When he returned, he found the left rear fender of his car dented, and another car's license number written in the dust on the fender.

Lewis Hunter, of Lakefield, was driving north on George St. Friday night, and, he told police, double parked at the east side of the street just north of King St.

An Ohio car swung left off King St. to go north on George St., and hit the left rear fender of Hunter's auto, doing about $12 damage to it. A witness took the license number of the Ohio car, but police could not find it after they were notified of the accident.

Boy 16, Sentenced To Reformatory 1 Year

COBOURG, Sept. 8 (ENS). — Sixteen-year-old Vincent C. Hartford of Colborne, was sentenced to 12 months definite and six months indefinite in the Reformatory, when he pleaded guilty in Police Court yesterday to breaking into Greenfield's shop and Griffis' drug store, both in Colborne. The first charge was dated December, 1950, and the second one was this summer.

"I am at a loss to know what to do with you," Magistrate R. B. Baxter said. "You are one in a family of 10 children, and from what I have learned your home is not suitable for you if you are going to straighten up. I believe the Children's Aid Society will be stepping in. There is no other place to send you except the Reformatory. Is there any trade you would like to learn?" said the magistrate.

The youth said that he had no idea what trade he would be interested in.

Exhibition Has One Of Best Runs In History

TORONTO, Sept. 8 (CP)—The Canadian National Exhibition ends tonight in a burst of oratory and fireworks after one of the best runs in its history.

Officials were hopeful that sunny weather will bring out crowds to boost the over-all attendance total close to the 3,000,000 mark. Attendance droped to 143,000 Friday, down 11,500 from the corresponding day last year. However, with today's crowds still to be counted, the over-all attendance to date stands at 2,435,500.

Scheduled for the final day were a speech by Sir Denys Lowson, Lord Mayor of London; a special match race between Jerry Kerschner of Toronto, who won the men's professional swimming championship of the world at the Exhibition last week, and George Bevan of Winnipeg, Canadian men's amateur swimming champion; completion of the national horse show; and the deciding game of the Canadian women's softball championship finals.

Movie On Ex?

A visit by Hollywood producer Walter Wanger to Elwood Hughes, CNE general manager, raised the possibility that next year's edition of the world's biggest annual fair might be used as the background for a motion picture. Wanger thought a story could easily be set against the Exhibition's crowds and color, its grandstand show and its many buildings scattered over 350 acres on the Lake Ontario shore.

Officials announced that next year increased space will be given to small lot agricultural exhibitors, that dairy and beef cattle will be shown at the same time in the same buildings and that extra signs will be put up in the livstock sections to educate city-dwellers in the names and features of the show-ring stock.

CIVILIAN DEFENCE RESCUE VEHICLE, Canadian made, and first type of its kind, passed through Peterborough from the factory to Connaught Civil Defence School, Ottawa, on Friday. Technician Jim Wood, formerly of this city, Left, and Peterborough's deputy-commissioner of civilian defence, Hugh Waddell, discuss various points of the new model. Not especially made for the job, its components are adaptations of current commercial vehicles at a price range within reach of many smaller communities for emergency use, said Mr. Wood. —Examiner Staff Photo.

Stress Influence of Women In Greetings To Delegates

Welcome on behalf of the Diocese of Peterborough, home of 30,000 Catholics, nearly one-third of whom live in this city, was extended by the Bishop, Most Reverend Gerald Berry, to more than 80 delegates who had registered by Friday evening to attend the four day convention here of the Ontario Council of the Catholic Women's League.

Registration was not complete at time of the official opening and was expected to reach 95 when the convention was called to order today at the Empress Hotel.

Bishop Berry said his diocese had been in existence since 1882, and the first bishop had to travel as far as Fort William, using train, canoe and horse for transportation. "His annals depict the flavor of the country at that time" he said, and would interest people from the area, which is not now in the diocese.

"The Catholic Women's League is promoted for the purpose of opening up perspective in the diocese," he explained. "Concern for child welfare, health, social security, etc., are in the province of women and they have an absolute right to a voice on these problems. Many other problems in Ontario will do with tending by women," he added.

"You have perhaps been shy about your power," said the Bishop. "In future exercise your rightful influence, exert your power to promote spiritual growth and general welfare—the latter being one of the concepts a lot of people have lost sight of."

With the admonition to be loyal to God and country, he asked blessing on the deliberations of the conventionaires.

Mayor M. J. Swanston, who extended the civic welcome, stressed women's part in teaching new citizens and bringing up children to respect the laws of the city. He remarked "An organization which has the theme 'unswerving loyalty to God in matters of faith and morals' cannot help but succeed."

The Hon. Harold Scott, MPP, Minister of Lands and Forests, asked the help of the women in counteracting "fuzzy thinking" which is creeping into Ontario and threatening democracy. He extended the greetings of Premier Frost and fellow members of the provincial government.

Fraternal greetings of the Knights of Columbus were extended by Grand Knight W. J. Cunningham.

Separate school board chairman J. G. McCarney spoke in appreciation of women's work and said they are "responsible for their husband's success and success in the schools." He said there are five separate schools in the city, four in the nearby district with another under construction, and a large school for Catholic boys is being built in the city.

Mrs. W. H. Toal was representative of the Parent-Teachers Association and extended greetings.

Charming personality of the National president, Miss Isabel Hutton of Ottawa, was felt as she delivered special greetings. She said "We are at work toward preservation of the Christian way of life." Tribute was paid to the organization in Ontario and to the diocese of Toronto which has made great strides recently. (The diocese of London was later reported to have grown in the past year from 65 to 90 sub-divisions.)

Bishop B. I. Webster of Toronto brought the greetings of His Eminence, Cardinal McGuigan, and assurance of his interest, prayers and blessing.

Replying to the greetings, Provincial director, Most Reverend William J. Smith, DD, Bishop of Pembroke, pointed to the growth of the League in 30 years. "We are justly proud of the contribution to social and economic life in federal and provincial spheres and look to the future with hope."

"We are living in a difficult time when organizations are faced with a challenge never faced before. Living in peace and luxury, we yet know there is a powerful battle going on for the souls of men. It depends on us that victory be not for the powers of evil."

"The broadening and solidifying influence of women is needed in the world today," he continued. "At this convention we are considering faith and morals, the 'hard pan' which is too greatly lacking. Without these not long can our world survive."

Provincial president Miss Catherine Toal of London made the concluding speech, acknowledging courtesies extended. She asked the women to unite in prayers for the intention of the convention.

Miss Agnes Grant, president of Peterborough Diocesan Council, was the chairman.

Six Black Gowns Stress Type, Style

LOS ANGELES—Individuality was rampant fashion in evening kowns, at the showings this year. To emphasize his belief in silhouette variety for formal wear, Adrian presented six black evening gowns, each of a different type, style, and length in an enchanting group.

Steam Towel Sets Curls

There are some types of hair that seem to resist almost any curling methods that their desperate owners try. If these recalcitrant strands are set wet, they frizz; if they are set dry, the curl simply doesn't take.

If you have run the gamut of curling methods without success, you might find helpful a pin-curl routine that combines the advantagets of both the drench and the dry approaches.

One of the big disadvantages in twisting your hair into curls the minute you have removed it, dripping, from the shampoo, is that there is no provision for brushing. It's a poor idea to skip this important step in hair care.

Towel the excess water from your hair, and then with a dry, clean brush, stroke it dry. The natural oils thus stimulated will have a definite bearing upon the success of your hair-set.

The next step is to roll your tresses into pin-curls in the way that you customarily do it. Although your hair is now all rolled up, this is not the final task.

As a finishing gesture, wring a towel from hot water and wrap it turban-style around your hair. Leave this in place for about five minutes until each curl has been thoroughly penetrated by the steam from the towel.

Curls thus dampened tend to dry quickly. There is sufficient moisture to cause the curl to take, but not enough to produce a corkscrew effect.

By The Canadian Press

Football fans will see plenty of action this weekend in both east and west.

In Calgary, the Stampeders will be at home tonight to Saskatchewan Roughriders, while Winnipeg Blue Bombers visit Edmonton Eskimos in Edmonton.

In the east, it's Hamilton Tiger-Cats against Toronto Argonauts and Montreal Alouettes against Ottawa Roughriders in the Big Four today and Ottawa vs. Montreal Sunday. Windsor Royals take on Sarnia Imperials today at Sarnia in the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

Advance ticket sale indicates a crowd of close to 23,000 in Varsity Stadium in Toronto for the Toronto-Hamilton clash. At least 4,000 Hamilton fans are expected to be present to cheer on the Tiger-Cats and their agile running and passing quarterback, Bernie Custis.

Allan McFater, taciturn Toronto Scot who talks best with his fists, will be the underdog for the first time in 19 professional fights when he meets Solly Cantor Monday night.

Cantor, Toronto lightweight who has won 45 of his 51 pro bouts, is the 8-to-5 favorite to win the eight-round main bout at Maple Leaf Gardens. His reputation was enhanced somewhat by a decisive decision over Montreal's Armand Savoie a couple of months ago.

Flash Hollett, who coached Marlboro major series team last year, will coach one of the Marlboro minor clubs this year. The Marlboros will not enter a team in senior or major series competition.

Both Davidson and Hamilton are former Maple Leafs National Hockey League players.

At Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., manager Jack Adams, of the National Hockey League's Detroit Red Wings, received a flood of congratulations as he started his 25th year as top man of the Detroit hockey empire.

Criticizes Newspapers On Gov't Reporting

WINNIPEG, Sept. 8 (CP). — R. M. Burns, Assistant Deputy Minister of Finance for British Columbia, Friday told the Institute of Public Administration of Canada that newspapers have fallen down badly in interpreting sound principles of government to the public. Mr. Burns said he knew of many cases in his own province where newspapers, through slanted headlines and similar devices, colored the news to suit their own policies.

Mrs. Allen Gill Named Head Of New Home And School

A branch of the Home and School Association has been started at SS No. 6, Smith township. And the first regular meeting will be Wednesday, 8 p.m., in the school.

"The Home and School Association will facilitate closer co-operation between teachers and parents, and the result should be of direct benefit to the school pupils," said Mrs. Allen Gill, president.

SS No. 6, like other school sections, is feeling the need for expansion. At present the 88 pupils are divided between the one-room schoolhouse and the old Amys house on Highway 28.

Smith trustees are hoping to start soon on a two-room addition to the present schoolhouse to accommodate the pupils. The old building was erected in 1902.

(The building of a school is not the responsibility of a Home and School Association but the members are naturally interested in existing plans.)

An organizational meeting with election of officers has already been held. They are Mrs. Allen Gill, pres.; James McConkey and Mrs. Gordon Carveth, vice-pres.; John Butterworth, treas.; Mrs. Harold Dunford, sec'y.; four executive members—Mrs. John Preston, Mrs. Sherman Northey, Mrs. Newton Young, and Mrs. J. Lacey; Mrs. Albert Graham, membership convener; Mrs. A. Gariepy, press convener; Mrs. James Burns, historian; Mrs. Ray Welbourne, social convener; and Mrs. Robert Charlton, corresponding sec'y. Other conveners must still be elected.

Records Tumble As Market Up, Opinion Divided

By DICK BAIDEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Records fell in rapid succession this week as stock market prices at Toronto, Montreal and New York climbed to the highest levels in two decades.

One significant indication of market trends was shown by the spread of the advance from key issues to less frequently traded stocks. In Toronto, the daily average of new individual highs for the year increased about 30 per cent from 24 to 31.

Most investors, it appeared, thought the upturn would continue. Professional traders, however, predicted a sharp drop. The market was due for a reaction, they claimed.

Despite pessimistic prophecy, a tense international situation and a short week, the Toronto market index of 20 selected industrial issues climbed 7.92 points for the greatest advance since the week ending June 1. Montreal chalked up record highs and The Associated Press' average of New York issues climbed to its 1930 level Tuesday and pushed steadily higher for the rest of the week.

Reflect Activity

Shares traded in Toronto Wednesday totalled more than 3,000,000 and reflected the activity that pushed the index to a record high every hour. Papers climbed in Montreal and industrials gained more than two points.

Activity eased in Toronto Thursday but industrials again pushed to new highs and base metals strengthened. Papers jumped more than 18 points in Montreal.

Toronto maintained its record of more than two weeks Friday as the index climbed to a record high for the tenth consecutive session. Papers and industrials slowed in Montreal but ended with small advances.

In New York Tuesday, rails and steels gave the market a moderate boost to push industrials to the 1951 high of $97.80, highest mark in nearly 21 years.

The stock market advanced for the sixth straight session to a record high Wednesday.

Boosted Industrials

On Thursday, rails, almost single-handed, boosted industrials for a gain of 60 cents on the Associated Press' average. A final hour push yesterday boosted the market to its third consecutive high for 1951. Oils and individual issues featured the climb.

From Friday to Friday the Toronto Stock Exchange indices showed industrials up 7.92 at 354.72, golds down .43 at 84.57, base metals up 1.29 at 189.15 and Western Oils up .99 at 116.27.

In the Montreal averages, banks were up .14 at 29.23, Utilities up .8 at 87.9, industrials up 5.1 at 249.0, combined up 3.7 at 195.3, papers up 32.72 at 847.51, and golds up 1.59 at 66.79.

In New York, the Associated Press' average of 60 stocks climbed $1.70 to $99.30.

Customers Watch Thief

TORONTO, Sept. 8 (CP) — A thug with a gun rifled a cash register in full sight of 30 customers eating in a restaurant in west-central Toronto early today and fled with $75.

Victoria Broadcast

VICTORIA, BC, Sept. 8 (CP)—Special arrangements are being made for Princess Elizabeth to broadcast from Victoria short radio messages to the British Commonwealth, the same as the King did when he visited here in 1939. The Princess has consented to say a few words following a government luncheon to be given in her honor Oct. 15.

Hume Cronyn Plans To Develop Musical

NEW YORK, Sept. 8—(CP)—Hume Cronyn, veteran actor and stage director, thinks "The Flying Yorkshireman" would make a good musical and intends to do something about it.

Contracts are already being drawn with Alan Collins, of Curtis Brown, for the London, Ontario-born Cronyn to take a two-year option on the famous short-story by Eric Knight.

Published in 1937, the story deals with a Briton who suddenly discovers he has the ability to fly.

New Canadian Wants To Aid Seaway Plan

TORONTO, Sept. 8 (CP) — A Canadian with faith in Canada and a willingness to work overtime for its future is K. Koezva, a hydro employee at Niagara Falls. Friday Premier Frost received a letter enclosing a $10 bill which Koezva wanted to donate to the St. Lawrence seaway project.

Premier Frost wrote to thank Koezva after sending the money to Ontario Hydro Commission chairman Robert Saunders.

In his letter Mr. Koezva said:

"In order to do my share as a Canadian I have decided to work overtime and contribute my earnings toward . . . an all-Canadian St. Lawrence seaway."

Accident Insurance Asked In Civil Defence

FENELON FALLS, Sept. 8 — (CP) — Provincial Secretary Welsh, head of Ontario civil defence, said Friday night the Federal government should pay for accident compensation coverage for civil defence volunteers in training.

Speaking at the windup session of the five-day summer school of the Ontario Young Progressive Conservative Association, he said firefighters especially encounter some danger in training. He thought that, with federal aid, a compensation scheme could be worked out through provincial workmen's compensation boards.

Fight Inflation With Controls Drew Demands

FENELON FALLS, Sept. 8 (CP) —George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, asked for imposition of consumer controls to slow the pace of inflation which he called the greatest danger facing Canada short of all-out war itself.

In the closing speech of the five-day Young Progressive Conservative conference in this town, about 30 miles northwest of Peterborough, Mr. Drew said "we must hold the line until industry can meet both defence and consumer requirements."

The party believes in freedom from controls in normal times, but it does "advocate such controls as will hold the lines upon which we can defend our free economy" until production catches up.

Mr. Drew said his party has been charged with inconsistency because it advocated removal of controls following the last war and the re-imposition of controls following the outbreak of the Korean war.

Sudden Change

"There was no inconsistency whatever," said Mr. Drew. "The Conservative Party supports free enterprise and is strongly opposed to a controlled economy. When the war ended and our country returned to what seemed to everyone to be a period of peace and increasing security we urged the removal of controls as we returned to normal business and trading conditions.

"But all that changed overnight with the outbreak of war in Korea and a full realization of the threat we faced on a global scale. Times were no longer normal."

Speaking before Mr. Drew, Welfare Minister Goodfellow said that the proper basis of social welfare was helping those who could not help themselves and not using public money to give handouts to the strong and the healthy.

1860 VISIT—Kings and Kings-to-be have been visiting Canada since Prince William Henry, later William IV, arrived in Halifax in 1786 as a captain in the Royal Navy. HOUSE NO. 780—This pleasant home has many fine features, but of particular interest to many readers will be its effective design for a lot of comparatively limited frontage. Somehow the spreading effect of the wide gable does just the right thing. When this house was originally built the upstairs was left unfinished but it was later used to make three attractive rooms. Every room throughout the house is bright, cheery and of ample size. The colour scheme makes effective use of deep cream woodwork with a soft green door and darker green roof, contrasting with the red brick walls. Cubic contents, about 23,500 cubic feet. Sparkling And Colorful Bathroom Dream Of Every Homemaker

An up-to-the minute, sparkling and colorful bathroom is the dream of every homemaker. The excitement of remodelling or the thrill of creating a new bathroom is lots of fun. But aside from the pleasure of planning the "ideal" bathroom a great deal of serious thought should be given to the practical aspects of the room.

The bathroom, as is the kitchen, is first and the foremost a utility room and can be treated as such without detracting from its beauty.

First, proper selection of quality plumbing fixtures and good arrangement of them is important. The fixtures do not necessarily have to be the standard white, there is a wide selection of lovely colours available today, ranging frrom delicate pastels to deep vibrant tones, around any of which a colour scheme could be built.

After the selection and the installation of the fixtures, the walls are next in importance. The most popular and practical bathroom wall treatment is to use ceramic or composition tile halfway up and paint or wallpaper for the upper walls and ceiling.

Wallpaper for the bathroom is practical and decorative too. It adds gaiety and lightness and compliments or sets off the more severe tile treatment of the lower portion of the walls. In this room it is possible to use the most flamboyant paper, because the area is small. There are also luxurious marbleized papers, marines, sea-shell and other stylized designs that will add interest.

If the upper walls are to be painted, a contrasting colour to the lower walls should be selected. The woodwork and ceiling should be painted the same shade as the walls or the background colour of the wallpaper to be most effective.

The floor can be tiled, covered with linoleum or composition flooring, painted with floor enamel or even carpeting can be used to advantage.

A large mirror, ample dressing table space, handy drawers and cabinets and good and adequate lighting are essential to the comfort and efficiency of the modern bathroom.

The colours of the walls, floor and fixtures can be repeated and accented by the colour used for the accessories such as the shower curtains, window curtains, rugs and towels.

The Bachelor Decorates

Few women give men the credit for any knowledge of or feeling, for home furnishings. Yet why shouldn't men's taste be just as good as women's? Don't forget that a great many of our most successful interior decorators are men.

A perfect example of what a man, a bachelor at that, can do, was shown recently to us. The owner had dreamed of a home in the country for years and eventually found exactly the type of place he had been seeking. It was an old house and definitely down at the heels. Undaunted and with absolutely no experience in the decorative line, this man went about the job of rejuvenating and beautifying the house with the imagination and clear-minded vision of a woman who knows what she wants.

Fireplace Extends to Ceiling

A fireplace of beautiful native stone extending to the ceiling was substituted for the completely uninspired end wall in the living room. The walls are painted a Williamsburg green with glistening white wood work. The draperies have a splashy white peony design against a deep gold background, for which the green walls are a perfect foil. The comfortable armchairs are covered in a rough textured fabric in Chinese red. The divan against one wall is upholstered in a soft green and yellow plaid check and a deep club chair, with its own big footstool, is done in a stripe reflecting the red, yellow and leaf green colour scheme.

A mirror in a white wrought-iron frame, a white wrought-iron coffee table and tall lamps decorated with Chinese figures are the excellently selected major accessories. Big brass andirons and a brass plaque of Rembrandt give additional warmth and individuality to the room. All are in complete harmony.

Legal Assistance Necessary Protects Owner's Interests

Building or buying a house is a complex financial and real estate transaction. No prospective homeowner should overlook the necessity of engaging legal advice to protect his investment.

Whether or not a document is read to a layman, he sometimes signs it even though the implications of all the clauses are not fully understood. It is only by having recourse to a competent legal mind that a prospective home-owner can sign contracts and mortgage deeds with full knowledge of his rights and obligations.

Legal assistance will first be of value in acquiring the land, investigating and interpreting local by-laws and preparing or checking the building contract. The solicitor will ensure that all work anticipated by the owner is specified in the contract. He also protects, both during and after construction, and by making certain that no claims will be registered against the property for bills incurred by the contractor or sub-contractors.

After construction has been completed the lawyer will handle the mortgage deed and serve as an interpreter to the purchaser to ensure that he understands fully the entire transaction and his obligations.

No General Increase In Hydro Rates

KINCARDINE, Sept. 8 (CP). — Robert Saunders, Ontario Hydro chairman said Friday there will be no general increase in interim rates to municipalities or in rural rates this year or in 1952.

Addressing the Georgian Bay Municipal Electrical Association, he said:

"If times change—and we cannot anticipate a change for some time to come—we will have a surplus. But we believe that no change would take place fast enough to cause any change in the rates for this year or next year."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP). —The Senate passed a bill Friday night increasing the postage of ordinary letters from three cents to four cents and calling for other hikes to boost postal revenues, in all, nearly $400,000,000 a year.

BOOM IN IRON — Increased demand has provided a boom for the iron ore mines at Bell Island, Nfld. Mechanization and modernization of the mines of Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation is aimed at increasing production by more than one-third. This National Film Board photo shows an electric shovel at work in the beds out under the waters of Conception Bay. Use of horses and hand-loading is expected to disappear.

Mechanize Nfld. Iron Mines To Get Higher Production

BELL ISLAND, Nfld—(CP)—Activity is booming at this iron ore mining centre on Newfoundland's east coast as a huge mechanization program gets into full swing in an effort to raise production and meet demand.

The mines of Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation have an annual production of 1,600,000 gross tons but many orders remain unfilled.

The mechanization and modernnization program is aimed at boosting production to 2,500,000 gross tons annually.

It's a far cry from last year when orders were so scarce that the three mines on this Conception Bay Island were on short time and one was closed completely.

Then orders picked up, Germany ordered 560,000 tons a year for five years, the steel mills at Sydney, NS called for 950,000 tons and the United Kingdom ordered 1,120,000 tons for delivery over a five-year period. Smaller contracts were also negotiated.

Increase Production

Then the mines went back into full production and steps were taken to increase production. By 1952 the mines expect to supply 2,500,000 gross tons a year and will be able to provide more if necessary.

For Bell Island, it is a boom never equalled. The annual payroll is about $7,000,000 and other expenditures by DOSCO will be something more than $8,000,000. Another $3,000,000 will be spent in other parts of Canada purchasing supplies. In the Maritimes, expenditures on wages, materials and supplies arising out of the manufacture of steel at Sydney from Bell Island ore will be $37,000,000 annually.

Register Debentures

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (CP). — The Province of Ontario has registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission here a proposed offering of $50,000,000 debentures, due in 1972, for expenses of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission and repayment of loans, it was announced Friday. The offering will be sold publicly through a syndicate headed by Harriman Ripley and Co. and Wood Gundy and Co.

Approve Military Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP). —A Senate committee approved Friday a $61,103,856,030 military spending bill amid new talk of secret and devastating weapons "in a high state of development." The Senate Appropriations Committee, in addition, set up a $5,000,000,000 national emergency fund to be used essentially for development of air power.

Special Legislation

OTTAWA, Sept. 8 (CP).—The Ontario government will be asked to pass special legislation to permit the construction of low-cost rental housing projects here, acting mayor Charlotte Whitton said Friday.

A civic housing committee will meet in Toronto next Friday with Hon. William Griesinger, Ontario's planning minister.

40 Miles of Roads

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Sept. 8 (CP).—A 40-mile network of roads is being built here to link the Hydro Commission's bases for construction work on the new power tunnel project. The road system, now about 60 per cent complete, will link Chippawa, Stamford, Half-way and the Queenston power plant. There are 2,700 men working on the project now but a steady build-up in staff to about 5,000 is expected by this time next year.

Aid BC Pensioners

VICTORIA, BC, Sept. 8 (CP)—Old age assistance on a means test basis for citizens of British Columbia between 65 and 69 will start Jan. 1, Premier Byron Johnson announced Friday. Under the pension plan giving allowances to the 65-69 group, citizens will get $40 a month, half paid by Ottawa and half by the province, but on an "eligibility basis."

Price On Cars To Be Hiked $65-$250 In US

DETROIT, Sept. 8 — (AP). — Higher price tags for most lines of new passenger cars in the United States were being figured out today.

Some boosts, expected to run from about $65 on the lowest-priced cars to as much as $250 on higher-priced models, probably will be effective by the end of next week.

Authorization to make the increase under a complicated formula that would raise prices an estimated 5 to 6 per cent was given the industry Friday by the Office of Price Stabilization.

By the time retail dealers are allowed to apply their profit margins, ranging fr 15 to 30 per cent, it is estimated that the total boost might go as high as 8 per cent over current list prices.

Further price increases also are possible, the OPS order indicated.

The announcement brought immediate indication that the "Big Three" of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler would make the increases effective as quickly as possible.

Pass On Increase

President C. E. Wilson of General Motors said the full amount of the increase would be passed on to retail buyers. Chrysler said the order "does not give the relief that is needed." Ford withheld immediate comment.

In an earlier statement, however, Ford Vice-President Ernest R. Breech implied that a price increase would be made effective as soon as possible.

So far, only Packard has said definitely that it will not increase prices. Some others among the independents, or smaller companies, also are expected to withhold immediate price advances.

The increase was the second granted the industry since the Korean War began. Car prices were frozen last December 1, but on March 1, OPS allowed a 3½ per cent increase over the freeze prices.

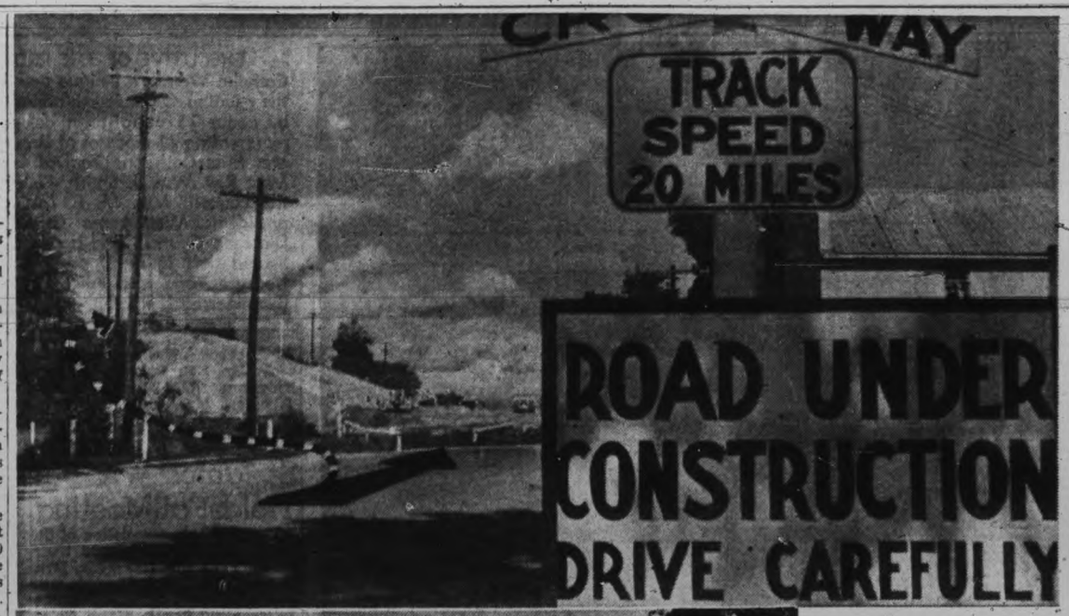
20 Wounded Vets Arrive In Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Sept. 8 (CP)—Twenty wounded Canadians, veterans of the Korean War, arrived in Vancouver Thursday night aboard a Canadian Pacific airliner. One of the 20, Pte. C Tardif, 23, of Quebec, who lost his left eye when shrapnel from a grenade struck him during a front-line battle, was taken to Shaughnessy Military Hospital immediately.

Two Vancouver men, Sgt. G. E. Lee and Staff-Sgt. Alfred Mignault, would give no other comment than: "We saw plenty of action. There were lots of bullets and miles and miles of mud."

Tourists Up 15%

TORONTO, Sept. 8 (CP)—If the weather holds clear during September, the number of American visitors entering Ontario this year should exceed last year's total by 15 per cent, Tom McCall, Ontario Deputy Minister of Travel and Publicity, said Friday. Last year 1,236,000 United motor vehicles crossed into Ontario.



A "SMALL" HIGHWAY-STRAIGHTENING JOB, in the estimation of road-building contractors, is making great changes from the village of Bethany for a distance of two miles east, as well as a short fill at Cavan hamlet, on Highway 7A. It will eliminate two right-angle curves, three S curves and a dangerous railway crossing. In Upper Left photo, the broad heavy arrow, pointing east from Bethany's main street, shows the way to a large earth cut; the dotted line to the left indicates the present tortuous route. Four 23-ton bulldozers, like the one driven by Frank Hastings of Windsor, Upper right photo, cuts through the hills with ease. The depth of the new road cut east of Bethany is shown in Lower Left photo where a fleet of tournapul earth-removal equipment carries dirt fill to low-lying "valleys.". Engineer in charge Bert Pitcher, Insert, calls it a small job in comparison to some he has tackled. —(Examiner Staff Photos)

Kingston Man Named Top Flier

KINGSTON, Sept. 8 — (CP).—Don Fisher, 20, of Kingston, representing the St. Lawrence zone in the Webster Memorial Trophy finals, was named top amateur airman in Canada, with 428.58 points of a possible 500 during the two-day aerial meet which ended Friday.

Fisher, who has held a private pilot's licence for three years, last year was runner-up. He is assistant air engineer at Kingston Flying Club.

Runner-up was Norman Allister Vose, 24, of Vancouver, who earned 425.54 points. Vose has been flying for only six months.

The Webster Trophy is awarded on the basis of the competitor's flying ability and upon his skill in navigation exercises. Each pilot makes two flights during the tests and undergoes a navigation examination.

Flying judges were Wing Cmdr. H. C. Forbell, director of ground training for the RCAF, and Inspector M. Barieau, Federal Transport. J. H. Barron was navigation judge.

612 Pupils Enrolled In Bancroft Schools

BANCROFT, Sept. 8 (ENS). — Six hundred and twelve children enrolled in the public and high schools in Bancroft at the opening of the fall term. Bancroft public school had an enrollment of 326, with 41 new pupils in the kindergarten. This number was slightly lower than the opening figure for 1950-51 as a number of pupils were transferred to the new school at Paudash. North Hastings high school had 286 students. Officials at that institution said that that number was a record to date and that they expect 295 by the middle of the month.

Giant Machines Straighten Highway 7A Near Bethany

Two miles of right-angled turns, sharp banks and steep hills on Highway 7A, immediately east of Bethany, are being eliminated. In fact a new stretch of asphalt highway, straight as the crow flies is replacing that dangerous way.

Preferred by an increasing number of drivers because it is less travelled and a shorter distance to Toronto. The Department of Highways has undertaken to make it safer.

Many car and truck drivers, even though other ways, Highway 28 and Highway 7, are longer and more travelled, stayed away from Highway 7A due to the sharp curves and steep hills at Bethany.

When the work is completed, the highway will be straight from Highway 28 well past Bethany.

Small Job

Waiting until railway construction work on the dual-lane highway at Oshawa is completed, the Sutherland Construction company took the opportunity to do the "small job" at Bethany.

The Westhill company moved four D-8 bulldozers, each weighing 22 tons, seven tournapuls (earth removal machines) and one grader into the Bethany area early in August and work began.

Now with one month's work completed the new highway is beginning to take shape.

Under superintendent Bert Pitcher the 'dozers, tournapuls and grader have whittled away at the sharp hill east of Bethany. First a large gulley had to be filled in; then the hill cut down.

Through a bush, across the old highway, and over several fields the tournapuls and bulldozers have been shaping the highway with the earth from the large hill.

While the base of the highway is being built, the hill, where the highway cuts through, is gradually decreasing. Bethany residents now can look straight up the hill where Pitcher is now reducing the grade to only five percent.

Fear of bad accidents at the Bethany highway-railway crossing, where previously the road had a sharp turn, is gone with the building of the new stretch. Bethany's main street is now straight up the hill.

Amid grinding of gears, dust and sand Pitcher waved his arms directing the bulldozers and tournapuls to position on the grade.

Calmy standing with confusion seeming to reign around him, Pitcher motioned to the tournapuls (like tractors without the front wheels drawing a dumper for earth) and bulldozers.

"That's a young man's job," he commented.

The men were then wheeling the tricky machines around on the loose sand, and with help from a bulldozer, dug their shovels deep into the earth. When the tournapuls turned, it was practically at right angles, and then they shot over the hill to another section.

Expensive Rubber

The bouncing of the tournapuls caught Pitcher's eye. He explained that the bouncing breaks the tire lining ruining them quickly. He bought six before beginning the job, at $1,960 each.

By October the company hopes to have the Highway 7A work completed, that is, down to where it can be gravel covered.

The construction job includes another stretch at Cavan, immediately east of the town. There the work involves cutting out two dangerous curves by extending the Cavan main street through the swamp to a point opposite the railway crossing about 1000 feet away.

Last winter the area was drained and prepared for work this summer. Before the company leaves this stretch will be built up and gravelled for travel.

Bethany and Cavan residents are expecting an increase in business as more and more traffic uses the shorter and soon better highway.

Oil Conference

EDMONTON, Sept. 8 (CP)—An Alberta government official said Friday that a conference here next week on the Athabasca oil Sands will be "one of the greatest gatherings of oil and mining brains" ever held in Canada. The Northern Alberta oil sands have been described by the United States Bureau of Mines as the world's greatest known oil reserve. The problem has been how to exploit them profitably.

Glenbiski-Matthews

MARMORA, Sept. 8 (ENS)—The wedding took place in St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, Madoc last Saturday of Gladys May, daughter of Mr. Fred Matthews and the late Mrs. Matthews of Deloro and Stephen John Glembiski also of Deloro. The Rev. M. W. Heslip officiated.

The bride wore a dress of turquoise blue and corsage of red roses. She was attended by her sister Miss Barbara Matthews who wore mauve and a corsage of pink roses. Walter Niokrynski of Toronto, nephew of the groom, was groomsman.

The honeymoon was spent in Toronto. Mr. and Mrs. Glembiski will live in Deloro.

Delyea-Schram

BANCROFT, Sept. 8 (ENS) — At St. John's Anglican Church, Bancroft, last Saturday, the Rev. Walter Smith performed the marriage of Thelma Elizabeth Schram, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Schram, to Fredrick Lawrence Delyea, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Delyea.

The church was decorated with pink and white gladioli and asters. Mrs. Walter Smith played the wedding music and Mrs. C. E. Schram, mother of the bride, sang "O Perfect Love" and "I'll Walk Beside You" during the signing of the register.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white satin trimmed with pearls and inserts of lace at the hemline caught up with bows. Her elbow length veil was held by a crown of pearls, and she carried a full length cascade bouquet of white gladioli with inset red rosebuds.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her cousin, Miss May Knaggs of Long Branch, who wore a blue satin, off the shoulder, floor length gown. Bridesmaid, Miss Donna Lean of Apsley, also a cousin of the bride, was frocked in yellow nylon lace. Both wore matching halos of mohair trimmed with white forget-me-nots.

Mr. James Schram, brother of the bride, was groomsman and the usher was Mr. William Delyea, brother of the groom.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where her mother received wearing yellow crepe with brown accessories and a corsage of sweet peas. The groom's mother, who also received, wore a navy with matching accessories and a sweet pea corsage.

Later the bride and groom left on a motor trip to Thirteen Island Lake near Kingston. For travelling the bride chose a suit of grey gabardine with navy hat, shoes and bag. Upon their return the couple will live in Bancroft.

Out-of-town guests were: from Huntsville, Mr. L. R. Schram, the bride's grandfather, and Mr. and Mrs. Myrl Head; from Sudbury, Mr. and Mrs. K. Schram Douglas and Carol, Mr. and Mrs. George Gray; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Knaggs, Long Branch; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Everson, Lindsay; Mr. and Mrs. James Everson, Islington; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Edey and Brian, Barrie; Mr. and Mrs. W. St. James' WA Holds Fall Meeting

The Woman's Association of St. James United church held their first fall meeting this week, Mrs. G. Harris presiding. Keynote was struck by the first hymn, "Come Ye Thankful People, Come, Raise the Song of Harvest Home."

Tribute was paid to a beloved member, the late Mrs. W. A. Wood, by two minutes' silent prayer, followed by prayer by Mrs. George Hewitt. A duet, "They Are Only Shadows," was sung by Mrs. E. Johnston and Mrs. Henry Turner accompanied by Mrs. H. Doig.

Special speaker for the meeting was the Rev. Heuston McCormick, who based his address on "The Good Samaritan."

Mrs. Gerald Cuffe, acting secretary, gave the report of the June meeting. Mrs. Ben Seabrooke reported nine bouquets and eight cards sent to the sick and bereaved in August.

Very good reports were given of the work done at the Peterborough Exhibition dining tent. Each convener remarked on the co-operation and spirit of good fellowship which prevailed, making the work pleasant and worthwhile for its own sake. Expressions of thanks were made to the president and conveners and their committees, members of the church board and Sunday school and all others who helped in various ways.

"Love One Another" Is Basis Of Sermon To CWL

A Eucharistic Holy Hour at St. Peter's Cathedral Friday evening preceded the opening for delegates and visitors of the fourth convention of the Catholic Women's League members of Ontario. Solemn Benediction was celebrated by Most Reverend Gerald Berry, DD, Bishop of Peterborough, assisted by the Rev. A. Weiss and the Rev. F. Michels.

Prayers for the Holy Hour were read by the Most Reverend B. I. Webster DD of Toronto, who also gave an inspiring sermon.

The bishop based his thoughts on the new commandment given to the Apostles by the Saviour when He spoke to them in the upper room at Jerusalem.

"Tonight," he said, "as you gather at the feet of our Divine Lord to offer Him your love and adoration, and to beg His blessings on yourselves, those dear to you, and, in particular, this convention, your thoughts naturally turn back through the centuries to that upper room on the night when Our Divine Lord, knowing that soon He would leave this mortal world, changed bread and wine to His Body and Blood, and also delivered to His Apostles a new commandent. "A new commandment I give unto you, that you love one another as I have loved you, for greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friend."

The bishop said His disciples had seen the Saviour's infinite love, pity and compassion, even for Judas, when He said to the betrayer: "Friend, why art thou come?" And it was this new commandment that was to conquer the world for Christ.

"It is a good thing to meditate upon the condition that Jesus laid down for friendship — that we love one another, even as He loved us. The laity have a part in spreading the gospel of Christ, and it is love for Him and for our fellow human beings, that should motivate our lives. Many a time you may become weary and discouraged, but do not allow yourselves ever to falter in the attempt to spread this gospel of our Lord. Try to attend mass daily, if possible, try to receive our dear Lord often, and try to visit him in church. But when you come, do not rely alone on the beautiful traditional prayers of the church. Let Him speak to your heart. When He visited Mary and Martha long ago, they did not do the talking. They listened to Him. Let this be so with you. Let Him teach you to be kind and patient and loving."

The speaker concluded with a wish that his listeners would remember that Our Lord said that He would consider that action as done to Himself which was directed to the relief of the forlorn and the desolate, and he asked that they would do all they could to lend strength and support to those in dire need of consolation.

Women Of Egypt Follow West

TORONTO — (CP)—Although there are some exceptions such as polygamy and child marriage, women in Egypt are almost as western in outlook and action as Canadians, says Madame Amb. Mitarachi who arrived in Canada recently from Egypt.

Mme. Mitarachi, an attractive middle-aged Egyptian, is an active member of the Alliance Committee in Alexandria, an organization devoted to social work among women and children.

In Egypt the city dweller is better off than the country women, she says. As an instance of this she tells of rural women who consider childbirth as just another chore. They leave their work in the field, have their baby then hoist it on their back and proceed with their work. In the cities there are good maternity hospitals.

Make Great Strides

However Middle Eastern women have progressed considerably since they peered at the outside world from veiled eyes. Socially, educationally and in the arts they have made great strides, particularly the upper class of women, many of whom speak English and French fluently.

Women graduate from French convents, Jewish and Protestant schools as doctors, lawyers and scientists. They serve as social workers and are gradually extending the variety of other occupations open to them, she says.

There is only one amateur dramatic group in Alexandria, Mme. Mitarachi said, but it gets the best in the professional theatre. The Greek dramatic group produces some of the classics. There is an excellent theatre which was left to the government by a wealthy Egyptian.

Hair To Be Worn 2 Inches Longer

NEW YORK—Always an advocate of coiffures to suit the individual, the Charles of the Ritz Salon takes a definite stand on the point of length, saying hair will be two inches longer for fall. To avoid any hint of heaviness, coiffures will be shaped. An advocate of bangs, this salon likes the brief fringed variety.

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"It's my visitor—I think he cracked a rib laughing at a story he was telling to cheer me up!"

DOROTHY DIX

Grandma Has Answers For Many Mothers Today

DEAR MISS DIX: In answer to "Worn-Out Ma," how about the other side of the question. Wasn't Grandma mother 25 years ago?

Dorothy Dix

Did she have an automatic washer, automatic gas range, dish washer, clothes dryer or ironer? No, this grandma used a washboard. Was there as many families with cars? Did we have canned baby food? No, I cooked oatmeal for two hours. Today the cereal is moistened with formula and used. Nursing a baby is a big job and uses up the mother's energy. Yet with all the household appliances very few nurse babies today. We didn't have the security of "shots," either. We dreaded diseases such as diphtheria which are almost non-existant today.

Grandma has earned her leisure.. What's more, she can't please this younger generation. She's old-fashioned and believes in "spankology" rather than "psychology". She's told children are reared differently today. They call parents by their first names, and even Grandma has no choice in what she's called. The parents give her the name they like—something modern. More power to the grandma who can adjust herself and find interests she had to give up when she was a young "Worn-Out Ma!"

GRANDMA.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: This grandma has learned the secret of adjustment—one of the cardinal rules for getting along in the world. Mother, grandma, mother-in-law—each has an important role in the world and can be of most service sticking to it and not trying to keep a foot in each of two generations.

Still A Full-Time Job

Grandma seems to have a touch of resentment for the convenience of modern child-care. True, modern appliances, canning methods and medical progress have eliminated much of the drudgery in raising children, but the conscientious mother of today still has a full-time job with her youngsters. If she uses her time wisely, as the vast majority of young parents do, she escapes the "worn out" state, which is really a form of martyrdom rather than a purely physical condition. A healthy mother of healthy children will be tired at the day's end, but she tucks her young 'uns in with the secure feeling of a day's work well and efficiently done, and tackles each day with zest.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 36 years old and have been married 18 years. I have four children—the oldest one is married. My husband left me with no explanation whatever, but writes and occasionally comes to see me. I have had to go to work to support the three children at home and the only money I get from my husband is $5 now and then. I know the children aren't getting the things they need.

MARTHA.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your husband has an absolute obligation to support his children whether he is home or not, and you can force this support through legal proceedings. If you can't afford a lawyer, go to the Legal Aid Society nearest you for advice. Don't try to carry the whole burden yourself. You make it too easy for your husband to evade his responsibility.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am almost 20 years old and am plagued with blushing; which seems to grow steadily worse. The girls laugh at me, and some just call it cute. Regardless, I consider it a liability and would like to know its cause and cure.

CHARLES.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You'll have to resign yourself to whatever teasing your blushes elicit from your friends as there's no cure except to overcome the self-consiousness that causes it. Blushing was a necessary attribute of heroines in Victorian novels, but the self-assurance that characterizes the younger generation has made it almost extinct today.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I love a guy who is, I think, my equal except that I have more education than he has. He is a whizz at math, can play four or five musical instruments, while I can only play the piano. We are of the same religion and family background and our ambitions in life are the same. Do you think our marriage will be happy?

JEAN

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are using the term 'education" to cover actual schooling, whereas your sweetheart seems to have an abundance of learning not necessarily of college vintage. Difference in education only becomes a serious consideration when the mate with less schooling is completely satisfied with his condition and has no incentive to improve it.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: A friend of mine is an airline stewardess, and has fallen in love with a married pilot, the father of three children. She won't make dates with any other man, and arranges as many trips as possible on the same flight as the pilot. Her folks don't know of the affair, and we feel she is ruining her life. Is there anything you can suggest that might make her see the wrong she is doing?

M. A.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Nothing will earn you less thanks than to interfere in a case like this. Your friend, as well as her sweetheart, knows the affair is wrong, and both are old enough to ruin their lives if they like.

Tapered Toe Is Innovation In Shoe World

Fashion interest is centered on the shape of shoes to come, and the slender, pointed look of the taper-toe looms as the most exciting innovation in many a season. Graceful and feminine, the tapered toe, poised on slim-edged leather soles, gives the foot the delicate look prized by smart women who "make" fashions.

But don't think for a moment that these new shoes have anything in common with the bone-crushers popular in days of yore. Pliant soles of leather, perfect lasting and ample room across the ball of the foot make the new models a joy to tender tootsies. They flatter and highlight the arch, the prettiest part of the foot, and conjure up a slim silhouette below the hemline, so important with the straight, natural lines of the new dress styles.

One of the best examples seen at early fall fashion shows is a V-throat vamp which accentuates the long vamp. In black suede with polished leather soles, this style features straighter shank lines than seen for several seasons. Another new model has a pointed heel and toe. Broad at the ball, it came with a sliver of a leather tie, emanating from the deepest point of the cut topline.

Readers' Saturday Column by Mary Moore

QUESTION: I enjoy your column very much and have tried quite a few recipes. I wondered if you had a good "green cucumber relish" recipe, for hamburgs and hot dogs. My children are very fond of them and I wanted to make the relish.—Mrs. S.B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Green Cucumber Relish—One peck medium-sized cucumbers, 6 large mild onions, 3 cups sugar, ⅓ cup salt, 1 tablespoon celery seed, 2 tablespoons mustard seed, 3 cups spirit vinegar; wash cucumbers, and pare half of them. Put them all through the grinder with the onions. Sprinkle salt over the mixture and let them stand one hour Drain well. Combine sugar, spices and vinegar, and pour them over the vegetables. Simmer for 25 minutes, stiring frequently. Pour into sterile jars and seal.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Yesterday I tried out your recipe for Lemon Sponge Layer Pudding and the Whipped Topping. We liked it very much, except that the topping had a powdery taste. Can you tell me how to remedy this? I notice the instructions on the box of skim milk powder says to use lukewarm water. Your topping instructions say to chill ingredients. I am wondering if this is the cause of the powdery taste, and if so, could it be mixed with lukewarm water, then chilled? I wish you would print more recipes that are tasty, yet provide necessary elements without fats. I think many more in the over forty group would appreciate it. — "Over Forty."

ANSWER: My sister who has a very discerning palate, complained about the powdery taste too, but the rest of us did not seem to mind it. We did what you suggested: we sprinkled the skim milk powder on top of lukewarm milk BUT we added 1 tablespoon lemon juice. We stirred the powder down into the water and lemon juice to soak it, then chilled it for over an hour. I thought this method was fine.

The tasty recipes that you seek are at a premium, "Over-Forty," for nearly every dessert that comes up to the tasty requirement has fats and sweets aplenty. The fruit sherbets are a compromise and I am giving you one in which you may substitute several different crushed fresh fruits.

Fresh Fruit Sherbet

In 2 tablespoons water soak 1 teaspoon gelatine. Make a syrup of ¾ cup sugar and 1½ cups water and boil gently 5 minutes. Remove from heat and stir the soaked gelatin into it. Chill. When it just begins to congeal stir in 4 tablespoons lemon juice, and 1 cup crushed fruit and the juice with it; this may be orange, peach, pineapple, berries of all kinds, or orange pulp and juice mixed with lemon juice. (Grape may be used too but they must be slipped from their skins, pulp heated to make seeds float then strained add pulp to skins and cook gently to make skins tender and chill before eating.) Pour into freezing tray and freeze to a mush. Beat in chilled bowl with rotary beater until fluffy. Fold in 1 stiffly beaten egg white. Freeze until firm, stirring occasionally.

6—In Memoriam

CROWE—In loving memory of George A. Crowe, who passed away Sept. 8, 1946.
Oh! for the touch of a vanished hand
And the sound of a voice that is still.
—Ever remembered by Nellie, Ottie, Clinton, Lou and Keith.

FULTON—In loving memory of a dear nephew and cousin, Robert Leon Fulton, who passed away one year ago, Sept. 9, 1950.
Though his smile is gone forever,
And his voice we cannot hear,
Still we have the sweetest memories,
Of Leon who we loved so dear.
His memory is our keepsake
With which we'll never part,
God has him in His keeping
We have him in our hearts.
—Lovingly remembered by Aunt Minnie and family.

FULTON—In loving memory of Leon Fulton, who passed away one year ago, Sept. 9, 1950.
One year has passed and gone,
Since one we loved so well,
Was taken from our home on earth,
With Jesus Christ to dwell.
The flowers we placed upon his grave
May wither and decay,
But the love of him who sleeps beneath
Shall never fade away.
—Ever remembered by Orland, Stella and wee Betty Fulton.

FULTON—In loving memory of our darling son, Leon Fulton, who fell asleep in Jesus Sept. 9, 1950.
Please God forgive a silent tear,
A silent wish that our boy was here.
There are others, yes, we know,
But he was ours and we loved him so.
One year ago we had to part
With one we loved with all our heart,
The wound is so deep it will not heal
Only those who have lost know how we feel.
If we could speak with Leon today
Laugh with him the same old way,
Hear his voice and see him smile,
Then life indeed would be worth while.

McMANUS—In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, John McManus, who passed away Sept. 9, 1950.
Nothing can ever take away.
The love our hearts hold dear.
Fond memories linger every day.
Remembrance keeps him near.
—Ever remembered by Ernest and family.

Marmora Guild Plans To Hold Tea

MARMORA, Sept. 8 (ENS)— The monthly meeting of St. Paul's Ladies' Guild was held on Thursday evening in the Parish Hall. There was a good attendance of members. The president, Mrs. Frank Leal opened the meeting. The treasurer's report given by Mrs. Donald McInroy showed a favorable balance. Mrs. W. D. Lavender read a number of 'thank you' cards. It was decided to hold a congregational supper in the Parish Hall early in October and to resume card parties at an early date.

In lieu of the chicken supper of former years there will be a bazaar and afternoon and evening tea in November. Mrs. W. M. Regan offered her home for the October meeting. Canon J. M. Brownlie closed the meeting with prayer and benediction.

Her finger tip veil was of embroidered net caught with lily of the valley and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white chrysanthemums. Her bridesmaid was Miss Dorothy Airhart of Marmora who was frocked in mauve nylon net over taffeta featuring a frilled apron effect. She wore a matching halo and mittens and her bouquet was of yellow chrysanthemums.

5,000 Tested For Polio Serum

PROVO, Utah, Sept. 8—(AP)— Humanity's first large-scale experiment in a search for a serum to check or prevent polio paralysis reached its initial goal Friday —and still the volunteers trudged in.

National Infantile Paralysis Foundation officials came to Utah county seeking 5,000 youngsters for the test. After four days of innoculations the 5,000th volunteer was "shot" today. He was Ronnie Carlson, 5.

Utah County was chosen because a "mild epidemic" of the disease exists here.

The test involves inoculations with a blood fraction, Gamma Globulin, to determine whether it can prevent or curtail polio paralysis. Tests with monkeys were successful.

Results are not expected to become known for at least a year.

Don't Want Douks To Be Relocated

KAMLOOPS, BC, Sept. 8 (CP) —A public meeting sponsored by the Kamloops branch of the Canadian Legion Friday night voted almost unanimously to protest any relocation of Sons of Freedom Doukhobors in the Adams Lake region, 100 miles from here.

With only one dissenting voice, the 125 persons at the meeting, including accredited representatives of a dozen organizations, demanded that the provincial government deny the Sons' suggestion t at they be moved to Adams Lake.

The meeting decided to organize a house-to-house canvass to obtain "at least 8,000" signatures for a petition protesting the proposed transfer.

The speakers included E. Davie Fulton, Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Kamloops.

Canada Unlikely To Protest Firing On Ship

OTTAWA, Sept. 8 — (CP) — Canada isn't likely to kick to Communist China about the reported Red machine-gunning of a ship flying the Canadian flag.

The main reason is that no official report has come to the External Affairs Department since the incident.

Press reports Monday said Chinese Communist landing craft ship Yu Men Sunday between machine-gunned the passenger Hong Kong and the Portugese colonial port of Macao on the Chinese mainland.

There were no casualties among the Labor Day holiday passengers.

The Yu Men is one of seven ships registered in Canada by the Ming Sung Co., a Chinese firm which was the cause of Parliament's hottest debates last session.

Opposition members demanded that the right to fly the Canadian flag be denied the Chinese firm. The government declined to change its policy.

The controversy likely will be revived next month when the House meets again and the shooting—first involving the ships—will just as likely be mentioned.

External affairs officials say it is not customary to take diplomatic action unless there is something more than a news story to act as a basis. In this case, neither the Ming Sung firm nor the Canadian trade commissioner at Hong Kong has reported the shooting.

For Parents Only

Deal Gently With Jealous Child

By NANCY CLEAVER

"Jealousy is cruel as the grave: the coals thereof are coals of fire, which hath a most vehement flame."

Centuries ago, Solomon wrote these words, and how many countless people have been tortured by envious pangs! How many children have experienced the bitter apprehension that they are being displaced in the love and affection of their parents!

Jealousy is not just a problem which parents may expect to find when a new baby is born. It is a violent emotion which may occur at any stage in life.

There are many situations where jealousy rears its head. The younger child may be jealous of the older child's extra privileges, such as a later bed time. The brother may be jealous of all the clothes his sister has. The girl may be jealous of the boy's greater freedom in making his way about alone. The child with average capacity may be jealous of a brilliant brother or sister who makes much higher grades at school. The rather plain little girl may envy her pretty sister's good looks.

What is the best way to treat jealousy? Certainly it should not be severely punished, nor should it be ignored. The very jealous child is a sick child emotionally and needs help in the form of understanding and love and guidance.

One of the very worst ways to deal with a jealous child is to insist that he "love" the object of his jealousy. Human beings cannot be commanded to love automatically as a soldier springs to attention.

An older child should not be burdened with too great responsibility for a younger member of the family because everyone is supposed to help in a home. Nor should parents ever spur their children to greater efforts by comparing one child's failure to another child's success.

The plight of the jealous child is made worse if he is forced to feel ashamed of his feelings. He gets all mixed up inside. Instead, mother can say, "Yes, I know you may feel we love the new baby, (or the other young brother or sister) more than we love you, but that is not so. Mother and Daddy have lots of love for both of you." Even if he exclaims, "I hate Junior!" Mother need not get excited. She can answer, "Lots of brothers and sisters occasionally dislike each other. But as they grow older they usually become good friends. Mother loves you just as much as she ever did, and she loves you just as much as anyone else."

Parents can help by reassuring the child who is fearful that he is being replaced in his parents' hearts by another child. Fairness and consistent discipline also prevent jealousy between older children. Most of all, parents need, throughout the years, to give enough effection to all of their children so that each of them feels secure. Schiller has called jealousy a "magnifier of trifles." But this unhappy emotion, if dealt with wisely, can be a transitory one. Deal gently with "the green-eyed monster!"

King's Broadcast, Choirs To Close Britain's Festival

LONDON, Sept. 8—(Reuters)—The King will speak, bands will play and choirs sing as the lights go down Sept. 30 on the Festival of Britain's south bank exhibition.

Festival director Sir Gerald Barry said the King will make a five-minute broadcast to the nation from Balmoral Castle in Scotland in a ceremony that will be "rather mild and matey." In London, on the grounds of the exhibition that lies on the south bank of the Thames River, bands of the crack Guards Brigade will beat a tattoo of drums and then lead a huge choir in community singing.

As the bands stop and the voices die away into silence, the thousands of lights that have illuminated the site since it opened May 3 will be turned off. A single spotlight will be turned on the Union Jack and festival flags as they are slowly lowered.

But as the exhibition that up to Thursday night had played host to more than 6,500,000 persons shuts its gates, the worries of the seven-man Festival of Britain disposal department begins.

Their headache is to decide what to do with the thousands of exhibits and the score of buildings. Biggest problem is to dispose of the skylon the modernistic 300-foot cigar-shaped metal fixture that stands in the middle of the grounds, apparently suspended in mid-air.

Offers have come from Morecambe, a Lancashire seaside resort and Billy Butlin, organizer of the Butlin holiday camps. Both said they wanted to put lights on it and augment their lighting attractions.

The Dome of Discovery, a massive mushroom-shaped building that houses exhibits of the discoveries of Britons in every field, is also on the available list. An amusement-park promoter wants to take it to New York's Coney Island and set it up there. The Royal Navy thinks it would make a first-class indoor gunnery range.

The only building that will remain on the site is the ultra-modern Royal Festival Hall, with its acoustically-perfect concert hall.

Future of the south bank's sister attraction, the Battersea pleasure gardens, about a mile farther up the Thames, is still indefinite. Its illuminated trees, roller coaster, and open air restaurants have proved a first-class spot for Londoners to spend their days off—more than 5,400,000 have visited it.

Pension Plan

WINNIPEG, Sept. 8 — (CP) — Premier Campbell said Friday Manitoba will implement a federal old-age pension plan for persons with the 65-69 age group, Jan. 1, 1952. The pension plan calls for a payment of $40 a month to persons over 65 but under 70 who can qualify according to resident regulations and who can pass a means test.

Warns US Keep Air Superiority Secure Safety

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—America has "no choice but to maintain superiority in the air" if it is to guard against "the swiftest kind of military disaster," Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force Chief of Staff, has told members of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Vandenberg hammered hard at the threat of Russia's expanding air force. His testimony, given behind closed doors Aug. 15, was made public by the committee after it had approved a $61,103,865,030 military defence bill Friday. More than $20,000,000,000 is earmarked for the air force.

"The first battles of an air war may well be the decisive battles," Vandenberg declared. "Years are required to replace air losses, and during those years a superior air force could operate against us with increasing destructiveness."

He continued:

"There is ample evidence that the Soviet rulers have become aware of these facts. They have not been content to depend on their overwhelming land power with a powerful short-range air force to support it.

Go Further

"They have built a strategic air force and developed an atomic bomb—the tried and proven weapon that makes a strategic air force so terribly effective. And they are creating a powerful jet fighter and bomber force designed to give them air supremacy over the entire zone where surface battles might be fought.

"If we should fail to prevent them from gaining this air supremacy we could scarcely hope to win the battles on the surface. Any plan for winning them must depend upon our ability to gain and maintain superiority in the air.

"It is also true that the nation's hope of ultimate victory through superior production of weapons depends upon our saving most of our own productive capacity while we destroy most of theirs. To do this we will have to have a wide margin of strategic air superiority from the outset."

Village In Darkness Big Truck Blamed

BANCROFT, Sept. 8 (ENS)—The lighting system was stopped at approximately 2 a.m. one night this week when a key pole by the bridge over the York River on Bridge St. was knocked down.

Provincial Constable John Hawkins was roused from his slumbers to pursue a transport laden with heavy construction equipment, the vehicle that allegedly caused the damage. With the co-operation of the Madoc police, Constable Hawkins apprehended the driver in that village 46 miles south of here. The case will be on the docket in Bancroft's next court session on September 19.

By morning the local repair crew had made temporary repairs so that for practically everybody the service was uninterrupted.

CCF Organizer Speaks To Durham Leaders

MILLBROOK, Sept. 8 (ENS)—Fred Young, provincial organizer of the CCF for Ontario, recently arrived from the Maritimes, addressed leaders of the Durham riding in Bowmanville on Thursday evening. There were members present from Fraserville, Orono, Courtice and Bowmanville.

It was Mr. Young's opinion that the Liberal government will be forced to put on price controls, but that it will not do so until about six months before the federal election. He said the unions had come to realize and farmers too were beginning to see, that they were losing in increased prices of commodities whatever had been gained in higher wages and higher returns from produce.

The general feeling in favor of the CCF is strengthening again, as it had in 1945 in western Canada, and also in eastern sections with the exeception of Quebec, he said.

Shutdown Ends At Chrysler

WINDSOR, Sept. 8 — (CP) — Plants of the Chrysler Corporation of Canada resumed normal operations Friday morning after a one-day shutdown.

Management sent 3,000 passenger car production workers home Thursday morning. The company said 90 upholstery workers had called an "unauthorized strike."

The company, in its statement Thursday, said the strike of the 90 workers closed down one department, and the passenger car line was closed down for want of parts.

The company statement said a worker in the cushion department was suspended, and as a result the 90 employees went "on strike" without resorting to "normal grievance procedure."

The employees belong to Local 195 UAW-CIO.

Rules Out Increase In US Gold Price

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (Reuters). — Treasury Secretary John Snyder Friday ruled out any possibility of an increase in the United States price of gold, on the eve of next week's world bank and monetary fund conference.

The conference is scheduled to open in Washington September 10.

Snyder, in answer to a question at a press conference, said he does not anticipate any action at the conference on the price of gold.

"We see no reason for the United States government to pay a higher price for gold," he said.

The US price is $35.00 an ounce.

Sees Hollywood Optimistic About Future

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 8 (AP)—Despite the beginning of coast-to-coast television this week, Hollywood is wallowing in a sea of optimism.

This is partially due to an all-industry drive to draw attention to the movies, to kick off Oct. 8 with film stars appearing in each state capital.

But the optimism is based on something sounder — a general upswing in metropolitan movie attendance.

Topnotch attractions have brought a considerable increase in film receipts, and there is hopeful talk that the 1951 business will top that of 1950.

Only one thing dampens the industry's spirits—the report that President Truman's address to the Japanese peace conference—telecast across the country—put a dent in many movie box-offices.

"But," shrugged one man, "how often do we have to compete with a peace conference?" . . .

Ace In The Hole

The film studios have an ace in the hole in case television overwhelms them. They still have vast libraries of film classics worth many millions of dollars if released to TV.

Insiders report that was behind the offer of San Francisco financier Louis Lurie to buy Warner Brothers. He was reported to have had his eye on the great backlog of pictures, which would bring a fortune in TV. When Warner Brothers found this out, the deal cooled in a hurry . . .

One of the most significant events of the week was scarcely noticed. That was the severance of Louis B. Mayer from the operation of M-G-M Studios.

It was the end of a long and succesful association. But it's a safe bet that Louis B. will be bouncing back into the industry in an important way.

Toronto Car Factory Now Closed Down

TORONTO, Sept. 8—(CP)—A Toronto automobile assembly plant shut down Friday and officials of another said their plant would shut down at the end of September. Total number of men affected is 275.

Credit curbs and material shortages were blamed in the closing Friday of the Reo Motor Company of Canada plant in suburban Leaside and in the scheduled closing of the Nash Motors of Canada plant on Toronto's Danforth avenue. It was not known how long either shutdown would last.

Christianity

from his days as a lad in a Scotch textile mill, snatching lines from a book propped up as he passed to and fro at the loom, with his achievement of a medical education, and his life in Africa, is not only of thrilling interest, but is of quickening inspiration.

I know something about that, for it was the Livingstone story that inspired Walter T. Currie to go, some years before my time, from the little church that I served in Toronto, to emulate Livingstone's example in Africa, and to lay the foundations of the remarkable Christian community in Ciscamba in West Central Africa.

And the glory of missionary achievement in Africa shines today in Albert Schweitzer, one of the greatest of all missionaries.

But continued missionary achievements in some parts of the world can be seen today only against discouraging and tragic reversals in other parts.

In China particularly disaster has struck, and it might seem that the long and fruitful work of generations of Christian missioners had been destroyed, if one could believe that the seeds of truth can ever be entirely destroyed, and the patient efforts of faith forever nullified.

Behind the iron curtain in Europe, too, destructive persecution has fallen upon areas in which there had been notable progress.

It is a dark hour, with obstacles greater than early modern missionaries encountered even in savage and cannibalistic lands. But missionary faith and zeal have persisted in many dark hours in the past, and so we who believe in Christian missionary enterprise must live in hope and faith.

TLC Renews Demands For Controls

Bengough Charges Ottawa Fails To Plug Loopholes

HALIFAX, Sept. 10 (CP) — President Percy Bengough of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, addressing the opening session of the TLC's annual convention, today renewed labor's demand for price controls.

He said the skyrocketing cost of food and household commodities is the "immediate worst" of the "unwanted babies on our doorstep."

Mr. Bengough in his address to more than 400 delegates, laying down one of the major themes of the annual session of the 500,000-member Congress, declared:

"It is true that the government has sought to restrict credit buying, but this is comparable to mopping up the floor without stopping the leak and at best is class legislation, restricting only the buying of the poor unless they, as many have been forced to do, borrow the required down payment from a shark loan company . . ."

The veteran president delivered a blow at the federal government for its recent statements — through Prime Minister St. Laurent and Labor Minister Gregg — that more production by Canadians would be one of the key ways of overcoming inflation.

"We have heard so much from half-baked economists on the need for more production and longer hours in order to curb inflation," he said, "yet sickness and poor health remain as a greater cause of lost time than all other causes put together."

The TLC chief was calling for a national scheme of health insurance, and he decried what he called the "parrot replies" of government that the time was not yet opportune for it.

Turning to foreign affairs, he said that, while Congress' statement of principles has a disarmament plank in it, the TLC should support the government's defence program and the Atlantic pact.

"We believe in disarmament and are opposed to war," he said, "but a gigantic war machine has been built and is still being built in the land of Stalin.

"Profiting by the sad experience of others, we will not leave ourselves to the mercy of potential aggressors and, with the world situation as it is, we need protection."

MORE THAN $2,000 in stamps and cash were pried out of this safe in the Haliburton village post office in the early hours of Monday morning. Creighton Feirs, local postman, is seen looking at the safe that the thieves threw over on its back and then ripped open. (Examiner Staff Photo)

Thieves Crack PO Safe, Get $2,000 At Haliburton

Breakin Discovered At 6 a.m. By Janitor; No Sound Noticed

Thieves, believed expert safecrackers, early today broke into the post office at Haliburton village and made off with cash and postage stamps, valued in all at more than $2,000.

They worked so quietly that nearby residents had no knowledge anything was amiss until postal employees discovered the breakin shortly before 6 a.m.

The safe, five feet high and three feet wide and weighing several hundred pounds, was thrown on its side and pried open. To muffle the sound of this prying operation the safecrackers laid empty mail bags on the floor. When the safe was bumped about, the mail bags cushioned the jar.

After Midnight

Entry was made sometime between midnight and 4 am today. A window on the northeast side of the building was forced open, permitting one man to squeeze through.

The portable safe was wheeled a few feet from where it was standing and the men threw it on its side and worked it open with tools they had brought along for the purpose. Cash and stamps of various denominations were removed and the thieves then left.

Miss Elaine Roberts, assistant postmistress, estimated that the total value of the loot was more than $2,000.

The breakin was discovered when Wesley Otto, who doubles as janitor and mail carrier, arrived shortly before 6 am to open the post office. He noticed the window out, and together with Creighton Feir, entered the building and found the damaged safe.

Believed Experts

"They must have been experts," Otto told an Examiner reporter, "the whole thing was done so efficiently. They couldn't have made any noise."

The post office is located on the main street of the village. An unidentified woman who lives next door is a light sleeper and usually awakens if there is any unusual noise.

UK Dollar Earnings Fall Financial Crisis Threatens

LONDON, Sept. 10. (AP) — Britain seems headed for serious financial difficulties again. The gap between the price she pays for her imports and what she gets for her exports has widened drastically in the last few months. Her dollar earnings are falling. There are signs of a progressive world-wide weakening of confidence in the pound sterling. The New York price for free sterling, widely used to finance international trade, at the week-end stood at $2.51 to the pound, a discount of more than 10 per cent on the official rate of $2.80. Just before the start of the Korean war in June, 1950, the free pound was up to $2.70 in New York.

The free market price of pounds also has slumped in Switzerland — another "hard currency" country.

Another tip-off on the situation is the rising demand for Canadian and American securities on the London Stock Exchange. Moneywise British investors are bidding up dollar shares both with an eye to escaping the government's tax control over dividends and as a hedge against possible further devaluation of the pound.

Symptoms Evident

All symptoms were evident in the months preceding Britain's September, 1949, devaluation of the pound from $4.03 to $2.80 US.

Unofficial reports say that treasury experts have the question of a further devaluation of sterling under almost continuous study. There is no official confirmation of this since any solid indication of probable devaluation immediately would cause tracers to hold off orders from Britain until the new value was set — thus itself making inevitable such a step.

This was one of the factors that forced the 1949 devaluation.

Devaluation eased the drain on Britain's gold and dollar reserves and enabled her to improve her trading position.

At the first of the year Britain pridefully announced she was doing so well she could get along without any more Marshall aid. Today the picture has turned gloomy again. Raw material prices have fallen somewhat from their peak, but prices of British imports are more than 32 per cent above their 1950 average.

She is getting more for her exports, but this increase is small in comparison with the jump in import prices.

Britons Face 3 Food Cuts

LONDON, Sept. 10 (Reuters) — Britain, since the war the land of perennial shortages, today had official cuts in three basic food items and faced unofficial rationing in a fourth.

The weekly cheese ration fell from two ounces to 1½ ounces for each member of the family.

The butter ration fell to three ounces from four.

From next Sunday the bacon ration will drop — from four ounces to three.

Coupled with the new official cuts came an unofficial rationing of milk due to dwindling of supplies in the off-season.

Butchers were the only merchants to greet housewives more cheerfully today. They served an increased ration of two shillings a week.

This has risen from one shilling and 10 pence.

Next Sunday the meat ration will rise again — for four weeks only — to two shillings and two pence.

Youth Guilty Rustling Cattle

OTTAWA, Sept. 10 — (CP) — John Charles Campbell, 18-year-old Almonte youth, pleaded guilty in county court today to a charge of cattle "rustling." He was remanded for sentence.

Police said Campbell drove an ancient truck up to a corrall on the Fitzroy Harbor ranch of Thomas A. Wilson and Hiram E. Wilson. He loaded seven prime steers, worth $1,750 aboard and drove off.

Horseshoe For Turpin

LEAMINGTON, England, Sept. 10 (Reuters) — A three-foot-high floral horseshoe will be flown across the Atlantic tonight to Randolph Turpin, who defends his world middleweight title against Ray Robinson in New York Wednesday. It bears the words "Good Luck, Randy, from Royal Leamington Spa." The emblem, a gift from the people of Turpin's home town, is of artificial flowers in blue and white, Turpin's boxing colors.

Say Russian-Type Rockets Land Behind Allied Lines

US EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Sept. 10 (AP) — Rockets of the type used by the Russians in the Second World War have landed behind allied lines on the east central front, it was officially reported today.

There was speculation they might have been brought to Korea by Communist Caucasian troops recently reported near the battle-front.

No allied installations were hit. Official sources refused to disclose the number of rockets that landed.

In the air war, 30 American F-86 Sabre jets tangled with 80 Russian-type MIG-15s over north-west Korea in one of history's biggest jet battles. Two Communist planes were damaged.

It was the second jet battle in two days. Sunday the allies shot down two MIGs and damaged another. There were no allied losses in either scrap.

Army sources said unofficially they have reliable but not conclusive evidence that Russian pilots have been flying some of the MIGs in battle against the United Nations.

Since rockets, to be effective, must blanket an area, it is possible those which landed on the east central front were fired accidentally. They apparently were not aimed at any specific target. Reports indicated only a small number were fired.

Eighth Army officers refused to say whether they could have been launched from a Communist plane.

At least one rocket was identified definitely as being of the type used by the Red army against the Germans.

Badly Burned Girl Rescues Grandmother

SMITHVILLE, Ont., Sept. 10 — (CP) — A badly burned 14-year-old girl returned to a flaming cabin today to rescue her crippled grandmother.

Beverley Snail, of RR 2, Milton returned to the oil-spattered cabin where she helped Mrs. Ida Bates out of bed and through a window to safety.

Beverley got up early today to light the fire in the cabin. The oil stove exploded, splashing burning oil over her night dress and setting the interior of the two-room building afire.

The girl dived through a window to the ground outside where she rolled on the grass to extinguish the flames. Then she went back and rescued her grandmother.

The girl was taken to hospital in Hamilton where her condition was reported as "serious." Mrs. Bates suffered only minor burns to her forehead.

Iran Feeling Pinch, Dollars Cut

Britain Retaliates On Pocketbook As Stand Unchanged

LONDON, Sept. 10 (Reuters) — Britain today hit Iran where it hurts — in the pocket — by making it tougher for the oil country to get dollars. A treasury statement said the British government, which lost a rich oil source when Iran nationalized the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, could no longer make dollars freely available nor supply Iran with scarce goods.

"The cessation of exports of oil from Iran not only removes the justification for these exceptional facilities but also makes it necessary for the United Kingdom to spend large sums of dollars on replacement oil," the statement said.

Iran enjoys "exceptional privileges" which enable it to convert sterling into dollars and to get actual dollars where these are required for its trade, the source said.

These privileges were granted by Britain because of advantages derived from her oil trade with Iran. The advantages had gone since oil supplies were stopped through the dispute over nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

Iran, though not a member of the sterling countries for which Britain is the banker, must ask Britain's permission to convert sterling into dollars.

Has Her Troubles

Tehran, Sept. 10 (AP) — Premier Mohammed Mossadegh — having failed twice to get a parliamentary confidence vote for his "get tough" oil policy — says he will send Britain an ultimatum anyway on reopening the disrupted talks. A continued boycott by opposition deputies blocked a second attempt by the premier to force action in the majlis (lower house) Sunday. Only 68

UN Hopes To Save Million In 1952

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Sept. 10 — (AP) — The United Nations hopes to save nearly $1,250,000 in 1952, mainly by staying at home in its new permanent headquarters instead of travelling around the globe.

UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie released Sunday budget estimates totalling $46,568,300 for the UN in 1952, which is $1,230,300 less than the budget for 1951, totalling $47,798,600.

Of the estimated budget, the UN expects to receive $5,812,000 in miscellaneous income, leaving $40,756,20 for the 60 member countries to contribute. Canada pays about $1,300,000 annually.

The secretary-general explained in a foreword to the estimates that a saving of $1,858,000 will result from holding the 1952 general assembly at the UN headquarters.

Texas Co-Ed Takes On, Kills First Bull Gets Animal's Ear As Reward For Courage

JUAREZ, Mexico, Sept. 10 — (AP) — Patricia McCormick today had the ear of the bull she killed — her reward for courage in the bull ring.

Patricia, blonde pretty and 22, Sunday entered the Plaza De Toros to face the huge beast.

With grace and precision the Midland, Tex., girl made intricate passes to taunt the bull. But soon she became mired in their intricacies.

She stood so close to the bull that it lifted her on its horns and threw her at its feet. She was trampled, but she got up to start again.

The crowd yelled until it was near-hysterical.

"Get that girl out of there," one woman yelled.

But Patricia came back with her sword to kill the bull. Her first try missed. Her second thrust was far back, but finally the bull staggered and toppled. Patricia stood in the ring her slacks and blouse smeared with the bull's blood.

The crowd went wild. Tolerant judges awarded her an ear of the bull — usually given only for unusually excellent performance.

Patricia, a co-ed at Texas Western College, grew up wanting to be a bullfighter.

She had fought in rings before, but Sunday she killed her first bull.

Nine Are Killed In Head-On Quebec Crash

DRUMMONDVILLE, Que., Sept. 10 — (CP) — Nine persons were killed late Saturday night in the largest single-highway tragedy of the year in Quebec province as an automobile and a light delivery truck collided head-on near this eastern townships centre.

There were no survivors and no eyewitnesses to the crash which developed into a four-way collision before Quebec provincial police could clear the highway of charred and twisted bodies and wreckage.

Seven of the victims on a pilgrimage to St. Joseph Oratory in Montreal — found death as the car in which they were riding became their funeral pyre catching fire after the force of the impact turned it over.

Police said all were knocked unconscious and were unable to get out of the overturned car.

List Victims

The other two victims were occupants of the truck and were identified as Lionel Messier, 23, and Benoit Gaudreault, 30, both of St. Hyacinthe, Que.

Car victims were identified as Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Lemelin, 40 and 47 respectively, and their four-year-old daughter, Noella. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Filliault, 25 and 23 respectively, all of St. Camille, Wolfe County; Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Lefebvre, 29 and 21, Wotto, Wolfe County.

A second truck, driven by Emile Girard, of St. Felix De Kingsey, crashed into the wreckage. Girard is in hospital here suffering the loss of an eye and severe head injuries. His condition is described as "very critical."

Before lapsing into unconsciousness, Girard told hospital attendants he saw the mangled vehicles on the highway but could not stop in time. He remembered nothing following the crash.

Another piled into Girard's truck but the occupants were only shaken up and were allowed to proceed on their way.

Worst Mishap

Removal of the bodies to undertaker establishments here and clearing of the highway was not completed until 4 a.m. Sunday.

Detective Sergeant C. Farah-Laine, in charge of the provincial police detachment for Drummond-Athabaska counties, said the was sickened at the sight when he arrived on the scene. It was the worst Quebec traffic mishap he could recall.

He said occupants of the truck were thrown out of their vehicle by the impact and added:

The highway around here is straight and our investigation so far shows that the truck struck the car and that both men in the truck had been drinking."

After the nine bodies had been identified by relatives, District Coroner Dr. Rene Miller postponed the inquest indefinitely pending completion of police investigation.

Gravely Concerned Ottawa Tells Red China Gov't

OTTAWA, Sept. 10 (CP) — The External Affairs Department announced today that Canada has expressed "grave concern" to Peking "at (Communist) China's policy toward Canadians and request that measures be taken in the near future to bring about an improvement in the situation." Noting that seven Canadians are known to be under arrest in China, the Department said that Canada made representations Sept. 1 through the United Kingdom charge d'affaires in Peking to the Foreign Minister of the Central People's Government of China.

This action marked the first time that the Canadian Government has publicly assailed China for conduct which has caused considerable concern here.

The policy in the past has been to work quietly and without publicity in an effort to help those imprisoned.

Today's statement said representations were made in April about the arrest of United Kingdom, Australian, Canadian and United States nationals and their detention incommunicado often without any explanation of the reason for their arrest.

Situation Worse

"However, the position has in fact deteriorated since that time. Arbitrary arrests and detention for indefinite periods without access to families, friends or national representatives have continued.

"Harsh treatment has been inflicted on missionaries of all denominations and on other people who have for many years been engaged in humanitarian work in China. In addition, continual difficulties and delays are placed in the way of all classes of foreign nationals wishing to obtain entry and exit permits.

"The treatment inflicted on Canadians in China is a matter of continuing concern to the Canadian government which welcomed the opportunity of being associated with the approach of the United Kingdom charge d'affaires to the Peking government, who spoke on behalf of the governments of the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia and the United States."

Man Arrested At Customs For Robbery

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 10 — (CP) — Arthur Grandmason, 35, of Buffalo, NY, was arrested on Saturday night on charges of robbery in connection with a $8,000 bank robbery at St. Davids, Ont., Aug. 16.

He was the second suspect arrested in the case. Last Friday in Minneapolis, Minn., William Earl Miller, 35, was held by Minneapolis police in connection with the robbery.

Grandmason was taken by provincial police as he attempted to cross back into the United States over the Rainbow Bridge at Niagara Falls. He was brought to St. Catharines jail for the weekend and will face trial here today on charges of bank robbery.

Provincial police discovered that Grandmason's car registration form was being held at the bridge while he was in Canada. A watch was put on the bridge and all police cars in the area were alerted.

Arrested At Customs

Two OPP constables at the Niagara Falls detachment arrested Grandmason as he started through the Canadian customs to re-enter the United States.

The arrests came after Toronto police had combed the underworld for information as to the whereabouts of the robbery suspects. Earlier last week they learned the suspects had fled to the U.S.

The St. Davids robbery occurred when two bandits forced their way into Ann Neufeld to open the safe. When she pressed a siren button they fled. The escape car, a stolen automobile, was found abandoned here later.

Jobless Actor Held For Robbing Friends

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP) — An unemployed actor, Walter Mullen, 28, was held today on charges of stealing $15,000 worth of china and silverware from the apartment of friends.

Police said he posed as a man of wealth in garnering $1,250 through sale of most of the heirlooms to collectors and dealers.

He admitted, police said, that he took the loot after breaking into the apartment of Robert Bell, radio writer, and his wife, Irma, a radio and television actress.

Bell is a nephew of the late Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone. His wife, under the stage name of Barbara Robbins, is Mrs. Aldrich on the TV Aldrich Family program.

The Bells frequently invited Mullen to dinner and parties at their apartment. He expressed admiration of their silverware, much of which originally had been owned by Alexander Graham Bell.

Papagos Leads In Greek Voting

ATHENS, Sept. 10 — (AP) — Field Marshal Alexander Papagos, military hero who smashed Communist resistance in the Greek civil war, led decisively today in Sunday's voting on leadership in the government.

Unofficial returns from 3,011 of 8,916 precincts made Papagos virtually sure to take command of the country with a clear majority of parliament's 250 seats.

With 800 precincts still to report, his new Royalist Greek rally party led the ticket with 45 per cent of the votes.

Unofficially dubbed the man on the white horse, Papagos is a Right-Wing leader courted by Greek royalists who had fought it out bitterly for four years after the liberation of Greece in 1944.

TLC Renews Demands For Controls

Bengough Charges Ottawa Fails To Plug Loopholes

HALIFAX, Sept. 10 (CP). — President Percy Bengough of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, addressing the opening session of the TLC's annual convention, today renewed labor's demand for price controls.

He said the skyrocketing cost of food and household commodities is the "immediate worst" of the "unwanted babies on our doorstep."

Mr. Bengough in his address to more than 400 delegates, laying down one of the major themes of the annual session of the 500,000-member Congress, declared:

"It is true that the government has sought to restrict credit buying, but this is comparable to mopping up the floor without stopping the leak and at best is class legislation, restricting only the buying of the poor unless they, as many have been forced to do, borrow the required down payment from a shark loan company. . . ."

The veteran president delivered a blow at the federal government for its recent statements — through Prime Minister St. Laurent and Labor Minister Gregg— that more production by Canadians would be one of the key ways of overcoming inflation.

"We have heard so much from half-baked economists on the need for more production and longer hours in order to curb inflation," he said, "yet sickness and poor health remain as a greater cause of lost time than all other causes put together."

The TLC chief was calling for a national scheme of health insurance, and he decried what he called the "parrot replies" of government that the time was not yet opportune for it.

Turning to foreign affairs, he said that, while Congress' statement of principles has a disarmament plank in it, the TLC should support the government's defence program and the Atlantic pact.

"We believe in disarmament and are opposed to war," he said, "but a gigantic war machine has been built and is still being built in the land of Stalin.

"Profiting by the sad experience of others, we will not leave ourselves to the mercy of potential aggressors and, with the world situation as it is, we need protection."

MORE THAN $2,000 in stamps and cash were pried out of this safe in the Haliburton village post office in the early hours of Monday morning. Creighton Feirs, local postman, is seen looking at the safe that the thieves threw over on its back and then ripped open.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Thieves Crack PO Safe, Get $2,000 At Haliburton

Breakin Discovered At 6 a.m. By Janitor; No Sound Noticed

Thieves, believed expert safecrackers, early today broke into the post office at Haliburton village and made off with cash and postage stamps, valued in all at more than $2,000.

They worked so quietly that nearby residents had no knowledge anything was amiss until postal employees discovered the breakin shortly before 6 am.

The safe, five feet high and three feet wide and weighing several hundred pounds, was thrown on its side and pried open. To muffle the sound of this prying operation the safecrackers laid empty mail bags on the floor. When the safe was bumped about, the mail bags cushioned the jar.

After Midnight

Entry was mode sometime between midnight and 4 am today. A window on the northeast side of the building was forced open, permitting one man to squeeze through.

The portable safe was wheeled a few feet from where it was standing and the men threw it on its side and worked it open with tools they had brought along for the purpose. Cash and stamps of various denominations were removed and the thieves then left.

Miss Elaine Roberts, assistant postmistress, estimated that the total value of the loot was more than $2,000.

The breakin was discovered when Wesley Otto, who doubles as janitor and mail carrier, arrived shortly before 6 am to open the post office. He noticed the window out, and. together with Creighton Feir, entered the building and found the damaged safe.

Believed Experts

"They must have been experts," Otto told an Examiner reporter, "the whole thing was done so efficiently. They couldn't have made any noise."

The post ofifce is located on the main street of the village. An unidentified woman who lives next door is a light sleeper and usually awakens if there is any unusual noise.

UK Dollar Earnings Fall Financial Crisis Threatens

LONDON, Sept. 10. (AP)—Britain seems headed for serious financial difficulties again. The gap between the price she pays for her imports and what she gets for her exports has widened drastically in the last few months. Her dollar earnings are falling. There are signs of a progressive world-wide weakening of confidence in the pound sterling. The New York price for free sterling, widely used to finance international trade, at the week-end stood at $2.51 to the pound, a discount of more than 10 per cent on the official rate of $2.80. Just before the start of the Korean war in June, 1950, the free pound was up to $2.70 in New York.

The free market price of pounds also has slumped in Switzerland—another "hard currency" country.

Another tip-off on the situation is the rising demand for Canadian and American securities on the London Stock Exchange. Moneywise British investors are bidding up dollar shares both with an eye to escaping the government's tax control over dividends and as a hedge against possible further devaluation of the pound.

Symptoms Evident

All symptoms were evident in the months preceding Britain's September, 1949, devaluation of the pound from $4.03 to $2.80 US.

Unofficial reports say that treasury experts have the question of a further devaluation of sterling under almost continuous study. There is no official confirmation of this since any solid indication of probable devaluation immediately would cause traders to hold off orders from Britain until the new value was set—thus itself making inevitable such a step.

This was one of the factors that forced the 1949 devaluation.

Devaluation eased the drain on Britain's gold and dollar reserves and enabled her to improve her trading position.

At the first of the year Britain pridefully announced she was doing so well she could get along without any more Marshall aid.

Today the picture has turned gloomy again. Raw material prices have fallen somewhat from their peak, but prices of British imports are more than 32 per cent above their 1950 average.

She is getting more for her exports, but this increase is small in comparison with the jump in import prices.

Britons Face 3 Food Cuts

LONDON, Sept. 10 (Reuters)—Britain, since the war the land of perennial shortages, today had official cuts in three basic food items and faced unofficial rationing in a fourth.

The weekly cheese ration fell from two ounces to 1½ ounces for each member of the family.

The butter ration fell to three ounces from four.

From next Sunday the bacon ration will drop — from four ounces to three.

Coupled with the new official cuts came an unofficial rationing of milk due to dwindling of supplies in the off-season.

Butchers were the only merchants to greet housewives more cheerfully today. They served an increased ration of two shillings a week.

This has risen from one shilling and 10 pence.

Next Sunday the meat ration will rise again—for four weeks only—to two shillings and two pence.

Badly Burned Girl Rescues Grandmother

SMITHVILLE, Ont., Sept. 10 — (CP).—A badly burned 14-year-old girl returned to a flaming cabin today to rescue her crippled grandmother.

Beverley Snail, of RR 2, Milton returned to the oil-spattered cabin where she helped Mrs. Ida Bates out of bed and through a window to safety.

Beverley got up early today to light the fire in the cabin. The oil stove exploded, splashing burning oil over her night dress and setting the interior of the two-room building afire.

The girl dived through a window to the ground outside where she rolled on the grass to extinguish the flames. Then she went back and rescued her grandmother.

The girl was taken to hospital in Hamilton where her condition was reported as "serious." Mrs. Bates suffered only minor burns to her forehead.

Iran Feeling Pinch, Dollars Cut

Britain Retaliates On Pocketbook As Stand Unchanged

LONDON, Sept. 10. (Reuters)—Britain today hit Iran where it hurts—in the pocket—by making it tougher for the oil country to get dollars. A treasury statement said the British government, which lost a rich oil source when Iran nationalized the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, could no longer make dollars freely available nor supply Iran with scarce goods.

"The cessation of exports of oil from Iran not only removes the justification for these exceptional facilities but also makes it necessary for the United Kingdom to spend large sums of dollars on replacement oil," the statement said.

Iran enjoys "exceptional privileges" which enable it to convert sterling into dollars and to get actual dollars where these are required for its trade, the source said.

These privileges were granted by Britain because of advantages derived from her oil trade with Iran. The advantages had gone since oil supplies were stopped through the dispute over nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

Iran, though not a member of the sterling countries for which Britain is the banker, must ask Britain's permission to convert sterling into dollars.

Has Her Troubles

Tehran, Sept. 10 (AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh — having failed twice to get a parliamentary confidence vote for his "get tough" oil policy—says he will send Britain an ultimatum anyway on reopening the disrupted talks. A continued boycott by opposition deputies blocked a second attempt by the premier to force action in the majlis (lower house) Sunday. Only 68

UN Hopes To Save Million In 1952

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Sept. 10—(AP)— The United Nations hopes to save nearly $1,250,000 in 1952, mainly by staying at home in its new permanent headquarters instead of travelling around the globe.

UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie released Sunday budget estimates totalling $46,568,300 for the UN in 1952, which is $1,230,300 less than the budget for 1951, totalling $47,798,600.

Of the estimated budget, the UN expects to receive $5,812,000 in miscellaneous income, leaving $40,756,20 for the 60 member countries to contribute. Canada pays about $1,300,000 annually.

The secretary-general explained in a foreword to the estimates that a saving of $1,858,000 will result from holding the 1952 general assembly at the UN headquarters.

Texas Co-Ed Takes On, Kills First Bull Gets Animal's Ear As Reward For Courage

JUAREZ, Mexico, Sept. 10—(AP). — Patricia McCormick today had the ear of the bull she killed — her reward for courage in the bull ring.

Patricia, blonde, pretty and 22, Sunday entered the Plaza De Toros to face the huge beast.

With grace and precision the Midland, Tex., girl made intricate passes to taunt the bull. But soon she became mired in their intricacies.

Jobless Actor Held For Robbing Friends

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)— An unemployed actor, Walter Mullen, 28, was held today on charges of stealing $15,000 worth of china and silverware from the apartment of friends.

Man Arrested At Customs For Robbery

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 10 — (CP).—Arthur Grandmason, 35, of Buffalo, NY, was arrested on Saturday night on charges of robbery in connection with a $8,000 bank robbery at St. David's, Ont., Aug. 16.

He was the second suspect arrested in the case. Last Friday in Minneapolis, Minn., William Earl Miller, 35, was held by Minneapolis police in connection with the robbery.

Grandmason was taken by provincial police as he attempted to cross back into the United States over the Rainbow Bridge at Niagara Falls. He was brought to St. Catharines jail for the weekend and will face trial here today on charges of bank robbery.

Provincial police discovered that Grandmason's car registration form was being held at the bridge while he was in Canada. A watch was put on the bridge and all police cars in the area were alerted.

Arrested At Customs

Two OPP constables of the Niagara Falls detachment arrested Grandmason as he started through the Canadian customs to re-enter the United States.

The arrests came after Toronto police had combed the underworld for information as to the whereabouts of the robbery suspects. Early last week they learned the suspects had fled to the U.S.

The St. David's robbery occurred when two gunmen forced bank teller Ann Neufeld to open the safe. When she pressed a siren button, they fled. The escape car, a stolen automobile, was found abandoned here later.

Pearson Forecasts Pact For Defence In Pacific

VANCOUVER, Sept. 10 (CP)— Formation of a Pacific Defence Pact similar to the Atlantic Pact was forecast Sunday night by External Affairs Minister Pearson.

In his first report to the nation, after signing the Japanese Peace Treaty at San Francisco Saturday, Mr. Pearson ran into a constant stream of interruptions from scattered members of an audieuce of more than 2,000 in a Vancouver theatre.

As the minister accused Russia of falsity and praised the treaty for ushering in a new era, there were cries of "where was China?" and "what part did Canada have in the Treaty?"

The minister ignored some of the questions and retorted sharply to others.

"At San Francisco Mr. Gromyko (Russian delegate Andrei Gromyko) was allowed to speak for an hour and was not interrupted," Mr. Pearson said.

"We are accustomed to these trivial interruptions at our meetings," said Prof. Geoffrey Andrew, president of the Vancouver United Nations Association which sponsored the meeting. "We know their aim is to disrupt and to prevent peace."

"They" were not identified.

Mr. Pearson said a Pacific Pact will gradually develop out of treaties recently signed by the United States with the Philippines, Australia New Zealand and Japan.

"When the question of a regular agreement comes up for discussion, that will be a different matter. Canada will take it as seriously as it did the Atlantic Pact."

Mr. Pearson said he hoped Japan would soon be granted membership in the United Nations and intimated Canada would exchange full diplomatic relations with that country.

He left for Ottawa following the meeting.

Say Russian-Type Rockets Land Behind Allied Lines

US EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Sept. 10 (AP) Rockets of the type used by the Russians in the Second World War have landed behind allied lines on the east central front, it was officially reported today.

There was speculation they might have been brought to Korea by Communist Caucasian troops recently reported near the battlefront.

No allied installations were hit. Official sources refused to disclose the number of rockets that landed.

In the air war, 30 American F-86 Sabre jets tangled with 80 Russian-type MIG-15s over northwest Korea in one of history's biggest jet battles. Two Communist planes were damaged.

It was the second jet battle in two days. Sunday the allies shot down two MIGs and damaged another. There were no allied losses in either scrap.

Army sources said unofficially they have reliable but not conclusive evidence that Russian pilots have been flying some of the MIGs in battle against the United Nations.

Since rockets, to be effective, must blanket an area, it is possible those which landed on the east central front were fired accidentally. They apparently were not aimed at any specific target. Reports indicated only a small number were fired.

Eighth Army officers refused to say whether they could have been launched from a Communist plane.

At least one rocket was identified definitely as being of the size used by the Red army against the Germans.

Cold-War Moves Discussed By Big Three

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) State Secretary Dean Acheson and Britain's Herbert Morrison today discuss their differences over cold-war tactics in the opening meeting of the big-three western foreign ministers' conference.

A proposed new partnership deal for West Germany, the British dispute with Egypt over Suez, and the Iranian and Far-East crises were expected by diplomats to figure in the talk. (3:30 p.m. EDT).

Acheson, Morrison and Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France flew here Sunday night from the Japanese peace conference at San Francisco. For the next four days, in the first full-dress big-three meeting in a year, they are due to talk over a global range of problems.

Today's Acheson - Morrison talks are to be followed Tuesday by a similar session between Acheson and Schuman. Beginning Wednesday it will be a three-way discussion. The three allied high commissioners for Germany were on hand for consultation in the scheduled effort to iron out final details of the plan to bring the Bonn government into the western line-up.

Agree on Procedure

Acheson said he and the British and French leaders agreed on procedure.

The United States and Britain, the statement said, now see mostly eye-to-eye on a plan to offer the Bonn government a "contract" giving West Germany almost complete sovereignty, abolishing the high commission, and transforming the occupation troops to defence forces. Some differences remain over details.

Morrison was expected to seek the support of Acheson for the British stand in the dispute resulting from the demand of Egypt for the withdrawal of British troops from the Suez Canal zone. The breakdown of the British-Iranian talks made the Iran oil crisis almost certain to be a topic for consideration.

Also on the agenda for the big-three were the Korean crisis and the mounting threat of the Chinese Communists to Indo-China.

Bad Weather Slows Search For Barilko

KAPUSKASING, Sept. 10 (CP) —Rain was forecast for today in the James Bay region in which the RCAF is continuing its search for Bill Barilko, Toronto Maple Leafs defence man, and Dr. Henry Hudson, Timmins dentist, who vanished on a fishing trip to the eastern side of the bay Aug. 26.

Bad flying weather hampered the hunt Sunday. Pilots reported a cloud ceiling as low as 200 feet above the muskeg.

Searchers investigated two reports of what might be plane wreckage. Both proved false.

Veteran push pilots speculated that observers in the armada of air force planes may have to spot a wreck area no more than 100 feet square and possibly smaller. They estimate that a light plane dropping into rough bush country would make a clearing about that large.

Diplomatic Russ Defeat

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10. (AP)—Andrei Gromyko is going home from the San Francisco conference with Russia's worst postwar diplomatic defeat on his record—and with ammunition for a new wrecking campaign against the Japanese peace treaty. American diplomats predicted Russia will do its utmost to undermine popular support for the treaty with a massive propaganda attack throughout Asia and the Far East. Gromyko, who left by train for New York Sunday, prepared the ammunition for that assault in his speeches and action at the peace conference — notably by his charges of American "dictation" and his repeated forecasts of a "new war" in the Orient. He also made much of Communist China's exclusion.

At some point, furthermore, it is considered probable that Russia will put forth, in collaboration with Communist China, plans for a separate Communist-bloc peace treaty with Japan.

48 Sign Treaty

Forty-eight countries signed the peace treaty with Japan Saturday. For three tense days of debate Gromyko had cried his warnings of war and had tried to get acceptance of amendments which would have rendered Japan defenceless.

But at the signing the United States scored a clean sweep. Not one country was held back by Gromyko's arguments.

State department officials were especially pleased that Pakistan and Indonesia accepted the treaty: they had been uncertain and their influence in Asia is of great importance. Offsetting this gain is the fact that India, with great Asian prestige, did not attend.

However, the Indian mission in Tokyo announced Sunday India is ready to end its state of war with Japan when the treaty becomes effective.

Defence Treaty

Quickly following up the peace pact, which will enable Japan to rearm and take collective-security measures, State Secretary Dean Acheson and Japanese Premier Shigeru Yoshida concluded a defence treaty late Saturday.

The US will gain under this the right to continue keeping armed forces in Japan and using Japanese bases when the peace treaty ends the occupation.

Both pacts have to be ratified before they can become effective.

Speaker Urges Girl Guides Be Sponsored By Catholics

National convener of Girl Guides, Mrs. J. J. McHale of London, Ontario, Saturday urged the members of the Catholic Women's League to supervise the forming of Girl Guide companies in their churches. Speaking at the convention luncheon of the Ontario Provincial Council to more than 100 League members, she pointed out that a GG company could well be a training ground for the CWL because of the parallel programs. As a member of both organizations, she pointed to the mottos: "For God and Canada," "For God and Country"; the pledges of service to other people, the codes of morals.

"Too much emphasis is placed today on 'rights' and too little on 'responsibility' " she declared.

"Girl Guides learn to think while they are playing and learn to accept responsibility with honor to themselves. They must live up to their own religion and obey the rules of their own church."

"The best answer to communism is a positive training in democratic living, and the only way to stop its spread is to show that our way of living is better than theirs. The way to do that is through the children."

Girls of eight to 11 years may be Brownies who practice in a circle, symbolizing the family circle. Their good deeds are mostly done to people at home. Some Packs adopt the residents of the Old People's Home and send cards and gifts and visit these adopted grandparents, she related.

Girl Guides are 11 to 16 years and they have a horseshoe as basis for ceremonies, symbolizing taking service out to the community. Their patrol system, four to a company with a patrol leader, teaches responsibility. These girls are trained to do jobs quickly and efficiently. Their national convener considers it is "better to be without a leader than to have a sloppy one," and that it is "not flattering to be asked to do a job in a slipshod way."

"We haven't enough Girl Guides because we haven't enough leaders" said Mrs. McHale. "We haven't enough leaders because we haven't encouraged them." She stated that there are 80,000 members in Canada, with 40 years growth of the movement.

"We need to know more about loving—loving Canada and saying so," she declared. "Unless we talk more we can't convince new Canadians that it is a good country." Children do not know enough about the other provinces, she finds, but Girl Guide leaders, striving to have them learn about Canada are planning next year to have 3,000 girls attend a national camp.

Concluding the speaker said "Let us have more faith in ourselves as a nation and take our proper place in affairs of the world. Let the CWL and GG get together and work together."

Major the Rev. J. L. Hennessey of London introduced Mrs. McHale. She was thanked by Miss Alice Daly of Seaforth.

An award to the Archdiocese of Toronto for work this year with the CWL magazine was presented by Miss Daly.

deputies showed up, instead of the minimum of 75 needed for a vote of confidence.

Pounding on his desk, Mossadegh said that, vote or no vote, he would go ahead with his ultimatum giving Britain two weeks to reopen the talks or face the ouster of the 300 British technicians still in Abadan—site of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's vast refinery.

The cabinet decided late Saturday to back the premier's stand, even if the opposition continues to block a favorable vote.

Deputy-Premier Hossein Fatimi told reporters Sunday night the boycotting deputies will be invited to a closed majlis session today to explain their objections. It was doubted they would accept for fear the session would be converted into an open meeting with the required quorum present. Fatimi said the ultimatum will be sent Tuesday.

Sounds Warning

During his speech to the majlis, Mossadegh said:

"I warn the British, if we are brought to our knees there is a bigger power than Britain waiting in ambush for us."

He did not mention Russia by name.

British leaders in London indicated last week they would not negotiate with a government headed by Mossadegh. They also hinted Britain would use force against any attempt to remove the technicians from Abadan by the threatened voiding of their residence permits.

In his major speech, Mossadegh referred to talk in political circles of moves to bring in a new government to solve the four-month-old oil-nationalization crisis.

"I hereby declare," he said, "that if I knew any other government would safeguard our interests, I would resign and go; but because I believe to the contrary, I am not going to leave this trench until this dispute is solved to the interest of Iran."

Evidence Kills Assault Charge

"Overwhelming evidence" that contradicted a charge of assault privately laid against a beverage room waiter brought about dismissal of the charge in police court today.

Albert E. Vilneff, Welsh St., was charged with assaulting Clarence Markwick, who laid the information. Vilneff pleaded not guilty.

Markwick told court that on September 8 (Saturday) he walked into a hotel, and gave a waiter a $5 bill to get two packs of cigarettes. He claimed the waiter didn't come back with either the change or the cigarettes, and identified Vilneff as the waiter.

He said Vilneff threw him over a table and later down a flight of six or seven stairs at the back of the hotel.

Nuisance

Vilneff said that Markwich was making a nuisance of himself. "I asked him to leave three or four times and he didn't. Finally I took his arm and escorted him to the back door. There are only three steps there," Vilneff testified.

Vilneff said he did use some force on Markwich, but no more than was necessary, in his opinion. Properitor of the hotel, Donald A. McGillis, termed Markwich a "source of trouble for two or three years," and mentioned that several times his beer had been cut off by the hotel.

Magistrate W. R. Philp said "overwhelming evidence" indicated that Vilneff was not guilty of assault.

Get Legal Advisor Man In Court Warned

"I think you'd better get a permanent legal adviser," Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, told 44-year-old Walter Cowling, of 304 Mark St., today.

Cowling was charged with his second offence of drunkenness within the year, and had said a moment before that he wanted legal advice.

Earlier, he had pleaded not guilty to the charge.

"Why didn't you get legal advice when you were in custody?" asked the magistrate. "I tried to get hold of my brother to get some one for me, but the police couldn't get in touch with him," said Cowling.

The magistrate fined him $50 and $2.50, and mentioned that Cowling had appeared in court frequently in past months.

Flags Presented To CGE Veterans

Four flags, the navy, air force, army and the CGE Veterans' Association colors, were presented Sunday to the veterans' association by Ian F. McRae, works manager, on behalf of the CGE, at the memorial service in Riverside Bowl.

Mr. McRae, in making the presentation told the veterans of both wars that "through your president I give these flags to our veterans in grateful remembrance of the sacrifices made by their comrades."

Guest speaker Lt. Col. John A. Dewart, chairman of Peterborough's civil defence committee, said that as veterans, the men should be aware of present defence measures and that they can do much to help.

Danger of War

Mr. Dewart said that until the difference between the democracies and world communism are settled one way or another, there is the ever-present danger of war.

"Russia and her followers have made intentions unmistakably clear to the world and it would be foolish to disregard the warning signals; the stakes are too great to be ignored."

Mr. Dewart warned that Canada stands in the path of a Russian attack on the United States

He then outlined briefly the defence plans for Canadian cities, especially Peterborough and emphasized the need for volunteer workers.

Other Speakers

Other speakers were: William Bennett, association president; Major C. G. Everitt, Salvation Army; Rabbi J. Mayer; F. P. Burke, president of the Canadian Legion, Branch 52.

The veterans assembled at Charlotte and Aylmer Sts., then marched up Charlotte to George St., up to Hunter St. and across to the Bowl. They were accompanied by the CGE Pipe Band.

Accompaniment at the Bowl for hymns was by the Salvation Army Band which opened with the last post and reveille. The pipe band played a lament.

Two Veterans Seek Site For New Resort

Two Second World War veterans, one Canadian and one American, are making plans to stake their future in the success of the Kawartha as a top Canadian tourist district.

The Peterborough Chamber of Commerce have received letters from these two men, both stating their wish to buy or build hunting and fishing lodges in the district.

The Canadian, Rex Forsythe, is from Lachine, Quebec. The American is Edward Lasch, New York City.

Mr. Lasch in his letter, explains he is a graduate chemical engineer, but that a great love of sports and the outdoors has influenced him to try making a start in the tourist industry. He also says that he has spent 15 summers in the Kawarthas and as a result is familiar with the district and has faith in its future.

Both letters ask for information regarding possible sites for sale, costs, maps and other relative data.

Bishop Approves Resolve "CWL Members To Refrain From Public Drinking"

Speaking on several interesting topics, the Most Rev. William J. Smith, DD, Bishop of Pembroke and provincial director of the Catholic Women's League, expressed his opinion on controversial subjects at the Sunday afternoon session of the annual provincial CWL convention, meeting in the Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel. It was the discussion of various matters embodied in the report on resolutions, presented by the convener, Miss Agnes Grant of Peterborough, that led the reverend bishop to eloquent utterance:

"I think the time has come when we must get back to the old temperance sermons," he said. "The sort of thing that led men to come up and take the pledge. Now, of course, we would have to take in women too. Liquor is being consumed today in phenomenal fashion. The first thing that is suggested in many Catholic homes is a cocktail.

"We are not total abstainers, but temperance is a virtue and it is temperance that we preach. We see the results in all walks of life of the abuse of liquor. Hospitals are filled with alcoholics whom we do not know how to treat."

The resolution which provoked comment from the bishop, and which had the approbation of the members, read as follows:

"Whereas drinking in public places seems to be more prevalent throughout our country, be it resolved that we the Catholic Women's League of Canada, show all women good example by refraining from public drinking and by practising moderation in our own homes."

Indian Equality.

Another resolution, also passed by the delegates, read:

"Whereas the Canadian Indians enjoy a unique status in our Canadian nation, and whereas the Government of Canada has recently made amendments to the Indian Act, thereby ameliorating their condition in society, be it resolved that the Catholic Women's League urge that measures be undertaken to establish their complete equality with other Canadian citizens, and that league members, whenever possible, continue to assist them."

This resolution also received the bishop's unqualified support. He said that the vote should not be denied people who were the original owners of the land.

Resolutions covered a wide range. The league will offer an expression of wishes for continued success to the Canadian Catholic Historical Association, meeting in Windsor this week, and expresses gratitude for the attention given to contributions by Catholics toward the upbuilding of the nation. It will also request the federal government to protest most vehemently to the Communist government of China against the indignities offered to the person of Bishop Cuthbert O'Gara, a native-born Canadian, and to endeavor to secure his release.

Protest To CBC

The following resolution was passed: "Whereas some plays and talks broadcast over the Canadian Broadcasting Company networks are considered vulgar, degrading, irreligious and highly offensive to a large number of Canadian listeners and holders of radio licenses and to owners of radio receiving sets, and whereas the CBC is supported by the taxes of the Canadian people and by license fees, be it resolved that we urge our members and federated societies to protest to the CBC through their members of parliament, asking that these offensive programs be eliminated."

Noting that since the sale of Crime Comics has been curbed, other publications, such as Sex and Love Comics, are becoming more numerous, it was resolved to ask for greater effort in eliminating these objectionable periodicals from the newstands.

Study Government.

It was resolved to prepare in each subdivision a citizenship program in collaboration with the Canadian Citizenship Council; to participate in National Book Week and Education Week by visiting libraries and schools on both these occasions; to endorse the Emergency Voluntary Registration of members; to study our government in all three of the local, provincial and federal levels, in order that the members may use the franchise in an intelligent manner.

Included in the courtesy resolutions were expressions of thanks to all who had contributed in any way to the success of the convention. The afternoon session was followed by a pleasant drive around the city.

Bermuda Hit Lightly By Hurricane

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Sept. 10 (AP)—Bermuda was hit lightly by the fringes of a tropical hurricane Sunday but was spared from damage by a strange, diverting encounter of two hurricanes at sea.

The weather bureau said this was the first recorded instance of such a battle of the elements.

The unique duel dissipated the power of both hurricanes and saved Bermuda from a straight blow from the hurricane code-named "Easy."

Only Edges Hit

Easy was headed for the island when it tangled with the smaller, but faster hurricane, Fox. The brush turned Easy aside so that only its edges touched Bermuda. The island's shores were swept by winds varying from 25 to 50 miles per hour, but there was no damage. Only signs of the storm after it passed were a few flattened banana trees.

Chief Forecaster Grady Norton said in Miami the encounter diminished the size of Easy and reduced its top winds from 160 to 100 miles an hour.

While it is not uncommon for two of these tropical storms to be roaming the Caribbean or Atlantic at the same time, this is the first recorded instance of two of them meshing.

Fox formed sometime after Easy but its forward progress was faster and its curving course made it intercept the larger and more dangerous storm.

Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, Sept. 10 (CP) — The American dollar today opened at 5⅝ per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, unchanged from Friday's close. That is, it took $1.05⅝ Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.95¾, also unchanged.

60 Cars For Royal Tour Given By Canadian Plants

OTTAWA, Sept. 10 — (CP) — A total of 60 motor cars will be provided by three Canadian manufacturing companies for the use of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh during their visit to Canada, Royal tour officials said last night.

The companies which offered to make the cars available are Chrysler, Ford and General Motors. Each will supply 20 of its latest models.

Half of the 60 cars are convertibles, the remainder limousines. They will be distributed across the country so there will be six cars — one convertible and one limousine from each manufacturer—in every city where their Royal Highnesses are to undertake drives. If the weather is suitable, a convertible will be used by the Princess and the Duke. The limousines are for their use in adverse weather and at night.

The cars will also be used by the staff of the Royal visitors and by local and other dignitaries.

Drivers of the vehicles will be senior NCO's of the navy, army and air force.

Hunting Season Predicted Good

By The Canadian Press

Canada's nimrods, excited by prospects of one of the best seasons in years, eagerly await the opening gun of the 1951 season on game birds.

A Canadian Press survey indicated plenty of game—from ptarmigan in Newfoundland to ducks in British Columbia—in sight for impatient hunters. In most sections of the country, the season will be under way in the next two weeks.

Already Manitoba hunters tramp the fields and woods or squat in marshes. The season opened there Sept. 1.

Ducks and geese become legal game in most sections of Ontario Sept. 17 and the snipe season starts Oct. 1.

Best outlook for hunters in 22 years was indicated for the prairie provinces where shooting, with the exception of Manitoba, opens within the next two weeks.

Guns in the interior of British Columbia start banging away Sept. 15 but coastal hunters must wait until Oct. 20. In Quebec, the season opened Saturday while in other areas, Sept. 20 and Oct. 11 are opening days.

How To Lower Costs?

In an editorial reprinted on this page today, the Ottawa Journal looks sceptically at the current slogan used to explain the high cost of living: "too many dollars chasing too few goods"; and at the "cure" suggested by another slogan: "more production." The evidence of its eyes makes these slogans ludicrous; shops are full of goods. There is no scarcity of anything which a Canadian might want to buy; what he lacks is the money to buy it at today's high prices.

* * *

On an immediate, hand-to-mouth basis, what seems to be wrong is not too much money chasing too few goods, but too little money chasing too much. But as everybody knows, putting more money in circulation (through bigger pay envelopes, cheap credit and the like) adds to the cost of living, increased prices and the inflationary pressure. That is what has happened since 1939. Between 1939 and last May the active money supply in Canada increased three and a half times (from $1,370 millions at the end of 1939 to $4,754 millions on May 31st last). At the same time the physical volume of services available to Canadians has not even doubled. The increase has been only about 85 per cent. Compare that with the 350 per cent. increase in the supply of money and one can readily see some reality in the statement that "too much money is chasing too few goods." Actually, the most rapid rise in the active money supply occurred in the years 1939 to 1945, when controls were in operation. This created a tremendous inflationary pressure which no controls could have contained. By the war's end the controls were cracking under it.

* * *

How are prices to be lowered? There is little possibility of a downward revision in labour costs, or in the costs of raw material and taxes. Should profits be lowered? Profits before taxes earned by Canadian industry as a whole last year amounted to $2,270,000,000 more than in 1946. These were of course in devalued dollars—that is, in dollars worth about a third less than they were in 1946. Labour organizations eye this large increase in profits indignantly, but they should take this fact into account: in the same period, from 1946 to last year, wages, salaries and supplementary income increased by $2,978,000,000. Canadian manufacturers earn something less than seven per cent on the sale price of their goods and, according to the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, "in an expanding economy this is certainly not too much to supply the needed capital for expansion and development. A drop from this level of profit to any marked extent would necessitate the use of additional credit, thus adding to inflationary pressure." We are in no position to argue what is a sound margin of industrial profit, but we point out that the British Chancellor of the Exchequer, a Socialist, has warned Labour and the British people of the requirement that British industry has for adequate profit to justify and provide capital for expansion and new enterprise.

* * *

If material and labour costs cannot be lowered, nor profits and taxes materially reduced, the only other way to lower prices is "more production." This means increased productivity by management and workers—additional at the same cost, not more with more costs. The way to achieve this seems to be through better use of the machines and of the working hours spent at them, and more and better machines. This fact stands out above all others in the matter: production per worker in the civilian labour force in Canada has dropped since 1946. Reckoning the production value in constant dollars of 1935-39 purchasing power, that is, reckoning in terms of the value of the dollar as it was between 1935 and 1939 and not in present-day dollar values, production per worker dropped from $1,857 in 1946 to $1,844 in 1949. What is now actually happening is that the cost of producing a pound of beef, a pair of shoes, a refrigerator, a dynamo, a car, is pricing goods out of the export market and even out of the reach of the people who produce them.

Good Ontario Crop

Aging Ontario Minister of Agriculture Thomas Kennedy is a fine old optimist in the autumn. Every year since we can remember such matters—which is not as long as Mr. Kennedy has been making his annual September prognostications—he has told of a bumper Ontario harvest. Last week-end he came out with a hum-dinger: "Barring early frost I fully expect this province will produce this year an agricultural crop of from $1,350,000,000 to $1,500,000,000 in value. Last year's bumper crop was valued at $1,150,000,000". In other words, the biggest crop of all—in dollar value.

But that does not quite square with the facts—even unbarring early frosts—the real facts. There are fewer farmers in Ontario than ever before, and fewer men on the farm. However, this gallant band:

We few, we happy few, we band of brothers with the aid of tractors, threshers, combines and all the gadgets of modern farming, may be able to bring in the biggest crop—and thereby help to pay for their machines. They may even be able to buy a new or second motor-car at today's high prices.

The real fallacy lies in this: as crops dwindle or remain static, prices rise in an inflated dollar market; and so a ten-acre field of oats, turnips or pumpkins now fetches a higher price. Apparently in Mr. Kennedy's fine view, the price will reach one billion 500 million dollars this year.

From any point of view, including the Minister of Agriculture's rosy one, that is a good thing for everybody in Ontario—farmers as well.

Duplessis Bridge Inquiry

On the last day of January of this year the Duplessis Bridge at Three Rivers collapsed. The bridge built by Duplessis Government contractors had been the boast of the Quebec Government and of course bore the name of its Premier. Lives were lost and traffic disrupted. The reverberations of the bridge's fall echoed across Canada and Premier Duplessis promised to institute an inquiry. That inquiry has now begun.

After the evidence of the chief engineer of the Dominion Bridge Company given Thursday that 'he had wondered why the Duplessis Bridge had not collapsed when fissures first appeared in main girders a year before the structure plunged into the St. Maurice River', the Duplessis-appointed panel of inquiry adjourned the hearings for a week, until September 13th. We do not wonder at the adjournment. After testimony like that from an expert, the presiding officials and the Quebec Government would want a week to recover from the blast. Was the answer to the inquiry closer than intended?

"Different Morals"

Complacency about such things as malfeasance and chicanery, gentle or ungentle, has long been a feature of the political life of the far southern State of Louisiana. There have been sporadic attempts at reform in some municipalities and parishes, and these are occasionally successful temporarily. As a rule, however, the voters return to the various political machines which could be described as being operated on the principle of government of the people, by the government, and for the government and its friends. The stage is currently being set for another struggle between reform and rackets in Calcasieu Parish; the fight has actually commenced, but the final outcome will not be known until the next elections are held there.

The fight began when The Lake Charles American Press began a campaign against gambling. It uncovered links between organized gambling and parish officials; it collected affidavits which it used to take some thirty-odd gamblers to court. These men were dismissed with light fines and suspended sentences, despite the fact that about half of them had police records. The newspaper had earlier asked for a grand jury indictment of the parish sheriff, and to strengthen its case it published the records of fifteen of the men fined on gambling charges.

Then came the Louisiana touch. The grand jury refused to grant the indictment, and it promptly filed slander charges against the newspaper and members of a citizens' reform committee. Gamblers and officials, it said, had been defamed and maligned, because the newspaper had listed one too many arrests in one or two instances. It was an obviously feeble basis, but "the law" in Calcasieu Parish was ready to proceed on it. The district attorney told visiting reporters that "You people from far places may have different morals than mine"; a grand juror made it even clearer: "If Huey Long were alive, you guys (the reporters) wouldn't even be in town."

Whatever the outcome of the current court case—and it would hardly be surprising if the first verdict favoured the officials and gamblers—the final decision will not be known until the parish again goes to the polls. The reform group will then learn whether its efforts are appreciated, or whether the voters of Calcasieu are still content with the political pattern devised by the late Kingfish, who would have kept the reporters out of town.

"Fiddler Falls In Bass Drum" says a headline. On the downbeat, we hope.

The family album contains a few speaking likenesses, but fortunately no talking pictures.

Musical Notes

by PETER PIPER

I WOULD be guilty of an extreme form of self-flattery if I imagined to myself that my readers have been wondering what I have been doing during the summer, and I decline to inflict a detailed account of my acts and thoughts during the past two months on my long-suffering public. There is less happening in the world of music during the summer, and unless one has the means of going to one or other of the Summer Festivals or Schools of music one is apt to stagnate, musically speaking. During this last summer, however, a number of things have happened that may serve as useful pegs on which to hang my discourse and air my views, such as they are. In connection with this I would like to reiterate the fact that I always welcome correspondence on matters musical from my readers, so long as it is couched in parliamentary language. In this way I can keep more in touch with what the reader wants. I have on occasion received some most interesting letters, but on the whole my readers appear to be mainly of the strong and silent variety. I have indeed at times wondered whether if I were to write some demonstrably untrue statement such as "the moon is made of green cheese" anybody would be so rash as to contradict me.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE MASSEY REPORT has given Canadians much food for thought. A time, such as the present, when Canadians are becoming conscious in a way that they have scarcely been before of their national heritage, is particularly favourable for a stock-taking. The immense influence of American films, American radio and American magazines on our way of life is too familiar for us to pay much attention to it: the report faces the facts as they are, and gives some striking instances. For example, Canada is the only country of its size in which foreign periodicals have greater sales than the native products. Now Canada is not the only country to be artistically dominated by another country. Belgium and Switzerland are other cases in point. In any case there is no country hermetically sealed from outside influences that counts for anything in the world of art. Besides, there are many excellent American influences at work in Canada. Unfortunately it is the less desirable aspects of the "American Way of Life", that are more in evidence — sensationalism, snap judgements and smart-alick wisecracks in holy places. But even if all the American influences were good there would still be something unhealthy in the situation. Even bearing in mind the relative disproportion in size and wealth the traffic is altogether too one-sided. The promotion of concerts is managed very largely from New York, and resident Canadian artists are not engaged. Many of the best Canadian musicians are attracted south of the border by richer prospects and lose touch with their own country. This is a free society, and there is no question of detaining talented artists against their wishes, but we must be able to offer them more inducements for staying at home. The old plea that this is a poor country no longer holds good. There are scores of other countries whose general standard of living is incomparably lower than this who offer many more facilities than we do. While our material resources, actual or potential, mount up, our cultural resources are being starved. The CBC is doing an excellent job of work, far better than is generally recognized, on an inadequate budget. If the radio license fee were raised an outcry would be made from people who are paying through the nose for commercial programmes in the shape of high prices of soap flakes and razor blades, and without a murmur, as the cost is gradual and hidden.

✧ ✧ ✧

A TRUE national culture is not a thing that can be created overnight by a Royal Commission; it must have its roots in the people, its character, its past, its traditions. One of the glories of Canada is the rich fund of folksongs from the French-speaking part of the country. For variety and expressiveness they are without rival, and yet in the English-speaking parts of the country they are (except of course for "Alouette", which deserves a nice long rest) virtually unknown. It is not generally realized that very few of this precious collection originated in Canada: for the most part they were brought over from France by the early settlers and jealously preserved by oral tradition. Owing to the isolation of the habitants these songs underwent far less changes in the course of the years than they did in metropolitan France, where the influences of the Court and of the fashionable world found their way quickly through all strata of society. The country owes a great debt of thankfulness to Dr. Marius Barbeau and his collaborators in undertaking the task of rescuing these last surviving remnants of an indigenous culture from the oblivion of a mass-produced jazz-crazy gimcrack caricature of civilization.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE is also a rich harvest of folksongs in Newfoundland, our tenth and newest province. Here again, isolation from outside influences has resulted in the preservation of much of interest. I would not go so far as to ascribe a mystical value to all folksongs. Some are of little musical or literary value. Nevertheless, within their limits there is a surprisingly high quality of melody, integrity of feeling and appeal to the imagination. The Newfoundland field has scarcely been touched as yet, but a team is going out shortly to collect material. The modern folksong collector takes with him a recording machine, so that when it comes to transcribing a song he can play over the same passage time and time again if necessary. In the early days before the general adoption of the gramophone it was necessary to make the transcription on the spot, and doubtless the singer was asked to repeat his song several times. To make things more difficult he probably rarely sang it the same way each time. Dr. Barbeau told me recently that he had this trouble when collecting French-Canadian folksongs. If the singer was not in the mood he would go through the song in a perfunctory style. Then Dr. Barbeau would say, "Now, do your best", and the singer would sing what was to all intents and purposes a different song, inserting all kinds of vocal flourishes as the mood of the moment dictated.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE chief difficulty in collecting folksongs in Canada is not the scarcity of material. On the other hand there is almost too much of it. It is the scarcity of trained workers in the field. Besides the two main streams of English and French folksongs there is also a vast store (largely untapped) of Indian song and dance. There are also the traditional songs of such people as the Ukrainians, who are often found living in compact blocs, maintaining their own traditions in the new country. They too can add richness and variety to the common stock.

PACIFIC DEFENCE SYSTEM

By BIP PARES

The American Treaties of mutual defence with the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand have now been signed. Last week the Japanese Peace Treaty was signed at San Francisco to be followed immediately by a defence pact between the United States and Japan. Together with the resumed American defence commitment in Formosa, this completes the establishment of the Pacific defence system, based on the chain of off-shore islands from Japan to New Zealand, on which American diplomacy has been working ever since the Chinese intervention in Korea. As long as this island chain remains intact, the Pacific is sealed off against any incursion from a hostile Power on the Asiatic mainland. — (Map Copyright to the Peterborough Examiner).

That Cry Of 'More Production'

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

SLOGANS can be very foolish things; can, when divorced from reality, be very dangerous things.

Illustrative of this is the current cry for "more production" to stop price rises.

No one denies that more production is the long-term answer to inflation. But that is entirely different from saying that more production is the answer to the immediate evil of high prices which right now oppresses so many.

Except for shelter—housing—there is no scarcity in Canada of anything which enters into the ordinary family's needs. Thus when people keep parroting talk about "too many dollars chasing too few goods", they are merely saying something which has no substance in reality.

Our shops are filled with goods; filled with clothing of all kinds and boots and shoes and all the things that a family requires. And if we go beyond that, there certainly is no shortage of refrigerators and automobiles.

That being the position, what do our so-called economists and our politicians mean when they exhort "more production"? Do they mean we should produce more automobiles, or more refrigerators, or more clothing, or more boots and shoes—produce things of which we have an abundance already?

Our automobile manufacturers are being compelled to lay off workers; any sense in telling them to produce more?

Further: If a Government be unwilling or unable to deal with production costs—wages, taxes and prices of materials—what right has it got to demand of producers that they go on producing more and more, regardless of costs?

Actually, this reiterated cry for "more production" as a cure for existing high prices seems to represent little more than an attempt to evade more realistic and effective action because of its unpopularity with a segment of the population.

Letter To The Editor

DELIGHTED WITH BUGLE BAND

Sir: Whilst strolling along George Street on Thursday night of last week, about 9 p.m., I was attracted by the sound of martial music issuing from the Armouries. Very soon I was on my way to find out what it was all about—and I can state that I was very glad that I had so ventured forth, for I found the trumpet band of the 50th H.A.A. Regt. R.C.A. in practice; about 25 young men very interested in what they were doing. And were they doing it! They marched, counter marched, marked time and halted all in perfect time. All in perfect rhythm.

I was so interested in both what I saw and heard that I went back the following day and saw the officer in command—who was kind enough to give me the phone number of the bandmaster Albert Croasdale. I was informed that the trumpet band was made up of the following instruments. There were fifteen trumpets in all—divided into three types or classes, soprano, tenor and baritone. There were also six side drums and one base drum. The instrument that most took my fancy were the beautiful toned bell-lyras. These are percussion instruments, triangular shaped and made up of lateral bars which are struck with a small hammer or drumstick giving out a most beautiful bell like tone hence the name "Bell Lyra". The information I was able to get was limited, as I was having a hard time of it in the telephone booth. Not being a journalist, so far I haven't the knack of getting information quickly.

The idea behind this letter is that I feel more people should have an opportunity for hearing this splendid band, of which the bandmaster promises that it will be even better in the near future. They haven't been organized too long. I don't think the public are allowed into the Armouries during practice for it is obvious that there wouldn't be room for all.... but it would be a grand thing if the public were able to see these splendid experts marching, counter-marching and playing such rousing tunes as John Peel and a host of other martial airs.

FRED HORN.

Wanted—Pompons

(Brandon Sun)

The commanding officer of the French aircraft carrier Lafayette at Philadelphia, recently sent a rush order to Paris for pompons. Pompons are the little worsted balls which French blue jackets wear on the crowns of their traditional headgear. It seems that Philadelphia girls had appropriated them for souvenirs; not a sailor answered roll call with his pompon. The French commander's order was for 5,000 pompons—just in case.

Bible Message

Known unto God are all his works from the beginning of the world. (Acts 15: 18.)

✧ ✧ ✧

The works of the Lord are great, sought out of all them that have pleasure therein. His work is honourable and glorious: and his righteousness endureth forever. He hath made his wonderful works to be remembered: the Lord is gracious and full of compassion. The works of his hands are verity and judgement; all his commandments are sure. They stand fast for ever and ever, and are done in truth and uprightness. (Ps. 111: 2-4, 7, 8.)

✧ ✧ ✧

I know that, whatsoever God doeth, it shall be for ever: nothing can be put to it, nor anything taken from it: and God doeth it, that men should fear before him. That which hath been is now; and that which is to be hath already been; and God requireth that which is past. (Eccl. 3: 14, 15.)

Unconsidered Trifles

Two revellers returning home lost their way. One said: "We must be in a cemetery. Here's a gravestone."

"Whose grave is it?" asked the other.

Striking a match, the more sober of the two said, "I don't know but he's a good age — ninety-five."

"See who it is," insisted the other.

Another match was struck.

"I don't know him. Some fellow called Miles, from London."

THREE ACES AT MIMICO—Among the Petes who turned in a fine all-around game at Mimico on Saturday—with the whole crew clicking in top form for the 14-8 senior lacrosse win—were Goalie Moon Wootton at left, and defencemen Nit O'Hearn in centre, and Ross Powless at right. Theirs was a defensive role and they did it well against stiff opposition, while the forwards garnered enough goals to ensure victory.

Petes' Timbermen Take a 14-8 Verdict Over the Mounties In Mimico For Two-Game Lead In E. Canada Final

The timber-structured Petes made it two straight in the Mounties' lair Saturday. Showing a two-goal margin in three of four quarters over Mimico, the Crowe-Creighton crew from Peterborough earned a 2-0 margin in the best-of-seven Eastern Canada senior lacross finals. The third game is tonight here and the fourth game in Mimico on Wednesday evening. Series winner goes west after the Mann Cup. Petes led 5-3 in the first frame, it was 1-1 in the second, and 4-2 for the visitors in each of the next two heats. Checking was stiff as Mimico fought fiercely in an exciting game before a big crowd, each side drawing four penalties. Don McPhail of Mimico sat it out, doctoring an injured knee. Russ Slater got water on the knee in a hard fall during the joust.

Ike Led Way

Starring for the Petes up front was Ike Hildebrand with three goals and four assists. Curly Mason notched three markers as the second line proved better on the attack than the first. The rest of the winning markers were well spread around, a goal each going to Harry Wipper, Dootch Vitarelli, Jerry Fitzgerald, Don Ashbee, Arn Dugan, Ross Powless, Don Crowe and Bob Thorpe. The latter aided on a pair with single assists counted by Crowe, Fitzgerald, Powless, Slater, Wipper and Ashbee. The Petes played a solid game from Goalie Moon Wootton through an effective defence to the fast-breaking forwards.

Tops on the attack for the scrappy Mountaineers was big (and youthful) Denny Peterson, who bored in to score three. Ken Lytle and Pop Chard also were dangerous, hitting the twine twice each, as Archie Dixon tallied once and aided on another. Ted Downer also got one assist. Red Hartley in the home cage proved tough to beat, no soft markers drifting by him.

An Early Lead

Mimico took a 2-0 lead early as Archie Dixon got one in a scramble and then passed to Chard for another quickie. Wipper got one back on fast combination with Crowe and, as Chard served a slashing penalty, they tied it neatly. Vitarelli from Thorpe. Later, speedy Jerry Fitzgerald tore in from the side to pick a corner. Slater was off for slashing when Lytle's hot shot broke the webbing on Wootton's stick. Slater was still off when Hildebrand took Fitzgerald's pass to bank it home. Rus was back when Ashbee snared Thorpe's long passun to beat Hartley smartly. Ken Dixon was off for slashing at the bell. Vitarelli drew one for slashing to open the second but Mason scored on a quick breakaway. Chard got that back from Ted Downer, and Vitarelli drew a charging penalty. He returned and Mason got it for slashing but there was no further scoring in the hard, even period.

Even A Space

It was pretty even again after the half. Mason whistled one home from Hildebrand and Peterson tallied for Mounties on a solo. He got one on a free toss after being held. Dugan then recovered a loose ball and Hartley never saw his sizzling grounder. Hildebrand and Powless rolled for two, each scoring one and helping on the other on fine passing plays in close. Lytle cheered the home crowd to open up the fourth on a breakaway goal but Hildebrand jogged right in with Slater's pass to cool them off. Crowe smashed the ball into the hemp with Hildebrand's pass in a goal-mouth mixup. Gilkinson was gated for slashing but Peterson's screened shot caught a corner of the Petes' net. A nifty bit of combination then saw Mason slip one home from Wipper and Hildebrand. Chard served a charging penalty and Wootton was dazed briefly when banged on the mask. All were back when the Petes tossed the ball around nearly two minutes before Thorpe broke loose with Ashbee's pass to sink it for the final tally. Teams:

Petes: Goal, Wootton; defence, Fitzgerald and O'Hearn; centre, Thorpe; wings, Dugan and Vitarelli; rover, Ashbee; alternates, Wipper, Crowe, Mason, Slater, Hildebrand, Powless, and Creighton.

Mimico: Goal, Hartley; defence, A. Dixon and H. Downer; centre, Hayes; wings, Stocks and Chard; rover, K. Dixon; alternates, Gilkinson, Simpson, Pritchard, Peterson, Lytle, Knox and T. Downer.

Referees, H. Morton and J. Murphy.

Young Petes Stay In Race Beating Mimico, 17 To 11

Lou Vitarelli's Filter Queens came back strong Saturday night at Miller Bowl, after two previous defeats at the hands of Mimico, to win the third game of a best-of-five final Eastern Canada lacrosse series by a score of 17-11.

A good-sized crowd was on deck to cheer Vitarelli's squad as they played aggressive lacrosse from the outset, piled up a good scoring margin early, and kept plugging to the end. They do battle at the mountain town on Tuesday night.

Peterborough took the lead in the first frame 4-2 as fast goals by Nickel, Batley, Burns, and Brioux more than offset two fine efforts by Riley and Harte for the visitors in a fast quarter. Continuing their drive to the half-way mark, the Vitarelli men held a 9-3 margin as sparked by Nickel, Batley, Groves, Heffernan, Gary Robinson and Farley; with every man driving, the locals outshone their rivals.

Fought Hard

Burt Barrager, Mimico centre, star, netted his team's only goal in the second quarter. Mounties fought back in the third to make it closer, though outscored 4-3, as both teams stuck pretty well to a clean, open game. Mimico staged a desperate rally in the final frame to whittle Filters' lead but their best efforts were stifled by the stiff defensive tactics of the locals, coupled with a lightning attack that seldom faltered.

Rock Batley led with five goals and one assist as he turned in a strong game. Lou Nickel, Carl Brioux, Frank Farley and Grant Burns registered two apiece, as all turned in a smashing game. Single tallies went to Gary Robinson, Steve Morrissey, and Jim Heffernan who were in there every minute with their mates; Nickel and Gary Robinson also drew assists. Nicholls played his usual strong game in the nets, stopping dozens of difficult drives. For Mounties it was Barrager, Harte, Lubbock, McLean and Riley for first honors, with Tomchisen good. Teams:

Mimico — Goal, Tomchisen; defence, McNeill and Lubbock; centre, Barragar; wings, Kelly, Rock; rover, McIntyre; alternates, Milhilsen, Riley, Sandford, Meeke Harte, McLean, Mitchell, Hodsdon.

Peterborough — Goal, Nicholls; defence, Groves, Nickel; centre, Powell; wings, G. Robinson and Brioux; rover, B. Robinson; alternates, Batley, O'Reilly, Burns, Morrissey, Heffernan, Farley, Fitzgerald.

Referees—Jack Williams, Lou Vipond.

Toronto Gains Series Over Woollens

Toronto Gartens beat the local Woollens 16-2 in Toronto on Saturday to sweep their PWSU junior series in two straight. I. Dickson pitched three-hit ball, fanning four, while her teammates banged out 14 safe blows against L. Derry and S. Harris. The losers seemed stage-struck and didn't turn in their best brand of ball. However, both sides booted some costly ones.

L. Derry fanned 11 and gave up but one earned run. J. McIlwain had two hits in four tries. L. Gledhill of Gartens banged out four safeties in five appearances, and S. Forbes and M. MacDonald clouted homers to pile up the count. Teams:

Woollens J. McIlwain, 2b; R. McElroy, cf; J. Walling, 3b; C. Ferguson, lf; D. Dunk, c; S. Harris, rf, p; R. Neylor, 1b; L. Derry, p; M. Cavanagh, rf.

Bowlers Dominate

SCARBOROUGH, England, Sept. 10 (Reuters).—Bowlers dominated the opening day's play of the South African touring cricket teams, last match in England here Saturday. Twenty wickets fell for only 196 runs and T. N. Pearce's English team emerged with a slender lead of six on the first innings. The English team containing nine English test players, were dismissed for 101 but the South African fared no better and were all out at the close of play for 95.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

With lacrosse still hot here and the ORFU grid season starting locally this Wednesday, the hockeyists are getting anxious. Frank Buckland announces an OHA senior "B" group meeting in the Belleville arena at eight tonight. The Petes and Eagles will send representatives to meet with Belleville, Kingston and possibly other delegates to the session to make arrangements for a Central Ontario grouping for the season. Rumors have been rolling around but nothing definite has been said yet as to what teams will be in the setup this coming campaign. Play may open next month, egad!

Lou Vitarelli's local junior lacrossers returned to fighting form here Saturday to trim the strong Mimico pack 17-11 and stay in the hunt for the [illegible] Canada title. Mimico presently leads the best-of-fiver by two games to one, and have the next one at home on Tuesday. But the Filter Queens can take 'em again if they play that Saturday night brand of lacrosse, aggressive and fast. Rock Batley topped them at bat with five markers, two each going to Lou Nickel, Carl Brioux, Frank Farley and Grant Burns. All went well from the goalie out, and they're confident now of tying it up tomorrow. Oddly enough, Mimico and Peterborough are in both junior and senior Eastern Canada finals right now.

They Did It Once More

A number of local fans enjoyed themselves thoroughly in Mimico on Saturday night as the Petes staved off a determined drive by the Mounties to win 14-8. That's two straight wins in the best-of-seven senior finals to see which team goes west after the Mann Cup. Third one is here tonight, weather being oke, and it should jam the place. Could be the last lacrosse seen here this year and it promises to be a real playoff number. Don McPhail sat it out Saturday, hoping to have the bad knee in shape to go tonight. They won't go down without a fierce fight, hoping to take the next one also in Mimico on Wednesday eve. But the Timbermen are saying: "We're halfway there now, and Vancouver is the next stop!"

* * * * * *

They really had to hustle in a hard-checking but fairly clean contest Saturday. Mimico battled bitterly and were always within striking distance till the final five minutes. Russ Slater is nursing a water-on-the-knee injury but may go tonight. The rest are a bit tired but plenty determined, and the Mounties are tiring plenty, too. Ike Hildrebrand was hotter than somewhat in scoring and Curly Mason and Bob Thorpe shone, as well. But so did the goalie and the defencemen, while all forwards fought from start to finish in the exciting scrap. It was a far better fray than last Friday's opener and we think this one will be a real honey. They're all after that big trip and a crack at the Canadian crown.

Minor Ballsters Play

While Anthony's peewees lost 8-6 in Belleville on Saturday to bow out of OBA playdowns in two straight, Welch's bantams were beating Oshawa 6-2 her to sew up their best-of-three OBA series. The Motor Citizens declined to play the third game on local terrain, so it has been ordered for neutral grounds at Port Hope next Saturday. Manager Ray Clifford is calling workouts at 6.15 p.m. in Riverside on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. Gord Snape's juniors dropped a decision to Kingston, but the three local minor ball teams have been giving a good account of themselves. Tough luck for R. Brady's peewees as they made it a battle in Belleville.

Lots of golf activity up at the Peterborough Club o'er the week-end. Sunday aft saw Joe Watson take a close one over Fred Hallowell to be crowned men's club champion for this year. Junior champ Ian Blaiklock, who defeated Dave Langhorne to retain his club laurels. Caddies' tourney on Saturday, was taken by Doug Baptie, who gets the Wallie McIlmoyl Trophy. Assistant pro Frank Vyse was starter and Stan McBride promoted the competition. Prizes were given by Westclox, Clapper's, Gordon Miller, Harry Yudin, A. Cauley, Neill's, Hatton Bros. and Clayt Selkirk. The boys are grid guests at Wednesday's game. We understand the Kawartha Club men's championship will be decided Saturday between Mel Akers and Dootch Vitarelli.

Anthony's Lose Out To Quinte Boys, 8-6

Belleville's strong peewee baseball nine edged Anthony's 8-6 Saturday in the second game of a best-of-three OBA play-off set before a good crowd of Quinte fans. The win gave Belleville the series following last Saturday's 8-3 win at Peterborough.

It was a close, hard-fought struggle all the way, with the issue in doubt until the final out as the two well-matched teams gave their best. Elliott and Coe formed the home battery while Anthony twirled for Rube Brady's lads with Lustic wearing the mask.

Anthony's: Haig 3b, Morton 2b, Reid cf, Foley lf, Cavanagh 1b, Collins rf, McCarthy ss, Lustic c, Anthony p.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Don McNeill came from way behind to defeat defending champion Bobby Riggs for the United States singles tennis chapionship at Forest Hills, 11 years ago. After dropping the first two sets, McNeill won the next two and he captured the deciding set 7-5.

IN GOOD COMPANY—Hugh Coflin, of Blaine Lake, Sask., was the Chicago Black Hawk defenceman involved in the recent big hockey deal between Chicago and Detroit Red Wings. Hawks gave Detroit $75,000 and Coflin in exchange for six Red Wing players. The six were forwards Jim Peters, Jim McFadden, George Gee and Max McNab, and defencemen Clare Martin and Clarence Raglan. Coflin spent some time with Chicago last season and also with Hawks' Sea Gulls farm team in the USHL. This season he probably will be farmed out to Indianapolis Capitals of the AHL.

Bantams Take Equalizer Over Oshawa

On two-hit pitching by McIlmoyle, who fanned eight, Welch's tinsmithing bantams beat Oshawa Wholesalers 6-2 here Saturday to even their best-of-three OBA bantam playdown series. The losers refused to play the third game here, so it has been ordered for neutral grounds at Port Hope on Saturday. Oshawa had taken the first game at home.

McIlmoyle was in fine form, only two walks in the eighth with a hit batsman and Victor's double allowing the losers their two runs. He walked eight but had good support, each side having but one miscue in a neat tussle. The winners got five runs in a big first frame and added another next heat. Weldon gave way to Norman, who was stingy with four of the locals' eight hits after the big first, and he fanned 11, walking two. Byrnes, D. Baptie and Dorrington each had two hits for Ray Clifford's crew. Teams:

Oshawa—German, ss; Norman, cf, p; Milton, 3b; Victor, 2b; Steffen, 1b; Proctor, c; Weldon, p, cf; Jeffs, lf; McCauchey, rf.

Welch's—Garvey, 2b; Towns, 3b; Byrnes, cf; McIlmoyle, p; Coit, c; D. Baptie, 1b; Dorrington, ss; A. Batie, rf; Guerin, lf.

League Crown To UEW In Soccer Win

On Saturday in King Edward Park, the local UEW soccer team turned in one of its fine displays in taking a convincing 4-2 win over the strong Kingston Unitedş of the Eastern Ontario Soccer League. The UEW squad is well in front now in the loop standing, and assured of loop honors.

The homesters took command early and continually pressed the Kingston defence. After several close threats, they scored when A. Smith put a pass across the goal-mouth for Strong to rush in and beat the goalie coming out. Kingston fought back and in a scramble near the UE goal, Carlogalea kicked up a loose ball and drove a hard low shot into the net to even it up. It was even a spell and then A. Smith put UE in front again on an in-close smart play. Strong was brought down in on goal but the penalty kick by Craig went wide.

Went Ahead

Two minutes later, UEW got another penalty shot with Strong down and this time G. Smith made no mistake from the spot kick, making the score 3-1 for the local team.

Play was fast in the second half with both goalkeepers pulling nifty stops. For a pushing infringement, Kingston were awarded a penalty and Grundy counted nicely with the kick. They fought hard then and with five minutes left Holt clinched it for UEW on a pass from Strong to assure the Peterborough team of the league championship. The UE players were: Jones, Allen, Allen, Mundy, Cotton, Craig, G. Smith, Holt, Robertson, Strong, A. Smith, McIlroyd, and alternates Ward, Davis and Titshall.

NEW CLUB CHAMPION—Joe Watson replaces Hugh Waddell as men's champion of the Peterborough Golf & Country Club. He won the 36-hole final match Sunday on the last putt from finalist Fred Hallowell. A good golfer and previous semi-finalist, it was the first time Joe (shown above in action) made the club finals. A large gallery saw the keen windup to a competition which never saw more than two shots' difference between the players.

Caddies' Tourney

Doug Baptie posted a 46 to win the caddy tournament at the Peterborough Golf Club on Saturday, a dozen competing under direction of Frank Vyse. Some good marks for the boys were chalked up on the nine-hole competition.

Barrie Campbell was second with 50, B. Guerin and A. Baptie getting 54, R. Tait 55 and E. Innes 57. Other scores were: J. Leahy 60, E. English 61, T. Kelly 63, G. Pollard 67, B. Baker 70 and D. Mountney 75.

Joe Watson Wins Crown At Golf Club

Joe Watson captured the men's championship of the Peterborough Golf Club for 1951 Sunday, one up on the final hole against Fred Hallowell. Coming in even on the 36th, Fred three-putted to give Joe the title with 161.

Neither player had gone further than the semi-finals before. Hugh Waddell won the club crown last year.

Hallowell was one up for 79 on the first 18 in the morning, and he was two in front on the 27th, the biggest lead either golfer had at any time through the even match. They were even again on the 29th, Watson going one up on the 31st hole. He went into the rough then and missed a short putt to let Fred tie him, but it was even the rest of the way till the final break.

100 In Gallery

A lot of good recoveries marked this interesting match, a gallery of 100 or more viewing the final several holes of play. The competition was postponed a week, due to rain, but good weather favored the titular rounds. They started out at 9.30 in the morning and finished the 36-hole grind in the late afternoon. The championship cup will be presented to Joe Watson later.

Bagnall Beats Orphans And Whiffs 22

Oshawa Pedlars took the first game of a best-of-three OASA Senior B softball series against Peterborough Orphans on Saturday night at the Bowl 17-0 behind the three-hit pitching of Norm Bagnall. The second contest is slated for the Motor City on Tuesday.

Bagnall displayed rare form in the important opener, striking out 22 batters over the route. With two out in the fourth, the clever speedster began a streak of 14 consecutive strikeouts. Fraser Wade broke it with a sharp single in the ninth, after which Norm fanned the side again. He issued no walks and in addition contributed two safe hits to aid his club's offensive against Terry Woods.

Woods pitched a good ball game for Orphans for eight innings, despite erratic work afield by his mates and impotence at bat, but a nine-run splurge in the ninth after the cause was lost anyway, turned a respectable score into a rout. John Wetherup, Tony Romanski, Sam Stark and Wes Keeler homered for Pedlars, the latter leading the RBI column with four driven in; Stark also triples and drove in three. Barker hit a double and triple as these boys proved the main stickers for Pedlars. Sullivan and Russ Scriver doubled and Fraser Wade singled for the only bingles off the fireball king. Teams:

Pedlars — Yourkevich rf, Stark 1b, Magee 2b, Keeler ss, Logeman lf, McMullen lf, Barker c, Nelson c, Romanski cf, Wetherup 1b, Bagnall p, Loreno rf.

Orphans— F. Wade 3b, Withers 1b, Sullivan ss c, Lewis rf, R. Scriver cf, Curry 2b ss, Jaquith lf c 2b, O'Donoghue c, Woods p, D. Scriver batted for Woods 9th.

Athletics Drub Red Sox In Doubleheader, Yanks Take Pair From Nats

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

It's lucky for New York and Cleveland they have so few games left to play against Philadelphia Athletics. Jimmy Dykes' animated A's have made the American League race a two-team battle betwen the front-running Yankees and the runner-up Indians. Boston's third-place Red Sox saw their pennant hopes all but shattered Sunday, when the seventh-place athletics drubbed them in both ends of a doubleheader, 10-4 and 3-2.

The double defeat dropped the Sox 5½ games behind the Yankees and Indians. They have 20 games remaining to 19 for the Yankees and 15 for the Indians. Fortunately, Boston has no more games with the Athletics, who are scheduled to face the Indians two more times and the Yankees once.

The Yankees increased their margin to four percentage points over the Tribe by sweeping a pair from Washington 7-5 and 2-0. Cleveland also won 4-3 from St. Louis Browns.

Down Dodgers

New York Giants kept their flickering hopes alive in the National League defeating Brooklyn Dodgers 2-1 to climb back within 5½ games of the lead. St Louis Cardinals entrenched their hold on third place with a pair of triumphs over Pittsburgh, 2-1 and 7-4.

Boston's Braves trounced Philadelphia's Phils twice in their battle for fourth place, 5-4 and 4-1. Chicago's Cubs emerged from the cellar, splitting a doubleheader with Cincinnati. The Reds won the second game 7-0, after the Cubs captured the opener 7-3.

Chicago's White Sox edged out Detroit 4-3 in a game that had no bearing on the American League race.

The Athletics beat Boston with their own weapon—the home run. A three-run homer by Eddie Joost snapped a 4-4 tie and sparked the A's to a six-run eighth inning that won the opener. Gus Zernial's 30th circuit clout with a mate aboard, and another homer by Dave Philley, accounted for all Philadelphia's runs in the nightcap. Little Bobby Shantz hurled a three-hitter to win his 15th game.

Home Run Vital

The home run also played a major role in the Yankees' double win over the Senators. They unloosed five four-baggers to account for all but one of their runs in the first game. Yogi Berra, who hit one of those, also homered in the nightcap to help Vic Raschi register his 18th victory. The game was halted after five and a half innings because of darkness.

Catcher Jim Hegan was the hitting star of the Indians as they overcame an early 3-0 deficit to win in the ninth inning. He opened the ninth with a single, moved to third on two bunts, and scored on Bob Avila's long fly.

Eddie Robinson batted in three runs with his 27th home run and a fifth-inning double to help Saul Rogovin, White Sox righthander, rack up his 12th victory.

A fourth-inning home run by Monte Irvin with a man on was all Sal Maglie needed to whip the Dodgers. The New York righthander became the first National Leaguer to record 20 victories.

Marylebone Team In Test Match

TORONTO, Sept. 10 (CP). — The touring English Marylebone cricket team scored 105 with the loss of one wicket during part of a second innings played Sunday in its unofficial test match with Canada's eleven.

The Britons ran up 270 Saturday in their opening innings. Canada's first innings, completed Sunday, ended with a score of 260.

The match continues today.

As the play resumed Sunday, T. Brierly and Alan Percival returned to the wickets, their scores 16 and 3 not out respectively.

Once again, a great exhibition in the field was given by the visitors.

The first day's play saw England score 270 runs for 10 wickets.

Montreal Royals Capture International League Flag

By The Associated Press.

The pennant-winning Montreal Royals and the runner-up Rochester Red Wings will be the favorites when the International League's 19th annual Governor's Cup playoffs get under way on Tuesday.

Royals, who won their sixth championship as the circuit's 68th season ended Sunday, will be hosts to the fourth-place Buffalo Bisons. The Red Wings will oppose the third-place Syracuse Chiefs at Rochester. All games will be best-of-seven series.

In regular-season competition Montreal, winner of four previous playoffs, compiled a 13-to-9 won-lost record against the Bisons. Rochester captured 15 of their 22 meetings with the Chiefs.

Rochester's Don Richmond won the batting championship for the second successive year with an average of .353 as the 1950 flag-victors bowed to Montreal 3-2. Successive ninth-inning home runs by Toby Atwell and winning pitcher Dan Bankhead enabled the Royals to register their 95th triumph and finish 11 games ahead of the Red Wings.

Augie Bergamo's pair of homers paced Syracuse to an 11-4 victory over Baltimore, last year's playoff winners. The game was highlighted by a home run by the Orioles' Marv Rickert, who slammed his 35th in winning the home run crown.

Lynn Lovenguth scattered 10 hits effectively as Buffalo tamed the last-place Springfield Cubs, 6-1. Archie Wilson of the Bisons knocked in his 106th run to annex the runs-batted-in title.

Toronto's Johnny Hetki won his 19th game to lead the league in victories as the fifth-place Maple Leafs subdued the Ottawa Giants 5-1. The triumph was the Leafs' 12th in their last 15 games.

Syracuse Indians Open Lindsay Camp

LINDSAY, Sept. 10 (CP). — Eddie Shore's Syracuse Indians of the American Hockey League open their month-long training camp here Tuesday. Shore will look over 125 professional and amateur hopefuls.

Two exhibition games are scheduled here before pre-season tilts at Sherbrooke, Montreal and Syracuse.

Shore's second annual hockey school here is expected to draw 500 central Ontario youngsters from the age of eight years and upwards.

Yanks Leading Despite Poor Hitting

By JOE FALLS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP). — The guy was sitting there, reading the paper and shaking his head.

There was a puzzled look on his face.

"Them Yankees," he muttered. "How they do it."

You looked at him, and there was a puzzled look on your face.

"Do what?" you asked.

And he replied: "Lead the league. How do they lead the league? Just look at these records."

He put the newspaper in front of you and pointed to the baseball statistics.

"Just look at this. There isn't a Yankee among the leading hitters. Or among the home run leaders. Or double leaders. Or triples. Or anything. It's just amazing."

This made you think. . . . The guy is right. You suddenly realized that the New York Yankees, once the most awesome batting team in baseball history, were leading the American League without a truly great hitter.

You took another look at the batting and slugging leaders. Names like Williams and Zernial and Minoso and even Fain and Fox were there, but no Yankees. No Yogi Berra's, or Joe DiMaggio's, or Johnny Mize's. Not a single Yankee.

Rookie Hitter

Currently, a freckle-faced rookie is the top New York hitter. He is infielder Gil McDougald, a good but hardly spectacular batter. He is hitting .312.

The only other player over the .300 mark—the imaginary dividing line between outstanding and ordinary—is Berra, and Yogi just makes it with .303.

The rest of the team—including the great Joe DiMaggio—is below that magic .300 figure.

It appears as though the Yanks won't have a player who will drive in 100 runs. Berra, with 76 RBI's is the No. 1 producer.

These statistics would indicate the Yanks are doing it with mirrors, or something. But statistics can be misleading.

Take Gene Woodling. He only has 14 home runs, but three of these have won vital games against Cleveland.

Johnny Mize has only 82 hits so far. But eight of these (in 15 at bats) have come in the role as a pinchhitter, also winning several games.

There seems only one answer: when the Yankees do connect, it's usually when all the big, blue chips are up for grabs.

Maria Montez Vowed To Be Movie Star

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 10—(AP)—Hollywood remembers Maria Montez as the girl who swore she would become a movie star—and did.

After recovering from shock of the exotic stars' bathtub death in France, her fellow workers here recall many examples of her burning ambition. One of them told of her arrival at Universal studio. She announced:

"In two years I am going to be a star."

She made it in less time than that. The prime factor in her success was—Maria Montez. She was colorful, she was explosive. But her rages were never pure temperament. They were calculated to enhance her glamor.

Publicity Knack

Few movie personalities have had such a knack for publicity. She was aware that photographs of her admirable frame were the fastest route to success. Many times the studio photographer would arrive at his gallery to find Maria camped on his doorstep. She might have been bearing a leopard skin or a fancy hat and would say, "wouldn't this make a great picture?"

Grim Incident

One co-worker recalls an incident which draws a grim parallel to the circumstances of Maria's death. It happened while she was doing a bath scene for one of her epics. She was uneasy about it and had the set cleared of unnecessary people. After almost a whole day in the suds, she said, "I am going to faint."

"We just have three still pictures to shoot," the director said. "Wait until then."

The photographer took three more pictures. Then Maria fainted.

Frost Strikes Blow At Tobacco Crops

DELHI, Ont., Sept. 10—(CP)—Frost struck a $3,000,000 blow to tobacco farmers in this area Friday night as temperatures as low as 27 degrees destroyed an estimated five to seven million pounds of tobacco in the fields.

In a strip from Norwich to Lake Erie, from Simcoe to as far west as Aylmer, low-lying areas were completely destroyed. St. Williams, Forestville and Cultus were hit hardest. Damage to the plants did not show up until the sun rose high enough Saturday to cover the fields.

Flown To Toronto For Brain Operation

TORONTO, Sept. 10 — (CP) — Reginald Brooks, 10, was flown here Sunday from North Bay, for an operation to remove a fragment of bone that was pressing on his brain.

An RCAF ambulance plane, sent from Ottawa, made the flight from North Bay in less than two hours. It was piloted by FO R. E. Gluns, of Windsor, and a flight nurse, Mary Deneau, of Windsor, was aboard.

Build New House

CLEVELAND, Sept. 10 (CP) — A score of Amishmen and their friends raised a house Saturday for a family of nine Roman Catholics whose home had burned to the ground. Carl Wilfram lost his home at nearby Burton a week ago and since then his family has been living with his employer—Herman Pirchner, who operates a night club here.

To Attend Conference

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP) — Lt.-Gen. Sir Richard Gale, director general of military training for the British army, arrived by plane Sunday from London to attend the second conference of the United States, Britain, Canada and France on the standardization of small arms ammunition in Washington today.

Closes Congress

ASSISI, Italy, Sept. 10 (AP) — The Pope Sunday closed the 13th National Eucharistic Congress with a religious message broadcast from the Vatican. He called on the delegates to "give this poor world a superior life" through the (holy communion) and consacrament of the Holy Eucharist cluded with a hope for peace and the apostolic benediction to the faithful.

Anzac In Action

TOKYO, Sept. 10 (Reuters) — The Australian destroyer Anzac went into action for the first time Saturday in the Korean war. Naval authorities revealed that the Anzac—most modern United Nations warships in Korean waters—engaged a Communist coastal gun embedded in solid concrete. The Anzac stood three miles off the west coast of North Korea.

School Holiday

REGINA, Sept. 10 (CP)—The Saskatchewan government Saturday declared Oct. 10 an official school holiday throughout the province to mark the visit of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to Regina.

Farm Market In Winter Undecided

City Plans To Wait Proposed Session With County Council

Property committee of the council this morning decided to suspend consideration of the George St. market and its accommodation for winter conditions "until it is taken up with representatives of the county council."

"That is what we proposed to do," said Ald. T. D. Miller, "and we should do it as soon as possible," Ald. E. C. Braund urged.

Recent recommendations and comments by Harry Gabbutt, market clerk, which he prepared at the request of the council, were transferred to the proposed conference with the county.

Ald. Hugh Waddell presided, with Aldermen Braund and Miller present with Mayor Swanston.

City Clerk Outram was authorized to arrange with the heads of the other civic departments for the transfer of the entire administration to the new city hall. It has been decided that the staff should be in occupation at least a week prior to the formal opening.

Increased heating for the fire hall was left for further inquiry. Estimated cost would be applied to next year's estimates because nothing was provided in the 1951 appropriations for this unexpected expense.

Saw No Signal Cyclists Hurt

A man and a woman suffered minor injuries early Sunday when the motorcycle they were riding collided with a car at Charlotte and Park Sts.

Ron Collins, 20, of 620 Frank St., suffered a lacerated shoulder, shock, minor abrasions and brush burns. Nancy Richards, of Millbrook, received a bruised shoulder.

The accident took place about 1 a.m. Sunday when a car driven by Orville H. Graham, Fenelon Falls, turned left on Park St., after going east on Charlotte.

Collins said he didn't see Graham make any signal, and the motorcycle hit the right rear of the Graham car. Graham said he didn't see the motorcycle until the crash. Collins' motorcycle was westbound on Charlotte.

Right rear of the car was damaged and the front forks, front wheel and headlight of the motorcycle were damaged.

Collins was taken to Civic Hospital, where his condition today is "satisfactory." Constable W. A. Scott investigated.

Car Fails To Make Turn Driver Suffers Head Cuts

BEWDLEY, Sept. 10. (ENS)—Gordon C. Thomas, 25, of 100 London St., was taken to Port Hope hospital early Sunday with severe head cuts received in a car accident, a mile south of Bewdley on Highway 28. Thomas is manager of the Drive-In theatre near Lindsay.

His car failed to make a sharp turn as he drove south about 8 a.m. It zigzagged from the highway onto the shoulder and finally turned over in the west ditch on its right side.

A passenger, Miss Marion Western of Elgin St., Lindsay, was believed thrown clear. She received only a shaking up.

The car, a 1938-model sedan, is a complete wreck.

Dr. J. B. Benson of Port Hope treated Thomas and the injured man was then taken to hospital.

OPP Constable W. Baluk of Cobourg investigated.

The other case, Neil Henry, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Henry, 5 Bellevue St., was taken to Sick Children's hospital, Toronto, today.

The two new cases in Peterborough hospital are a seven-year-old Peterborough girl and a 23-year-old man from Roseneath.

Factory Closes After 100 Years

One of Peterborough's oldest industries, the Kingdon Barrel and Shingle factory, located at the foot of Barnardo Ave., closed down today.

The industry has been located here for more than 100 years and was established by William Kingdon when Peterborough was known as Scott's Landing. The founder first started making barrels by hand at Monaghan Rd and Lansdowne St. In 1852 the factory was moved to the corner of Aylmer and Simcoe Sts.

The present building was built by the founder's son, George Samuel Kingdon. His two sons, the late George Stanley Kingdon and Orville Kingdon took over the business in 1919. Eleven years later Orville sold out to his brother who remained in the business until his death in 1947.

Since that time, Mrs. G. S. Kingdon has conducted the business with the assistance of her three sons, the late E. S. Kingdon, R. F. Kingdon and D. W. Kingdon.

The building is to be offered to someone who is willing to tear it down and the machinery to be sold. Following this the property will be offered for sale.

3 Accidents Send Two To Hospital

Crashes Occur Within 12 Hours South of Bancroft

BANCROFT, Sept. 10 (ENS)—Three traffic accidents within 12 hours Saturday on Highway 62 within 12 miles south of Bancroft sent two men to hospital.

In the most serious one, two cars crashed head-on on a straight flat stretch of the highway about seven miles south of the village. George Cholderhose, 41, of Maple Leaf, was driving south with the car's owner, Neville Douglas, of Greenview, a passenger.

Driver Arrested

Albert W. Horlock, RR 8, Belleville, with Percy Vader, 34, North James St., Belleville, was driving south. The cars crashed in about the middle of the highway, police said. Cholderhose was arrested and charges are pending.

Douglas was take immediately to the Bancroft Red Cross hospital and then rushed to hospital in Toronto in a semi-conscious condition with facial and chest injuries. He was attended in Bancroft by Dr. F. S. Lumb. Corporal Archie Grayling, and Constables G. Lloyd and John Hawkins, investigated.

Later in the evening, three Coe Hill youths on their way to a dance in Bancroft, met in a sideswipe collision with a car being driven south by Louis R. Cline, RR 8, Belleville.

The youths' car, driven by Rene Seaborn, 19, Coe Hill, rolled over and smashed several guard rail posts. The car was a total wreck.

Cline's car was also badly smashed with damage estimated at about $1,000.

Seaborn was taken to hospital with severe cuts about his face. Passengers in the car, Dale Gunter and Lorne Landon, received bruises and cuts. Dr. S. F. Lumb treated Seaborn. Corporal Grayling and Constable Hawkins investigated.

In an accident in the morning near L'Amable, about four miles south of Bancroft, a car driven by Pierre Sauley, of Turriff, hit loose gravel at a point on the road where paving is being done. The car rolled over, but Sauley escaped with only minor injuries and the car wasn't badly damaged.

3 Hurt As Car Rolls In Fog

Three Toronto people were injured early Saturday morning when dense fog obscured the driver's view and the car rolled over in the ditch, two miles south of Minden on the Kinmount road.

Most seriously injured was Mrs. Samuel Rogers, 29, Linsmore Ave., a possible fractured skull. Her 30-year-old husband received head cuts and stitches were needed to close them. The third member of the party was Edward Wales, 31, St. George St., a possible injured back.

The trio were driving toward Minden and the driver failed to see a sharp turn in the road because of a heavy ground fog. The small, English-model car went out of control in the ditch and turned over.

After they were given medical treatment by Dr. Agnes Jamieson they were permitted to return to Toronto.

OPP Constable Al Edwards of Minden investigated.

Girl Walks Into Car 2 Teeth Knocked Out

LINDSAY, Sept. 10—A 14-year-old Lindsay high school student lost two teeth when she walked into the side of a moving car Friday afternoon.

The victim, Marian Thompson, told police that she was coming north across Kent St. and had passed between to eastbound cars when she became confused and walked into the side of a west bound car.

The driver of the car was Glen Johnston, 17, also of Lindsay. He reported that he was driving west when, without warning, a body slammed into his car.

Johnston immediately stopped his car and the girl, who had not been knocked down by the impact, was taken to Dr. Arnold for treatment.

As well as losing two teeth, the victim suffered a slight abrasion on her nose.

Melvin Wood To Face Trial On Charge Of Motor Manslaughter

Fractured Skull Cause of Death—Doctor; Injuries Received In Accident When Hit By Car On Lakefield Highway

Melvin Wood, 21, of 548 Harvey St., was today bailed for trial on charges of motor manslaughter and dangerous driving. He will appear at the fall assizes. Evidence heard today was given by Dr. Ralph Clark, who attended Lorne Russell, 21, of Oshawa, the man injured in the accident. Russel died June 29 of injuries received in the accident, the doctor said.

Fractured Skull

Dr. Clark said he attended Russel at the scene of the accident and found he had a fractured skull, fractured right humerus (upper arm-bone), and fractured right ankle as well as numerous lacerations.

Cause of Russel's death was a fractured skull and damage to the brain beneath the fracture, said the doctor.

Asked by defence counsel T. J. Carley, KC, if an examination had been made to determine any other possible cause of death, Dr. Clark said a post mortem had been performed. This examination revealed the fractured skull to be the cause of death.

In addition to his injuries, Russel contracted a slight case of pneumonia shortly before his death, the doctor told court.

Preliminary evidence was presented Thursday and the case adjourned to today for the doctor's report.

Wood's face was slightly flushed when he appeared before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, and he appeared nervous as he stood and heard he was committed on the two charges. A further charge, of drunken driving, was adjourned to November 20.

Russel was hit by a car June 16 and thrown 20 feet by the impact. The accident took place on Highway 28 just north of the city.

Driving Hampered By Liquor, Man Fined

A Mount Pleasant man, Howard Barker, 49, was fined $[illegible] and $2.50 by Magistrate W. R. Philp today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol.

Constable C. J. McGillen said he picked up Barker on Murray St., west of Aylmer St., the afternoon of September 1. Barker had been drinking. A further charge, of careless driving, was dismissed when Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, KC, offered no evidence.

Home Owners Tax Levy Among Lowest

In dollars and cents of municipal tax levy, Peterborough is down in 16th place, according to information for 1950 compiled by Ontario.

Peterborough ratepayers can look that column of figures in the eye with a feeling of equanimity and satisfaction with itself. Some of the tax-paying citizens may think their rate is abnormally and comparatively higher than the levies in neighboring towns of the province. In this official statement they find reassurance.

Over in the debenture debt column, however, Peterborough climbs up into the top drawer company to sixth position.

Against that expected fact, after all the public work that has been done around here since the war, is the evidence of ability to meet the annual municipal treasury requirements from income, which has been mentioned by other statisticians, in recent years, as averaging up near the top.

The per capita tax levy means the amount of taxes per person, including women and children.

Toronto At Front

Toronto heads the list with $67.63; London is next at $62.02; Kitchener $57.46.

Fort William at $56.17 is fourth; Sarnia $56.04 is next; St. Catharines $55.98.

Windsor is in 7th position from the top at $54.90; Ottawa $54.85; Port Arthur $53.71.

Tenth is Owen Sound $53.09; Sault Ste. Marie's levy of $53.07 is 11th; Hamilton $53 is 12th.

Chatham is 13th with $52.90; Waterloo 14th has a per capita levy of $52.17; Niagara Falls is $52.06.

Peterborough is 16th with the levy last year that amounted to $51.96 per person.

Debenture Debt

The top brackets in the debenture debt column list the following municipalities:

Toronto	$82,383,825.
Ottawa	$23,203,969.
Hamilton	$19,605,961.
Windsor	$15,368,899.
Fort William	$ 8,704,666.
Peterborough	$ 5,474,387.
Kitchener	$ 5,193,542.

Woodstock Lowest

Lowest per capita levy in Ontario last year was in Woodstock at $36.44. Sudbury was only $37.68; North Bay $39; Cornwall $39.28.

Kingston is in an intermediate position with a levy of $42.89.

THIS HOUSE IS BEING BUILT by friends and neighbors who rallied round when Eric Niles' young son drowned just when Mr. Niles was going to start building a house for his family near Cobourg. Friends Build Home For Grieving Family

COBOURG, Sept. 10—(ENS)—The helping hands of neighbors built a house for Eric Niles, when his young son was accidentally drowned just as Mr. Niles was starting his holiday. He had planned to spend all his holiday working on the house. Instead he spent his time looking after the funeral of his son.

A little over two weeks ago, seven-year-old Jimmy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Niles, wandered down to the harbor and fell in. His cries for help were heard by Bobby Brown, on shore, who ran out, but as he was only a year older than the boy struggling in the water, he was unable to save him.

The little fellow's body wedged in a crack in the sunken pier under water and it was not recovered until next morning when Fred James, Peterborough professional diver, located the body in an almost inaccessible spot.

Material Arrived

The blow to the family came just when Mr. and Mrs. Niles were awaiting arrival of their sectional house which was to be erected a half mile east of Cobourg under the VLA plan. The father and mother were dazed by the loss of their son. Mr. Niles was on vacation at the time and had planned to get started on his house.

Several days had been lost and the sections of the house had arrived. Bill Slater, district construction supervisor of the DVA, got in touch with the two district DVA men at Peterborough, Bill Theobald and Murray Humphries. The two men from Peterborough were soon on the job helping erect the house. Reeve Mervin Greer, of Hamilton township, sent the bulldozer and crew over and in no time at all the land was ready for the foundations.

Chipped In

Some of the men from St. John's Masonic Lodge, of which Eric Niles is a member, gave their help. Tom Perry and Tom Lapp, war veterans who are building down in that district, lent a hand too. They came whenever they had some spare time and in short order the walls were up and the house began to take shape.

It is hard for Eric and his wife to say how much they appreciate all the help they have received, but it came at a time when both were feeling very low.

"I can't put into words how much we appreciate all the wonderful help we have received. Everybody has been so kind," Eric Niles told The Examiner.

Report 1951 CNE Greatest Held In Toronto

TORONTO, Sept. 10 — (CP)— The 1951 Canadian National Exhibition which ended Saturday has been termed the greatest ever held here, although its run that started August 24 fell short of breaking attendance records.

Hit by chilly winds and persistent drizzle during its last few days, over-all attendance reached 2,699,000, some 24,000 below that of 1950. Saturday's turnout was 265,000, or 11,000 less than the 1950 closing day.

However, an official said that the London section of Festival of Britain, which started early in May and continues until September 30, took nearly four months to pass the 4,000,000 mark.

Directors had hoped that the CNE, largest annual exposition in the world, would have an attendance of more than 3,000,000 this year.

Better Financial Year

Said Elwood Hughes, general manager: "Financially this has been a better year than last."

Sir Denys Lowson, Lord Mayor of London, spoke at the same luncheon. He said that although the Commonwealth may still have to develop newer and closer bounds to define relations, the main lines have beenlaid to such an extent that its nations not only will be able to save themselves from tyranny but may also have the free world.

Just before a shower of sky rockets and star shells signalled the end of the fair, officials announced the winner of a give-away bungalow. He was W. H. Giles, married 15 months—and a real estate salesman—who until now has not had a home of his own.

PETERBOROUGH DELEGATE to the fourth annual summer conference of the Ontario Young Progressive Conservative Association, Allan Drummond, compares notes with Mayor Marjorie Hamilton of Barrie, who was guest speaker at Wednesday's session of the week-long conference, with more than eighty delegates from ridings throughout Ontario and observers from other Provinces, was held at Byrnell Manor, Fenelon Falls.

PUSAN, Korea, Sept. 10 (AP)— All South Korean news media were placed under strict military censorship Sunday. Gen. Lee Sun keun, South Korean army information chief, issued a directive stating that all news reports regarding military affairs, whether official announcements or otherwise, must be censored before publication. It covers reports on the now-suspended Korean truce talks at Kaesong.

Gathering of the Clan

TORONTO, Sept. 10—(CP)— They came from all over Canada to the wedding of Jacqueline Laprairie, of Toronto, to Joseph Patrick Michael O'Donoghue, of St. Catharines, held here Saturday at Holy Rosary Church. Brothers of the bride, Carl came from Timmins, Paul from the Yukon, Leon from Cape Breton, NS, George and Clifford from Labrador. Sister Rosemary came from MacMasterville, Que. A fifth brother, George, lives in Toronto.

Caught After Holdups

TORONTO, Sept. 10 (CP)—A 20-year-old youth was arrested Saturday night after three lightning holdups with a toy gun that netted only about $100. Police said Keith Baylis, 20, no fixed address, is charged with robbery.

UN Behavior Said Alienating South Koreans

MONTREAL, Sept. 10 (CP).— The South Korean does not like us, William Boss, Canadian Press war correspondent, said Sunday night.

"I don't say he hates us," said the 34-year-old, red-whiskered Boss. "I do say that he does not like us. I also say that he will surely grow to hate us if we don't change our behavior."

Boss, on a month's leave from his war corresponding chores in Korea, said the problem results from the appearance that the United Nations command in Korea is more concerned with fighting Communism than with helping South Koreans.

"The Koreans, as I see it, just don't rate," he said in a speech recorded for broadcast over the CBC.

"In the main, it boils down to the less tangible question of attitude— the elbowing of civilians on the streets, the growled order to get off the road or leave an area; the contempt and arrogance generally evident in the little encounters."

Civilian Kicked

At one time in Korea, said Boss, he saw a UN policeman actually kick a civilian across the road.

"The Korean has lost everything in this war—his home, his belongings, often his family which may have been scattered throughout the country.

"We might at least have left him his pride. But we have robbed him of his dignity—this is what he can neither forget nor forgive."

Boss suggested that the western world should recognize its faults in Korea and try to get its troops better trained in the meaning and practices of democracy.

The mistakes the troops are making in Korea, he said, in their attitude toward the natives, "are the mistakes of ignorance — ignorance of Koreans and ignorance of democracy."

Miss Canada Wins $1,000 As Talented Non-Finalist

ATLANTIC CITY, NJ, Sept. 10 (CP)—Collen Kay Hutchins, 25, tall blue-eyed blonde of Salt Lake City, Utah, Saturday won the 1952 Miss America contest.

The University of Utah graduate student, who weighs 143 pounds, was crowned at the conclusion of a five-day pageant in which 51 girls sought the coveted title.

Rated second was Miss Indiana, Carol Mitchell, of Rochester. Next was Lu Long Ogburn, of Smithfield, NC, the only two-time preliminary contest-winner.

Marjorie Alma Kelly, of Courtland, Ont., entered as Miss Canada for 1951, won a special $1,000 escholarship for the most talented non-finalist. A lyric soprano, the 23-year-old Miss Kelly is the daughter of a tobacco farmer.

Miss Hutchins, the first blonde to win the contest since 1938, was the tallest girl in the contest, at 5 feet 10 inches. She has a 24-inch waist, 36-inch bust and 36-inch hips.

$5,000 Scholarship

A veteran of Utah beauty pageants, she receives a $5,000 scholarship, gifts including a new automobile and a chance to earn thousands in personal appearances. Pageant officials said that Yolande Betbeze, last year's winner, earned about $30,000 during her reigning year.

Miss Hutchins announced she plans to seek a career on the stage. Her preliminary talent victory Thursday night was a rendition from Maxwell Anderson's play, Elizabeth, the Queen.

Miss Hutchins at 25, the pageant age limit, is the oldest Miss America. She is the tallest since Bess Myerson, also 5 feet 10 inches took the title in 1945.

The new Miss America was chosen in a 5-day pageant during which girls are judged for beauty in a bathing suit, beauty and poise in an evening gown, talent and personality.

The first four runners-up for the title won scholarships of $3,000 $2,500, $2,000 and $1,000. Ten other girls won $1,000 scholarships.

New Primate Would Change Church Name

VICTORIA, BC, Sept. 10 (CP) —Efforts by a considerable part of the Church of England in Canada to have the name of the church changed have the support of Most Rev. Walter Barfoot, new Primate of all Canada.

"I belive we should drop the word 'England' from our name," he said following his election.

He went on to explain that hesitation in making the change was due to a desire to avoid indicating a break with the mother church.

"At the same time," he continued, "we are a Canadian church, and our name should indicate it."

In suggesting that the word "Canada" be part of the name, the Primate said everyone would then know that the Anglican Church is for English-speaking people, not just English people.

During discussions in church circles during the last several years, the most favored name has been "Anglican Church of Canada."

The opinion expressed by Archbishop Barfoot on the subject forecasts resumption of the name-changing discussion in the near future.

Companies Use Plain Language Win Awards

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor.

More and more companies are coming to realize they must tell their stories in plain language if people are to understand what they are doing.

Not so long ago, most companies thought it was enough if they reported this year's operations in an accountant's statement which, for the most part, only accountants could understand.

Some still stick by the old methods, but many of them do outstanding jobs of saying in a clear-cut manner how much money they took in, how much they spent for expenses — supplies, wages, taxes and so on, how much was spent on maintaining or expanding the business, and how much profit was paid to the owners.

Awards are made by various periodicals and organizations for the best of such jobs. Among them are annual awards by The Financial Post of Toronto, with judges from the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants, the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada, and the Association of Canadian Advertisers.

List Winners

Following are this year's winners of the Post's awards:

Manufacturing and processing: Metals and metal products—Massey-Harris Co. Ltd.; Ford Motor Co. of Canada, Ltd.; Aluminum, Ltd.

Manufacturing and processing: All other — Imperial Oil, Ltd.; British American Oil Co. Ltd.; and Abitibi Power and Paper Co. Ltd.

Retailing and distributing — Dominion Stores, Ltd.; Southam Co. Ltd.; United Grain Growers, Ltd.

Mining and oil production — Asbestor Corporation, Ltd.; International Nickel Co. of Canada, Ltd.; Noranda Mines, Ltd.

Public Utilities — Shawinigan Water and Power Company; British Columbia Power Corporation; Brazilian Traction, Light and Power Co., Ltd.

Financial institutions — Industrial Acceptance Corporation; Bank of Toronto; Manufacturers Life Insurance Company.

R. A. McEachern, editor of the Post, commenting on the awards, said:

"Company annual reports are the story of human struggle—the human interest story of a group of workers in the front office, the back office, in the boiler room, and the shipping floor, all putting in a year of planning and perspiration to make a business break even; if possible, to make a little profit; and to make it survive into the future."

Recalls Windjammer Era In Grim Maritime History

By RAE CORELLI

LUNENBURG, NS — (CP)— "Where," mused Capt. Henry Burke, Lunenburg master mariner, "are all the taut, stately ships?"

As he pondered the approaching death of the windjammer era that night in June, 1930, his close-hauled schooner cut a phosphorescent wake through the South Atlantic, heading for Havana out of Weymouth, NS.

On the eve of the annual Nova Scotia fisheries exhibition, Lunenburg seamen of another age are occupied with similar thoughts of what has become an accomplished fact.

Townsfolk gather next Sunday on the slopes of Terrace Hill for the yearly remembrance service dedicated to the men who went down to the sea in ships and did not return. In their bowed heads will be thoughts of the days of the barques and brigs, schooners and brigantines.

Capt. Burke chronicled those days in a requested history of the fortunes of Lunenburg ships and men over a 50-year period. He was a veteran of 46 years under canvas, 147 trips to the West Indies alone—92 of them in square-riggers.

The Captain has been dead these nine years. His narrative now is in possession of a son, Cecil E. Burke of Halifax, maritime traffic chief of The Canadian Press and himself a veteran of ocean service under sail.

"Steam competition," wrote the Captain, "has driven those stately old square-riggers off the the oceans."

His amazingly accurate account details the fates of 104 Lunenburg sailing vessels. He served on many of them, either as mate or master.

Around The World

Tough south shore skippers ranged far in their ships. Their pennants flew in ports around the world from the Falklands to Belle Isle, from Southampton to Seattle.

The schooner Wilfred M., was shelled and sent to the bottom by the German raider Crown Princess Cecile. The fleet schooner Marshal Fock was sold to novelist Zane Grey, later foundered and broke up on the rocky New Zealand coast.

Another schooner, Marion J. Smith, foundered and went down while en route from Britain to Halifax. The Richard B. Silver sank on the homeward trip from the Argentine. The barque Ich Dien burned to the waterline in the harbor at St. John's, Nfld.

Capt. Burke was in command of the schooner Sceptre the night she was splintered and sunk by the steamer Roselands.

Struck Reef

He was survivor of the abandonment of the brig Donzella, reeling onto a reef in a blinding blizzard when last seen by her crew. Three of them were frozen to death in the 10 hours preceding rescue.

The ships of which the captain writes foundered at sea, were sunk in collision. Some were like Marie Celestes whose end is unknown. Others "laid their ribs to rest on a rock-bound coast."

Whole fleets were ripped to bits by Atlantic hurricanes. Few hardy Lunenburgers survived these sinkings. The schooner Sceptre was dismasted four times. Each time, she was coaxed home under jury rig.

The Narka lost her head gear, bowsprit and foresail in a heavy blow off Nantucket lightship. She drifted for 12 days but "we finally arrived in Yarmouth, NS, where we repaired our wreck and proceeded to Portland, Maine with our cargo of molasses."

"These ships were manned by hardy seamen who have placed Lunenburg on the front page of the history of wooden ships and iron men," the Captain wrote. "Will they ever come into their day again?"

"I wonder."

Veloz Declares He's No Talent For Dancing

By JAMES R. BACON

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 10 (AP)—Frank Veloz, male half of the world-famed dance team Veloz and Yolanda, says he never had any talent for dancing.

That's hard to believe, coming from one recognized as one of the top ballroom dancers of all time.

Veloz was born in Washington, DC, son of a Latin-American mother of a Dutch farmer. Yolanda, his sweetheart and wife since teen-age, was born in New York city.

They met at a high school dancing party in New York and entered a dance contest as a lark. They were eliminated in the first round.

That sudden-death elimination hurt the Veloz pride. With the attractive Yolanda he began a serious study of dancing. He created new steps and the two practised them.

They entered more contests and lost, but finally they won one. They never lost after that.

Learned Piano

Because so much of their success depended on music, he taught himself to play the piano.

"I had to," he says, "to understand what the musicians were talking about."

After he learned to play the piano, he started writing songs mostly tangoes and rhumbas. He composed much of the background music for the Veloz and Yolanda dance arrangements.

When the Veloz family grew—they have four children now—the team temporarily retired from their world tours to stay home.

Five years ago, Veloz opened a dance studio and employed seven persons. Now he employs hundreds in studios across the US.

He hopes eventually to make more money out of the dance studios than he did on the stage. Veloz and Yolanda grossed as much as $25,000 a week on their last concert tour.

That would be quite a figure, for

MIGHTY MITES—Huddled against an overcast skyline over Dorval Airport in Montreal, these speedy little F-86E Sabre fighters symbolize Canada's growing aerial might. They are being used by Squadrons 410 and 441, the first fighter squadrons in Canada to be equipped with Sabres. Both squadrons are notched for duty with NATO.

THE NEW SUPER CONSTELLATION, five of which are being purchased by Trans-Canada Air Lines for their overseas routes, is seen here dwarfing its sister ship. The giant airliner weighs 65 tons and is fifty miles per hour faster and carries more passengers than any other commercial transport in use today. Powered with the new compounded turbine-reciprocating engines, each developing 3,250 horsepower, the new airliner will slash Montreal-London flying time to 10½ hours.

Change Date for Princess' Visit

Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church resumed regular meetings Friday with a good attendance. Acting president Mrs. J. Hornal was in charge and Mrs. A. Jack of Sunshine Group read scripture and led in prayer. Secretary Mrs. W. Young and treasurer Mrs. C. Mann reported. Mrs. A. E. Caldwell was pianist for the hymns. Cards of thanks for flowers were read and Mrs. H. G. McKenzie reported on visiting. Mrs. R. McWilliams reported on success of the flower tea held in June at the home of Mrs. W. J. Gordon and thanked those who had assisted. The next meeting date was changed to Wednesday, October 3, owing to the visit in Toronto that week-end of HRH Princess Elizabeth.

Bishop Cody Warns Against "Poisonous" Literature

The Catholic Press one facet of the theme of the Catholic Women's League was chosen by Most Reverend John C. Cody DD National Director Sunday evening banquet speaker at the fourth annual convention of the Provincial Council. He quoted Pope Pius as saying "It is performing a greater service than in any previous century," and also "I would sell my cross and reins to help the Catholic press."

The mechanical age with its modern inventions tends to hinder spiritual advance. Said the speaker: "The pen is mightier than the sword—when it has a printing press behind it," he pointed out.

"Certainly the dictators have realized the importance of the press—it is the first thing they seek to suppress; Certainly the devil recognizes it for who has a greater circulating library than the Prince of Darkness, available at popular prices." He spoke of the Renaisance and Reformation periods when it was declared greatest harm was done by the printing press.

Bishop Cody said the press is often called the "fifth gospel" for without it the four inspired gospels might be in vain in many homes. He said that those who work on the Catholic press are called "the voice of the Pope."

He changed the wording of a proverb and said "Tell me what you read and I will tell you what you are." Many Catholics are not sufficiently on guard in choosing the right kind of book friends Modern children can be in a field of sin in their own homes, he warned. "Books will have just as much influence on you as the people with whom you associate, yet less care is taken in the choice."

Bishop Cody then compared reading material to food. "Good laws protect the health of the body. We should see that the mind is as well protected" he said. Though the CWL, urged by the directors, has done great work in this field, he urged the women never to give up this work of the Lord, which is specifically the case when youth is getting "poisoned mental food."

The light food—or literature—which doesn't sustain but gives recreation to the mind, is useful he said. Catholic literature contains plenty of wit and humor for this purpose. Most important though is the nutritious, nourishing mental food which makes readers able and energetic enough to put forth effort as a lay apostle.

He warned against leaving any entry to the mind open to the devil by indulging in "rotten literature," even though attendance at mass and communion be regular and often. The women were asked to try and give gifts of Catholic literature and Bibles for weddings and occasions and to widen the circulation of their CWL magazine.

Thanking the Bishop afterward, Mrs. M. F. McGlade of Smiths Falls urged the mothers to heed the message. She said the League has been "fighting poisonous literature since the incorporation.

Appreciation was also expressed to Bishop Gerald Berry of Peterborough who said grace, Bishop William D. Smith of Pembroke who introduced the speaker, and to Mr. Heribert Michel who entertained with piano solos.

Miss Anne Walsh Marries Clare J. Condon

A wedding of interest was solemnized in Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, Hastings, last Wednesday when Miss Anne Corinne Walsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Walsh, was united in marriage to Mr. Clare Joheph Condon, son of Mrs. Agnes Condon and the late Mr. Maurice Condon of Douro.

The Rev. J. J. Garvey preformed the ceremony while present in the sanctuary were Rev. J. J. McCarthy and Rev. L. Dubbery.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of imported French lace over nylon taffeta and elbow length mittens. The fingertip veil of tulle illusion fell from a headdress of seed pearls. She carried a mother of pearl prayer book with a cluster of gardenias and stephanotis.

Miss Evelyn Doris attended the bride as maid of honor and was gowned in nile green nylon marquisette over taffeta with matching headdress and mittens and carried a cascade of salmon gladioli. The bridesmaid, Miss Joan Walsh, sister of the bride, wore a similar gown of daffodil yellow nylon marquisette over taffeta with matching headdress and mittens and carried orchid gladioli. Miss Maureen Leahy made an attractive flower girl in a period gown of orchid taffeta and carried a nosegay of yellow rose buds.

Mr. John P. Walsh was groomsman and the ushers were Paul Kelley of Toronto and Gerald Doris of Keene.

A reception was held at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club. The bride's mother received wearing a gown of sandstone crepe and lace with brown accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a black crepe gown with lace, with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Guests were present from New Jersey, Texas, Belleville and Toronto.

Later the bride and groom left for a motor trip to New York via the Adirondack mountains. Travelling the bride wore a suit of brown corded faille with teal blue hat and brown accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Following the honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Condon will make their home near Peterborough.

Irwin-Griffiths Candlelight Rites

At St. John's Anglican Church in a candlelight ceremony at seven o'clock Saturday evening Miss Kathleen Mary Griffiths became the bride of Mr. John Henry Irwin in a ceremony performed by Ven. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson. She is the daughter of Mrs. George Rowbotham of Belleville and the late Mr. James Griffiths. The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Irwin of R.R. 2, Peterborough.

White gladioli banked with ferns and candles was the setting at the altar and wedding music was played by organist Mr. F. G. Mann.

The bride's gown was of blue Chantilly lace with full skirt in three-quarter length and her matching color half-hat was of pleated mohair and net with shoulder veil attached. Her elbow-length mittens were also of lace. She carried a cascade of white chrysanthemums and pink roses. She was given in marriage by her uncle Mr. E. Hosking of Peterborough and attended by Miss Grace Stewart. Miss Stewart wore a similarly styled frock of toast shade lace, matching mittens and a tiara in pale green. She carried gold chrysanthemums and red rosebuds in a nosegay.

The groom's attendant was Ronald Darling and ushers were Clifford Kennedy and Gordon Darling.

A reception was held at the Colonial Room, the bride's mother receiving in a gown of navy lace with winter white hat and corsage of bettertime roses. The groom's mother, assisting, wore royal blue crepe with a black velvet hat and corsage of pink carnations.

For the wedding trip to Michigan and New York States the bride chose a fine checked suit and rust accessories and her corsage was of bronze chrysanthemums.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Irwin will live at R.R. 2, Peterborough.

Loopholes Seen By New Citizens

"Eastern peoples, escaping from bondage, have hitched their wagon to a star in the western world. There are thousands coming to Canada, and many of them, when they achieve citizenship here, think so highly of it that they will go down on their knees and kiss the very soil itself. We should show them more of the benefits of the Christian democracy which we teach but do not always practice. We do not appreciate the Canadian citizenship we possess. There are many loopholes in our way of living which these people are quick to apprehend. Catholic members of societies should remember the obligation incumbent upon those sitting in the seats of the mighty to hew to the basic principles of Christian democracy."

Thus spoke Bishop Wm. J. Smith, of Pembroke, director of the Ontario Catholic Women's League, to the convention delegates here, further outlining the duties of democracies after a report on Legislation and Citizenship by Mrs. T. M. Neville, of Douglas.

Refugee Girl Wins Keenleyside

OTTAWA, Sept. 10 —(CP)—A striking blonde Saturday married the son of the man who was deputy minister of immigration when the pretty Esthonian girl came to Canada as a displaced person four years ago.

Hilda Alev and Miles Keenleyside, 23-year-old son of Dr. Hugh L. Keenleyside, director of technical assistance for the United Nations, were married in tiny St. Peter's Lutheran church. The church was a mass of pink and white gladioli.

Miss Alev came to Canada with the first group of DP's assigned to domestic service. She spent her first year in the Keenleyside home in Ottawa and later took a job with the international refugee organization here.

Alcoholics Wife Describes Her Miserable Situation

DEAR MISS DIX: Several times in your column I've read letters from girls asking your advice as to whether they should marry a man who drinks excessively. I cry out loud, "No!"

How I wish I could write a book for all young girls to read on "My Life as a Drunkard's Wife"! For 21 years I've been married to one! Drink comes before all else. He lives only for the next drink. We live a life apart in interests, having nothing in common. Even the children's special events go by unnoticed. His idea of an evening out is sitting hours in a tavern. We make no plans together, have no friends, and go nowhere. He comes home abusively drunk two or three nights a week. He loses time from work, has lost several jobs and stays away nights at a time. I've lost all affection I ever had for him. I only fight to keep the home together until my six children are grown men and women. Then only will I be relieved of my burden.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The saddest letters that come to my desk are from wives like this, whose husbands are excessive and abusive drinkers. There is no remedy to offer them—no consolation, no hope. Even the splendid services of Alcoholics Anonymous can do nothing for a man who has no desire to help himself. Content to go his sodden way, losing the love of his family, the respect of his friends, sinking lower and lower into the abyss of moral disintegration, he is beyond any mortal aid.

Marriage Won't Reform Him

For the disaster to befall a woman after marriage is bad enough but for any girl knowingly to marry a heavy drinker is folly at its worst. Promises to reform after marriage are utterly unreliable. A man who wishes, in good faith, to overcome this or any other bad habit will do so before he assumes the responsibility of a family.

Many—in fact, I'll go so far as to say most disastrous marriages are the result of lack of foresight in these matters. A fickle, unreliable beau seldom turns into a faithful husband; matrimony will not turn a lying suitor into a truthful mate. The essential, basic virtues of good living are present in the single state or not there at all! Minor faults, of course, can be cured or at any rate endured, but a man with a fundamental weakness of character is a poor risk for a life partner.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am in love with a boy a year older than I. We want to get married but my fiance's mother has forbidden it. She says if we marry she'll have it annulled. Don't you think it's about time she let her son live his own life? For seven months she has done everything to try to break us up and says if we get married we won't be welcome in her home.

LOUELLA

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You don't give your age, but I gather you're both quite young since your fiance needs his mother's consent to marry. Probably the extreme youth of both of you is her only objection, so why not wait until you are of age? Her attitude then may soften. Marriage, remember is an adult responsibility and you will be much better equipped to handle its complexities if you wait a few years, and acquire more education..

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am engaged to a service man and have waited almost a year for him to come home. He now has a furlough coming up and thinks he should go see his mother before coming to see me. I think I should come first. We live in different states. Who is right? C.A.G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER—My answer will probably bring a roar of protest from every girl who has a boy friend in service, but since you are engaged, not married, your friend's first visit should be to his mother. Soon you will be first in everything—don't you think these last few considerations belong to her?

Refugee Wins Stardom With Hollywood

By SIDNEY MIRKIN

ISLE OF ISCHIA, Italy—(AP)—Hollywood movie outfit, thawing some of its frozen assets, has come up with a warm new screen personality likely to melt the hearts of millions of screen fans.

The lively and lovely charmer is Eva Bartok, 22-year-old refugee from Communist Hungary who is playing her first movie lead opposite Burt Lancaster in "The Crimson Pirate." The film is being made in the Bay of Naples.

Little Eva has won the admiration of veteran movie makers by her courage and spirit. Swinging high over the deck of the ship in a tiny bosun' chair while "pirates" climb frantically after her holds no terrors for Eva.

Off the screan she is an auburn haired brown eyed beauty with a friendliness that has most everyone she meets feeling like an old friend.

Her figure is the kind most men dream about and women diet for unsuccessfully.

Eva's first scenes were enough to get her a long-term one-picture-a-year contract.

Strong Personality

Her bosses on the movie, Hollywood producer Norman Deming and director Robert Siodmak, say her personality comes through even stronger through the eyes of the color camera than in real life.

Her career, off to a promising start when she became a star of the Hungarian national theatre at 18, was dogged by bad luck that would have soured many a girl. She left Hungary in 1948, and went to England.

In the next three years she was signed to a contract by Sir Alexander Korda, tested by MGM, Twentieth Century Fox and Associated British, and cast for parts in four films. But in the British film industry she actually did only on role, that of a Hungarian refugee in Vienna in the "Tale Of Five Cities."

That brief bit was seen by Warner's English subsidiary and they went looking for Eva. They found her playing a juvenile lead in an Italian stage musical.

Golf Still Fun To Girl Champ Marlene Grim Little Fighter

FONTHILL, Ont., Sept. 10—(CP)—Grimly, Marlene Stewart strokes her way around the golf links. The galleries intently watching the tight lips of the 17-year-old golfing marvel don't realize that she's fighting all the way—fighting nervousness.

"It's just a funny feeling inside," she says. "My hands don't shake—or anything like that. I'm not that nervous when I'm playing—just enough to make me want to fight all the more."

Marlene rocketed to sports page headline last June 22 when she won the Ontario Women's Open Championship at Toronto. Sports writers noticed then her grim expression as she played shot after flawless shot. She went to Montreal and won the Canadian closed title Aug. 4. "Grim Marlene Stewart" was the sports writers' description of her as she took the Canadian open Aug. 11.

Marlene fights constantly. She has shown plenty of "fight" ever since she first appeared at the Lookout Point Golf Club on the outskirts of the Niagara peninsula town five miles north of Welland. That was five years ago. The girl across the street—Anne Sharp, a well-known golfer—took her along as caddy.

Moved Quickly

From then on Marlene moved quickly. She borrowed clubs and began learning the game. After a couple of years caddying, she had earned enough money to buy her own equipment.

"It's good fun," is Marlene's single comment about golf. Always reticent, she shrugged her shoulders and added: "I guess I like it because it means being in the fresh air—and, well—I just like it."

She says she finds her own 6,-133-yard home course about the most difficult she has yet played.

"It's one of the toughest in the district," she said, looking out over the brow of the hill which marks the first hole. "Lots of Americans come over to try their golf on it."

Marlene says the only person whose style she has followed consistently is "Gordie"—Gordon McInnis, the club pro who has been her instructor throughout.

Helped By Noted Star

Another to whom she owes a lot is Ada MacKenzie of Toronto, past holder of the Canadian titles. Marlene's father, Harold Stewart, says Miss MacKenzie has been "a good friend" to the new champ.

A year ago Marlene defeated Miss MacKenzie in an early round of the Canadian championships in Winnipeg. The young star didn't go much beyond that in the 1950 contest, but the MacKenzie upset caused her to "begin taking the game seriously" for the first time.

Marlene doesn't think there's anything special about being Canadian champion with only three years' actual play behind her.

After all "The Babe's only been playing 13 years and look at what she's doing," was her comment.

See Similarity

She was referring to Babe Didrikson Zaharias, the Texas tomboy whose golfing feats have been making the news for 20 years.

While the girl from Fonthill says she hasn't ben trying to follow in the Babe's footsteps, there is a similarity in their sports careers.

The Babe, 39 now, was a baseball player before she took up golf. So was Marlene. The Babe played basketball in high school. So does Marlene.

However, for the moment, Marlene has no idea of turning to professional golf—like the Babe. She just wants to go on playing in tournaments.

Last week she packed her golf clubs for another season and headed into a heavy fourth year of high school.

Alberta has 60 textile factories with annual production of $9,100,-000.

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"Gentlemen, we'll have to raise taxes again—yesterday I saw a man still able to buy round steak!"

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Vitamin B Foods Abundant But Too Often Are Avoided

Last year, because the other boys ate white bread in their sandwiches as a compromise, Pete prevailed on me to let him use cracked wheat bread for his sandwiches (you see the whole wheat slices are smaller and awkward to handle). So he had his cracked wheat bread all winter. I firmly believe that that was the reason he had four colds last winter.

I have decided that whether we have an argument or not this school year, he takes whole wheat bread with added wheat germ in his lunches.

This is a straight lecture with no punches pulled, on the value of whole wheat and wheat germ. The above decision grew out of several pointed incidents.

Pete asked a casual question: "What good does Vitamin B do for you, mother?"

I dragged out the nutritional data chart and found under positive functions of Thiamin (a B Vitamin): "Essential for maintenance of good appetite, normal digestion and gastro-intestinal tonus. Necessary for growth, fertility, and lactation. Needed for normal functioning of nervous tissue . . ." Now that is only one of the B Vitamins. Covers a lot of territory, doesn't it?

Then I asked Pete why he wanted to know. He explained that when he was visiting Mrs. Bigger, Lyle (an overnight guest) said: "A fellow of your age, Pete, should not require so much sleep." (The day previously Pete had driven 700 miles through the mountain country in the State of Washington.)

Lyle added, "What you need is Vitamin B in your diet. Tell your mother to be sure it is included in your food." Pete mentally blew his top, but said civilly "If my mother knew that anyone thought that about me, she'd blow a fuse.'"

Now after all of that conversation by other people I am going to have my say—for the sake of the readers who eat for health and happiness.

Vitamins in the B group are abundant—but many of us avoid them like poison. Who wants whole wheat flour when they can make fancier products with white? Who wants brown unpolished rice when they can buy the lovely pure white grains? Who would eat the skin of a potato when white mashed potatoes are so delicious? I could keep on asking that type of question. We are spoiled and enslaved by the refined food habit, and a shining example of this is the large proportion of white bread sold compared to the whole grain products.

I want to address a tribute to ourr eaders who snapped up my recipe for whole wheat bread. They are the gals that are thinking and that are doing their duty by their families.

To make this lecture stick I will give you a few facts that I used as guides. To your cooked and dry cereals add anywhere from 1 to 4 tablespoons fresh wheat germ per serving. (I buy ours at a feed store for 10 cents per pound.) Use 100 per cent whole wheat bread with added wheat germ in place of any white bread. Use one-half whole wheat or graham flour in all of your drop cookie recipes.

Other Vitamin B foods are bacon and all cuts of pork, whole grain corn, soy flour, fresh heart, potatoes with skin, soy, lima and kidney beans, roasted peanuts with skins, oat and corn meal.

Two years have passed and gone.
Since the one I loved was called away.
God took him home, it was His will,
But in my heart he liveth still.
—Ever remembered by his housekeeper, Margaret Wilson.

Fisheries Treaty With Japanese

VANCOUVER, Sept. 10 (CP).—A Canadian delegation will probably go to Tokyo next month to open negotiations with Japan for a fisheries treaty, Fisheries Minister Mayhew said Sunday night.

In an interview on his return from the Japanese peace treaty conference in San Francisco, he said a three-way fisheries treaty among Canada, the United States and Japan is being prepared. The peace treaty required Japan to enter such an agreement.

Mr. Mayhew said "reasonable agreement" has been reached with Washington and that he had talked with Premier Yoshida of Japan at San Francisco.

Object of the treaty is to protect fish, particularly salmon and halibut, which Canada and the US propagate and conserve.

The Japanese will be asked to agree not to fish in territorial waters of Canada and the US.

Mr. Mayhew said many British Columbians had a wrong idea about Japanese fishing activities here before the war.

"They never fished in BC waters," he said.

Avoiding Accident Car Takes To Ditch

About $150 damge was done on Saturady afternoon to a car driven by John J. Weir, 687 Little St., when he swerved it into the ditch on Monaghan Road, to avoid colliding with another car. Weir was unhurt.

Driver of the other car, Robert Smith, 545 Steele Ave., had been driving west on Braidwood Ave., and stopped at Monaghan Road. A parked car obstructed his view of north-bound traffic, he said.

When he got into the intersection, he saw the Weir car coming north. He stopped. Weir swerved left and went into the west ditch.

Constable W. G. Scott investigated.

John Sanderson of Smith led Ray Allen of Douro and William Chamberlain of Otonabee.

All the clubs were represented. the Apsley forestry group of five members drove the 40 miles to Peterborough for the afternoon of athletics.

John Edmison was chairman of the sponsoring committee assisted by Glen Stark, Doug Armstrong, Ron Frankish, Keith McIntyre, Don Chambers. For an introductory event, everything went off smoothly. Report 23 Weekend Deaths Across Eastern Canada

By The Canadian Press

Nine persons of 23 who died violently in Eastern Canada during the weekend perished in one automobile smash near Drummondville in the eastern townships of Quebec.

A Canadian Press compilation early today showed that the street and highway death toll during the weekend was 20. One man died when fire destroyed his home, one man succumbed to carbon monoxide poisoning, and police said one man died from the effects of poison taken internally.

Fourteen deaths were reported from Quebec, eight from Ontario and one from Nova Scotia.

Of the nine who died near Drummondville, seven lay unconscious in a flaming car while police and motorists were kept back by the intense heat. The other two victims who, police said, had been drinking before the accident, were riding in a truck which smashed into the car. They were thrown clear.

Burned in the car were: Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Lemelin, 40 and 47, of St. Camile, Que., and their daughter, Noella, 4; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Filiaut, 25 and 23, of St. Camile; Mr. and Mrs. Gerard LeFebvre, 29 and 21, of Wotton, Que. In the truck were Benoit Gaudreau, 30, and Lionel Messier, 23, both of St. Hyacinthe, Que.

Hit-And-Run Accident

Near Maniwaki, Que., Charles Smith, 24, of nearby Iroquois Indian Reserve, was killed in what police termed a hit-and-run accident. Joseph Simard, 31-year-old taxi driver, was killed when his cab was struck by a train near Chicoutimi, Que., and Lionel Camercon, 36-year-old farmer, from St. Anselme, Que., was killed when his horse-drawn vehicle was struck by a car.

Montreal police said early today they are investigating the death by poison of Adam Davidson, 58, of suburban Cartierville. At Baie D'urfe, 12 miles west of Montreal, David G. Owen, 35, was burned to death when fire destroyed his home.

Near Smiths Falls, Eleanor Kerr, of Smiths Falls, died when a car missed a curve and overturned in a swamp. Doctors said she was drowned in foot-deep water.

Two Buffalo youths, Carl Hoerner, 16, and William Olsen, 17, died when they were trapped in a car which plunged into the Welland Canal near Port Colborne.

Andrew Bender, 73, was killed in a truck-car collision near Kitchener.

Killed when automobiles knocked them from their bicycles were: Charles Rathwell, 47-year-old deaf-mute, near Kinburn, Ont. and Hilda Alderton, 17, of West Lorne, Ont., near Wyoming, Ont.; Bobby Lee, 9, of Inglewood, Ont., near Ferndale, Ont.

In Woodstock, Percy L. McMillan, 62, succumbed to carbon monoxide poisoning while tinkering with his car in his garage.

101 Delegates Of 11 Dioceses Attend CWL Convention Report Extensive Work

One hundred and one official delegates have registered their attendance at the fourth annual convention of the Provincial Council of the Catholic Women's League, held in Peterborough this weekend, making it the largest convention of women in this city for some years. Attendance at the formal banquet Sunday evening in the Empress Hotel was 243. The convention luncheon and the communion breakfast were each attended by more than 100 women. Sunday convention mass, intention of "Preservation of Christian Education" was celebrated at Sacred Heart Church by the League's provincial director, Most Rev. Wm. J. Smith DD. Saturday mass, intention of "Our Holy Father" was celebrated by Bishop Gerald Berry.

A distance of 800 miles was travelled by the delegates from Hearst and Kapuskasing and the journey was long also for those from Timmins, Sault Ste. Marie and Fort William. President of the Soo Diocesan Council, Mrs. H. Carroll of Fort William, was named "Woman of the Day." It was after the account of activities in her district that the women united in a public tribute to a woman who has 14 living children, seven children dead, and yet has time for extensive work for the society.

An extremely wide range of activity appeared in reports covering the past year's work of League members throughout the entire province.

Contributions

They contribute to the needs of the churches in their districts; they give prizes for proficiency in study; donate to school libraries; show films related to health and religion; assist in the teaching of catechism and the transportation of children to summer schools of religion; sponsor discussion clubs and Girl Guide groups; assist new citizens; assist the Children's Aid Society and St. John's Ambulance Corps; help the needy, the sick and the shut-ins; help the Save-the-Children Fund and donate milk for school children. They provide musical instruments for school bands; give prizes for dramatic ability; donate to foreign missions; provide dental care and optical care, assist with public health nursing, cancer and tubercular clinics, and with work among crippled children; maintain parish blood banks; provide hockey supplies for boys; visit the sick and the aged in homes and institutions; keep vigilant watch over juveniles selling newspapers in beverage rooms and reading banned comics; supply readers for the blind and donate funds for the establishment of homes for adolescent girls in need of guidance.

To raise funds for these and many other worth-while activities they hold card parties, dances, bazaars, potluck suppers, strawberry socials, spaghetti suppers, rummage sales and teas.

Establishments

In brief summaries of activities which highlighted the past year, they spoke of the establishment of a Memorial Chapel at Hamilton and a home for girls; two individual scholarships granted by the Kingston diocesan League; a camp for girls sponsored by the Ottawa members; a scholarship for girls in the Peterborough diocese; such assorted activities as a Lay Retreat, a fashion show and the compilation of a cook book of members' favorite recipes, as outlined by Mrs. Carroll of the Soo, where also they have a 'Happy Handicap' Club, where shut-ins are entertained by League members once a month; a perpetual light burning before Our Lady's Altar at Sturgeon Falls and pre-natal study.

In the Timmins district in two years 70 women have raised $5,000 which has been turned over to the Catholic Cemetery Board. Mrs. Charette, of Haileybury, told of a house-to-house pilgrimage of the statue of Our Lady of Fatima, the statue remaining for 24 hours at each domicile. Here also an "Over-80" list is kept and mass offered for each octogenarian. An item of special interest was that Separate Schools in that diocese fly their flags at half mast on Good Friday.

Membership Totals

Total membership reported by secretary Mrs. M. F. McGlade was 34,282. Membership for each diocese is: Alexandria, 948; Hamilton, 3,450; Hearst, 207; Kingston, 5,200; London, 10,737; Ottawa, 2,471; Pembroke, 2,795; Peterborough, 2,173; Sault Ste. Marie, 2,373; Timmins, 474; Toronto, 3,454.

Treasurer Miss Anne Tierney reported total receipts of $3,284.79, expenditures of $1,525.51, leaving a balance of $,769.28.

Mr. W. A. Walker, of Toronto, national convener of finance, summarized the special funds to which contributions are made through Diocesan Counils of the province.

Recommends Budget

The Rev. J. E. Brennan, of Ottawa, diocesan director, recommended strongly setting up a budget by the Provincial Council, with a strict adherence to its provisions. He also asked that efforts be made to stimuate interest in the Bursary Fund, which suggestion was seconded by Miss Agnes Grant, of Peterborough, with unanimous support.

Literature Display

President Miss Catherine Toal spoke of the informative nature of a display of Catholic literature which formed a highlight of the convention. This included, among many other worth-while elements, a display of children's books; pamphlets from the Department of Health; information regarding Catholic books; copies of legislation on Citizenship; and a scrapbook outlining the history of the League in London diocese.

Mortuary Plaques

Discussion took place with regard to a suggested plaque for mortuary purposes. This will be used at funerals as a reminder that the deceased was a member of the Catholic Women's League. It would bear the League crest, and could be purchased and distributed at a cost of about $2.00 each. The council decided to order 200 of these plaques.

Communion Banner

It was also decided to have a communion banner to be displayed on communion Sunday by all divisions, the banner to be two by three feet in size, carried out in the league colors with a blue CWL crest on gold background with a central design in a gold-rayed cross of blue on a white background, surrounded by autumn leaves. A gold fringe may be added at will. Blue lettering will carry out the sub-division name.

Mrs. W. A. Walker, of Toronto, past provincial president, reported on the Canadian Consumers' Association. She advised the women to be vigilant for faulty workmanship in ready-made garments. Supporting her admonition that the CAC should not be confused with organizations tinged with Communism, His Excellency Bishop Smith added a warning as to the danger of being taken in by high-sounding titles. "To some people the word peace means quite the opposite to the significance we would attach to it, just as does the word democracy."

Schools In France Get More Funds

PARIS, Sept. 10 (CP)—France's national asembly voted 322 to 251 today to grant increased funds to Roman Catholic schools.

The vote was a victory for Premier Rene Pleven's coalition cabinet. Last month a bill providing 850,000,000 francs (about $24,000,000) in scholarships for children in both public and private schools was adopted, sponsored by the cabinet.

The bill adopted today was a new kind of family allowance and the government won a preliminary test vote on it, 311 to 282.

On Saturday the government announced boosts in the national minimum wage, family allowances and old age pensions. It also announced prices for electricity and steel are going up about 10 per cent.

The national minimum wage was raised from 87 francs (about 25 cents) to 100 francs an hour for Paris and the other big cities, with proportionate increases for country areas.

The family allowances are to go up in the same proportion as the basic wage. Pensions will rise by 15 per cent.

Peron Warns Press To Abandon Freedom

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 10 — (AP)—President Peron told the Argentine National Press Congress Saturday its policies would coincide with his own if the congress accepts the "justicialist" concept for abandonment of absolute freedom of the press.

(Justicialist is derived from Justicia, the Spanish word for justice.)

The president attended the closed final session of the first national congress of newspaper men. It adopted a resolution recommending that domestic news served to Argentine newspapers should be handled by Argentine news agencies.

Peron said justicialism "definitely abandoned the old conception of absolute freedom because it believes absolute freedom is the best road toward abuse of freedom which leads to exploitation by a few in the face of weakness of the overwhelming majority of the people."

Maritimes Oppose Freight Equalization

HALIFAX, Sept. 10 (CP)—The Halifax Chronicle-Herald said in a newspage story today a proposal by Canadian railways for equalization of freight rates across the country would approximately double present rates in the Maritimes.

The newspaper quoted Rand H. Matheson, manager of the Maritime Transportation Commission, as saying that the MTC contends equalization of freight rates as proposed by the railways is "impossible of achievement."

Mr. Matheson said the equalization plan will be opposed on behalf of the Maritime provinces at public hearings on the general freight-rates investigation in Ottawa today.

Hope Army Bill Passed Quickly

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10—(AP) — A record $61,103,836,030 military Spending Bill came up for action in the Senate today. No opposition was in sight, and leaders hoped for final passage by nightfall.

The giant sum— which figures out to about $400 to eacn man, woman and child in the United States— is designed to provide more of the guns, tanks and aircraft which administration leaders say is the best guarantee of world peace.

Especially, the bill carries more money for planes, and includes a directive to build up the air force to a strength of 95 wings.

The Senate Appropriations Committee, which approved the measure Friday added a special fund of $5,000,000,000 for navy and air force aviation.

Also in the measure is an unspecified amount to be spent on new weapons which the President has called "fantastic" and which various Senators have termed "stupendous," "startling," "amazing" and "beyond imagination."

85,000 Parcels Being Held Up

BERLIN, Sept. 10 (Reuters).—More than 85,000 parcels addressed to West Germany were piled up here today because of a week-old East German restriction on Berlin's traffic to the west.

East German police have refused to allow west-bound mail cars to cross the inter-zonal border at Marienborn. They claim that some of the cars are so overloaded that it is impossible to check them properly.

This restriction is being imposed at the same time as the tax on vehicles using the Autobahn between West Germany and the western zone of Berlin.

Allied sources said today the West Berlin authorities have protested to the western powers against the hold-up of mail cars.

The three western Allies today were still waiting a reply to their protest Friday against "continued interference with normal trade and communication between West Berlin and West Germany."

Russia Now Claims War Tank Invention

LONDON, Sept. 10 (Reuters)—Russia invented the war tank and started armor production, the Soviet newspaper Pravda claimed Sunday. The paper said a Russian inventor worked out the principle of armored, tread-laying machines in 1837, and the first tank was built in 1887.

(Actually, the tank is the result of development by many inventors working step by step from the Assyrian war chariot of 3500 BC. Italian, British, French—and later American and Argentine—inventors added refinements until 1914 when Lt.-Col. E. D. Swinton of the British army suggested an armored car built on Holt caterpillar treads to span trenches.)

Turpin Promises Fireworks For Robinson

By MURRAY ROSE.

GROSSINGER, NY, Sept. 10 — (AP).—If Sugar Ray Robinson intends to come out swinging against middleweight champion Randy Turpin on Wednesday night, there will be plenty of early fireworks at the Polo Grounds.

"I shall be ready to meet him if he does 'that'" said the cool, superbly-co[illegible]ed Briton who rarely takes a backward step. "I feel confident of winning."

Robinson apparently has every intention of ending the 15-rounder as quickly as possible. In most of his training manoeuvres, he has been firing from a flat-footed stance and with plenty of power.

A close friend of Sugar Ray said "he's going to get that guy quick or they're going to have to carry Ray out of there. He wants that title back more than anything else in the world."

"Robinson had better get him early, if he's ever going to get him," said Barney Ross, the former welterweight champion who has watched most of Turpin's workouts in this Catskill Mountains resort.

In Wonderful Condition

"This kid is in wonderful condition," said Ross, after the sturdy 23-year-old invader boxed nine rounds Sunday. "He coasted all the way, didn't take a deep breath and sweated freely. He looks good to me. I give Robinson a chance in the first five rounds. If it goes beyond five rounds, this kid will climb all over him. I give him a chance to stop Ray."

In what was announced as his final boxing workout—Randy could change his mind — Turpin sparred three rounds each with Zack Hobbs, Bill Dockery and Eddie Phillips. He kept on top of them all the way in a workout, devoting most of his efforts to blocking and slipping punches. His muscular forearms seemed to be everywhere. Few blows got through his tight guard.

A few left hooks to the head did get through, and that's Sugar Ray's specialty. And the ex-champ will be bombing with six-ounce gloves on Wednesday.

Riders Down Alouettes Twice; Tiger-Cats Win

By The Canadian Press.

Ottawa Rough Riders swept both ends of a Big Four home-and-home series over Montreal Alouettes 13-9 and 33-8 during the weekend to take second place in the league, while Hamilton Tiger-Cats were swamping Toronto Argonauts 21-2 to stay in first place.

In the west, a brilliant 90-yard run by Calgary's Dave West gave the Stampeders their initial Western Interprovincial Union victory as they downed Saskatchewan Roughriders 9-7. Edmonton Eskimos took first place in the western league by battering Winnipeg Blue Bombers 35-19.

Saturday's Big Four game in Ottawa was turned into a see-saw contest which saw the Riders pop two touchdown passes to edge the Alouettes.

But Sunday in Montreal the Roughies walked all over the Montrealers. They scored five touchdowns and a field goal.

Custis Sparkplug

Tiger-Cats' Negro quarterback, Bernie Custis, sparked his team's win over Argos in Toronto by tossing three touchdown passes. It was a hard-fought game, and players of both teams suffered injuries that will keep them on the sidelines for two or three weeks.

Ulysses Curtis, Argos' speedy half, suffered a torn rib cartilege and outside wing Jack Gray of Argos a shoulder separation. Hamilton's first-string snap, Jake Gaudaur, aggravated a back injury and had to be brought back to Hamilton by ambulance.

Four touchdowns contributed Saturday to Sarnia Imperials' second successive victory in the Ontario Rugby Football Union as they rolled up an impressive 28-1 victory over Windsor Royals.

The Royals were outgunned and outmanoeuvred as the Imperials made 23 first downs to the Royals' six, and completed nine of 17 passes thrown as against one completed and 12 attempted by the Royals.

Imports Star

Imports did some impressive ball-handling in Saturday's Argo-Hamilton game. Slippery Custis tossed a 45-yard touchdown pass for the Cats to Hal Waggoner, and a 25-yard skimmer that was good for a major to Joe Shinn.

And in the first Rider-Alouette game, Alton Baldwin, a top-rated import fromm Green Bay Packers took both Ottawa touchdown passes. Big Bob Gain, all-American tackle last year with Kentucky University, kicked the two converts.

The second Rider-Alouette contest turned into a ground battle as Ottawa registered five touchdowns, four converts, a field goal and a rouge and held the Montrealers to a touchdown, a convert and two singles.

Montreal's highly-rated quarterback, George Ratterman, who came from New York Yankees, didn't put on as good a show as did Ottawa's Tom O'Malley. During the weekend Ratterman completed only 14 of 43 passes thrown while O'Malley registered with 12 in 20 tries.

Port Hope Reaches Juvenile Finals

PORT HOPE, Sept. 10 — Port Hope Legion Beavers advanced to the final of the Lake Shore Baseball League Juvenile A play-off Saturday afternoon when they took both ends of a double-header from Oshawa UAWA, 15-4 and 6-3. Port Hope swept the best-of-five series in straight games.

Karl Lenahan and Roger Lees shared the Port Hope pitching chores in the first game, limiting Oshawa to four hits while their team mates pounded Doug Laurence and Herb McGillis for nine safeties, led by Bob McDerment and Lenahan with two hits each.

Mike Harrison was the winning pitcher in the second game, giving up but five hits. Tom Brodie hurled well for Oshawa as he held the Port Hopers to six safeties. Four walks and two hits in the first inning beat him, however, as five runs crossed the plate. McDerment and Lenahan again led the Port Hope hit parade with two safeties each.

Jack O'Connor and Gordie Sharer each clouted a triple for Oshawa.

Hastings Victors As Madoc Ousted

HASTINGS, Sept. 10 (ENS)—Hastings Juniors came out zone winners Saturday as they defeated Madoc 10-6 in a 13-inning thriller at Tweed Park. West went all the way for the winners and got stronger as he went along, fanning 11 and giving up 11 hits over the distance.

Hastings took a lead in the third, added two more in the fourth and another pair next inning to lead 5-0. However, in the bottom of the fifth, Madoc scored then drove in three more in the sixth and in the eighth tied it up.

For four innings both teams worked hard to break the deadlock, with Hastings threatening in the 11th and 12th, but the lucky 13th turned the trick.

Wilson, first man up started it off with a homer and when the third man was out five runs had crossed the plate. Madoc countered with one in their half and bowed out of the playdowns. Morrow clouted a homer for the winners in the fourth to drive West in ahead of him.

George Bevan, 18, of Winnipeg, won a three-mile match swim at the Canadian National Exhibition Saturday, beating out Gerry Kerschner, 28, of Toronto, by less than an arm's length.

The match was arranged after Bevan, who set a five-mile course record during the world championship 10-mile swim held earlier at the CNE, was beaten out during the last two miles by Kerschner, winner of the swim.

"Savings play a vital part in the battle against inflation"

... says Emerson Creed, Financial Editor, The London Free Press

"Can inflation be checked?

"Every one of us is concerned with the answer to this vital question. Today's all-time high costs of goods and services affect the living standards of people in all walks of life; and those living on fixed incomes are especially hard hit.

"In addition to weakening our economy, inflation threatens our defence programme.

"Therefore every known method of controlling rising prices must be applied with vigour.

"Government measures such as increased taxes, credit restrictions and reduced non-defence spending are necessary, if unpopular. Of course, business and industry must co-operate — especially by increasing productivity. The average man might feel that any control he alone can exert is insignificant. But the individual can and should help by doing his utmost to save money.

"Every dollar he saves—through bank deposits, savings bonds or life insurance—plays a part in helping to stem the tide of inflation. And at the same time, it brings the saver important personal benefits.

"These benefits need no reviewing. But it may be pointed out that nothing has changed their importance even though there are many demands and temptations to use income for other purposes. Nor has anything supplanted saving as the one method most people have of obtaining many of the things they want and need most.

"All in all, there are more reasons for personal savings today than ever before."

Young Actresses Win Notice On Broadway

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK, Sept. 10—(AP)—A new Broadway season of high dramatic and financial hopes, in which some hundred shows will try for gold and glory, was launched this week with a pair of hopeful young actresses winning the early applause.

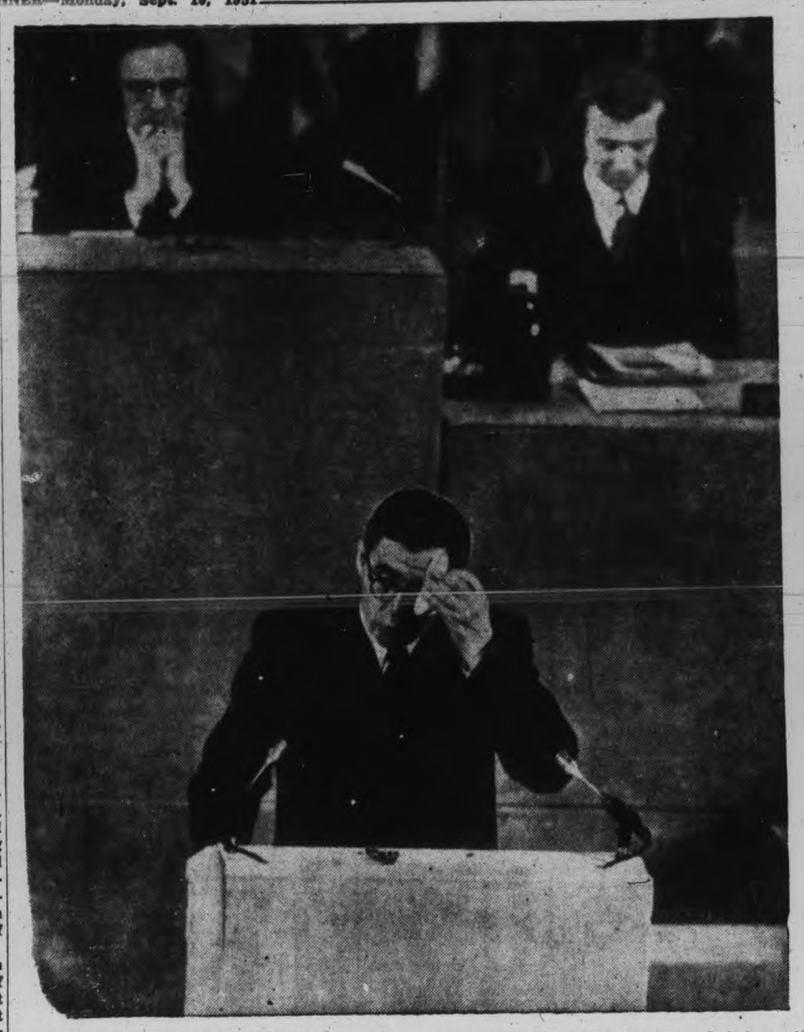
"Lace On Her Petticoat" by the English playwright Aimee Stuart was the lone opening-week entry at the Booth theatre. It was a well-meaning effort, with a tendency to get melodramatically out of hand at the finish—concerned with the prejudices of social caste in the Scotland of 1890. But it brought out for a hearty welcome two sub-teen girls. Perlita Neilson and Patsy Bruder, who could teach many elder performers some fine points of acting ability.

For the three-act comedy, the pair of young blondes share scene-stealing honors as Perlita takes the role of the rich tot from the castle who finds friendship with Patsy, the daughter of the working classes.

Romantic Side

There's also a romantic side-plot involving Neva Patterson, the young widow mother, and Jeff Morrow, the free-speaking man of the masses. The third main adult role is taken by Muriel Aked. Miss Aked and the Neilson youngster both performed in the earlier London production of "Lace On Her Petticoat."

A couple of more entries reach Broadway with another revival of "Diamond Lil" and the next night "Bagels and Yox" will bow in at the Holiday. "Bagels" is tabbed as a Yiddish vaudeville revue played in English.



RUSSIA'S ANDREI GROMYKO wipes his brow but doesn't miss a syllable during his hour-long attack on the Japanese peace treaty which Britain and the United States have invited 50 other nations to sign at San Francisco. Behind Gromyko are conference vice-president Percy Spender (left), of Australia, and conference technician John W. Foley, jr.

Cavan Twp. To Ask Bylaw Be Enforced

MILLBROOK, Sept. 10 (ENS)—Complaints of Mount Pleasant residents about the condition of the wrecking yard in their village brought a motion from Cavan township council, asking the United Counties council to enforce the wrecking yard bylaw.

Motion was made by Councillors McKnight and Bradburn, who suggested that the reeve and the deputy reeve " back this resolution at county council."

Court of revision for Cavan township will be held October 3 at 10 a.m. Council named Robert Armstrong, a former reeve of the township, to the county court of revision.

Accounts totalling $1,923.72 were ordered paid. Larger items were $1,554.62 for road vouchers and pay sheets, $185 for the clerk-treasurer's salary, and $60 for relief. The usual grant of $10 was made to the Durham County 500 Bushel Potato Club.

Princess Trained From Childhood For Queenship

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA — (CP)—Princess Elizabeth is destined to become the sixth reigning Queen of Britain since the Norman conquest.

By custom and protocol, she is officially designated as the heiress presumptive—rather than heiress apparent—to the throne because tradition dictates that it never must be assumed that a male heir shall not be born to the King and Queen.

The Princess dedicated her life to the Commonwealth on her 21st birthday, while touring South Africa with the King and Queen.

Recalling the "knightly" dedications of "bygone heirs to the throne," she declared in a broadcast address that her whole life would be "devoted to your service and the service of our great imperial family . . ."

Her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, has no place in the order of succession. He would become the Prince Consort as the husband of Britain's Queen. The last Prince Consort was the courtly, handsome German, Prince Albert, husband of Queen Victoria, the great-great grandmother both of Elizabeth and Philip.

The Queens of Britain since the Norman conquest of 1066, with the periods in which they reigned, were: Jane, 1553 (14 days); Mary I, 1553-58; Elizabeth, 1558-1603; Mary II, 1689-94; Anne, 1702-14; Victoria, 1837-1901.

Goes To Prince Charles

From Princess Elizabeth, the line of succession now goes to her son, Prince Charles, 2, and her daughter, Princess Anne, 1. Next in line is Princess Elizabeth's younger sister, 21-year-old Margaret Rose.

The order of succession then is: the Duke of Gloucester, 49, the King's brother, and his sons—Prince William, 9, and Prince Richard, 7; the Duke of Kent, 15, the King's nephew, and his brother, Prince Michael, 7, and his sister, Princess Alexandria, 14; the Princess Royal, the King's sister, and her children—the Earl of Harewood, 28.

From there, it goes through the families of the sons and daughters of Queen Victoria.

Renounced Rights

The Duke of Windsor, the former King Edward VIII the King's older brother, renounced the right of succession for his descendants when he abdicated in December, 1936.

Two fateful events early destined Elizabeth to be Britain's first reigning Queen since Victoria, who ascended the throne nearly a century before Elizabeth's birth.

One was Edward's abdication, an act which put Elizabeth's father on the throne.

The other event was the birth of Margaret Rose. The fact that this only other child of the King and Queen was a girl secured Elizabeth's position—a brother would have taken her place in line for the crown.

Pledge Broadcast

Elizabeth's pledge of faith to the Commonwealth came early in 1947 as she reached 21, the legal age of maturity. In a birthday broadcast to the Commonwealth, she gave this undertaking:

"There is a motto which has been borne by many of my ancestors—a noble motto—'I Serve.' Those words were an inspiration to many bygone heirs to the throne when they made their knightly dedication as they came to manhood.

"I cannot do quite as they did, but through the inventions of science I can do what was not possible for any of them. I can make my solemn act of dedication with a whole empire listening.

"I declare before you all that my whole life, whether it be long or short, shall be devoted to your service and the service of our great imperial family to which we all belong. But I shall not have the strength to carry out this resolution alone unless you join in it with me as I now invite you to do. I know that your support will be unfailingly given.

"God help me to make good my vow, and God bless all of you who are willing to share in it."

Alexis Smith No Longer Cold, Statuesque

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 10 (AP)—Alexis Smith, 30-year-old-Canadian-born actress, was dignified once but that was before Bing Crosby taught her how to wrestle.

In fact, Alexis, a native of Penticton, BC, was so dignified that for years she was one of the screen's steadiest working cold, statuesque blondes.

"What a rut," she confided. "It got so bad that I used to feel like grabbing people by the arm and shouting: 'Hey, I'm really not cold and statuesque.' "

Then her agent heard that Frank Capra wanted a sexy blonde for a new Crosby picture "Here Comes the Groom." The agent told her to dress as sexily as possible for a 9 a.m. interview.

"I would have worn a negligee if I had owned one," said Alexis, "but then I decided no one could look sexy at 9 o'clock in the morning and showed up in a sexless suit."

Needed Heiress

She got the role because Capra was looking for someone to play a stuffy back bay Boston heiress. But that's only the beginning. Crosby humanizes her in the picture by teaching her how to wrestle.

From then on, a new Alexis emerges on the screen—a sort of combination Mae West and Betty Hutton.

But Hollywood is a crazy place. A producer for another studio saw the preview of the new Alexis and told her:

"You were a howl. I couldn't believe it was you on the screen. I'm sending you a script to read. I want you in my picture."

Alexis read the script and turned it down. Why?

"He wanted me to play another cold, statuesque blonde."

Dozens of Irving Berlin Songs Help Swell Funds For Charities

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP) — "Don't get me wrong," said Irving Berlin. "I'm not knocking money. But I'm more impressed with accomplishment."

Money or accomplishment, the 63-year-old composer can find satisfaction in either direction. He has written more than 800 songs, dozens of which have engraved themselves into American culture as permanent hits.

This has earned Berlin a fortune and has made more than $10,000,000 for others as well.

That much has been earned by music which Berlin turned over to various charitable organizations.

Thirteen years ago, when Kate Smith introduced "God Bless America" over the air, Berlin gave it away, with all its royalty rights, to a youth fund he set up. Since then, that patriotic ballad has earned $194,000.

That's Small Stuff

But that's small stuff, in the Berlin book of philanthropy.

The biggest single item is "This is the Army," the morale-pumping Berlin musical which opened on Broadway in 1942, played all over the world for three years and then was converted into a movie.

All the income from that one show was assigned to the Army Emergency Relief Fund. Since the opening night in 1942, "This is the Army" has earned, from all sources, $9,555,586.44, plus $350,000 for British charities.

Berlin provided the exact figure because he's justly proud of it. No other single show-business venture ever brought charity more money, he pointed out.

Here's a list of other Berlin songs and the amounts they've earned for various organizations: "I Threw a Kiss in the Ocean," $19,000 for Navy relief; "Arms for the Love of America," $3,000 for Army Ordnance personnel; "Any Bonds Today," published non-commercially for the Treasury Department but its recordings earned $6,000 for Ordnance personnel; "Angels of Mercy," $9,600 for the Red Cross; "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor," $3,000 for "The God Bless America Fund."

POOR REWARD

The great 17th century Dutch painter Rembrandt died neglected and in poverty in 1669.

Slick Arson Plot Backfires In Big Explosion

NEW YORK, Sept. 11. (AP)—A furtive, drawn-out plot to burn a small clothing firm to collect $20,000 insurance backfired today into triple arrests after two men died in a thunderous, $1,000,000 blast and fire. The victims were a New York City detective and one of the alleged arsonists he had trailed into a nine-storey Manhattan business building Monday night. The structure was wrecked when 55 gallons of gasoline blew up. Another detective was blown through a wall, and a second accused "torch" was thrown five storeys down an elevator shaft, landing in the basement atop an elevator car. Both were seriously hurt.

The terrific explosion, which police said fumbling arsonists had planned as only a minor one, shattered windows for blocks around. The fire raged out of control for more than three hours.

Those Charged

Charged with homicide and arson were Al Keshner, 42-year-old president of a sports coat firm on the building's fifth floor, and two alleged hirelings, Jack Weiss, 67, and Jake Mayron, 59.

The other alleged arsonist—named as the man who set off the fuse and who died in the ensuing holocaust—was Moe Shapiro.

Assistant District Attorney Al Herman said Keshner admitted that discouragement over loss of an account had led him to hire the gang for $1,350 to burn his plant so he could collect the insurance.

"It's one of the most unusual crimes I've seen," said Detective Chief Conrad Rothengast.

Detectives, who had been watching the four men for 40 days, said an open drum had been filled with gasoline—far too much for burning Keshner's plant—and a fuse of cord strung out some distance from the drum.

The four men were seen entering the building. When Keshner and Mayron emerged, they were arrested. Two other detectives, Howard Phelan and James Daggett, slipped along the corridors, watching the others.

Then came the blast.

The charred bodies of Daggett and Shapiro were recovered later.

The explosion—on west 18th Street just off Fifth Avenue—shook a large area. Damage to the building, its contents and the surrounding area may exceed $1,000,000, fire officials said. Thirty-five pieces of fire apparatus responded to five alarms.

Tackle Problem Keeping Down World Prices

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—State Secretary Dean Acheson and the British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison, today tackled the problem of how to keep the mounting world prices from hampering the western arms buildup.

They opened a second round of British - American talks in the Big Three foreign ministers conference at 10:30 am EDT. It was devoted to economic and Far Eastern problems.

Diplomats said Morrison intended to tell Acheson that rising prices for imports burned Britain as much as the arms budget and that stabilization was the most urgent need facing the west.

French Foreign Minister Schuman was to see Acheson later.

Both he and the British Foreign Secretary had these problems in their little black bags:

What to do in Korea if ceasefire talks collapse for good (with a query from Acheson if Britain, France and others can't contribute more troops)?

How to keep mounting world prices from stifling the west's arms buildup?

Other Hot Spots

How to deal with anti-French independence movements in Moroco and Indo-China (both strategic spots in the fight against Communism)?

Hugh Gaitskell, Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer, who has been telling other US officials the same story in economic conferences in recent days, was expected to be called in. He has sought reassurances that Britain can get needed steel from the United States, estimated by Britain at some 800,000 tons in the next year.

What further economic measures are proposed have not been indicated, beyond some means of strengthening the effort already being made by the International Materials Conference to divide scarce raw materials among the principal western consumers without boosting prices. Gaitskell has indicated Britain will not ask new American financial aid at this time. Some sort of international price stabilization appears to be the British aim.

Montez Funeral Draws Crowds

PARIS, Sept. 11 (Reuters).—French stage and screen celebrities thronged to the funeral today of Maria Montez, glamorous film star who died last week in a hot-bath treatment she was taking to lose weight.

Outside the fashionable Roman Catholic Church of St. Pierre de Chaillot in downtown Paris, a crowd of more than 1,000, many weeping, gathered to pay homage to the sultry star of many a movie of Arabian nights splendor.

The 31-year-old actress' husband, French actor Jean-Pierre Aumont, entered the church leaning heavily on the arm of a relative.

Among the mourners were George Bidault, vice-premier of France, fashion designer Jacques Fath and one-time world boxing champion Georges Carpentier.

The coffin was almost hidden by two huge wreaths, one from Raphael I. Trujillo-Molina, the Dominican ambassador to France, bearing the words, "To Maria," and the second from his family. Miss Montez was born in the Dominican republic.

Report Weimar City In Emergency State

BERLIN, Sept. 11 (AP).—The anti - Communist West Berlin newspaper Telegraf claims today that the city of Weimar in the Russian zone had been placed under a state of emergency after 18 persons, mostly women and girls, had been attacked and slain by Soviet occupation troops.

The Telegraf's story, datelined Weimar, was not confirmed.

The newspaper says that "eye-witness accounts" placed the blame for the slayings on Soviet Mongolian troops belonging to punishment companies stationed near Weimar.

The Telegraf claims that the women were also raped and that some had been mutilated. It said that one victim was a sister in an order of the Evangelical Church.

King Cuts Holiday On Orders

Returns To London As Lung Condition Reported To Be Worse

LONDON, Sept. 11. (Reuters)—The King will cut short his Scottish vacation at Balmoral Castle and come to London at the end of this week for further treatment for his lung condition.

The King has already interrupted his stay once, when, last Saturday, he flew to London to visit a radiologist.

The day of the King's return has not been decided.

Accompanied By Queen

It was thought likely the Queen will accompany him on his return to Buckingham Palace.

The journey is being made at the advice of the King's doctors, a Buckingham Palace announcement said.

The lung condition is believed due to the catarrhal inflammation of the lung from which the King suffered in the summer.

The King and Queen are scheduled to embark on an Australian tour next January.

Steel Prospects Shock Wilson

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—Defence Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson, declaring himself "shocked" at this winter's steel prospects, today rejected the steel industry's production forecast and demanded at least a 1,000,000-ton increase in the first quarter of 1952.

Wilson called for an extra 2,000,000 tons in the second quarter of next year—plus stepped-up scrap collection to make it possible and asserted:

"This is simply a question of the security of America."

He told a meeting of scrap experts from industry and government that the mobilization program "cannot wait" for the steel industry to attain its goals "in some future quarter a year or two hence."

One Burned Fatally In Liberty Ship Fire

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11 —(AP)—One man was burned fatally and three others were injured in an explosion and fire on a Liberty ship undergoing repairs at a northeast Philadelphia yard Monday night.

One of the injured men was reported in critical condition.

The dead man was identified as Vincent P. McGuire, 25. In critical condition was Harry Rebel, Jr., 21.

Also hurt in the explosion and fire were Ulysses E. Sapp, 30, and George Ackley, 22.

The blast ripped through the forward hold of the SS Charles A. Keifer at the Pennsylvania Drydock and Shipbuilding Company yards.

Firemen said the blaze may have been caused by a short circuit in the spraying machinery, the lighting of a match or a spark.

HALIFAX, Sept. 11 (CP). — Agents for the Panamanian freighter Shahreza said today one man was lost overboard and five others were seriously injured when a hurricane hit the 4,500-ton vessel on a voyage from Trinidad to Port Alfred, Que.

The RCAF said the freighter has asked the United States coast guard for medical assistance for the injured men.

Saugenay Terminals Limited, the freighter's agents, said the ship is about 750 miles northeast of Bermuda, heading for Halifax. It was possible it would go to Sydney, NS, instead.

Scientist Has New Discovery

May Double World's Food Through Isolation Of Acids

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 11 (AP)—Someday the world's food supply may be almost doubled through the chemical isolation of amino acids, the world famous discoverer of vitamins A and D said Monday.

And because one of the greatest problems facing the world is a limited food supply in the face of a constantly-rising population, the work of Dr. Elmer V. McCollum is regarded as of outstanding significance.

The Johns Hopkins University professor emeritus of biochemistry is being honored here at a two-day international symposium on vitamins.

At an interview between sessions of the symposium, Dr. McCollum said he is working on a separation of amino acids in pure form from protein substances.

When combined properly with protein foods, certain amino acids permit the body to use nearly twice as much of the proteins as previously — in effect virtually cutting in half the necessary amount of food required.

At present, however, pure amino acids, priced at between $250 and $1,500 per pound, are available only in small amounts. And only six of the 23 known varieties can be separated.

Besides trying to separate these acids, Dr. McCollum's research is aimed at finding ways of providing them at reasonable prices in large quantities.

Dr. McCollum also spoke of the possibilities of using amino acids to increase the world's supply of fresh meat. He pointed out that only about 25 per cent of the corn fed to a hog becomes meat and bone.

With the addition of small amounts of certain amino acids it might be possible to increase this food utilization to 35 per cent, thus adding 10 per cent to the supply of pork, McCollum said.

The "Haven" is a playground complete with swings, teeter-totters and sandpiles and popular candy. The project is the brain-child of Capt. Train Makes Freedom Dash

HOF, GERMANY, Sept. 11. (AP)—A Czech locomotive engineer made a successful dash today across the border to the freedom of west Germany, bringing with him 107 passengers in three train cars. The train was en route from Eger in Czechoslovakia to Asch near the west German border. When the train neared Asch, it detoured on another track so that it could continue to Selb-Ploeszberg, west German border station. The locomotive engineer told surprised west German border police that he wanted to stay in west Germany along with 20 of the 107 passengers.

The engineer said the other passengers except for the 20 wanted to go back to Czechoslovakia.

West German and Czech authorities conferred soon afterwards in an effort to arrange for a new engineer to come over the frontier and return the "fugutive" train.

It was the most unusual political escape in the iron curtain's history.

Most refugees slip across the frontier clandestinely on foot. A few have dashed over in stolen planes.

Selb-ploeszberg is approximately 25 miles southeast of Hof.

The engineer and his passengers remained in the railroad station while border police held their conference.

The train consisted of a locomotive, three express passenger cars and a baggage car.

Expect Japanese To Begin Overseas Territory Drive

TOKYO, Sept. 11. (Reuters)—An overriding consideration in Japan's post-treaty policies is likely to be her need and desire for recovery of overseas territory. Japan has accepted the San Francisco treaty and its restrictions as an essential step towards full recovery of her sovereignty. There is, however, a growing belief here that neither the occupation nor the treaty has essentially changed Japan's urge towards expansion. Americans in Tokyo consistently express their belief in the complete democratization of Japan.

Considerable doubt has remained among other westerners here as to whether the occupation powers' precepts have really penetrated so far.

Recent expressions of Japanese opinion have been taken here as suggesting that Japan's tendency towards authoritarianism has not been greatly weakened and that Japan's former leaders—as they reappear with the relief of post-war restrictions—will show themselves still convinced of Japan's need for an empire.

Designed Policy

The quiet and humility of the Japanese representatives of San Francisco was a reflection of designed policy. Authoritative Japanese sources admitted that before San Francisco every possible care was taken to avoid raising any issues which might delay the treaty.

But the week immediately before San Francisco, comment became more bold.

There was open talk of "asphyxiation" of the Japanese people if they must be confined in their small home islands. There was openly-expressed resentment at the loss particularly of the northern possessions now held by the Soviet Union.

Just as traders elsewhere were expressing fears of Japanese economic competition, the Japanese expressed fears that outside restrictions and economic discrimination might prevent the full—and vitally necessary—expansion of their world trade.

There is one hard fact in the situation—the Japanese population.

A century back, Japan had a population of 31,500,000 in her home islands. The land area available to this population was nearly 136,000 square miles.

Today, Japan is back in this same restricted territory but with a population exceeding 84,000,000 and growing at the rate of about 100,800 net each month.

Mother Dead As Child Born

HAMILTON, Sept. 11 (CP)—A baby girl was born at Hamilton General hospital Monday, minutes after the child's mother had died as a result of a broken neck. The little girl—three and one-half months premature—has not yet been weighed but is holding her own at hospital today.

Mrs. Arthur Tew of Galt, suffered a broken neck last week when she fell down a flight of stairs at her farm home. The woman was rushed to Hamilton General hospital Sept. 10.

Doctors constantly attended the woman for fear that mother and child might both die.

Monday when Mrs. Tew took a turn for the worse, Dr. L. E. Lotimer prepared to deliver the child by surgery. A few minutes after Mrs. Tew succumbed the child was delivered.

Watson Hurt In Hospital

KINGSTON, Sept. 11 (CP) — Whipper Billy Watson, billed as the British Empire heavyweight wrestling champion, was resting comfortably" in Kingston general hospital today after being taken there Monday night in a semi-coma.

Watson, whose real name is William Potts, had been wrestling Lord Athol Layton in the main bout of a regular weekly wrestling card here.

At the end of a no-fall contest, the referee called it a draw and as he lifted one of Watson's arms, Layton slashed Watson across the throat with his forearm and hand.

Watson slumped to the canvas and after he failed to revive in his dressing room, he was taken to hospital.

Hospital attendants said they expect to release Watson today.

Tanker Fire Report Hoax--Coast Guard

KEY WEST, Fla., Sept. 11 (AP).—The Coast Guard said today the report that the 10,000-ton tanker Gulfray was afire off Key West "has been evaluated as a hoax."

Coast Guard air - sea rescue headquarters said the commander of the cutter Androscogban talked with the tanker during an extensive search by planes and surface craft.

The tanker's master said he had not radioed for assistance and that the Gulfray was not on fire, the Androscoggan reported.

The Coast Guard promptly called off the search.

Two planes, the cutter Androscogban, and two surface craft had been sent to aid the tanker after interception of an SOS at 4:15 am EDT.

Monday Strafing By Allies Radar Check Reveals, Other Red Charges Denied

Communists Reject Ridgway Suggestions Conference Be Held At Some Other Site In Neutral Section

TOKYO, Sept. 12. (Wednesday)—(AP)—The United Nations command acknowledged Monday night that an Allied plane mistakenly strafed the Kaesong neutral zone Monday. The Communists had not yet replied, but instead early today broadcast an official message rejecting Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's suggestion that Korean truce talks be moved to some other site. The Communist message, broadcast by the Peiping radio in the names of North Korea, Gen. Kim Il sung and Chinese Red Gen. Peng Teh-huai, said Ridgway's proposal to move was "completely unsatisfactory and unacceptable."

The message told Ridgway "these efforts of yours are futile" and then repeated all the old Red accusations that the Allies were "obstructing" the now-suspended armistice talks and had repeatedly violated Kaesong's neutrality.

The latest Red complaint was that an allied plane machine-gunned Kaesong before dawn on Monday.

Previous Red accusations have been dismissed as falsehoods and frameups.

Found To Be True

The Monday strafing, however, was found to be true.

A message being sent to the Reds today through Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, chief allied truce negotiator, says:

"The United Nations command regrets this violation of the agreed neutrality which resulted from the pilot's error in navigation. Appropriate disciplinary action is being initiated."

The allied reply notes that no casualties were inflicted and only slight damage was caused.

This is the first time the UN command has admitted any basis to Red charges of neutrality-zone violation. The strafing charge was the 11th by the Reds.

The allies have denied or ignored all previous charges.

The UN command statement said a plane detected by allied radar in the Kaesong area at the time of the Red-report strafing turned out to be a US bomber.

Strafed Lights

"Continuing radar plot including a directed identification turn and subsequent transmission indicates plane was one from third bomb group. The pilot reports having strafed lights at 1:36 a.m. in what he believed to be a different area but which in view of the radar plot must have been Kaesong.

May Relax Policy On Free Gold Sale

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (Reuters).—The International Monetary Fund may relax its policy against the free sale in the world's markets of processed gold, well-informed sources predicted today.

It was learned that the United States, which had earlier opposed any relaxation of fund policy against sale of processed gold at prices higher than the fixed $35 an ounce for monetary gold, is weakening in its opposition.

Officials here believe the board will consider new regulations for recommendation to certain member governments.

Stabbed At Mass

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 11 — (CP) — Attractive 24-year-old Terry O'Connor was stabbed in the back today while attending mass at St. Ambrose Cathedral. Police are holding her boy friend, John A. Masterson, 25, who said he stabbed her "because she didn't want any more to do with me." Hospital authorities said Miss O'Connor may die.

Five-Day Milk Delivery

Dairies Cut Working Week To Help Keep Costs Down

The new five-day milk delivery will be in effect this week with no delivery on Wednesday to Peterborough household consumers.

This action is the outcome of a recent meeting of dairy owners and managers at Campbell's Dairy and is based on preliminary actions earlier this year to reduce the deliverymen's working week and to reduce the cost of supplying milk to the home consumer.

An official at Silverwood's Dairy said, "our men feel that every other industry has a five-day week and that, even though it is not on a weekend, they are entitled to the extra day."

Pointing out that the milk control board is governing the price of milk and trying to keep it at a reasonable rate for both the dairies and consumers, the same official said that the action, no delivery Wednesday, will reduce the cost of delivery for the dairies.

He explained that "if the men work extra hours, they'll want extra pay, meaning an increase in the cost of milk to the consumer."

Wish To Keep It Low

The official added that the Peterborough dairies want to keep the cost to the consumer as low as possible.

The five-day milk delivery is not new in Ontario. The system has been employed by the dairies in St. Catharines and Windsor.

The dairies changed from a seven-day to a six-day delivery in October, 1947. Then home consumers became panicky and bought large stocks on the Saturdays, then didn't buy any until the next Wednesday or Thursday.

The dairies this time advise consumers not to stock up large quantities of milk on Tuesdays but try to stagger their requirements to have fresh milk all the time.

US Woman First To Swim Channel Twice

SANGATTE, France, Sept. 11. (AP) — California's Florence Chadwick swam across the English channel from Britain to France in near-record time today to become the first woman to swim the Channel both ways. She climbed ashore here even as police were investigating reports that she had been lost at sea.

Miss Chadwick, 32, reaching France after 16 hours and 14 minutes in the water, had started the swim from St. Margaret's Bay, near Dover, England, last night.

Crowds had been awaiting her at Cap Gris Nez, five miles to the southwest, and when she failed to make an appearance, there were fears for her safety. She had started out in a dense fog and there had been no sight of her when the fog lifted. She veered somewhat from her planned course.

Confusion attended her arrival at Sangatte, compounded by the excitable French, who mistook her for a Danish swimmer, a woman who had not yet started the try from England.

The San Diego typist stalked out of the water and onto the isolated little Sangatte beach to the cheers of a handful of French children and their parents.

Miss Chadwick was breathing easily. Her body was coated heavily with the grease to protect her from the Channel's icy temperature.

She was disappointed when told she had not broken the record set by Tom Blower of Britain—51 minutes faster than Miss Chadwick.

She boarded a motor yacht then, fell asleep in no time at all, and slept all the way back across the Channel to England.

She had been sick six times during the swim.

Six Survive Bomber Crash

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Sept. 11 (AP).—Six crew members survived the emergency crash landing of a US Air Force B-17 bomber 100 miles north of here Monday.

One man was killed when the No. 3 engine exploded while the B-17 was flying at 11,000 feet.

A para-rescue team dropped at the scene reported it found the survivors. It said they needed medical attention.

The B-17 had struck a hill and was still burning as the rescuers went in.

Flight Surgeon Maj. Z. W. Baczewski was being flown to the scene by helicopter to jump at the site.

The wreckage was spotted by a civilian pilot. The B-17 left Elmeldor base here at 6:37 a.m. and was later reported missing.

Diamonds Missing From British Plane

BANGKOK, Thailand, Sept. 11 (Reuters).—Diamonds valued at £10,000 were missing when a British Overseas Airways Corporation plane from London arrived at Bangkok last Friday, police disclosed today.

At the delivery point it was discovered that one mail bag had been "carefully and skilfully" split open. A registered bag inside was also cut open and the parcel of diamonds missing.

One police source said it was suspected the theft occurred in London.

Defies Gov't Iran's Premier Sends Ultimatum

TEHRAN, Sept. 11 (AP). — Iran's ultimatum giving Britain two weeks to resume talks about their oil dispute is being forwarded by way of Washington today, a government spokesman said.

Premier Mohammed Massadegh was unable to get parlitment approval of his move. But the Premier went ahead with his plan in the face of outspoken opposition by 14 deputies who braved assassination threats to defy his policy and despite Britain's moves to cripple Iran's finances.

The plan calls for Britain to resume negotiations on Mossadegh's oil nationalization policies or see the 300 British technicians remaining at the old Anglo-Iranian Company's Abadan refinery thrown out of the country.

Via Washington

The ultimatum was routed to Nasrollah Entezam, Iran's ambassador in Washington, to turn over to W. Averell Harriman, President Truman's special envoy who tried to mediate the quarrel.

The government spokesman said Harriman promises when he left Iran that he would do anything further to help settle the dispute. Harriman will be asked to relay the ultimatum to London.

The opposition deputies signed a communique accusing the Premier of making enemies of Britain and the United States.

It charged him with failing to carry out promises of riches he made when he pushed through a law nationalizing the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company installations four months ago.

One deputy said there were 30 in the Majlis (lower house of parliament) who would vote against Mossadegh in a showdown. Opposition deputies have been boycotting the Majlis sessions to keep it from mustering a quorum of 75 on the confidence vote Mossadegh seeks.

Some opponents talked of trying to unseat the Premier in the next two weeks.

Germans Pull For Turpin Win

BERLIN, Sept. 11 (AP)—Interest in the Ray Robinson-Randy Turpin middleweight return title bout at New York Wednesday night is so great it pierces the Iron Curtain.

Russian-controlled newspapers here, which rarely give space to "capitalistic" sports events, are running articles about the fight.

They are pulling for Turpin and are attacking American boxing and promotion methods.

The National Zeitung attacked arrangements giving Robinson 30 per cent of the gate against only 25 for champion Turpin.

Ziegler Resigns As Leaf Manager

TORONTO, Sept. 11 (CP)—Joe Ziegler resigned today as general manager of Toronto Maple Leafs.

He said in a statement that he and Jack Cooke, owner of the International Baseball League club, had "come to a friendly parting of the ways." His future plans were not announced.

Ziegler came to Toronto on a three-year contract prior to the 1949 season and he and Cooke, who took over the club in midseason, had "mutually agreed not to renew it."

The Leafs finished the season in fifth place.

In 1949, first year of the Ziegler regime, the team finished fifth—after setting a season's record of 366,000 paid admissions and attracting the largest single gate in the club's history, 22,230.

In 1950, the Leafs slipped to seventh place and for most of 1951, floundered in the second division.

HAMILTON, Sept. 11 — (CP) —Three hundred and fifty employees of the Norman Slater Company struck this morning for a new contract between the firm and the bargaining agent, Local 3505, United Steel Workers of America (CIO-CCL).

The decision to strike was made by a membership meeting of the union Monday night after it was revealed that the union request for conciliation services from the Ontario Labor Relations Board had been turned down.

Stock Market Prices Lower On Exchange

TORONTO, Sept. 11 —(CP)— Stock market prices turned lower today in early afternoon dealings. The exchange's index of 20 selected issues dipped more than two points within as many hours.

Mid-continent oil continued extremely heavy trading as more than 875,000 shares changed hands in the first three hours. The stock became active late yesterday on reports that 1,000,000 shares had been underwritten at 20 cents by Watt and Watt.

Liquors formed the firmest industrial section. Papers, utilities, constructions, steels, textiles and miscellaneous industrials were mixed. Agricultures, foods and retail stores weakened while refining oils slipped moderately.

Western oils dipped after a first-hour climb to another record high. Trading was highly selective. Anchor Petroleum, Anglo--Canadian, Gridoil, National Petroleum and Pacific Petroleum lost up to 50 cents. Federal Petroleum, General Petroleum, Oil Selections and Commonwealth went against the trend for small gains.

Base metals continued mixed and trendless. Again heavy selective buying spotted the list. Base Metals, Falconbridge, Hudson Bay, Noranda and Waite Amulet edged ahead. Ascot, International Nickel, Quemeon, United Keno Hill and Pend Oreille eased.

Senior golds were mixed. Juniors dipped slightly while prospects held gains and losses in balance. The exchange's 1 p.m. indices showed industrials down 1.87 at 354.07, golds down .01 at 84.16, base metals up .01 at 190.47 and western oils down .90 at 116.30.

Date Of Hearing Set In Wounding Charge

A definite date for the preliminary hearing of a charge of wounding against Mrs. Jennie Delaire, 28, Elm St., was set in police court today.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, KC, and defence counsel John Corkery agreed on September 24 as the date. Mrs. Delaire was remanded until then by Magistrate W. R. Philp.

She is charged with wounding her husband, Sylvester Delaire, with a straight razor. The razor nicked Delaire under the chin, narrowly missing his throat.

The wounding took place, it is alleged, at the home of a neighbor after the Delaires had had an argument.

Mrs. Delaire is on $3,000 bail.

Loggers Go Back To Work As BC Forests Reopened

VANCOUVER, Sept. 11 (CP).—Some 15,000 loggers streamed back to work in British Columbia timberlands today after a two-month layoff caused by drought and the resulting forest fire hazard.

Heavy weekend rains prompted Forests Minister E. T. Kenney to lift the forest closure, imposed July 12, at midnight on Monday night.

The closure had affected some 2,000 woods operations in Vancouver forest district, which takes in the south-western section of the province and Vancouver Island.

The record drought—including one stretch of 98 rainless days—cost BC about $40,000,000 in lost wages and lumber production.

Loggers packed onto every available plane and ship which would take them back to work. Airline and steamship companies said the rush would probably continue for another three or four days.

There was happy jostling on boat decks as loggers searched for nooks and crannies to throw down their bedrolls and sleeping bags. They had been scraping by on unemployment insurance cheques for weeks.

Operators now are faced with the big task of cutting enough timber to supply mills before winter weather closes the woods again.

Loggers have been asked to work overtime to catch up on the huge backlog of work. The Loggers' Union, the International Woodworkers of America (CCL), said it was a matter for negotiation between companies and locals.

The number of forest fires was cut from more than 100 to 30 by the weekend rains. All were under control.

New Manager Appointed Imperial Bank

The new manager of the Peterborough branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada is Ernest Trueman, 40, who has been with the bank in Toronto since he entered the business 22 years ago.

Mr. Trueman succeeds Ben Myers who started the branch in Peterborough in 1947. Mr. Myers will finish out this week and then move to Toronto.

Married, Mr. Trueman has two young daughters—Wendy, 3, and six-month-old Linda. Until he gets a house here his wife and children will remain in Toronto.

One of Mr. Trueman's favorite hobbies has been boys' work. He has taken a particular interest in scouting and hopes to continue along similar lines here in Peterborough. He has also been active in service clubs.

It was Mr. Myers who opened the branch of the Imperial Bank on Hunter Street in June, 1947. Recently, because of business expansion, the accommodation on Hunter St. became too small and the bank moved to a temporary site on George St.

In Service Clubs

During his stay in Peterborough Mr. Myers has been active in service club work and community affairs. At the last campaign of the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund he was a director and chairman of the retail division. The division raised a record amount of money.

His other associations include the Kiwanis Club, Health League, Chamber of Commerce, Peterborough Club, Peterborough Golf Club, Sales and Ad, and the Curling Club.

"I've enjoyed the friendships I've made in Peterborough," Mr. Myers told the Examiner today. "It has been a pleasure to work with people in the local Chamber of Commerce and other organizations, and particularly in the Community Chest work."

Attach Strings To World Loans

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP) —The world monetary fund gave grumbling member countries today a promise to provide more aid out of its $8,000,000,000 pool of currencies — but it attached strings.

The conditions will be that aid-seekers adopt sound anti-inflation programs to put their currencies on a stable basis, and set up programs to relax or remove trade-hampering restrictions in accord with fund aims.

Ivar Rooth of Sweden, the fund's new managing director, made the policy public at the sixth anunal meeting of the 50-country fund and its financial twin, the world bank.

Although the fund's credits over its five years of operations total $850,000,000, complaints have been voiced because the fund made only one advance since April, 1950. That was $28,000,000 to Brazil.

"Faulty navigation on pilot's part led to error."

Earlier the Communists warned the allies to accept Red terms for resuming stalled Korean truce talks in Kaesong or "bear the full responsibility for all the consequences."

They didn't say what "the consequences" would be. But it could only mean resumption of full fighting in Korea.

The Reds' warning Tuesday came in a 3,000-word statement by their truce delegation at Kaesong. It was broadcast over Red China's Peiping radio.

Dodges Answer

It dodged answering the latest proposal of the supreme allied commander, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, that truce talks be resumed in some incident-proof location. But it hinted the suggestion was unacceptable.

The Red statement, broadcast for 4½ hours, said Ridgway merely was trying to "play a new trick."

Barn Destroyed

ST. GEORGE, Ont., Sept. 11 (CP)—Fire of unknown origin Monday destroyed a large barn on the farm of Carl Morrison, two miles north of here. Loss was estimated at $15,000. In addition to the season's entire crop of 75 to 80 tons of hay, 3,000 bushels of grain, a quantity of straw, 300 chickens and 100 pigs.

Expensive Visit

TORONTO, Sept. 11 (CP)—The cost of welcoming Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to Toronto will be at least $40,000, civic officials estimated today. Most of the money will be used to decorate the city hall and streets along which the royal couple will pass.

Pattison Appointed Serve On Commission

OTTAWA, Sept. 11 (CP)—H. A. L. Pattison, 54, former manager of Gander Airport, Newfoundland, has been appointed Canadian representative of the air navigation commission of the international civil aviation organization.

The transport department announced the appointment of Mr. Pattison today to replace Stuart Graham on the commission. Mr. Graham has gone to Ethiopia as civil aviation advisor, heading the United Nations-ICAO technical assistance program in that country.

Man Found Not Guilty Of Careless Driving

A charge of careless driving against James Collins, 478 Monaghan Rd., was dismissed today by Magistrate W. R. Philp. Collins was charged after an accident August 3 in which his car went into a ditch on Highway 7.

OPP Constable Wallace Mohns testified that at 2:05 a.m. on August 3, he found the car in the ditch. He said tire marks showed where it had gone on the three-foot wide shoulder and travelled for 59 paces before it turned on its side.

Collins told court he had been driving west towards Peterborough, and had slowed his car down. The mechanical brakes on the car didn't have equal braking power on each wheel, and the right wheels went on the shoulder.

Defence counsel W. J. Arthur Fair KC, argued there was no evidence of negligence.

Canada Given 2 UK Destroyers Cost 8 Million

OTTAWA, Sept. 11 (CP). — Canada was given two British destroyers Monday and took it as a sign that mutual aid under the Atlantic Pact works both ways.

It was announced in London that the 1,700-ton warships Crusader and Crescent—in Canadian hands on a loan basis since they were commissioned in 1945—are officially being given to the Royal Canadian Navy. They cost about $4,000,000 apiece.

Defence Minister Claxton said "The transfer is warmly accepted as further evidence of the way in which the North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations are working together."

Made Up-to-Date

He promised that substantial alterations will be made "to convert them to the most modern type of anti-submarine destroyers."

The RCN's entire group of destroyers—eight in service, three in reserve—is being modernized for the Navy's main role, anti-submarine warfare.

The Crescent is on the Atlantic coast, the Crusader on the west coast. Both are training ships.

The $8,000,000 gift marked the first time Canada has been on the receiving end of NATO mutual aid. She has sent hundreds of millions of dollars worth of arms to Europe and will soon be sending manpower.

The two ships were built at Clydebank, Scotland, and commissioned by the RCN in late 1945. The Crescent was posted to the west coast as a training ship and went into reserve in December, 1949. The post-Korea expansion program brought her back into service last September and she was posted to Halifax.

Awards Given To Swimmers

Practising only one day a week during July and August, 18 members of the Highland View Swimming Club, Keene, recently passed instructors', bronze medallion, and Red Cross senior, intermediate, and junior tests.

Mrs. Harold Wilson, Keene, instructed at classes throughout the summer and Gordon Minty, YMCA swimming instructor, conducted the examinations.

Miss Betty Thomson, Keene, passed her permanent instructor's course and the award of merit test along with Marie Foley, Keene.

Other tests were: bronze medallion, Jack Wright and Beverley Gall, both of Keene, Gwendolyn McCarthy and Shirley Yarn, both of Peterborough; senior Red Cross, Jack Wright; intermediate Red Cross, June McNevan, Bettie Wilson, Garry Ellison, Ronald Plunkett and Melvin Wilson; junior Red Cross, Janet Robertson, Shirley Cruickshanks, Betty Jane Gall, Betty Eason, Patsy Eason, Carol McNevan, Peter Shearer.

Mrs. Wilson pointed out that the young children are taught the proper breast stroke to pass the junior test. Some examiners require only the dog-paddle.

Failed To Open Mill Safe Three Arrested

COBOURG, Sept. 11—(ENS)—Daniel McNulty, St. Catharines, and Albert Palmer, Brighton, along with a juvenile from the latter place, appeared in police court Monday on a charge of breaking and entering the grist mill of B. W. Best, of Brighton, during the weekend. They were remanded until next Friday. The trio broke into the grist mill during the weekend and were captured by Provincial Constable H. Cooke just as they were coming out of the building. While they were in there they are said to have tried to open the safe by knocking off the combination dial with a hammer and chisel. However, the safe resisted any further progress toward opening it.

Palmer was also charged with breaking and entering and theft at two cottages at Presque'ille Point. Breaking into Mrs. P Lucas' cottage, he stole fruit juices and a comb of honey, and at the cottage of A. E. Began he took a case of beer and some foodstuffs. Palmer pleaded guilty and was remanded until Friday. Provincial Constable L. Stinson investigated the break-ins at the cottages.

Edward Dowling, of Stirling, pleaded guilty to careless driving and was fnied $25 and costs. He s swiped another car in Murray to ship on September 9.

Lt. Orval J. Lester, of Work Point Barracks, Victoria, BC, was fined $25 and costs for careless driving when he failed to appear to answer to the charge yesterday. He was the driver of a car which went out of control at Welcome Saturday and ran into the side of a roadside restaurant.

ROME, Sept. 11 — (AP) — The United States will complete delivery of eight more warships to Italy within the next three weeks.

These, with three already transferred, almost double the destroyer and destroyer escort strength of the Italian fleet.

The first two of the new ships—two of the fastest full-sized American destroyers— slipped quietly into La Spezia naval base near Genoa Monday.

A ceremony will be held when the next six ships arrive by the end of the month. They will be the big LSSL-type support gunboats modified for Italian naval needs.

Says Socialism Depressed People Of New Zealand

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 11 — (ENS)— Rotarians heard on Monday Vernon Rout, high school teacher discuss Socialism. Mr. Rout was introduced by past-president Arthur K. Loucks. Mr. Rout was born in Auckland, NZ, and is a graduate of the University of New Zealand and taught there nine years. He came to Canada during the war under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan, received his wings and later became attached to the New Zealand Embassy in Ottawa. He married a Canadian girl.

14 Years Under Socialism

Mr. Rout said he lived for a period of 14 years under a Socialist government in New Zealand. New Zealand has always been a so called political laboratory, and has experimented with more types of government than almost any other country.

Prior to the Socialist government, the people of the country had been noted for their thrift. They had saved a fair amount of money. This was not good for business for money must be kept in circulation if business is to thrive and prices remain competitive. The new government started a widespread- spending campaign, and the people soon followed.

The government placed a sales tax of 7½ per cent and this paid for all social security. Medical and dental costs were paid, old age pensions were introduced and controls were placed on work hours and all imports. Income taxes for the higher income brackets ranged as high as 95 per cent. The controls and frozen hours and wages on labor stripped the people of their initiative. There was no stimulation of industry or business in general and people seemed to lose interest.

Rackets under the social program were operated. Some of the doctors took advantage of the situation and one doctor was found to be attending as many as 132 patients in a single day, and doing hospital work as well. Communists infiltrated into the trade unions and became quite powerful.

Mr. Rout believes the answer to true freedom lies in being prepared to take some part in government affairs. He emphasized the old adage of "Vote as you like, but vote." A greater interest in municipal affairs leads to a greater understanding of government al problems and a people who understand the problems are better equipped to handle and remedy these problems.

President Franklin Linton thanked the speaker.

Weed Sprayer's Purchase Is Under Fire

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 11 — (ENS)—A number of items of correspondence took up a major portion of the meeting of the Campbellford Town Council on Monday night.

Mayor J. E. Ayrhart, who had been in the town during the day, returned to Montreal early in the evening, and did not attend the meeting. Councillor Rutherford was also absent. In the absence of mayor, Reeve R. J. Locke took the chair.

E. C. McKeel of Campbellford was named as a representative of the town to sit on the counties, court of revision.

Mrs. Euphemia Hollings addressed council complaining of the state of repair of Raglan, St. on which she lives. Recent rains have washed gravel from a hill near her property and the sediment is being deposited on her lawn. The matter was left to the Road and Bridge committee for investigation.

Purchase of Sprayer

Deputy Reeve Oscar Mason was taken to task by Councillor MacMillan for the purchase by the Road and Bridge committee of a new weed sprayer. The new sprayer was purchased for $315. and the old sprayer, from the Cockshut Implement store operated by Councillor Fred M. Rutherford. Councillor MacMillan claimed the expenditure of so large amount of money should have been discussed by council before it was made, and not taken on by the road and bridge committee. He said that in his estimation, a better and larger sprayer could have been purchased from a different company for very little more money. Councillor MacMillan asked that the purchase be confirmed, and this carried, with two members opposing.

Extra Charge for Dogs

All who own dogs, and who have not secured the necessary license for them by September 15 will find themselves charged an extra dollar.

It was brought to the attention of council that James Parcels, local garbage collector, was no longer collecting the garbage, but had given the job over to another man who was carrying on. Council decided to call for tenders on garbage collection. These will be received up to September 29, and must state the type of vehicle the tenderer intends to use as well as the remuneration he expects.

Some discussion arose as to whether the county would take over the Campbellford court of revision. Reeve Ralph J. Locke named a five man board consisting of Department Reeve Oscar Mason, Councillors Kingston, MacMillan, Maybee and Free, to act on the court of revision if necessary.

After passing the pay sheet, council adjourned until the next regular meeting on October 1; unless a special meeting is sooner called.

Honest John Returns To Owner $400 Found In Wallet On Cobourg Street

COBOURG, Sept. 11—(ENS)—Orin Morris, of Cobourg, owes the recovery of around $400, which he lost yesterday, to the honesty of an unknown airman. Mr. Morris, who is building a house, went down to the hardware store yesterday afternoon and when he arrived home on his bicycle, his wallet and money were missing. A short time later an airman drove up and asked him if he were Orin Morris and if he had lost anything.

"About 400 bucks," said Morris ruefully.

"Here she is," said the airman, handing him the wallet.

It took quite a bit of persuasion on the part of Mr. Morris to get the air force lad to accept a reward, but he didn't learn his name.

"As far as I'm concerned his name is 'Honest John'," said Mr. Morris.

Science against pain

Science progresses: For 50 years we have used little white tablets—acetylsalicylic acid—for the relief of pain. Today this familiar pain-killer is available in a new form without the disadvantages of insolubility, acidity and bitter taste. It is called DISPRIN.

Why take DISPRIN?

Because DISPRIN is soluble and substantially neutral. When taken in water as recommended, it enters the stomach as a true solution and not as undissolved particles. It is therefore less liable to cause stomach discomfort.

DISPRIN is readily absorbed. Because it definitely dissolves (not merely disintegrates) it permits speedy absorption and gives quicker relief.

DISPRIN is palatable. Even children will take it readily.

DISPRIN is now available at your Druggist. Bottles of 26 tablets or Handy Pocket Folders of 8.

No Milk Delivery Wednesday

Beginning tomorrow Peterborough dairies are cancelling Wednesday deliveries of milk to homes. This is, in our view, a sensible effort to keep costs down and incidentally to bring the working hours of milk salesmen into line with those of people in other occupations. Milkmen in Peterborough will now work about 44 hours a week.

* * *

The practice of having no delivery of milk one day a week is not new. Peterborough dealers stopped milk delivery on Sundays in October, 1947. This has caused no hardship and little inconvenience in local homes. As a matter of fact, about 92 per cent. of the homes in Peterborough have ice or electric refrigerators. Now the delivery holiday is extended to mid-week as well. Other cities in Ontario have stopped Wednesday deliveries. Windsor did it a year and a half ago; St. Catharines, Kitchener and London this June.

* * *

We cannot expect that the Wednesday stoppage will itself reduce the retail price of delivered milk, but we can hope that it will prevent any price increase. Milk in Peterborough (at stores or off the milk wagon) sells at 19 cents a quart. In Toronto delivered milk is now 21 cents and Toronto dealers want to raise the price to 22 cents. Generally Peterborough milk prices have been a cent less than Toronto's; at present they are two cents less, except for milk which Torontonians buy at the dairies directly or at stores and carry home. The price of this quart in Toronto is 20 cents, although the Milk Board had expected—and indeed ordered—that the price at a store be 19 cents.

* * *

Peterborough has not yet any differentiation between the price of milk delivered and milk carried home. If the cancelling of one delivery a day can keep costs down, is it too much to expect that no delivery would result in price reductions? Can Peterborough families willing to carry their milk home expect to get it cheaper than the 19 cents for delivered milk? This matter of a reduced price for store sales is one which Peterborough dairies should re-examine, in view of Premier Frost's recent warning to Toronto dealers that the dairies must cut costs "or somebody else will."

* * *

The Peterborough dairies' decision to stop Wednesday deliveries is a move in the right direction.

New Local Air Cadet Squadron

Young Canadians seem to take to the air as naturally as coureurs-de-bois did to snowshoes. There is indeed in them as strong a daring and as urgent an inclination to exploit and explore the new air age as earlier hardy French pioneers had when they took to the fortunes of woods and wastes of Canada two centuries ago. The air and its machines are the new frontiers, the far horizons. No wonder young Canadians flock to the Air Force, and new Air Cadet squadrons are being enthusiastically filled by youths.

An Air Cadet Squadron is being recruited in Peterborough now, and any lads between 14 and 18 who want to join should enquire any evening this week until Friday at the Exhibition Grounds (George Street gate) where a recruiting office is open for enquiries. Air Cadets train in spare time, out of school hours. The training is varied and lively, and includes instruction in how to fly. Even if a boy has no intention of joining the R.C.A.F. when he becomes old enough, his air cadet training will give him a theoretical and practical knowledge of flying invaluable in this air age.

Canada is the most air-minded of nations. She has to be, for the sake of her own defence and the maintenance of her far-flung boundaries. And, of course, flying has a commercial and industrial importance in Canada without parallel in any other country. If Canada had not taken to the air with zeal, she could not have developed as she has done in the last twenty years. If she does not continue to maintain herself in the forefront of military and commercial flying, she cannot keep her position, or indeed her national integrity.

It is significant of the importance of the air to Canada that her concentration of military spending on air power is the highest in the world. Last year the R.C.A.F. got 41.2 cents out of every dollar provided in defence budgets. This year the proportion has risen to 47.8 cents. Next year the Air Force is likely to have a larger share of the national budget than the Navy and Army combined.

This fact emphasizes the importance of Air Cadets in the Canadian scheme of things. A big R.C.A.F. requires a large and youthful pool, and one of the purposes of Air Cadet Squadrons is to provide the training and stimulus which will maintain the flow into the R.C.A.F. An air power such as Canada is commercially and militarily, needs the sustaining background of youths interested, keen, informed—and trained. Air Cadets give boys of senior school age an outlet for their enthusiasm for flying and the stimulus and training that stand them and their country in good stead later.

The Pinch On Civilian Goods?

Last week Charles E. Wilson, head of the American Office of Defence Mobilization, said that the "pinch" is on, as defence production officials had predicted six months ago. "There will be fewer automobiles, radios, refrigerators and other consumer products in the coming three months than there have been in the past." The Defence Production Administration admits that there is a critical shortage of structural and reinforcing steel and that copper is in exceedingly short supply—due chiefly to the recent copper strike. These shortages mean that less copper and steel will be allocated to producers of civilian goods, in order to fill defence orders.

If American consumers are being pinched, American newspaper advertisements do not reflect it. Last weekend one of the largest makers of radios, gramophones and television sets on the continent ran a double-page advertisemetn in the New York Times advertising television sets at "slashed" prices. These ranged from $179.95 for a table model and $259.95 for a floor model, to $395.00 for one of its most expensive and elegant TV-automatic gramophone combination. Another large advertiser in the same newspaper said: "Famous Manufacturer Forced To Sell 17-inch TV At A Terrific Loss," and his price for "hand-rubbed mahogany" floor models was $149.95.

Perhaps all this had more to do with a shortage of good television programs in the U.S. than with a shortage of steel and other consumer goods. It may be that television sets are a glut on the American market because Americans have come to their senses and refused to listen any longer to the bad TV programming. But we doubt it.

Yo-Ho For Spain

Spain is the cheapest country in Europe freely open to western tourists today. People say—'people' being inveterate travellers like the English trying to stretch a couple of guineas into a week abroad—that one can live for a song in Spain these days; well, not for a song, for the Spanish are themselves pretty good at song, but for next to nothing in greenbacks. So tourists this year making the best of the least have been flocking to Spain.

Tourists as a lot are souless. They give a farthing about political and social conditions and not much more. They do not give a continental whether the country is ruled by a tryant or not; whether religious freedom is impaired or not; whether the people are held in bondage or not; whether one per cent. of the citizens roll in luxury while the other 99 starve. They want the most and best for the least money; and where they see the most and the best for the least, there they go. That is their criterion, and their pride as tourists is to find the cheap country before other tourists make the glorious discovery.

Canadians are becoming a touring race. We believe that per capita more Canadians have travelled overseas this year than Americans. But Canadians have not yet 'discovered' Spain. They will. Next year the Canadian migration to cheap Spain will begin.

Does it matter that they are going to Franco's Spain—Franco, the last Fascist dictator of Western Europe? Does it matter to them that they are travelling to the country in which the first horrible clash between liberal and fascist occurred and that fascism was allowed to triumph in Franco? Does it matter to them that Spain was made the testing-ground for the oncoming Second World War and that there the forces of democracy took a drubbing and oppression reigned thereafter? Does it matter that in Franco's Spain, totalitarian rule which the democracies of the West set out to abolish in 1939 still flourishes, despite the downfall of Mussolini and Hitler brought about at such terrible cost to the western political democracies?

Do these things matter to the tourist of 1951 or 1952? Probably not. Tourists, en masse, are an unethical lot. Their standard is the dollar or pound; their mechanics to make it stretch as far as possible. It stretches far in Spain today. They say one can buy the use of a villa and all its occupants for a quid a week in some delightfully remote corner of the Peninsula.

Why blame the tourists? They are merely the perspicacious jetsam of their country's economics; the flotsam of a favourable national economic situation in a fluctuating international world.

Spain—here we come!

Strength Behind U.K.-U.S. Unity

By
ROBERT WAITHMAN
(Washington Correspondent of the London News-Chronicle)

IF anything can be sure in this unsure world it is that Britain and the United States must and will stand together, now and as far into the future as anyone can hope to estimate.

This is a truth which the news of the day often obscures. There are what appear to be almost continuous differences of opinion: there are intermittent noisy quarrels. An American Senator denounces United Kingdom policy on this or that issue. A British Member of Parliament derides American views and American behaviour. A good part of the press on each side of the Atlantic joins in, and there is another of the familiar free-for-all arguments which must often suggest to the rest of the world that the two nations are hopelessly at odds.

YET anyone who looks a little further than the headlines will remember that this is a state of affairs which has prevailed for a long time, and that it has never had any effect on the capacity of the two nations to draw together quickly and firmly at the appearance of any real crisis. Moreover, the perceptive will see that a partnership must be very strong which without any serious damage to itself permits the partners the luxury of being as frank with one another—and even, on occasion, as rude to one another—as are the Americans and Britons.

The Anglo-American partnership is very strong: almost certainly it is the strongest international partnership the 20th century has produced. It does not acquire its strength from any disposition of the British people to regard the American people as flawless beings, admirable in all respects, or vice versa; and despite all recent attempts to sell the explanation, it does not spring from the existence of any "pro-British" governments in Washington or "pro-American" governments in London.

IT rests upon the clear understanding on both sides of the Atlantic that in any conceivable circumstance or test, under any international conditions, the vital interests of the two nations are and will be best served by the same or similar policies.

Mr. Dean Acheson, the American Secretary of State, said not long ago that the direction and objective of American policy since the beginning of the Republic had been "to create and maintain the environment in which the great American experiment in liberty could exist and flourish". And that is an eloquent parallel to a thought that can be traced through the speeches of generations of Britain's Foreign Secretaries. Britain, too, can exist and flourish only in this same environment. The liberties which a great part of the world enjoys today (and if only it were the whole of the world what problems would be solved!) were forged painfully and with many a sacrifice through the centuries in Britain.

◇ ◇ ◇

WHEN Britons or Americans speak of liberties they have in their minds not alone the important political freedoms—freedom of speech and of the press, freedom of worship, freedom of assembly—but also the economic freedoms, which the late President Roosevelt summarized in the phrase "Freedom from want". The right of a man to own and farm his land without interference from the state or from his fellow man, to possess his own house, to work and trade and earn so that his lot and his children's lot may be improved—the economic liberty, in fact, which enables a man to choose and succeed at his own business or profession, to stand on his own feet, and not to be the slave of any state or any government—these are among the basic needs of the British and American people.

IT is not only that they speak the same language. They spring from the same stock, and though their ideas on central heating or on the right temperature for beer are far apart, they are profoundly in agreement on the essentials of liberty. For their ideas are based on more than common convictions: they are based on common instincts.

It is not difference of conviction or instinct which cause the Anglo-American arguments, but differences of temperament. Anyone who takes the trouble to examine the issues on which the British and Americans have differed since the British colonists in America set themselves up as a separate nation, more than a century and a half ago, will find that the differences were almost never over what result it was desired to achieve and almost always over what would be the best way of achieving a result both nations desired.

◇ ◇ ◇

THUS it is with the contemporary Anglo-American differences. Any one of these issues would serve as an example, but the clearest of them may be the question of policy towards China. To put it briefly: Britain believes that Communist Russia never will succeed in making a satellite state out of China, that China's unalterable interests will sooner or later make untenable the positior of a Chinese Communist regime subservient to Russia, and that the wise policy is to hold open the door through which China will eventually have to move on the way back to independence and hope. The Americans believe that this outcome may be too distant and too uncertain to form a basis for policy, and that a different course must be pursued in the light of more immediate perils in Asia

◇ ◇ ◇

BUT there is no difference at all between the American view and Britain's view of what sort of China and Asia will contribute the most to the pacification and prosperity of the world. It will be a China and an Asia in which the rights and sovereignties of peoples will be respected, in which the new stirring of peoples in search of better opportunities and standards of living will be recognized and encouraged, in which Western help will be given on terms of which no peoples need be ashamed.

FOR this will contribute to the environment Britain and the United States equally desire to create—the environment in which the liberties, the humanities, the elements which make for political and economic progress, the conditions in which Americans and Britons can most fruitfully live, will exist and flourish.

It is not a coincidence that in the two great wars of this century the Americans have crossed the Atlantic to fight against forces which imperilled American interests that were discovered to be identical with those of Britain. It is not by any political quirk of international chance that the United States and Britain are now allied with other Atlantic nations to preserve themselves and one another from fresh forces which would otherwise destroy the environment of liberty.

◇ ◇ ◇

FROM war, tension, the suppression of liberty anywhere in the world, Britain and the United States have everything to lose. From peace, stability and the practice of the liberties, they have everthing to gain. They have so much to gain, and they know it so well, that they are both submitting themselves to the costs and sacrifices of a rearmament programme they would have long ago thrown overboard if it had not held out the only hope of the liberty and peace and stability they seek.

And though they argue as to whose rifle is the better weapon and criticize one another's plans, they feel by conviction and instinct that the single road they are both taking is the right road. What is more, they fully expect to complete this journey, as they have completed other journeys together in the recent past.

Inflation With Us To Stay?

(FINANCIAL POST)

THIS isn't just a time of inflation. It's an age of inflation. We're going to have a lot, lot more of it.

Such is the gist of an article in The Economist of London.

From 1819 to 1914 wholesale prices fell about 30%. The same price index (1938 = 100) was 83 in 1914, 254 in 1920 and 259 in 1950.

This writer says: "This rise in prices will continue for so far as can be seen ahead."

Key reason: "War and the cold war. History does not record a war or near-war that did not raise prices."

More reasons:

—The strength of the trade unions and their increasing bargaining power, enhanced by full employment policies to which nearly every government in the western world is committed. The main weapons of achieving any practical full employment policy are "budget deficits, cheap money, devaluation, etc., all of them more or less inflationary.

—"The Century of the Common Man is no time for orthodox finance. It is very much easier to grant some particular wage claim, tariff or subsidy in order to level up the money incomes of those who have fallen behind than to cut money incomes of everyone else back to the old level, though in the long run the effect on the real income of the parties concerned is the same."

—In the social service state governments naturally tend to spend more rather than to tax less.

—The trend is toward equality of incomes and of capital wealth because the rich pay their taxes chiefly out of what they would have saved and the poor largely consume the extra income they receive.

—Price controls are ineffective and "nearly useless" unless very little is imported. "Farm price support schemes and bulk or long-term contracts of all kinds tend much more often than not to raise prices."

Other reasons for chronic inflation given are the end of free trade, currency controls, the industrialization of backward countries. ("This does nothing to enhance the international division of labour and is not undertaken for profit. It is on the contrary very autarchic requiring protection and subsidiaries.")

Inter-governmental charity like Marshall Aid is another way of making inflation "built in."

The Economist's writer is gloomy. He concludes:

"What would be required to keep the price level stable in the circumstances? A wage stop, a comprehensive price stop, a large budget surplus every year, a bank rate of 4% and a periodic appreciation of the pound. Any one of these conditions is unthinkable, let alone the combination of them. All sensible men will earnestly desire stable prices and be prepared to make great sacrifices to this end. But no sensible man will rely on achieving it."

TOO MYSTERIOUS

Workmen were cleaning the front of a building with hose-pipe and brushes. "What are they doing?" asked a small boy. "They're washing it!" said his father. "Why?" "Well why do you wash your face?"

It was all too mysterious. The youngster gave it up. "I don't know," he replied.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

For thus saith the Lord that created the heavens; God himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath estabiished it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited: I am the Lord; and there is none else. (Isa. 45: 18.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Whatsoever the Lord pleased, that did he in heaven, and in earth, in the seas, and all deep places. (Ps. 135: 6.)

◇ ◇ ◇

O Lord, how manifold are thy works! in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches. . . The glory of the Lord shall endure for ever: the Lord shall rejoice in his works. (Ps. 104: 24, 31.)

God is my witness, whom I serve with my spirit in the gospel of his Son, that without ceasing I make mention of you always in my prayers. . . For I long to see you, that I may impart unto you some spiritual gift, to the end ye may be established. . . For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek. For therein is the righteousness of God revealed from faith to faith: as it is written, The just shall live by faith. . .

For the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and God-head. (Rom. 1: 9, 11, 16, 17, 20.)

No Use Shouting

(Montreal Star)

An American newspaperwoman, now touring Germany, reports that officers of the occupation force, failing to find a German official who speaks English, usually resort to shouting. This is not hectoring, as the correspondent seems to think. It is the typical response of the single-language English-speaking male to a situation which requires that he should be able to speak a language other than his own. His frustration leads him to the false belief that, if he raises his voice, all will be well.

Of all the major lingual groups in the world the English-speaking are least endowed with the capacity to learn and to speak a tongue other than their own. It cannot be lack of ability to learn. We fear it is more probably an assumption that all right-minded people should be able to speak English. This is not a view shared widely across the world—a fact to be remembered as English-speaking peoples seek to make friends and influence people.

WORLD OF HIS OWN

Senator Aiken Calls On Senate Approve Seaway

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 —(AP)— Senator George Aiken (Rep. Vt.) called on the senate again Monday to approve the St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

He said he believes the United States is giving rather shabby treatment to Canada—"the best neighbor we will ever have"—on this project.

Canada, he said, "desperately needs" the power that would be developed.

He said the project would be entirely self-supporting and self-liquidating.

The public works committee of the House of Representatives pigeon-holed on July 26, a bill to authorize the $800,000,000 joint Canadian-United States St. Lawrence seaway project, leaving it up to Canada to decide whether to go on with the job alone.

Other attempts to get the project before Congress also failed.

Ten years ago Canada ratified a treaty to build the seaway-power project but it has been stalled in Congress since then.

Toronto Board Criticized For Spending

TORONTO, Sept. 11 —(CP)— An auditor's report critical of Toronto Board of Education expenditures came to light Monday and was dismissed by one trustee as a complaint "made every year."

City auditor Sholto C. Scott questioned in a report dated July 27 the legality of 48 items in the board's 1950 account books. Totalling $49,268, they ranged from $4,951.76 in expenses for board chairman G. Blair Laing and school superintendent Z. S. Phimister—for a trip to Paris—to $20 for a "basket of flowers reopening of trustee Laing's new studio."

Mr. Laing, owner of the Laing Art Gallery, said in an interview:

"It's not news anymore . . . the Board of Education just ignores it generally."

C. H. R. Fuller, business administrator for the board, told a reporter that the Paris trip was to the United Nations Educational, Social and Cultural Organization's conference in July, 1950. Mr. Laing was invited as a speaker.

Other items questioned by Mr. Scott were $950 for dinners and luncheons, $245 listed as "entertainment in connection with the visit of Mr. S. H. Wood," retired British educationist who spoke here during the celebration of the board's 100th anniversary last year.

Grants Criticized

Grants to various organizations, including the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, the Poppy Fund and the Teachers' Men's Choir, totalling $7,975, also came under the auditor's criticism.

Mr. Laing described the expenses questioned as "infinitesimal in comparison to the whole budget of the board, amounting to $17,000,000 or $18,000,000."

Mr. Scott said he questioned the items in accordance with statutes requiring that school taxes be used only for operation of schools.

He added: "I have asked the business administrator (Mr. Fuller) for a legal opinion as to whether the board had the power to make these expenditures but so far I have not received a reply."

Mr. Fuller said he did not intend to reply unless the Board of Education decided legal opinion was necessary.

The auditor said he had already expressed his opinion and did not intend to pursue the matter further unless requested to by city or Board of Education officials.

Alderman Nathan Phillips said in an interview "it seems rather strange" that Board of Control failed to comment on the expenditures.

Affairs Institute Reviews Canadian - American Relations

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The question of Canadian-American relations is given a considerable review in the current International Journal, published by the Canadian Institute of International Affairs.

The review is contained in a lead article which summarizes the discussions on the question at the Canadian-American conference on foreign relations held at Niagara Falls, Ont., in June—a conference which was sponsored by the Institute, the World Peace Foundation, and the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Following are some quotes from the article:

The basic complaint of delegates from the United States was that her allies—and Canada most conspicuously as the closest and friendliest of them—were quite content to see the United States bear a disproportionate share of the burden of military operations in Korea.

Canada's contribution was thought to be too little and too late. Nor did it avail to reply that Canada's attention was concentrated on the main theatre—Europe. Canada had not yet shown any great enthusiasm about fulfilling her share of commitments under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization . . .

To this impeachment, courteously and moderately presented, Canadians pointed out several things occasionally overlooked in the United States.

Major Contribution

The major contribution that Canada could make and now was making to the strength of the free world was in the rapid development—with the help of American capital—of raw materials: oil and iron ore for example.

Lack of supplies threatened to cripple the whole rearmament effort and economic well-being of the Western world. Large-scale development imposed a tremendous strain on manpower, materials and capital. Was some emotional desire for equality of blood sacrifice to prevent Canada making the most effective possible contribution to the strength of the Western alliance?

Canada's contemplated rearmament program, as it got under way, would impose serious exchange difficulties, as many component parts had to be purchased from the States with US dollars. Only a substantial increase in the purchase of military supplies in Canada by the United States could reduce the balance and prevent an exchange crisis that would threaten employment and living standards in Canada . . .

The Other Side

Canadian criticism centred around inconsistencies of American policy; lack of adequate consultation with her allies; oversensitiveness of the American public to external criticism—often admittedly unjust—in contrast to a lack of sensitiveness about the feelings of her allies and potential allies . . .

There was complaint of a tendency on the part of American policy-makers to conduct a series of internal debates on policy decisions and then to announce these decisions to her allies . . .

The attitude of many Americans to Nehru and India was shocking to Canadians . . .

The transformation of the Commonwealth by the admission of India, Pakistan and Ceylon had created a measure of sympathy for the problems facing the new leaders of Asia and a readiness to be patient until the real identiy of interest between these leaders and the Western world became clearly reflected in thir words and policies. After all, India represented a degree of stability in South Asia . . .

Not In Position To Talk

Why should North Americans, who, for some years after the threat of Nazism overshadowed the world, made a good deal out of the word neutrality, view with despairing bitterness Nehru-neutrality in the present crisis?

The whole subject of economic aid to raise living standards of underdeveloped countries was fully canvassed . . . It was the conclusion of most of the delegates, Canadian and American, that substantial aid in the form of technical and capital assistance was necessary on a scale not yet accepted either by public opinion or governments in Canada or the United States.

Such aid was required less for the immediate results it could produce than as an earnest of a genuine friendship, which could over the long decades and centuries be decisive in bringing the peoples of Asia out of poverty and hunger.

2-Family House Parked In Middle Of Street As Owner Tries To Cross Neighbors' Lot

BUFFALO, N.Y., Sept. 11 —(AP)—A crew of housemovers sat in the shade of a two-family house parked in the middle of a street Monday waiting for someone to tell them what to do with an 80-ton home.

And while movers dozed or swapped stories, the owner of the building was cajoling his would-be neighbors to please let him get the house out of the street and on to his new lot.

But the neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Citron, insisted that they wanted the balance of $500 the house owner, Anthony T. Firta, promised them for letting him move the house across their land to his property.

To Firta, this was the last straw. He paid the movers $3-000 to haul the 2½-storey house nine blocks on a pair of 12-wheel dollys Sunday. He had given the Citrons $50 down. When the Citrons asked for the balance before the house crossed their land, Firta refused to pay them.

There's also a little matter of three trees that would have to be cut down to let the house across the Citron land. City forester Arthur F. Kramer said he won't give permission to have them chopped.

Firta is stumped.

THREE UP, ONE TO GO—The Petes expect to down Mimico tomorrow to make it four straight for the Eastern Canada senior lacrosse crown. They romped to an easy 19-5 win here last night, paced by Bob Thorpe, at left, with six goals and two assists. The smartest goal of the night was a second-quarter backhander by Don Ashbee, shown in centre. Another local ace was Ike Hildebrand, at right, with a goal and five assists.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

ORFU football schedule opens under the arcs in Morrow Park tomorrow eve. It's Oshawa Red Raiders against the Peterborough Orfuns, and a hard-hitting struggle should result. It is rumored that Raiders are a farm club for Toronto Argos—in any case five or six good Toronto gridders (some of them colored huskies) are wearing Oshawa grid livery this season. The Orfuns, under Coach Leo Deadey, looked impressive here a week or so back in downing Weston in an exhibition game, and we think they'll go places this autumn. Big parade, bands, etc., should make for a colorful official opening of the rugby season, and a large crowd is expected to view the battle.

* * * * * *

Orfuns have a fine choice of backfielders, good ones. Spike Matthews is one of the better ones. Ron Hodson scored two tries in the Weston game. Jim Conlin has played some swell football here. Bill Huntley is a terrific plunger. Lally Lalonde looks in for a great season, and Johnny Berry is a newcomer the fans will like. Jerry McGillis is the speed merchant back there. Al Corner is another newcomer, and may have neglected mentioning a few others but will get around to 'em all in time. It's such a large squad, with so many alternates—and some not dressing at certain games—that it keeps a guy guessing to remember the whole works. Come out and see these husky senior "B" footballers. Stan McBride on the P.A. will tell you of them and describe the play-by-play.

* * * * * *

He Who Gets Slapped

Oshawa scribe writes of the OBA sub-committee meeting to deal with the Viaduct Baseball League's request that Oshawa and the Petes be suspended by the OBA for disobeying loop orders re playoffs. Says: "At this meeting, the OBA informed the Toronto delegate, Carman Bush, that the OBA had instructed Oshawa and Peterborough to play a series and that such instruction had been issued by the OBA upon an explicit request, by letter, from the TABA. The letter was produced and the majority of the meeting ruled that Oshawa had acted upon instructions of the OBA in good faith, and so declined to uphold the suspension levied by the Viaduct League." That means that neither Petes nor Oshawa are under OBA suspension—just Viaduct League—and that Oshawa will continue in provincial playdowns. As we expected.

* * * * * *

Nothing much to it last eve at Miller Bowl, huh? Just a breeze. A 19-5 breeze for the Petes o'er Mimico Mounties, and now they're three up and one to go. They hope to wrap up the Eastern Canada senior lacrosse title in Mimico on Wednesday night, with a four straight series performance. Don McPhail (who sat it out last night) says he'll be back for this fray, but McPhail won't make that much difference. The Crowe crew are hot now, casting frequent glances westward where Victoria or Vancouver await 'em in Vancouver for the Mann Cup finals, opening Sept. 24. Yes, the Petes will try to make it four in a row and, if they play like they did last eve here before a hefty crowd, they'll do it okay.

* * * * * *

Played Smart Lacrosse

Bob Thorpe was at his best in sudden darts around his check near the goal to slap home six. Ike Hildrebrand was in on a bunch, too. So were Harry Wipper, Jerry Fitzgerald, Arn Dugan, Don Ashbee, Ross Powless (who received a baby blanket from Mrs. J. Post) and some more of them. They really rolled and made the Mounties look bad in this one. A clean game, fast only in spots, but with some nifty passing, faking, shooting and checking by the victors. Mighty fine lacrosse by them. They were presented with their championship OLA senior medals at halftime, but the boys are now after Eastern Canada honors and then the Dominion crown. And they'll be hard to stop from here in.

* * * * * *

Not much headway made at the senior "B" puck meeting in Bella Villa last p.m., Frank Buckland announces. Question of grouping is the knotty problem and the OHA will be asked to group the clubs. George Patterson wants to enter a third senior "B" team from Kingston, the others being Nylons and Queen's again. Gananoque wanted first to come in as intermediate "A" and, when flatly refused, decided to enter as a senior "B" outfit. Belleville will be back and the two local teams, the latter declining to make so many trips to Kingston and Gananoque. They're even looking in the direction of Markham, Stouffville, etc. The older clubs would prefer a four-team group of Nylons, Belleville, Eagles and Petes. But it's now up to the OHA executive.

* * * * * *

Dese, Dem And Dose

In the Western Canada senior lacrosse finals, Victoria Shamrocks won the opener 9-8 but lost 14-12 last night to Vancouver Combines . . . Junior OLA-ers are off to Mimico this eve; minor drills tonight are: Bantams at six, midgets 7.30 and juves at 8.30 . . . West Yorks trimmed Huntsville for the senior "B" crown . . . The stymie rule in golf may be abolished next year . . . Open meeting for entries in the men's City Bowling Loop at seven p.m. Thursday in Duffus . . . Alf Hill is paired with Arch Grimsditch in Hulbert Trophy golf competition . . . Frank Vyse of Peterborough Golf Club had 167 in the assistant pros' tourney . . . Annual open PMHA meeting is Thursday at eight p.m. in the "Y" to elect officers, etc. . . . Syracuse puck camp opens in Lindsay on Sept. 18 . . . We have one OBA team left, Welch's bantams, who drill at 6.15 tonight, Thursday and Friday at Riverside . . . The Show Window is filled.

England Wins Test Match

TORONTO, Sept. 11 (CP). — The first official three-day test cricket match between Canada and England ended Monday in victory for England by a margin of 141 runs.

After the match, the "ashes," symbol of cricket supremacy between Canada and England, were presented to R. W. V. Robins, captain of the touring English Marylebone Cricket Club, by L. J. H. Gunn, president of the Canadian Cricket Association.

The ashes are the remains of a totem pole burned in British Columbia.

The visitors left Monday night for Montreal, where they will play the last two matches of the tour. They meet all-Montreal on Tuesday and the West Indians on Wednesday.

Monday's play started with the MCC batting, their overnight score standing at 105 for one. To the surprise of everyone, the side was out for the additional total of 102, thus raising its second innings total to 207.

Faced with the problem of making 218 runs to win, the Canadians started confidently enough but ran into a ruthless attack which sent them reeling back with a disappointing score of 76.

Hastings Advances

HASTINGS, Sept. 11—(ENS)—Hastings intermediates made a couple of changes in their lineup on Saturday night at Pickering park and it paid off, as they took the deciding game from Pickering 5-1.

Crowley, who has been playing a standout game on third, was sent in to pitch, and Holmes, utility player, took over Crowley's duties. Both turned in fine performances.

Pyett was the opposing hurler and it was strictly a pitching duel, Pyett being touched for eight softies, while Crowley gave up but three. For four and a half innings the score board showed blank. Phillips walked in the fifth but was forced by Scriver, who went to second on Holmes' sacrifice. Jones sent Scriver home with a liner to centre field. Beavis singled, sending Jones to third. O'Sullivan promptly put the game on ice with a long homer to centre. Scott popped up to end the inning.

In the seventh Holmes sent a long drive to left that got away from Banks, and he went all the way around on it.

Crowley pitched a beautiful game and it wasn't till the ninth, as he tired, that Pickering threatened, but with a run in and the bases loaded and one away he settled down again, Banks and Pyett popping out to end the game.

Hastings now go against Portsmouth-Barriefield, and travel there Wednesday for the first game.

Pickering—Bryant ss, Koche 2b, Faralise c, Kaiser 1b, Bye 3b, Halter rf, Stewart c, Banks lf, Pyett p.

Hastings—Holmes 3b, Jones cf, Beavis ss, O'Sullivan 1b, Scott c, Crowley p, Crowe rf, Phillips lf, Scriver 2b.

Umpires—Higgins and Bennett, Oshawa.

Torontos Win B Crown

Eskimos Show Stukus Knew His Stuff

WINNIPEG, Sept. 11 (CP). — The experts smiled tolerantly a couple of weeks ago when big Annis Stukus predicted that this was Edmonton's year.

On paper, the Stukus-coached Eskimos looked like a third-place club at best in the Western Interprovincial Football Union. They had lots of promising kids, backed by a sprinkling of veteran Canadian-born players. But the big-name imports on some of the other clubs figured to slaughter them.

Even the acquisition of Frankie Filchock to do the Eskimos' signal-calling didn't seem to be enough. After all, Montreal Alouettes, with a much more powerful club, couldn't make the Big Four playoffs under Frankie's guidance last season.

Today, the words of the place-kicking fugitive from a Toronto sports writing job rate serious consideration.

Two-game Lead

The Eskimos are enjoying a two-game lead with five victories in six starts, the last a resounding 31-6 triumph over the highly-touted Saskatchewan Rough Riders last night.

Meanwhile Calgary Stampeders were pulling into a third-place tie, two points behind the second-place Riders, by downing Winnipeg Blue Bombers 18-12.

Despite the absence of two of their best backfielders, Ray Enright and Roland Miles, the Eskimos held Saskatchewan to a 6-6 score in the first half and murdered them with two touchdowns in each of the final two quarters.

Chunky Normie Kwong scored two Eskimo majors, while Mike King, George Festeryga and Jim Chambers also crossed the Rider goal line. Playing-coach Stukus booted all five converts.

An unconverted major by Bob Pelling and a single on a missed placement attempt by Red Ettinger, both in the first quarter, were Saskatchewan's only points.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Vancouver's great boxer Jimmy McLarnin punched his way to a three-round knockout over Al Singer, lightweight boxing champion, at New York 21 years ago tonight. The title didn't change hands because McLarnin was over the lightweight limit, later ruling the welterweight division.

HOG-TIED—Determined lacrosse players like Don Ashbee and Russ Slater are good reasons why Peterborough has a 3-0 lead in the Eastern Canada best-of-seven series. Ashbee, smothered by Mimico players, (upper), has just unleashed his Ashbee Special, a backhander into the left-hand corner past Mimico goalie, Red Hartley. Just about checked by Archie Dixon, the Timbermen's Russ Slater blazes a shot which just nicked the post as Red Hartley fans the breeze. Scoop Hayes (right) arrived too late to help Dixon foil Slater's goal-attempt. Incidentally the Timbermen won 19-5.

Petes' Timbermen Beat Mounties For Third E. Canada Victory As Bob Thorpe Scores Six Markers

Playing near-perfect lacrosse before a big crowd at Miller Bowl last night, the Petes' Timbermen thumped Mimico Mounties 19-5 to take a 3-0 lead in their best-of-seven Eastern Canada senior finals. Next game is Wednesday at Mimico. Don Crowe's crew practically toyed with the Mounties at times as they whipped the ball around in the Mimico area till a player shook loose to race in and score. They only had a 2-1 lead in the first quarter, but built it up to a 7-1 margin at the half, and led 12-4 going into the one-sided fourth frame. Play was quite clean, the visitors drawing the only two penalties. Don McPhail failed to play, his injured knee side-lining him. It drizzled rain through the fourth heat.

Presents Medals

OLA president Jeff Hipkin presented the senior championship association medals at half-time to Petes' club president Bob Pierson, who in turn handed them over to the team captain, Dootch Vitarelli. OLA secretary Chuck Rowan congratulated the winners and expressed thanks to the fans for their support during the season.

Bobby Thorpe was in fine form on quick breaks in close to lead the locals at bat with six smart goals, and Harry Wipper scored four. Two each went to Don Ashbee, Jerry Fitzgerald and Ross Powless, as singles were tallied by Ike Hildebrand, Arn Dugan and Dotoch Vitarelli. High with assists was Hildebrand with five, Fitzgerald and Dugan getting three each. Thorpe had a pair for his night's total of eight points, as singles went to Ashbee, Wipper, Mason and Slater.

Leading light for the losers was Kenny Dixon with three goals and an assist. Bernie Pritchard scored one and aided on another, as Pop Chard counted one. An assit each was counted by Ted Downer, Archie Dixon and Chuck Simpson. The latter and Wipper feuded a bit throughout but nothing came of it. Both goalies came up with some fine saves, but Hartley was peppered mercilesly in every quarter.

Smart Playing

The story of the scoring is in the summary. The pattern was a determined drive by fast-breaking forwards, good feed-ups by the defence and sharp passing and then shooting in close. They had Mimico hemmed in practically for minutes on end, awaiting a break and then cashing in fast at close range. Probably the smartest goal of the night was Don Ashbee's backhander from Dugan on the run to open the second chapter.

Mounties were well-beaten from early in the second quarter to the finish. They fought hard and got the odd tally the rest of the route, but the Petes were almost coasting in the last half. They didn't let up, but nevertheless practised up on their passing [illegible] work as the score mounted. Teams:

Mimico: Goal, Hartley; defence, A. Dixon and H. Downer; centre, Stocks; wings, Chard and K. Dixon; rover, T. Downer; alternates, Simpson, Pritchard, Lytle, Peterson, Hayes, Horwood and Knox.

Petes: Goal, Wootton; defence, Fitzgerald and O'Hearn; centre, Thorpe; wings, Vitarelli and Ashbee; rover, Dugan; alternates, Crowe, Wipper, Mason, Slater, Powless, Hildebrand and Creighton.

Referees: J. Murphy and P. Bain.

Belleville Will Miss OBA Playdowns

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 11.—President of the Belleville Baseball Association, Jack Carson, announced Monday that the Belleville Redmen will not compete in the OBA intermediate "A" playdowns, because of their heavy commitments in the Central Ontario Baseball League playoffs.

The Redmen are scheduled to meet Kingston Disney Leafs in a best-of-seven semi-final with the winner to meet either the defending champion Smiths Falls Royals or the Brockville Memos in a best-of-seven final series.

Bata Shoemen, who were ousted by the Redmen in a special playoff for the fourth and final playoff berth in the COBL, will go on in the OBA playdowns, and will meet Bowmanville in the first round.

Indians' Training Delayed One Week

LINDSAY, Sept. 11—The opening of Syracuse Indians' training camp will be delayed one week due to a change in the American Hockey League schedule, owner Eddie Shore informed Kiwanis Arena officials here. The five-week session was scheduled to open today but the first of 125 pros and amateurs will arrive here now on Sept. 18.

Shore is expected in town this weekend when dates will also be set for the second annual three-day hockey school conducted by the Indians and former Chicago Black Hawk William (Red) Mitchell, now recreation director.

RAMPAGING TIGER-CATS—Hamilton Tiger-Cats continued their winning ways in the Big Four football league with a 21-2 shellacking of Toronto Argonauts in Toronto's Varsity Stadium Saturday. It was the third straight victory for 'Cats'. Here Rod Smylie (70), Argos' flying wing, is brought down, left, by an unidentified Hamilton player. The field seems to be full of Tiger Cats as big Jake Gaudaur (22) and another visitor close in on the play. Other Hamilton players are outsides Vince Mazzo (55) and Joe Shinn (52), and inside Eddie Bevan, (31).

Odds Drop 9-5 Favoring Ray Robinson

By MURRAY ROSE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP): — Strong betting support for middleweight champion Randy Turpin has dropped the odds favoring Ray Robinson down to 9 to 5 today in a very brisk betting market. The price may even fall to 7 to 5.

But if you ask the guys in the fight mob—boxers, trainers and managers—you'll find them split wide apart on the outcome. And most of them believe the 23-year-old Briton should be no worse than even money against Sugar Ray in their 15-round title bout at the Polo Grounds tomorrow night.

The arguments for both the champ and the ex-champ rage through the night when the boys gather over their coffee in the Broadway spots.

But there seems to be a general opinion on one thing—that the 31-year-old Harlem dandy had better nail Randy within the first six rounds. Even the pro-Robinson crowd concedes that the unorthodox invader is apt to climb all over Sugar Ray if the bout goes beyond six heats.

The pro-Turpin following is strongest among those who have seen Randy fight in England. It includes trainer-manager Ray Arcel, promoter Johnny Attell, and manager Bill Daly.

Must Be Quick

"Robinson has got to get him quick," said Arcel, "because that guy is never going to let up on him."

Marshall Miles, manager of Joe Louis, and two ex-middleweight champions, Rocky Graziano and Jake Lamotta all favor Robinson.

"Robinson's got pride, lots of pride," said Jake. "He wants that title back in the worst way. He'll win."

Another manager, Jack Curley, declared "It's gotta be Robinson. He's got too much class for that strong boy. Who'd Turpin ever beat, anyhow.

"Robinson," was the simultaneous reply from Arcel, Attell and Daly.

The discussions are going on elsewhere, too, and the box office is booming like a new oil town surrounded by gushers.

The International Boxing Club already has taken in over $425,000 and the fight shapes up as a $600,000 sellout. The Polo Grounds can seat 55,000 for the fight with 15,000 of the chairs in the $30 field ringside sections.

Musial Leading Ball Scoring

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP). — When Jackie Robinson was asked last spring whether he thought he could win the National League batting championship, he shrugged his shoulders and replied:

"Not as long as Stan Musial is in this league. That fellow is in one class. The rest of us are in another."

How prophetic Robinson's words were is born out Monday by the averages. Musial, St. Louis Cardinals' one-man gang, is way up in the clouds with a .370 mark through games of Sunday, Sept. 9.

The second batter, Philadelphia's Richie Ashburn, is fully 30 points lower with a $340 figure. Robinson is third with .338.

A three-way tie shaped up for second place in the American League batting leadership.

Coupled at .323 through games of Sunday are George Kell of Detroit, Orestes Minoso of Chicago and Ted Williams of Boston. Leading the league again is Ferris Fain of Philadelphia with .332.

Frank Stranahan Biggest Upset On Opening Day Of Tournament

By RALPH BERNSTEIN.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 11 — (AP).—It doesn't pay to be a favorite in the 51st annual National Amateur Golf Championship.

If you don't believe it, ask Frank Stranahan, Toledo strongboy; big Bill Campbell, former West Virginia legislator, or Bobby Knowles, French amateur champion from Boston.

They were all mentioned as possible 1951 amateur kings. Today they're on the sidelines.

The big question among the 128 contestants left in the field at beautiful Saucon Valley Country Club is what famous golf head will roll in today's second round.

It could be defending champion Sam Urzetta of Rochester, NY, Walker Cuppers Willie Turnesa, Charley Coe, Jim McHale, Dick Chapman or Harold Paddock.

Unquestionably the elimination of Stranahan was the opening day's most astounding event. The spark-plug heir, who lost the 1950 amateur to Urzetta in a sudden-death playoff, was ushered out of the competition by a weekend golfer. It was Frank's ninth futile attempt to win a national amateur championship.

Rallies From Deficit

Bob Kuntz, a 29-year-old marketing administrator for a chemical firm, rallied from a two-hole deficit with two holes to play to tie the match in regulation play, and then outgamed the bewildered Stranahan in the second of two extra holes. Kuntz, of Larchmont, NY, admitted to having played only 11 weekend games of golf since the first of the year.

Campbell was almost slaughtered by Lloyd D. Ribner, White Plains, NY, 4 and 2. At one point Ribner was five up.

Bob Eckis, Jr., Kenmore, NY, a 27-year-old insurance salesman whose only claim to fame is a 10-year-old New York junior title, uprooted Knowles, like Stranahan and Campbell, a Walker Cupper, one up.

Another veteran to fall victim in the wave of upsets was Stanley (Ted) Bishop, white haired Weston, Mass., golfer. Bishop, 1946 amateur champion, received his comeuppance, one up, from Billy Joe Patton, 29-year-old lumber salesman from Morganton, NC.

Royals, Bisons Clash In Cup Playoffs

By The Associated Press.

Uneasy is the head that wears the crown but the pennant-winning Montreal Royals are still the team to beat as the International League's 19th annual Governor's Cup playoffs begin tonight.

The rampaging Royals will be gunning for their fifth playoff title as they clash with the fourth place Buffalo Bisons at Montreal Stadium. In the other semi-final series, the runner-up Rochester Red Wings will play the third place Syracuse Chiefs, also winners of four playoff championships, at Red Wings' stadium. Both series will be best-of-seven.

Southpaw Chris Van Cuyk, who started the season with Brooklyn Dodgers, will attempt to get the hard-hitting Royals off on the right foot when he opposes Buffalo's Rudy Minarcin before an expected crowd of 6,000 fans. Van Cuyk rung up an 11-4 record and had no decisions against the Bisons. The young Buffalo right-hander posted a 16-12 mark and was 1-3 against Montreal.

Another estimated crowd of 6,000 spectators will be on hand in Rochester to see a duel between a pair of lefthanders. Bill Miller, who annexed 16 games against 10 setbacks will draw the nod for the Chiefs. His mound opponent will be Jackie Collum, who wound up with a 15-8 slate. Miller chalked up one triumph in three outings against the Wings, while Collum whipped Syracuse twice without a reversal.

Brother Combination Developed By Detroit

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Sept. 11 (CP).—The Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League have developed three "brother" combinations since 1927.

This year general manager Jack Adams thinks the Wings have got another.

The two are Larry and John Wilson. Of Larry, Adams said on Monday: "He is a tremendous skater and stickhandler." And of John: "He has more ability in placing and receiving a pass in full stride than any other player I have ever seen."

Detroit Red Wings are training here for the winter season.

Resume Three-Way Scrap For American League Flag

By RALPH RODEN, Associated Press Sports Writer

New York Yankees, Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox, resume their three-cornered battle for the American League pennant today after a welcomed one-day respite. Cleveland, trailing the pace-setting Yankees by four percentage points, has the toughest road to travel. The Indians open their final eastern swing of the year in Philadelphia with a twi-night doubleheader with the pesky A's.

Including the twin-bill with the A's, the Indians are charted to play 13 games on the road before returning home for two single games against Detroit on the last two days of the season. Thus Manager Al Lopez' tribe is confronted with the difficult task of winning the pennant on the road—a feat seldom accomplished.

Meanwhile, the Yanks, who play 16 of their remaining 19 games at Yankee Stadium, entertain the last-place St. Louis Browns in a doubleheader.

Only Cloud

The only Cloud in the Yankee picture is that the Bombers are booked to play the third-place Red Sox eight games during the last 10 days of the season. If the Indians enjoy a successful tour, they could slip home first while the Red Sox and Yanks are at each other's throats. The Red Sox, 5½ games behind clash with the fifth-place Detroit Tigers in Boston while the one-two teams are engaged in twin bills.

The A's fresh from a double victory over Boston Sunday have jarred both the Yanks and Indians of late. They knocked the Yanks off the top perch three times in 22 days and recently took two out of three from the Indians in Cleveland.

The Yanks have feasted on the Browns all season winning 17 out of 20 games.

The Yankees and Indians clash in a two-game series at the Stadium beginning Sunday. After the big series the Indians invade Boston for a pair of games and then head west.

Meanwhile, Brooklyn Dodgers resume their drive for the National League pennant by engaging the Reds in a night game at Cincinnati. The Dodgers are 5½ games ahead of the runner-up New York Giants. The Giants take on the red hot Cardinals in a twi-night twin bill at St. Louis. The Cards have won 13 out of their last 14 starts.

Massey-Harris manufactures 207 different types of time and labor-saving farm machines that are increasing food production in practically every country in the world.

Science in the Corn Field

- Has Increased Yields By One-Third
- Has Cut Man-Time In Half
- Has Pushed Canada's "Corn Belt" Many Miles Northward

In just twelve years, Canadians have written a remarkable chapter into the progress and production of corn in this country. Crossing and recrossing hundreds of corn varieties, Canadian plant experts have developed superior hybrid strains of Canadian corn that are hardier and stronger . . . mature earlier . . . and yield up to one-third more grain or fodder.

Continuous research and field testing have aided engineers in developing modern time and labor-saving machines like the big, smooth-working Massey-Harris self-propelled Corn Picker (above) that picks more corn than 15 men using old-fashioned methods. These mighty machines have speeded up the harvest and freed more men for industry in times of national emergency.

Quick to recognize advance in plant breeding and modern machinery, enterprising Canadian farmers have steadily expanded hybrid corn growing in this country . . . harvesting hardy, bountiful crops to help make all Canadians more prosperous.

Train Noise At Midnight Protested

Neighborhood Of Chamberlain St. Unable To Sleep

Norman Fletcher of Fagan Ave. presented a neighborhood petition to the council Monday night appealing for some action to prevent midnight shunting of the CPR west of Chamberlain St.

The 150 signatures were from residents of Brewer, Douglas, St. Mary's, Romaine, High, Brown and other streets in that southwest section of the city. They specifically ask that shunting be prohibited between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. They say that the noise of the CPR train, banging cars, ringing the engine bell, the steam exhaust and all the other noises including train crew palaver, some of it peculiarly embroidered interfered with sleep and rest, not only of the heads of families but also of young children.

Complained To Doctor

Dr. Herbert Young said he knew patients who complained of lack of sleep, especially in illness, caused by the nocturnal noise of shunting.

It seems that the CPR makes up a train here at night, picking up cars loaded at Peterborough manufacturing plants, and heading off to Toronto, usually prior to the arrival of the midnight express to Ottawa at 2 a.m.

Council chuckled at the grim humor in which Mr. Fletcher related the technique of the CPR crew as they go about their banging business, apparently with no keen appreciation of such matters as people of the district, speeding up the job and so on. But, he said, it was different on rainy nights.

The property of the signatories to the petition, said Mr. Fletcher, represented a substantial sum of city assesment and taxes. With almost all property in the city occupied by houses, it was really necessary that some people should have to live near one railway or the other.

Waits For Bedtime

In his ironic statement, Mr. Fletcher said that apparently the CPR deliberately waited until most people have retired for the night before they start bumping the cars around out in the vicinity of the Romaine-Monaghan Road crossing.

Ald. J. E. Gillespie said that there was now a list of matters which the council wished to take up with the CPR. One of them was the paving of the station plaza. If action was going to be delayed further, the council should consult the Board of Railway Transport.

Ald. T. D. Miller emphasized the expansion of the city toward the southwest, and suggested that the sidings which are now within the centre of residences were once on the boundary of town.

He asked why the sidings could not be moved beyond the city.

Consult Transport Board

Ald. Gillespie said all these matters might be refered to the Board of Transport, including Ald. Young's reference to the CPR request for permission to increase its rate of speed through Peterborough.

Ald. J. A. Dewart's motion proposes that these several proposals and requests be discussed by the council with representatives of the CPR.

Probably an early meeting may be arranged with some superintendent, reviewing broadly these matters which appear to have been overlooked in conversations with company executives this year.

Mr. Lloyd Owen also spoke briefly in support of the petition.

Carries Labor Vote

When Bill Beggs, president of Local 293, United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL), travels to the CCL convention in Vancouver he will carry with him an extra two votes from the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CIO-CCL). Mr. Beggs is a delegate from his own local. The credentials to vote on behalf of the labor council were given to him Monday night at the monthly meeting of the council.

Four Generations Honor Woman On 89th Birthday

Mrs. Clara Barnes, 1022 Monaghan Rd., is celebrating her 89th birthday today.

Attending the birthday gathering are four generations of her family. She has four sons, three daughters, 16 grandchildren and 34 great-grandchildren.

However, all of this great-grandmother's family can't be here to wish her happy birthday. Two sons, Robert and Sam, are living in England. Four of her remaining children, John, Mrs. Edith Cookman, Mrs. J. Costance (Eliza) and Miss Clara Barnes, live in Peterborough. Herbert lives in Mount Dennis, Ontario.

The youngest great-grandchild is a four-dav-old boy, son of Dr. and Mrs. Murray Mink, Winnipeg.

Mrs. Barnet was born in Bungay, Suffolk, England. In February of 1882 she married William Henry Barnes and the couple moved to Peterborough, Canada, in 1910, when he was employed at the CGE. Mr. Barnes died in 1933.

Mrs. Barnes is a member of Park St. Baptist Church.

Polio Victim "Acutely Ill"

Colin Cameron, 13-year-old polio victim, who was rushed to Riverdale Isolation hospital Toronto early this morning is reported to be "acutely ill" by hospital officials.

The report also said that the boy is having difficulty swallowing. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cameron, 511 Stewart St.

Reported to be "seriously ill and in a respirator" is Donald Hutchison, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Hutchison, RR 11, Peterborough who was taken by ambulance to Riverdale hospital, Sunday.

The third Peterborough polio victim to be taken to Toronto during the past three days is Neil Henry, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Henry, 5 Bellevue St. He was taken to the Sick Children's hospital, Monday.

Satisfactory

Henry's condition is reported as "satisfactory, showing a slight improvement after a restless night."

Three more cases of diagnosed polio have also been reported by Board of Health officials. They are a 11-year-old boy from RR 2, Hastings; a seven-year-old girl and a 18-year-old girl, both of Peterborough.

One suspect case is also in hospital under observation.

This brings the total for Peterborough and district to 47 cases, 25 of which have been from the city.

Bylaws Passed To Finance New $650,000 Collegiate

Third reading of two bylaws for the financing of the new Collegiate Institute in the southwest end of the city completed last night authorization of the debenture loans. The bylaws were introduced by Ald. T. D. Miller, chairman of the finance committee. The interest rate on the 20-year debentures is 4½ per cent, an increase indicating the higher cost of municipal borrowing that is general throughout the country.

The bylaws provide $585,000 and the additional $65,000, details which have recently been explained.

Ontario Municipal Board approved the issue. As to the interest charge, it is considerably lower than the price of debentures that are being retired this year.

One loan that is being paid off was for $240,000 at 6 per cent for 30 years; another $7,600 at 6¼ per cent; and a third item of $12,800 at six per cent. The long terms applied to each.

That money was raised for the building of the Prince of Wales school, at a time when debenture rates were high.

On the big loan of those three, the rate has been six per cent for 30 years, as compared with the present 4½ per cent. Cost of municipal financing by debentures has increased considerably within the last year.

Shadow Of Doubt Charge Dismissed

A "slight shadow of doubt" resulted today in dismissal of a careless driving charge against Arthur Warrington of Hastings.

Reviewing the evidence, Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, said there was only the "slightest shadow of doubt" and on the basis of that he would dismiss the charge.

OPP Constable John McKendry told court he found Warrington's car in a swamp on the north side of Highway 7 in the early morning of August 28. The accused was in a drunken condition, "talkative, unsteady and nonsensical", the officer said.

From tire marks, the officer said he decided the sedan had been travelling east, then suddenly had swerved diagonally across the road and into the swamp. Constable McKendry said there was no sign of brakes having been applied.

Warrington testified that in recent years he had had one kidney removed, six-sevenths of his stomach, and he was suffering from a heart ailment. He had about six beers that night and either blacked out or suffered a severe pain just before the accident occurred.

On a charge of illegal possession of liquor—a part mickey of rum was found in the car—Warrington pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and $2.50. He was represented by Ralph Standish.

Two Cars Collide

Two cars were damaged slightly Sunday night when they collided on Charlotte St. at Reid St. Drivers were James S. Marett, 14 Maria St., and Donald Morrison, Woodville.

Marett was driving east on Charlotte St. and when almost to Reid St. saw the Morrison car start south across Charlotte on Reid. He braked, but could not avoid the southbound car.

Front of the Marett car was damaged, and the right side of the Morrison auto.

Labor Council To Educate Union Members

An intensive program is to be launched by the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CIO-CCL) to educate the membership on union business and also on political affairs.

This was announced at the September meeting Monday night by Ed Humphrey, Local 434, UPWA (CIO-CCL), chairman of the political action committee.

Mr. Humphrey said that it was obvious that the rank and file—and even the delegates to the council— could benefit from a course on the fundamentals of trade unionism.

Purpose of this program would be to "consolidate the union status in this area, also to further our economic gains by obtaining legislative support to make our gains effective and applicable to all workers."

Mr. Humphrey said that unions have been able to get wage increases and certain welfare benefits but "financial interests," through their control of money and governments, have always been able to nullify these gains by raising prices.

"We must elect a government that looks after our interests," he said.

The first of the series of meetings will be September 27 at the K of C hall, Simcoe St. Dave Archer, executive secretary of the Ontario Federation of Labor will be the main speaker.

Oval Remains Barred To Football

Council Supports Recommendation Of Parks Committee

Nicholls Oval remains barred to collegiate football this season by the decision of the council Monday night supporting its parks committee and Superintendent Armar Butcher.

The recommendation of the committee, presented by its chairman, Ald. P. J. Anglesey, was. "That we regretfully advise Mr. G. B. Goulding (PCVS coach), that this committee cannot allow the Peterborough Collegiate football teams to use Nicholls Oval for games and practices this year."

The report had been withdrawn from the regular order of business for later discussion. And, in that stage, Ald. Herbert Young moved that Ald. Anglesey give his report.

Discussed in Committee

Ald. Anglesey told the council the application of Mr. Goulding had been thoroughly discussed in committee, with Mr. Butcher present.

"The parks superintendent said he was sure in his opinion that Nicholls Oval should not be used for football. Of course if the council wishes to differ with the superintendent . . ."

Ald. Young interjected the limiting pharse "for this year" in reference to the Butcher policy of giving the Oval turf a rest for necessary sodding and seeding.

Ald. Hugh Waddell, who declined to vote for adoption of the committee's report, said the field looked to be in good condition and that football had been played at the Oval for a great many years.

"Of course the superintendent knows better than I do," Ald. Waddell said. "However, there are only a few weeks left until frost comes. It seems to me that it perhaps could be seeded or sodded later in the fall, and again early in the spring."

To a question as to cost, Ald. Anglesey quoted Mr. Butcher's estimate of $350, "but if the work is held up this season it might cost $700 or more next year."

Riverside Too Soft

Ald. J. A. Dewart enquired whether Riverside Park had been considered. To that query, Ald. Anglesey said that field had been discussed with Mr. Butcher. It is a soft turf and had recently been damp.

"Shouldn't the council be guided by its parks committee?" Ald. T. D. Miller asked. "They have considered what is in the best interest of Nicholls Park, and I think we should be guided by the committee."

To Ald. Braund's question as to the effect of staying off the Oval this year, another interjection suggested that the Collegiate would likely have its own playing field a year hence, presumably on the grounds of the new collegiate institute on Monaghan Road south.

Sentiment of the council appeared to sway between the customary letting of the Oval to the collegiate teams on the one hand, and the policy of endorsing committee recommendations.

In the discussion before the vote was taken, Mayor Swanston said he understood that if practices could be held at the Oval, games would be switched to Morrow Park.

Oldest NJ Mason Dies Former City Resident

BURLINGTON, NJ, Sept. 11.—(AP)—William A. Yuill, honored recently as New Jersey's oldest living Mason, died Monday in the Masonic Home here at the age of 100.

He came to the Masonic Home last April and celebrated his birthday there Aug. 12.

A native of Peterborough, Ont., Yuill was an itinerant printer, working throughout northern New York, Boston and Philadelphia, and later joining the composing room staff of the old Newark Journal.

He was a member and one-time master of Prince Rupert Lodge of the Masonic order in Winnipeg.

False Alarm

People around the corner of Hunter and George Sts. thought for a few moments early Monday evening that another downtown fire had started when they saw clouds of black gritty smoke billowing out of the entrance to the lane behind the Bank of Toronto building off Hunter St. However, it was only fine coal being poured into one of the basements along the alley. No one could get close enough to see which one. The grime was still smudging the sidewalks along Hunter St. today at noon.

Normal School Opens 136 Register

School opened today for teachers-to-be at Peterborough's Normal school. Early registration was 10 students above the 1950 opening day of 126, according to L. W. Copp, principal. He added that there may be some losses after the required medical examinations.

This year the teachers-in-training cover a slightly larger area than last year, coming here from Kingston on the east to Beaverton on the west and from the lakeshore to Bancroft and Haliburton on the north.

Again this year the men are nearly outnumbered four-to-one by the women; in fact the number of men registering this year decreased slightly to 30 from 1950's 33.

The X-raying equipment of both the Civic and St. Joseph's hospitals was used during the medical examinations of both the future teachers and the Normal school staff. Three doctors were conducting the medical examinations.

Only one change in the staff was reported, Mrs. J. E. R. Munro 711 Sherbrooke St., replacing Miss Constance Wagar who recently left for Trinidad where she will teach for four years.

Mr. Copp said that the students this year had little trouble finding accommodation and that all have been placed. Requests for student boarders are still being made.

Must Buy Coal Or Wait In Line

City coal dealers are in full greement with Mines Minister Prudham who issued the weekend warning to Canadians that further delay in storing winter coal will lead to a "serious situation."

The minister said that coal orders are down 30 per cent from a year ago. If this lag in buying continues, he warned, it will be next to impossible to catch up with the demand in the fall and winter months, even with the mines working to capacity.

McCarthy and Johnston put the lag at about 20 per cent. A company spokesman said the reason is probably that money is "tighter" this year. Householders, some of them just making their budgets stretch from week to week, have not scraped up the extra cash to buy their winter's supply.

The same spokesman urged consumers to store away at least some of their fuel now.

First Snowfall

"If everybody waits for the first cold day or the first snowfall we'll be unable to fill the orders," he said. "We'd estimate that sales are down about 20 per cent but in the last three weeks they have been picking up a bit."

J. E. F. Fitzgerald Fuels said they were down about 200 orders for the same period last year. Delivery will be slower when a multitude of small orders come in and trucking is more difficult because of ice and snow.

Montgomery Bros. also report buying down on the same period a year ago. They, too, attribute it to a lack of spare cash among the householders.

The minister also mentioned another bottleneck preventing the swift delivery of coal: the shortage of railway cars.

Within the last few weeks he has issued two statements urging consumers to start storing their coal now. He said it is "regrettable" that little notice has been taken of his first warning.

Fire Trust Fund Set Up By City Bylaw Five Trustees Are Named

Judge Smoke Heads Board Of Trustees, Will Use $60,000 Collected For Dependents Of Four Fire Victims

Creation of the Mayor's Fire Trust Fund with the appointment of its trustees and administrators was set in the authority of a bylaw by the council Monday night. City Solicitor Huycke explained that the five trustees will succeed the temporary trust composed of Mayor Swanston, C. S. Cummer, and William Wallace of the Bank of Montreal staff. The permanent trustees are: His Honor Judge S. L. Smoke, Mayor Swanston, T. J. Carley, KC, Mrs. Fred Hooper, president of the Red Cross Society, and Mr. C. W. Bennett, president of the Fire Fighters' Association. Four of them are designated by virtue of their respective offices. The only exception is Mr. Carley.

The fund, approximately $60,000, is for the benefit of the dependents of the four men who died in the Zacks building fire, May 19 last. Three of them were members of the Fire Department, and the fourth was a volunteer fire fighter. They were: George Reynolds, Orville Rome, Grover Deck, and Earl Spencley.

Trustees To Decide

Mr. Huycke said the temporary trust was legally in charge of the fund, but that now they should hand over the trust deed to the permanent trustees. The terms of the trust were wide, Mr. Huycke said. The capital and income was to be expended for the beneficiaries, who were all named. Trustees were given discretion in the disbursement of the money for the advantage and advancement of the dependents.

Ald. H. F. Waddell, who introduced this by-law asked whether there was any provision for reporting to the Council from time to time how the money was used.

Mr. Huycke said the Council had no control over the money. It was a responsibility of the trust, but there was a connection through the person of the Mayor between the Council and the trust.

Mayor Swanston said it would be generally recognized that nothing should be done to brin any embarrassment upon the beneficiaries of the fund.

Informed Privately

"Discretion should extend to the publication regarding certain accounts that are paid," His Worship said. "I think the Mayor would feel that it was his duty to keep the Council more or less privately informed, so that they will know what is being carried out."

Mr. Huycke said the Council had assumed leadership in collecting the money, but even that was outside its municipal duties.

Ald. E. C. Braund remarked that citizens "even now are asking what is being done with the money. . . . We don't want to embarrass anybody, but I think the public would like to know what is happening to it."

Mr. Huycke explained that accounts would be duly passed before the Judge of the Surrogate Court. The members of the trust were reputable citizens, he said. "There is no clause directing them to report to the Council," Mr. Huycke said in answer to Ald. Anglesey as to whether the Council had any authority to ask for a report.

"Just so the people would know how the money was being disbursed, even if a report was given once a year or once in three years," Ald. Waddell suggested. "Probably none of us will see the end of the trust."

The point of publication of distribution of the fund from time to time was not pressed further. It is generally understood, no doubt, that the four ex officio members remain trustees only so long as their incumbency of office.

Socialized Medicine Needed But People Must Pay--Doctor

"With state or socialized medicine you'll get what you pay for and you'll pay for what you get."

This statement was made by Dr. J. Harold Couch, eminent surgeon of Toronto General hospital at the Rotary luncheon meeting Monday. The speaker's topic was the social and economic aspects of medicine.

"The average man must be made to realize plans for socialized medicine aren't motivated by the wish to play Santa Claus but to avoid financial tragedies in families," continued Dr. Couch "Socialized medicine must be universal, compulsory and contributory, when it comes into effect."

The speaker attributed the present interest in state medicine as following the political trend of the age towards the left—socialization. But he stated the belief that the idea would not be so popular if people realized how much it would cost the country —the people themselves.

He quoted $700,000,000 as the cost to Canada to administer a socialized medicine scheme.

"Three questions—do we need it? De we want it? And if we do want it what kind do we want?—have to be answered before any steps are taken towards such a scheme," the doctor continued.

Giving his viewpoints in answers to these questions, the speaker said that some form of socialized medicine was needed because 90 per cent of the country's population received incomes of $2,800 and less. As a result the financial setbacks of long expensive illnesses could not be afforded.

To the second question, Dr. Couch stated that if the people of Canada do want it it is up to them to decide what kind is wanted. "They will have to be realistic and accept somethting feasible," he said.

At this point, the speaker discussed common belief that doctors oppose socialized medicine. He explained that their opposition is not due to any fear of financial loss, but rather the fear that such a scheme would threaten their independence and break the personal relationship between doctors and their patients. Doctors would gain financially through such a scheme, because there would be no more charity patients.

"This idea of security from cradle to grave is merely a catch phrase," he concluded. "The sooner we stop asking for security and start asking for opportunity, the sooner we will have this security of socialized medicine in Canada."

Dr. Couch was introduced by Dr. R. K. Magee and thanked by Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH.

Say 54,000 Germans Nucleus Of Red Army

BONN, Germany, Sept. 11 — (AP).. — A British survey revealed Monday that East German alert units—seen as a nucleus for a new army—now number 54,000 Russian-trained and Russian-armed troops. Western authorities charge the units have no police role as the Communists claim, but are part of a thinly-veiled rearmament of the Soviet occupation zone of Germany.

Wallet Wisdom Found In Today's Teens

It's a common pastime among many teen-age girls to include miniature shopping sprees among the pleasures of allowance day. With their newly-received riches jangling in their wallets, they browse through the stores, purchasing almost any priced-right gay thing their glances chance to fall upon. Buying a scarf here, a belt or lapel pin there, they go their merry way until their funds are exhausted.

The result may be fun, but chances are, it won't be fashion-right. A wardrobe assembled from such an unrelated and unplanned selection is—a rag-tag assortment.

It's a better idea to practice a bit of self-discipline when there's money in your pocket. It's a wonderful to know, as you walk past a display of goods, that you have the wherewithal to buy them. But a wise girl sets her standards not upon momentary purchasing power, but upon genuine considered needs and wants.

Suppose you spot a bargain belt, for instance. Before parting with your money ask yourself these question. Is this a good style for me? Exactly how many costumes do I have that would be enhanced by this belt? How sure am I the colors will actually match? Is this really what I would choose if I had a little more money?

If the belt flunks out when submitted to this questionnaire, it's a better plan to return it resolutely to its counter. Then go home and take a good look at your clothes. Do you really need a belt, and if so what hue and kind? Having decided this, you can shop more intelligently.

Chances are, you'll theicide to hang onto your allowance for two or three weeks until you've accumulated enough for a truly handsome belt.

You'll find such self-control and purposeful waiting pays off in a way you'd never imagined possible back when you were limiting your price tags to the size of one week's allowance.

Miss C. Toal Is Re-elected President Of Council At Closing CWL Session

Re-election of the officers of the Ontario Provincial Council of the Catholic Women's League of Canada marked the brief closing session of the annual convention of the Council, held from Friday afternoon to Monday noon at the Empress Hotel, with 96 delegates registered from all over the province, and a very successful series of sessions concerned with reports and discussions.

Miss Catherine Toal of London was re-elected by acclamation as provincial president; Mrs. M. F. McGlade of Smiths Falls was re-elected as vice president; Miss Alice Daly of Seaforth had an acclamation for her re-election as secretary, as did Miss Anna Tierney of Ottawa, for the post of provincial treasurer. Among the nominations for vice-president was the name of Miss Agnes Grant of Peterborough, who regretfully declined the nomination. The report of the nominating committee was presented by Mrs. James V. O'Shea of Toronto; with Mrs. W. A. Walker of Toronto presiding.

Conveners Named

At the meeting of the executive which followed the close of the regular session, the following conveners were named:

Education: Miss Irma Hueglin of Kitchener; citizenship, Mrs. T. M. Neville of Douglas; press: Mrs. O'Gorman Lynch of Kingston; social action, welfare, health and nutrition: Mrs. W. Brown of Kapuskasing; immigration: Mrs. H. T. Donihee of Cornwall; organization: Mrs. E. G. Knope of Toronto; resolutions: Mrs. M. F. McGlade of Smiths Falls; finance: Mrs. W. A. Walker of Toronto (re-elected); spiritual: Miss Agnes Grant of Peterborough. The convener for Girl Guides will be named later.

Kitchener was chosen as the city where the next annual convention of the Provincial Council will be held.

At the closing session of the convention, which had as its motto: "Unswerving Loyalty to God in Matters of Faith and Morals", the opening was provided by Mass celebrated by the Most Rev. John C. Cody, D.D., LL.D., of London, National Director of the Catholic Women's League, with the Mass' intention for "Deceased Members of the C.W.L."

Organizes Missionaries

An interesting late visitor at the concluding session was the brisk and much-liked octogenerian, Rt. Rev. Monsignor D. E. MacDonald of Alexandria, who, in recent years, has interested himself in the organization of Our Lady's Missionaries, a group of young women studying for foreign mission work in Alexandria, and sponsored by the Catholic Women's League. Monsignor MacDonald, seeking means of raising funds to assist in the training of these postulants, came to interest the League members in a Christmas-card project which he described in detail, and which they agreed to assist in every way.

Honor Miss Grant

Miss Agnes Grant, to whose untiring efforts much of the success of the convention was due, was presented with a beautiful pin set in colored zircons, and with the grateful apreciation of the executive and members of the convention. Miss Catharine Toal also expressed thanks for the unswerving loyalty and support given her by her assistants.

His Excellency, Bishop Smith of Pembroke, who attended all sessions in his capacity of Provincial Director, said: "As one of the colonels in the army of Christ in this province, I wish to thank you all for the splendid co-operation you have given the League and the church. You are worthy of the highest praise and I know you will go on from year to year serving Catholic womanhood as you have in the past."

The local committee of ladies from Peterborough who assisted in the work of the convention included Miss Agnes Grant, ably supported by Miss May Grady, Mrs. F. J. Lynch, Mrs. S. J. Houlihan, Mrs. L. Martyn, Mrs. M. Coughlin, Mrs. E. Collis, Mrs. H. Masterson, and Miss Gladys Costello.

Mrs. G. Torpey was convener of credentials, and Mrs. P. J. Burke was in charge of tickets.

Those who provided cars for the Sunday afternoon drive around the city included Mesdames S. J. Houlihan, W. H. Toal, J. Legris, P. Anglesey, T. Cavanagh, J. J. Ahearne, J. Collins, J. Torpey, E. Collis, D. F. McCarthy, D. Howell, M. E. Finn, J. Hickey, the Misses Betty Meagher and Ruth Lansfield, Messrs. W. Cunningham and Jack Lane.

If you were a bee, you could, as bees do, use your wings as a fan to cool the house. But while bees are busy ventilating, they can't be gathering honey. So hives with aluminum roofs (ten to fifteen degrees cooler) make bees more efficient. Some day aluminum houses may do the same for housewives.

Aluminum is an ideal insulator for hives — and homes. This is one of a dozen reasons why the demand for aluminum is growing so rapidly, and why we are building new plants and powerhouses to make more aluminum. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Miss Margaret English and her assistants have gone through the hospital twice each week with the tuck-shop. The visiting and library committees also reported weekly visits, and told of the deep appreciation shown by many of the patients. Mrs. I. McRae, reporting for the boottee committee, spoke with gratitude of the voluntary work of so many who are helping the auxiliary by making boottees for the new babies born in Civic Hospital, and especially of the work of Mrs. J. R. Marshall, who, to date, has donated the wool and made 1,000 pairs of boottees.

Mrs. E. Chambers, convener of the membership committee, announced the opening date of the membership campaign, Sept. 20, the campaign to be launched by a tea for the canvassers on Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 19, in the conference room of the hospital.

Mrs. Fanning announced the annual hospital aids convention to be held in Toronto from Oct. 29 to 31, and Mrs. Huffman, Mrs. Fanning and Mrs. Chambers were appointed to attend as delegates. Mrs. Fanning also announced the forming of the Canadian National Council of Hospital Auxiliaries which took place in Ottawa in May.

Mr. J. Hornal introduced Miss E. Robson, newly appointed director of the Civic Hospital School of Nursing, who spoke briefly. Mrs. Fanning, on behalf of the auxiliary, welcomed her to Peterborough and to the Women's Auxiliary.

Mr. Hornal voiced his appreciation of the contribution the ladies continue to make to the hospital and to the patients.

Airline Hostess Make-Up Limited

LONDON —(CP)—British Airlines have issued a new set of regulations for airline hostesses, and they're pretty strict.

The girls are barred from chewing gum, eating sweets or smoking on duty. They're forbidden to drink while in uniform, of course, but they are also cautioned against wearing a lot of jewelry and using the passengers' powder-rooms.

They must keep their hair off their shoulders and use only moderate make-up. While on duty, they must always wear the uniform hat.

Hairdresser Fills Five Roles In Woman's Life

TORONTO, Sept. 11 (CP). — When a woman visits a hairdresser she doesn't expect a pile of old magazines, a discussion of the last ball game and a fast once-over with the clippers and shears. She expects a period of relaxation, a little applied psychology and some practical philosophy as well as a hair-styling from her visit to the beauty salon.

At least that is what Ingerid of Miss Ingerid's studio of hair design, New York, yesterday told delegates attending the three-day educational convention of the Ontario Hairdressers' Association. The hairdresser fills the roles of father-confessor, morale-booster, creative artist, teacher and psychiatrist, she said.

"Each woman has a repertoire of personalities," she said. "She may feel like a gamin today, a dramatic actress tomorrow and like the perfect wife and mother the next day. Her hair style should reflect these facets of her personality."

Ingerid's own hairstyle? "Shaggy but smart."

New Dress Line, Fur Coats Put On Display

Five nights of "open house" at Blacks of Peterborough began on Monday following the plan introduced last spring when more than 800 people were their guests. It is believed the fall attendance will be greater still.

Black's open house is similar to a fashion show in which all the latest merchandise is introduced. This fall they have a special new line of dresses and have secured the agency of a large Canadian manufacturer of fur coats. Jean Whitaker, fur stylist from Toronto is here to introduce the coats.

Guests are invited to try on any of the merchandise they like and this idea seems quite popular, especially with the coats and suits.

Several draws are being made each evening and the winners Monday of hosiery were Dorothy Connell, Mrs. G. Pickel, Mrs. J. Might, Mrs. Gerald Wood and Dolores Bannister.

To complete the evening, delicious refreshments were being served.

Admission is by invitation only and is free of charge.

Young Golf Champ Wears Pro's Cap For Luck In Game

By KAY REX

FONTHILL, Ont., Sept. 11—(CP)—Pictures of the "champ" show a kid with a boyish grin who looks as though she would prefer tweeds to crinolines and golf balls to lipsticks.

Actually, the boys hanging around the corner would call her a "neat dish."

Marlene Stewart is a tidy size 12 wearing a size 4 shoe. As one male admirer said, when she gets that plaid cap over her curly chestnut hair, she's "cute as a button."

The cap is fast becoming a fixed part of the playing equipment of the 17-year-old Miss who last June won the Ontario Women's Open Golf Championship and went on to take the Canadian open and closed titles in August. It belonged to "Gordie"—Gordon McInnis, the pro at nearby Lookout Point Golf Club who taught Marlene just about everything she knows of golf.

Marlene won't admit that she wears it for luck. But it's always on her head during important tournaments.

Long Time Ago

The young star of the 1951 national golf tournaments only a few years ago was on an all-star baseball team in public school in her home in this Niagara Falls peninsula town. "But that was a long, long time ago," says 17-year-old Marlene.

There hasn't been much baseball since she took to hanging around the golf club five summers ago.

"I haven't got the time for it any more," Marlene said. "I still play basketball at school and also some badminton in winter."

Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Harold Stewart, her parents, has any idea where their curly-headed daughter got her sports talent. Neither plays golf. Nor does either claim to having taken part in any sports activities at all, though Marlene says her mother used to play softball and her father, hockey.

The family moved to Fonthill 10 years ago from Cereal, Alta., near Calgary. Mrs. Stewart used to play on the Cereal ball team.

Small Circuit

"But it was just a little circuit," she said hastily. "And that was a long time ago."

Marlene is shy when questioned about her likes and dislikes on the distaff side of life.

"I don't like baking at all," she said. "And I can knit—socks; at least I used to, before I began playing golf."

Golf takes up most of her spare time, even in winter. Canada's youngest golfing champion usually can be found attending McInnis' golf school two nights a week at nearby St. Catharines throughout the winter.

WASHING'S NO PROBLEM NOW!

"Mummy took Auntie's advice"

'It takes seven colours to make true white,' Auntie said. 'One of them is blue. That's why you must use Blue in your wash. Just swish Reckitt's Blue through the rinse. It prevents that yellow tinge and you avoid taking chances with anything that may damage fabrics.' Reckitt's Blue costs so little, mummy says, 'and out of the blue comes the whitest wash.'

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Eat Your Peaches Raw

Some people are nounds for work. Why—when peaches are at their luscious best when eaten sliced without any sugar or cream—why do folks write to me for recipes for pies, shortcakes, puddings and frozen desserts?

I'll answer my own question. They love to cook. They love to see that gleam of pleasure in the eyes of their loved ones over the dinner table, when they taste the lovely concoctions they have created with their own willing hands.

Well, if they are willing I am too.

Peaches and Cream Open-face Pie

Into a pastry-lined pie plate slice about 5 large peaches (more if peaches are small). Mix together in a pitcher and pour over the peaches ½ or 2-3 cup sugar, ¼ cup flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon each cinnamon and freshly ground nutmeg, 1 cup heavy cream. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for about 35 to 40 minutes and serve slightly warm. For different appearance peach halves may be placed round side up in pastry-lined pie plate and cream poured over them. This same treatment may be used for blueberries or plums. For plums increase sugar to 2-3 to ¾ cup.

Peach Dowdy

Six slices stale bread, 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 cups sliced peaches well-packed, ½ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, ¼ teaspoon freshly grated nutmeg. Spread the bread with the butter. Cut 1 slice in ½-inch cubes, the other slices in halves. Put 3 halves in bottom of buttered baking dish, cover with one-third of the peaches. Repeat these layers until bread and peaches are gone having cubes on top. The fruit should be sprinkled with the sugar and rind and nutmeg as you layer it. Bake at 375 40 minutes. Serve with cream or clear lemon sauce.

Peach Dumplings

Roll out your best pastry to ⅛ inch thickness, cut into 7-inch squares. Prepare large juicy sweet peaches, by cutting out the pit without injuring the shape of the peach. Use a sharp pointed knife for this. Fill the hole with jam or jelly or better still, with mixture of ½ cup sugar and 1 teaspoon cinnamon. Place dot of butter on top of filling. Bring opposite points of pastry up over the peach and overlap them. Moisten the corners to make them seal. Pick up carefully and place in shallow baking dish. If desired pour over them a sauce made by boiling together 2-3 cup sugar with 1½ cups water, 2 tablespoons butter and ¼ teaspoon nutmeg. Bake at once in oven of 425 deg. Fahr. for about 40 or 45 minutes or until crust is nicely golden brown. Serve warm with cream of unsweetened whipped cream.

Jellied Fruit Beauty

This recipe serves four and requires 1 large fine-flavored cantaloupe, 3 peaches, ½ cup halved sweet green grapes. Make a lemon jelly by soaking 2 teaspoons gelatine in 2 tablespoons cold water, for 5 minutes. Dissolve by stirring into 1 cup boiling water. Add 3 tablespoons lemon juice and 1-3 cup sugar. Stir well and let cool enough to begin to congeal. Halve and pare the cantaloupe. Fill each half with the sliced peaches and grapes. Pour over the fruit in the melon the thick lemon jelly, lifting the fruit to allow the syrup to run between it. Chill until jelly is set. Serve on fancy dessert plate. With your piping tube pipe whipped cream around the edge of cantaloupe just before serving. Pass fancy cheese and crackers.

Note: This lemon jelly is good with peaches alone or with other fruits such as bananas, pears, orange sections, but not fresh pineapple, which you cannot buy now anyway.

DOROTHY DIX

Deliberately Neglects Wife Asks Affair With Other Man

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband goes out alone almost every night in the week. I'm on the verge of starting an affair with another man—a man who can give me the love and affection I long for. Can you give me just one reason why I should not do it? I can't find any.

NORA.

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: Yes I can give you one very excellent reason for not embarking on this affair. It is contained in the words of the commandment, "Thou shalt not commit adultery." This and the other Commandments of God have provided the moral code of living for thousands of years; they are not yet outmoded, in spite of the teachings of so-called thinkers. Adherence to them ensures self-respect—the greatest factor in decent living—as well as the respect of others; it makes one's conscience something to live with instead of escaping from by any means at hand.

Have You Failed Him?

Your marriage is a failure. How much of its failure is your responsibility? Your husband is neglectful. Have you made any effort to provide him with a home to enjoy? Have you given him cheerful companionship, or is he nagged to death when he does enter the house?

If you are willing to contribute to the making of a home half the effort you are anxious to expend in an extra-marital love affair, your wandering husband would be well established at the family hearth. You long for love and affection, but has it ever occurred to you that these gifts do not come unearned? They must be returned in kind. Even your lover will soon tire of your selfish demands, and then you will need other diversion. Before you wander too far down this fruitless road, take stock of yourself. See where you have failed your husband and make an honest attempt to establish your marriage firmly and securely.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband and I were married over a year ago. We are keeping our marriage a secret until he gets settled—he is in the service. My problem is that there were no witnesses to the ceremony, which was performed by a justice of the peace. Everything seemed to be in order but I have been thinking about it and I am worried. Would the lack of witnesses cause our marriage not to be legal?

G. G.

ANSWER: First of all, you have done a very foolish thing in contracting a secret marriage. It is unfair to your parents and your husband's. It is also unfair to yourself, as you will realize later in life. The glamor and importance of a wedding — no matter how simple — is something every girl should have. The wedding gown to show your children, the pictures to look at pridefully, are not things to be lightly cast off. There is a vast difference between a sneaky ceremmony performemd by a total stranger, and a pretty church or home wedding at which your family clergyman officiates, and to which the friends and relatives come to wish you well.

The legality of your marriage should not be difficult to determine. As laws regarding matrimony differ in each state, I cannot tell whether witnesses are required in yours or not. If you have a certificate signed by the justice who married you, take it to a lawyer for his opinion. This may involve a little trouble and money, but I should think it would be worth it.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: The girls in the office where my husband works occasionally ask him to drive them to lunch. Sometimes they ask him to take them home in the car. He has done this a few times, but I don't think he should. Some of the girls are married, some single. When he takes them to lunch he does not pay for their meals, but I still feel it isn't right.

G.E.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: There is absolutely nothing wrong, or even questionable, in your husband's driving these girls to their lunching place or home. A camaraderie arises among people who work in the same ffice and friendly gestures such as offering a ride are taken for granted. In fact, your husband would be rather thoughtless if he were driving his car home and did not offer the convenience of a ride to such co-workers as happened to live along his route, or near it.

Woman's Place In Home

"About 30 years ago the hierarchy interested itself in the organization of the Catholic Women's League. Woman today is taking her place side by side with man in practically every activity. But they must remember that they are not men," said the Rev. E. T. McNally PP, rector at Eganville and director of Pembroke Council, addressing attendants at the convention communion breakfast of the Ontario Council, Catholic Women's League.

"The destiny of the Catholic women of today is to influence her neighbour. If she lives up to her Catholic principles she can make true the adage 'The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world.' Her sphere first of all is with the family and the home, which are today being assailed on all sides. Catholic women must not let false principles and practices influence them. They must not forget to protect the sanctity of the family, for on their activities outside the home may depend the whole future of the world."

Mrs. G. Torpey presided for the breakfast, attended by 122 women. The speaker was introduced by provincial president Miss Catharine Toal and thanked by the treasurer Miss Anna Tierney.

What's Right?

You are talking on the telephone when you hear a knock on the door and there is no one but you to answer it.

WRONG: Say to the person on the telephone: "Will you hold on while I answer the door?"

RIGHT: Ask the person if you may call back, for answering the door often takes longer than you expect.

During the last three weeks the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce have conducted the City's first retail tourist service survey and have come up with some pertinent information.

Thirty-three parties from Ohio Pennsylvania, New York, Michigan, Massachusetts and Florida, were contacted. They consisted of 119 adults and 27 children and were staying in the Kawarthas anywhere from overnight to a full season. The majority were staying at house-keeping cabins, one party had rented a cottage and another was camping out.

Each tourist seemed to be happy with the district and the only improvements they suggested were inside toilet facilities and hydro.

$1,000 Each

In the survey's shopping breakdown, it was found that china, silver, souvenirs and antiques made up the largest block of purchases; two parties estimated that they had each spent $1,000 on these commodities. Following closely were groceries, blankets and textiles, fishing tackle, liquor, furs and motor repairs. Each party spent $175. They found a good range of merchandise available and well displayed.

Although some parties changed their U.S. funds before coming to Canada, the majority made theirs right over the retail counters and, when they did so, received 100 per cent exchange courtesy.

Tourists highest and unsolicited praise came from the facilities of the Market Square parking lot. Comparing various other Canadian and American centres they said unanimously,

"The best we have ever seen."

They were also impressed by the friendliness of Peterborough people. This, feel members of the Chamber of Commerce, is the reason why tourists make a habit of coming back to the Kawarthas each year in greater numbers.

Repairs Asked To Weller St.

North Monaghan added assessment roll up to Aug. 1 was confirmed by the council as Court of Revision Monday. No appeals were received. The period of this supplementary assessment is for the last five months of the year, from Aug. 1 to Dec. 31.

Council passed the following accounts: Printing, $9.84; district high school board, $2,000; school area No. 2, $900; salary, $50.

A petition was presented for payment of the statutory grant under the highway improvement act for expenditures made to Aug. 31 this year. The amount is $2,704.63 of which Department of Highways is expected to refund 80 per cent or more.

Mr. J. D. W. Lawson, 686A Yonge St., Toronto, supported his application to the council for permission to set up a golf driving range on land of the Butler estate, between No. 28 and No. 7A Highways. The council gave him permission to go ahead with his project.

Ald. T. D. Miller spoke to the council about drainage of surface water from Wallis Drive, across the western border of the city. He contended that the culvert should be lowered at Roper Drive and Wallace Drive to let the water move south. He also asked that the council gravel Weller St. to the city boundary, and from 50 feet east of the city boundary be graded and gravelled to the turn into Civic Hospital.

Council passed a resolution to co-operate with the city, viz.: that the city grade that part of Weller St. from the hospital road to within 50 feet of the fence separating the hospital property and the township of North Monaghan; and that the township gravel this part of Weller St. Cost of the work to be divided equally between the city and township.

Henry Batten, tax collector, reported on the remaining unpaid taxes. Council granted him another month in which to return the roll.

Council agreed by resolution to sell the township gravel pit to Reg Pearson, less a 50-ft. road allowance through to Archie Patterson's pit, for $300, plus the cost of the survey of the road allowance.

LUTON, Bedford, England, Sept. 11—(Reuters)— Peter Lewis, 64, trapped all night in an underground tunnel, was rescued today four minutes before the roof collapsed. One man was killed early in the accident.

Twice during the night a physician crept along the shaky workings— a new extension of a sewage system— to give him injections of morphia.

One man was dug out earlier suffering from shock and a leg injury. Three others escaped without injury.

Ask Campbellford Constable To Appear Before Council When Meeting In Camera

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 11 — (ENS)—In the absence of councillor Fred M. Rutherford, chairman of the police committee, at the September meeting of the Campbellford town council Monday evening, Councillor W. A. Kingston, a member of the police committee asked that the motion requesting Constable W. E. Cargin to appear before the council at the September meeting be rescinded. At the same time, Councillor Kingston made a motion that Mr. Cargin be asked to appear before a special meeting of the council at a date to be called by the mayor and that this meeting be held in camera.

Council was not unanimous in its decision to hold the meeting in camera, but the motion carried. It is now up to Mayor J. E. Ayrhart, who previously spoke warmly in defence of the constable, to call a special meeting.

Defended by Mayor

Councillor F. M. Rutherford, chairman of the police committee recommended to council at a previous meeting that Cargin be fired from the force, not only because of him being convicted of selling sweepstake tickets, but on the grounds of neglect of duty. He said numerous complaints had been received regarding the officer. At that time, Mayor Ayrhart said that the charges as outlined by Mr. Rutherford were mere hearsay, and that he would not convict a man on hearsay. He asked that anytone having a complaint to make concerning the constable, appear at council and make their complaint in person. However, it was decided that the persons concerned would be reluctant to make themselves known.

At the last meeting, a motion was made asking the constable to appear before the council so that he may have a chance to defend himself of the accusations made against him.

Councillor Rutherford, who recommends the dismissal of the officer, failed to turn up at the Monday meeting of council. He is at present in Vancouver.

Paid No Duty Tourist Admits

Two Ohio men, one of whom runs a tourist resort on Pigeon lake, appeared in court today on charges of importing fishing tackle without paying customs on it. The information was laid by RCMP Constable George Pickering.

One man, Carl D. Stuller, Stow, Ohio, was remanded a week when he pleaded not guilty. The other, Charles Pruner, Akron, Ohio, pleaded guilty.

Judgment in Pruner's case will be given by Magistrate W. R. Philp on September 25.

Technically Guilty

Pruner, when asked to plead, said he was going to plead "technically guilty," but changed his plea to a simple "guilty" when the magistrate advised him there could be no qualification of a plea.

Constable Pickering testified that he inspected Pruner's lodge on August 21 and found a quantity of fishing tackle set up on the wall in what the officer called "the snack bar." Price tags were on some of the tackle.

Pruner admitted selling some of the artificial bait "to accommodate guests at the lodge," Constable Pickering told court. Asked about a US-made outboard motor he had, Pruner told the constable he had bought it five years before from an American tourist. The constable said Pruner didn't know whether duty had been paid on it.

"Does he have to go back as far as five years" asked the magistrate. The constable said the onus was on the accused to prove duty had been paid, and if the offence had taken place 25 years before, he would still have to.

Pruner put the values of the tackle and motor at $100.49 and $75, said the officer.

This commemorates the biblical tale of the phophet Abraham's willingness to sacrifice his son to prove the father's love for God.

Farouk, Bride Sail Home After $1,000,000 Trip

CANNES, FRANCE, Sept. 11— (Reuters)— King Farouk and Queen Narriman of Egypt loaded their 12 tons of baggage, four Cadillacs and entourage of 40 aboard a government yacht and ordered full speed for home Monday after a three-month million-dollar wedding trip through Italian, Swiss and French resorts.

The Egyptian consul general in Marseilles is expected to settle up the couple's bills here, estimated at at $82,000, which they ran up during their five-week stay.

This scale of spending was maintained throughout the trip. The King, 31, lavished gowns and jewels on his 17-year-old bride during the honeymoon. He won and lost fabulous sums at practically every casino on his route. He was reported only $100,000 down after recouping most of his original losses. The croupiers reported he had worn them out.

Just before the party left, reporters gave Farouk's master of ceremonies a diligent quizzing about a report that Queen Narriman is pregnant.

"Nothing can be stated at the moment," Kiram Bey replied. "But if a happy event is awaited, the Egyptian press will be the first to be informed."

Failed To Fill Order For Sign Man Charged

LINDSAY, Sept. 11.—A former Peterborough salesman was placed on suspended sentence for one year by Magistrate E. A. Gee in Lindsay police court. The accused was found guilty of obtaining money by false pretenses.

He was ordered to return $15 that the court ruled had been obtained by false pretenses and also to pay court costs of $14.

The complainant in the case, a restaurant proprietor near Oakwood, told the court that on July 3 the accused had sold her a sign for $42. She said that she gave the accused a deposit of $15 with the agreement that the sign be delivered in 10 days.

She tried to contact the accused without success when no sign appeared. She also found out that the company which the accused represented was not registered. Later an Orillia sign firm contacted her and told her that an order had been placed with them for a sign.

More Money

She learned that this sign was not of the same dimensions as the one she ordered and would cost more. She concluded by saying that after two months she had neither sign nor money.

The accused told the court that he had planned to from a company with a friend. The friend was to paint the signs and he was to sell. The friend, he said, had failed to join the firm and the company had lasted only one month. He gave the magistrate a postal money order receipt for $15 which he said he had sent the complainant early in August.

Magistrate Gee ruled that an offense had been committed and ordered the accused to return the $15 deposit and pay court costs and placed him on one year's suspended sentence.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

"The big thing" in a Canadian judge's decision in the case of star tackle Dick Huffman was that the National Football League's standard player contract is "completely legal," NFL commissioner Bert Bell said Monday at Philadelphia.

He was commenting on the decision by a Winnipeg court judge who declined to grant a permanent restraining injunction sought by Los Angeles Rams, Huffman's 1950 employers, to prevent Huffman from playing football with Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

"The only point of difference," Bell said, "was that in the US the judge held that the option had been properly executed while in Canada the judge held that it wasn't.

"The Huffman case is a Ram responsibility entirely. They can appeal and they will appeal. But from the league viewpoint as a whole it is gratifying to know that the contracts are legal."

Vancouver St. Andrews Monday night wiped out a two-goal deficit and went on to defeat Winnipeg Scottish, 4-2, for their second straight victory in a best-of-three Western Canada soccer final.

St. Andrews won the opener 2-0 here Saturday night, and now will meet the winner of the eastern final between Toronto Ulster and Montreal Italo-Canadians.

Montreal Italia-Canadians pulled even with Toronto Ulster United Monday night in the hunt for the Dominion Cup, emblematic of Canadian soccer championship. Paul Belanger of Montreal Monday won the closed men's singles title in the final round of the Canadian National Exhibition table tennis tournament. He defeated Rai Paskausais of Toronto. Audrey Perkins of Toronto took the women's closed title by defeating Huguette Parent of Montreal.

Former major league baseball star James Herman (Hank) Deberry died Monday at his home at Savannah, Tenn. He was 56. Until the time of his death, Deberry had been active as a New York Giant scout.

Frank Clair, coach of the Toronto Argonauts, said Monday there was a "distinct possibility" that two additional American players—a halfback and an end—would join the Argos in training some time this week.

Clair said that the team had insurance for injuries.

Vince Colizza, 205-pound tackle who starred last year with McGill University, arrived at the Toronto Varsity Blues' training camp at Orillia Monday. Coach Bob Masterson said he appeared to be the answer to the Blues' need of a good offensive tackle.

Want Champion Defend Crown Within 6 Months

CHICAGO, Sept. 11 (AP). — The National Boxing Association will vote on a resolution at its closing session of a three-day convention today to make a boxing champion defend his crown within six months or forfeit it

The NBA seeks legislation with teeth in it to require champions to face NBA-specified logical contenders within the six-month limit or have their title recognition withdrawn.

"I would rather not be associated with champions who haven't the least idea of the dictionary definition of the word," declared Col. Harvey J. Miller, NBA executive secretary. "It is a bad thing to have dual champions. But it's much worse to have champions who don't fight."

The NBA Monday passed a resolution urging a special tax on admissions to theatre television of live boxing bouts. The association recommended that a conference with sponsors of theatre fight telecasts to work out some sort of financial return to the various state boxing groups.

Ask Five Per Cent Tax

Abe Greene, chairman of the New Jersey State Boxing Commission, said that he had already asked the Asbury Park (NJ) theatre to pay the state commission a five per cent tax on all admissions to the telecast Wednesday night of the Randy Turpin-Sugar Ray Robinson title bout.

Teddy Waltham, executive secretary of the British Boxing Board of Control, urged that a world boxing commission be formed, operating in co-operation with all recognized national groups, to have the final say on world championship fights.

No action was taken on Waltham's proposal, but retiring NBA president Archie Hindman of Hagerstown, Ind., said "we certainly will do all we can to co-operate with the British Boxing Board of Control."

Turner Whips Ike Williams

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11 — (AP)—Gil Turner looked ahead today to a possible shot at Kid Gavilan's welterweight title after demonstrating that, although only 20, he can stand on equal footing with his elders in the boxing world.

Young Gil proved that convincingly Monday night by hammering Ike Williams into helplessness 28 seconds before the final bell of their scheduled 10-round bout at Shibe Park. Williams weighed 144¾, Turner 145.

Williams, former lightweight champion and a master of ring science, had trained hard for this one, because a victory would have given him the opportunity to try to recover his title from James Carter, the man who beat him earlier this year.

He stayed with Turner through the first nine rounds and appeared to have built up a slight edge in a very even fight until the final stanza.

But Ike, at 28, had tired badly and was ripe for Turner's two-fisted assault that started midway in the last round and ended at 2:32 when referee Pete Tomasco mercifully called an end to hostilities. There were no knockdowns.

It was Turner's 24th consecutive victory in an undefeated career as a welterweight, 21 of those triumphs coming on knockouts. In addition to Williams, Turner counts such stalwarts as Charley Fusari and Beau Jack among his victims.

Wild Oil Well

EDMONTON Sept. 11 (CP)—A 200-foot-high column of steaming, copper-black oil spewed on Edmonton district grain fields today from a wild well in the Acheson field 12 miles northwest of the city. RCMP cordoned off the area for fear a lighted cigarette or a spark from an automobile exhaust might ignite fumes.

Child Finds Coin 139 Years Old

ROSENEATH, Sept. 11 (ENS). —Barbara Ann Smoke, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irven Smoke, Monday found a 139-year-old English coin in the garden of her grandfather, Mr. William Loukes near the Cenotaph at Alderville.

The coin bears the date 1812, and reads "Half-penny token." This 139-year-old coin dates back to the time that George IV was reigning as Prince Rgent owing to the mental illness of his father, King George III. The image engraved on the coin might have been the image of the Prince Regent, but to Barbara Ann it was just money as she exclaimed excitedly "Daddy, I found some money."

Says Grave Error To Humiliate Korean People

SHERBROOKE, Que., Sept. 11 —(CP). — Bill Boss, Canadian Press war correspondent home from Korea on leave, Monday night said "the Allies have denied Communism a valuable base in Korea, but they have done so to the detriment of the Korean people."

The war correspondent spoke at an open house meeting of the Sherbrooke Branch No. 10 of the Canadian Legion.

The lack of consideration for [illegible] western troops have taken from them even their pride, he said.

"We have been brutal, perhaps, but not on a scale that would alienate a whole people. Rather, we have humiliated them."

Boss said he disagreed with the statements of General Lawton Collins and Assistant Defence Secretary Pace of the United States that the attitude of South Korea toward the Allies was not deteriorating.

He said the blame for the superior attitude of the western troops rested squarely on the shoulders of the folks at home.

"The Army has to take the sons we produce," he said. "Ideological training for the war begins right here at home."

Detects Weariness

On a short leave in Canada prior to returning to Korea to again cover the war for Canadian readers, Boss said he detected a "spiritual weariness" among the Allied soldiers in Korea.

He said that all the stories about the dullness of Korea were true. "It is not possible for our boys to overpaint the hardships and dullness of Korea, a land which suffered immense hardships under two generations of Japanese occupation and over a year of war."

He said, however, that he felt the Koreans capable of building a modern state and extolled their value of human life, strong family ties and their extreme honesty.

Boss was introduced to the Sherbrooke gathering by D. G. Amaron, editorial director of the Sherbrooke Daily Record, a fellow war correspondent in Italy and Northern Europe during the Second World War.

Driver Fined $150 On Two Liquor Counts

Fines totalling $150 were levied against 24-year-old Leo Buck of 612 Armour Rd., in police court Monday by Magistrate W. R. Philp.

Buck pleaded guilty to charges of driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol, and of possessing liquor not purchased on his permit.

OPP Constable John McKendry testified that on the night of September 8 he went to a point three-fourths of a mile north of Peterborough where there had been an accident.

"The accused had been drinking but he was not drunk," said the officer. "He shouldn't have been driving."

In Buck's car, said Constable McKendry, a 25-ounce bottle of rye whiskey and nine pints of beer were found.

On the charge of driving while alcohol impaired his ability, Buck was fined $50 and $2.50 costs, and on the charge of possessing liquor not bought on his permit, $100 and $2.50. Both fines are the smallest penalties allowed under the separate acts.

Toronto Proposes Making Islands Lovely Play Spot

TORONTO, Sept. 12. (CP)—The City Planinng Board and the Harbor Commission today presented a plan to transform the Toronto harbor islands into a 1,001-acre city for play and sport. Under the plan, the islands—now a summer residential area—would be transformed to accommodate the Olympic Games, a new zoo, the Sunnyside Amusement Park, 10 miles of beaches and a Henley-size regatta course. In their present state, officials said, the islands cost the city $1,000 a day. Under the new plan, officials hope to create a self-supporting asset.

The level of the islands which extend from the eastern to the western sides of the harbor, would be raised three feet and their entire topography changed by extensive filling. All lagoons but one would disappear.

Four-lane Tunnel

A four-lane tunnel under the western gap of the harbor would connect the mainland to a four-lane divided boulevard curving across the islands to their eastern tip.

Seventy-four acres, along the lakefront would be set aside for apartment blocks, hotels, a shopping centre and an automobile park. Two residential areas, comprising 37 acres and 25 acres, respectively, would remain.

The east end Riverdale Zoo would be transpo ted to an 83-acre park area near Gibraltar Point, and the regatta course, now unused because it is shorter than England's Henley - on - Thames course, home of the Diamond Sculls, would be lengthened to one mile, 550 yards—Henley size—with leeway on both ends.

The plan is expected to come before city council next month.

No estimate of renovation costs was given, but Harbor Commission chairman W. H. Bosley said the "plan is economically feasible."

—He added that the islands are now "a century behind. They're in the Victorian stage. We want to bring them up to 1951."

Grand Strategy Discussed By Big Three

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—The big three foreign ministers turned today from preliminary talks to the west's grand strategy in the struggle against Communist aggression.

Efforts to "contain" Soviet pressure and terms of a partnership deal to be offered West Germany were major topics before State Secretary Acheson, Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison of Britain and the French Foreign Minister, Robert Schuman.

Since Monday Acheson has been talking separately with Morrison and Schuman. Today at a forenoon meeting the three men were scheduled to come together for a general review of cold-war developments. Also on the agenda were the Iranian oil crisis and other Middle East issues.

American, British and French high commissioners to Germany were called in for an afternoon session to help put finishing touches on a proposal to bring West Germany into the western line-up. Officials called this the major task before the big three.

Plan Drafted

A plan has been drafted to conclude the occupation, hand over almost complete sovereignty to the Bonn (West Germany) government, change the status of allied troops to defence forces, and substitute ambassadors for high commissioners. The Bonn parliament will have to ratify this "contractual arrangement." At the same time, Western Germany would be expected to agree to contribute forces to the European army under the Atlantic Pact command.

Berlin, divided and surrounded by Sovietized East Germany, would retain its present four-power occupation. The "contractual arrangement" falls short of a peace treaty, but represents the most advanced step the west considers feasible as long as Germany is divided.

Acheson and Schuman went over issues of particular concern to the United States and France late Tuesday. Officials said they talked mostly about Germany and Indo-China.

Schuman was reported also to have pressed France's view that since a "soft" peace treaty has been signed with Japan, it is time to revise Italy's harsher 1947 treaty.

Considerate Thieves

COBOURG, Sept. 12—The orchard thieves are getting more considerate when they visit the orchard of Jack Wilson, Front Road East. It used to be that they would wait until he had picked his apples and pears and had them in hampers. The other night they visited some of his pear trees and picked the fruit themselves. They even brought their own hampers said Mr. Wilson as he reported the matter to the Provincial Police.

Turpin Weighs 159 For Scrap

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Randolph Turpin, the surprising British middleweight champion of the world, weighed 159 pounds today for his 15-round title defence tonight against Sugar Ray Robinson, who weighed 157½.

Weather conditions were favorable for the fight at the Polo Grounds, which may draw a gate of $550,000, largest in boxing for any fight outside the heavyweight division.

A temperature of close to 70 degrees was forecast tonight, with no threat of rain.

Both were pronounced in top physical condition.

Suggest New Suitor For Princess Margaret

LONDON, Sept. 12 (Reuters)—The London Star today suggested a new suitor for the hand of Princess Margaret—Lord Carnegie, 22, heir to the earl of Southesk and the Dukedom of Fife.

The newspaper's gossip column said the Princess' long stay in Scotland this summer "has strengthened the belief now openly discussed in Scottish Society" that their friendship "is developing."

Lord Carnegie, who breeds prize cattle on his 20,000-acre farm in Scotland, is a distant cousin of the King.

New Treatment Announced For Arthritis Of Old People

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12 (AP)—A new treatment for the stubborn arthritis of old people—against which even cortisone has had little effect—was announced today by a Brooklyn doctor.

Dr. W. S. Collens told the International Gerontological Congress that the substance—derived from the liver of pregnant cows—is still experimental and not yet available for general use.

But he said it appears capable of relieving pain and stiffness and restoring normal joint movement in many cases of the ailment known as hyperthrophic osteoarthritis

The substance was developed for the control of a painful neuritic condition which sometimes occurs as a complication of diabetes.

It proved more effective than anything previously tried, he said, adding that by a "happy accident" he got a lead on its possible use against osteoarthritis.

The tip developed from a diabetic who reported that while being treated for the neuritic complication she had obtained relief from a joint-limitation in her right hand. The doctors determined that she had been suffering from osteoarthritis.

Osteoarthritis is marked by bony deposits on the joints, producing marked disability.

The new substance has been demonstrated to have no undesirable side effects, Dr. Collens said.

He said it had brought complete relief of pain, reduced swelling and restored normal movement of joints to 24 per cent of 112 cases treated with it. He said it also produced good results in another 44 per cent and fair results in 15.

Some patients have been free of symptoms for as long as six months after having had two to four weeks of daily injections. Many, however, require periodic injections.

Another report by a Canadian researcher, prepared for presentation to the congress, described confirmation of the American work against diabetic neuritis.

The report was prepared by Dr. I. M. Rabinowitch, of Montreal, who said the results "point to a definite advance" in the treatment of the neuritic and certain other allied complications of diabetes.

Gen. Marshall Resigns Defence Post

Steps Down At Once, Truman Says, Replaced By Lovett

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. —(AP)—George C. Marshall resigned today as Secretary of Defence. He will be succeeded by the present deputy secretary, Robert A. Lovett.

Marshall, 70, was appointed Defence Secretary one year ago today. He is quitting "for very personal reasons."

The soldier-statesman was army chief of staff in the Second World War and later was Secretary of State. He sponsored the European Recovery Program which became known throughout the world as the Marshall Plan.

Effective At Once

Upon the resignation of Defence Secretary Louis Johnson a year ago, General Marshall came out of retirement to become the first professional military man to head a US military department since 1916.

President Truman accepted Marshall's resignation "with great reluctance." It is effective immediately.

He named William C. Foster, economic co-operation administrator to succeed Lovett as Deputy Secretary and Richard M. Bissell, Jr., Deputy Administrator, as acting ECA administrator succeeding Foster to head the Marshall Plan agency.

Lovett is an old hand in the government with a reputation for getting things done quickly with little fuss.

He earned that record over a 10-year span as Assistant Secretary of War for Air, as Undersecretary of State and as Undersecretary of Defence. In between hitches in the government, he was a New York investment banker.

The new post will be a birthday gift for Lovett. He will be 56 Friday.

Briton Makes Channel Swim

DOVER, England, Sept. 12 —(Reuters). — Former policeman Tom Blower of Britain landed in France today after swimming the English Channel in 18 hours, 42 minutes.

He was the second swimmer in 24 hours to make the crossing. Florence Chadwick, 32, of San Diego, Calif., waded ashore near Calais Tuesday afternoon after 17 hours in the water to become the first woman ever to traverse the channel in both directions.

Blower, 37, turned around and headed back to England almost as soon as he touched the French shore at Calais, trying to make a non-stop, two-way crossing.

But he had to give up the return swim after covering three miles in an hour because of heavy fog.

Blower, who has already once crossed the channel in both directions, strained his left shoulder bucking choppy seas on the way to France.

Early today a German—Ernst Strobel of Wiesbaden—stepped into the water at Calais and struck out for England, but seasickness forced him to abandon the attempt six miles out.

25 Train Refugees To Stay In Germany

HOF, Germany, Sept. 12 (AP)—The United States high commission announced today that all political refugees aboard the Czech train which cracked through the Iron Curtain will be allowed to remain in the west.

Twenty-five of the Czechs have asked for asylum after a spectacular flight from their Communist homeland Tuesday.

Eighty-six other Czechs who rode the "freedom train" as unwilling passengers will be returned to Czechoslovakia.

"We did it because it is no longer bearable to live in an East European country," said Frazek Jarda, engineer of the train and a leader of the daring escape.

"We have been preparing for this a long time," he told reporters. "We brought food and clothing—everything we could."

Wife, Children Threatened Before Master Bookie Escapes Police Custody

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (AP)—Harry Gross, missing graft trial star witness, received letters threatening the lives of his wife and children before he escaped from police custody, District Attorney Miles F. McDonald said today. The dapper, perfumed Gross fled as the mass trial of 18 policemen and former policemen accused of accepting graft from Gross to cover up the gambler's $20,000,000 syndicate finished its second day Tuesday. McDonald made his announcement in the courtroom where the trial is being conducted. Gross was to have been chief prosecution witness.

McDonald read the letters, which were addressed to Mrs. Gross. He emphasized that he did not claim the letters were connected with the 18 policemen on trial, but said they indicated the frame of mind that led Gross to escape.

Under Protective Custody

Gross had been under protective custody.

One of the letters to Gross' wife read by McDonald in court said: "This is to warn you that if Harry testifies, your children....will never live to grow up. It can happen anywhere....at school....on the street."

Another letter threatened that if Gross testified "You will live in fear of who we are going to kill."

McDonald said the Federal Bureau of Investigation is being called in to help in the widespread search for Gross.

Faces Stiff Sentence

Gross faced a possible 65 years in prison.

He drove off in a car Tuesday night from his Atlantic Beach, NY, home, leaving his guards empty-handed.

It was reminiscent of the way Abe Reles, guarded by six policemen as a witness in Brooklyn's famed Murder, Inc., investigation, slipped out of a hotel window—to his death.

There was a suggestion that the 35-year-old Gross, too, might be dead.

Police in Nassau county reported receiving an alert from Brooklyn authorities to watch the roads for Gross.

"Better watch for his body," they said the message reported.

The Brooklyn district attorney's office, however, said no such message was sent from there.

13-State Alarm

Six hours after Gross fled, a 13-state police alarm was issued for him.

Recruiting Slump In Ground Crew

OTTAWA, Sept. 12. (CP) — RCAF recruiting, particularly of ground crew candidates, is in a slump, a spokesman at headquarters said Tuesday.

The air force, with a present strength of roughly 27,000, has announced no target figure, the spokesman said, but is open to a total of 1,200 recruits monthly, including women in the RCAF.

While women enlistments, starting only a few months ago, are still measuring up to hopes, the number of aircrew seeking enlistment is dwindling and the number of ground crew enlistments is falling short of quota—100 aircrew, 800 ground crew and 300 women monthly.

In July, 106 enlisted for aircrew, 305 women, but only 480 for ground crew. In August, 109 aircrew enlisted, 301 women, but only 466 ground crew.

Headquarters is reported to be concerned about the low enlistment figures for ground crew as well as by the fact that aircrew candidates are not coming forward in impressive numbers.

Sailors With Polio Reported Improving

HALIFAX, Sept. 12. (CP)—The Navy today announced steady improvement in the condition of seven seamen stricken with polio aboard the aircraft carrier Magnificent at Malta.

AB Jack Goodfellow, Trenton and Roseneath; OS Patrick Doyle, Halifax, and AB Thomas Lawrence, Burycompton, Que., are still bed patients but their condition is "much improved."

AB Albert Hatfield, Truro, NS, OS Samuel Pretty, Corner Brook, Nfld.; OS Barry Taylor, Lachine, Que., and LS Norman Marner, Toronto, "are all walking around—their condition good."

Van Fleet Declares Chinese Still Feel Spring Blow Effects

US EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Sept. 12.—(AP)—United Nations' divisions attacked northward today across the mountainous eastern half of the Korean fighting front.

The western half was quiet. Allied infantrymen there waited behind powerful defences to see whether the Reds would gamble on a new break-through try.

Lt.-Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commander of the Eighth Army, said that despite the Communist build-up since the start of the now-suspended cease-fire talks there were no indications that the Reds were ready to launch an offensive.

He said the Reds are capable of launching an offensive but that there are "no indications at this time" that they will.

"Most indications are of a defensive nature on his (the enemy's) part," he said.

Great Opportunity

A Red attack "would give as a great opportunity" to destroy Communist forces, Van Fleet said. "I want them to attack," he said.

"That way we would get them in wholesale lots and not have to kick them piecemeal off the hills like we are doing now."

Van Fleet said he thinks an armistice still is possible. He said he believes the Reds will want peace before winter.

"They are in bad shape. They are hurting and we are going to keep them hurting. The enemy will want peace before we get through with him."

The sharp action in the east stretched from the old Red iron-triangle build-up area in central Korea almost to the Sea of Japan coast.

Two Objectives

It had two objectives: to keep the Communists off balance and to push the main allied line nearer to a Communist supply road from the north to the central front.

The attacks in the east were called "local and limited-objective" assaults.

Canadians Fail Visit Embassy

MOSCOW, Sept. 12 (CP). — Two Canadian delegations have visited Moscow within the last two weeks but neither has called at the Canadian Embassy.

The latest one, which only arrived Sept. 9, is a trade-union group headed by Dewar Ferguson, vice-president of the Canadian Seamen's Union.

The other group which has departed was a Canadian youth delegation headed by Sam Mechnik.

Surprise was expressed by the Canadian Embassy that neither delegation had called there.

Officials said Canada has a new regulation which stipulates that any Canadian visiting the Soviet Union or other eastern European countries must register at the embassy.

Eight-Minute Stop At Cobourg By Princess, Philip

OTTAWA, Sept. 12. (CP)—Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip will make an eight-minute stop in Cobourg for a platform appearance on October 5, it was announced today. There will also be a slowdown at Port Hope for an observation platform appearance. In a revised and expanded itinerary of the royal tour, the district appearances were included following their stop at Trenton. The royal couple will arrive in Cobourg at 3:55 p.m. and will leave at 3:43 p.m. (standard time) and the Port Hope slowdown is scheduled for 4:16 p.m.

The itinerary both revises and supersedes one issued Aug. 9. It gives times for every stop across Canada to be made by the Princess and her husband and shows the points at which the royal train will slow down so they may make an observation platform appearance before residents assembled beside the track.

Changes Schedule

Besides filling in greater detail on the visit, the new itinerary contains changes from the original schedule. For example, between certain points they now will travel by train instead of plane, as originally planned.

The additions to the schedule are mainly places where the royal train will pause only a few minutes for a platform appearance. They include:

Ontario — Belleville, Trenton Junction, Cobourg, Port Hope, Oshawa, St. Catharines, Ingersol, North Bay.

Manitoba—St. Boniface, Rivers. Saskatchewan; Swift Current; Alberta, Cochrane, Edson; British

Montreal Plant Gets Jet Orders

OTTAWA, Sept. 12 (CP)—Canadair Ltd. of Montreal, Canada's biggest aircraft production plant, is going to get a huge order to produce some 300 American-type jet aircraft for the RCAF, it was learned today.

An announcement by the defence production department likely will be made Thursday, disclosing that under licensing arrangements completed between the government and Lockheed Aircraft Company of the United States, large-scale Canadian production has been approved.

The government has been negotiating with Lockheed for licensing rights for some weeks. This is the first time such aircraft will be produced in Canada and is expected to lead to an expansion at Canadair with employment of hundreds of additional workers.

Low-Powered

The plane, a Canadian version of the American Shooting Star, will be a low-powered jet which the RCAF will use to train pilots in the intermediary stages to accustom them to high speed aircraft before they go to final training on the speedy F-86 Sabre and CF-100 jet fighters.

Production of the jets, known as T33s, is not expected to get underway for some months. Meanwhile, an order has been placed in the US for about 20 of them to keep the RCAF supplied until Canadian tooling up is completed.

Four Injured As Band On Way To Fair

HAVELOCK, Sept. 12 (ENS)—Four members of the Havelock Kiltie band were injured in a car accident about 2 p.m. today on Highway 7 between Havelock and Tweed.

Driver of the second car was also injured. Members of the band were driving with Piper Bruce Cook to play at the Tweed Fair.

Those injured were Eleanor Scott, a broken leg; Shirley Anderson, facial cuts; Fred Anderson and Shirley Seabrooke. No other details were available at press time.

Car Flattened But Four Live

TORONTO, Sept. 12 (CP) — Four men escaped with only minor injuries today when their automobile was ground to a mass of wreckage between two street cars.

The car was squeezed to about 1½ feet wide and nine feet high. Two of the occupants climbed out unaided and two others had to be pried from the wreckage with hacksaws and crowbars.

The car was struck at Bloor and Parliament streets by one street car and ground between it and a tram coming from the opposite direction.

The driver, Joseph St. Coeur, 37, of Toronto, and two passengers suffered only cuts and bruises. A third passenger, George Cassie, 26, had possible broken ribs.

Lands Dept. Planes Join Barilko Search

KAPUSKASING, Sept. 12 (CP) —Four Lands Department Beaver planes today will join the hunt for Bill Barilko and Dr. Henry Hudson.

The pontoon-equipped craft will land on the bushland lakes along the flight path the Toronto Maple Leafs defence man and the Timmins dentist planned to follow when they disappeared Aug. 26 on their way home from an aerial fishing trip to James Bay. Their pilots will make a close check for any trace of the yellow seaplane Dr. Hudson was piloting.

It is believed the Beavers, whose pilots will be Tommy Cook, Ralph Stone, Charlie Lefeuvre and Tony Shrive, can carry searchers in for a closer look at the lakes than can the big planes which the RCAF also is using in an intensive scouring of the northland.

Everything Costs More These Days

Restaurant Prices Up For NATO Delegates

OTTAWA, Sept. 12 — (CP) — Delegates to the meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will eat meals in one of Ottawa's choice spots—the Parliamentary Restaurant.

The restaurant, normally closed when parliament is not in session, will be opened during the NATO sessions starting Saturday.

W. Jennings, manager of the restaurant, said its use will be limited to delegates. Newspapermen covering the meeting and non-delegates will be barred, but they can use the parliamentary cafeteria.

Mr. Jennings said no special menu is planned for the delegates. The meals will be similar to those provided for members of parliament during the session. They will include such things as roast beef, Gaspe salmon, salads, cold cuts and a variety of desserts.

But the prices will be increased. Normally a member of parliament pays $1 in the restaurant. The price is being boosted to $1.50 for the NATO meetings. The cafeteria price is being increased to 75 cents from 65 cents.

Workers Screened

All those who will work in the restaurant and cafeteria have been screened for security purposes along with all other employees in the centre block where the meetings will be held.

Some delegates may decide to eat in the hotel where they will stay. About 350 rooms have been set aside for their use in the Chateau Laurier Hotel, operated by Canadian National Railways.

Hotel oficials said they had no plans for featuring special dishes. If delegates do not like regular menus the hotel will attempt to prepare other meals.

So far, said the officials, no move has been made to screen the hotel's staff. One official said he believed this was because the delegates will be doing their secret work in the parliament buildings rather than at the hotel.

Army staff cars will transport the delegates from the hotel to the parliament buildings, a five minutes' walk. The Ottawa Transportation Commission also will make buses available should showers threaten.

Vancouver Chinese Paying Blackmail To Save Families

VANCOUVER, Sept. 12 (CP)—Saunder Gee, former city editor of The Vancouver Chinese Times, said today he has evidence of extortion and blackmail of Vancouver Chinese by Communists in their homeland.

Despite denials from some Chinatown leaders here, reports have persisted that Vancouver Chinese have been forced to pay "protection money" to Red Chinese government officials to ensure safety of relatives in China.

Spokesmen for 8,000 persons living in Vancouver's Chinatown said if evidence of extortion did exist, those blackmailed would be unlikely to produce it because of fear of reprisals against their relatives.

Gee, now a portrait artist, showed a reporter a letter received early this year from a friend in Hong Kong telling him that his (Gee's) father was in "serious trouble" with the Red government in China.

The elder Gee, the letter claimed, had been told by a Red committee he must produce 70 bushels of rice or his safety could not be guaranteed.

Gee said he made arrangements through the intermediary to pay his father's "assessment," valued at about $150.

Gee said he then had written Peiping protesting the extortion. He had received a reply in May. Peiping acknowledged the letter but said it had no knowledge of such activities.

The Reds promised to investigate, Gee said, but there had been no further word from them.

Gee said that he received a letter last month from his father, reporting he has had no further trouble or grain "assessments."

TLC Breaks Away From National Labor Committee

HALIFAX, Sept. 12. (CP)—Moves toward getting all Canadian labor under one tent appeared today to have received a sharp setback. The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, biggest union group in the country, was pulling out of a national committee set up for permanent co-operation with other labor bodies. The 500,000 member Congress, at its annual session Tuesday, voted to withdraw from the committee, though it left its executive "discretionary powers" to cooperate with the other central bodies on particular matters that may come up from time to time.

The step apparently marked the end of a trend towards a type of unity among the union groups representing about 1,000,000 workers, which got most impetus last February through the formation of the co-operation committee.

On that body were representatives of the TLC, the 350,000-member Canadian Congress of Labor, the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor, whose 90,000 members are largely centred in Quebec, and the Independent Railway Brotherhoods with about 40,000 members.

Unity On Controls

The committee was set up when union leaders got together at Ottawa to press the government for price-rent controls. Its establishment was largely along lines sought originally by the Canadian Congress of Labor, which for some years has been anxious for complete organic unity of Canadian labor and favored this move as a step in that direction.

Last month, the American Federation of Labor executive decided to drop a similar setup in the United States with the Congress of Industrial Organizations, and Tuesday the TLC followed suit. The TLC is affiliated with the AFL, while the CCL is the Canadian affiliate of the CIO.

However, congress spokesmen said in interviews Tuesday that the AFL had not put any pressure on the TLC to get out of the tie with the other bodies. Main point of the official explanation given the convention — and somewhat similar to the AFL's reasons—was that the largest congress had gained little from the tie-up and that the other groups had got disproportionate advantages.

The convention of about 400 delegates had a warm debate on the issue, with a series of speakers about evenly divided over the pros and cons of the breakaway. The eventual vote was close.

None of the executive took part in the debate, though R. K. Gervin of Vancouver, bringing in the withdrawal recommendation for the officers' reports committee, obviously was stating the policy of the leadership.

Gervin stressed that, while the permanent association of the TLC with the other congress was being broken off, the executive would continue to have power to work with them on individual issues.

Agree On Plan Halt Attacks

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—The New York Times says today a seven-country sub-committee in the United Nations has agreed on a general plan for organizing UN military measures in the future to meet any aggression.

The group is the military sub-committee of the UN committee on collective security measures. The United States is one member; others are Britain, Brazil, France, the Philippines, Turkey, and Yugoslavia.

Under the sub-committee's plan, the UN would set up an executive military authority to command UN forces in the field, the Times says. A commander-in-chief would have supreme military authority in the field.

Although the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and other regional groups are not mentioned by name in the proposal, the Times says the idea is that established regional military groups, or that individual countries could be asked to serve as the executive military authority, or unified command, as any aggression occurred.

Britain's Dollar Curbs Squeeze Iran's Budget

TEHRAN, Sept. 12 (AP).—Oil-rich Iran is being squeezed through an economic wringer because she cannot sell her nationalized petroleum and Britain is beginning to turn the crank with new financial curbs.

The workman, the peasant and the man on the government payroll haven't felt the pinch yet. But business men and government financial experts fear an economic crisis early next year because of the loss of oil revenues, royalties, payrolls and taxes.

Anti-British Premier Mohammed Mossadegh counts on scraping up enough money to keep his supporters happy until the elections in December, chiefly from funds banked in London.

But despite failing financial prospects and British trade and money curbs, the government still planned to send its delayed ultimatum to Britain to resume talks on the oil deadlock or move remaining British oil technicians out of the country. The ultimatum was postponed Tuesday.

The trial at which Gross was to testify has been under way two days, but still is in the jury-picking stage.

The 18 suspended or retired police officers are accused of obstructing justice in accepting Gross' money by the basketful. Gross has admitted buying police protection at a rate of $1,000,000 a year.

When first arrested Gross was unco-operative. Then suddenly he changed his mind.

He pleaded guilty and began "singing" for the grand jury.

Pending sentencing, Gross was freed in $25,000 bail. He got permission to leave Brooklyn, although two patrolmen were assigned to guard him.

The two were preparing to bring Gross back to Brooklyn Tuesday night when he disappeared.

Hidden Cancer May Be Detected

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP) — A specialist said today a "revolutionary method" has been devised for detecting hidden cancer as much as five to seven years before it reaches the large tumor stage or causes suspicious symptoms.

When internal cancer advances to the stage of causing distress, only a small percentage of sufferers can be saved from death.

The detection of latent or previsual cancer is done by cytology. This is a method where organs or other areas of the body are scraped or swabbed, and the surface cells obtained are examined under a microscope.

Dr. J. Ernest Ayre of Miami, Fla., director of the cancer cytology centre there, said the procedure is so simple and painless that every doctor's office can become a cancer-detection centre.

In a paper to the annual assembly of the United States' and Canadian chapters of the International College of Surgeons, he said:

"Cancer of the uterus, cancer of the lung, cancer of the prostrate, cancer of the larynx and throat and other forms can be diagnosed with great accuracy by using the cytology test.

"In cancer of the cervix and lungs, cytology offers earlier diagnosis than any other known method."

Committees Ended In Sarnia

Citizens who follow municipal administration may be interested in a report from Sarnia that city council has agreed to the dispensing with all standing committees with the temporary exception of the committee on finance.

This "drastic revision" was recommended by the newly appointed city manager, R. Roydon Colter, who obviously is to assume most of the administrative detail. He proposed that all matter be placed first before council instead of particular committees.

"Where council feels further study should be given any matter it should be referred to the city manager, who would then bring it before his weekly meeting with department heads. . . . This procedure, if adopted, would in time relieve members of council of petty details which could be dealt with by the men appointed to head departments."

Golds Push Strongly On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Sept. 12 —(CP)— Golds pushed strongly higher today in early afternoon dealings. Reports that the United States was relaxing its opposition to Canadian requests for revision of the international monetary fund policy against the sale of gold on the "free market" produced a rapid advance.

Producing issues showed the greatest gains in heavy selective buying. Advances ranged to about 50 cents. Trading was heavy as volume for the first three hours reached 2,946,000 shares.

Industrials came back strongly after yesterday's reaction. Constructions showed the best gains while utilities, agricultures, steels, banks and manufacturing companies had a majority of gains. Papers, liquors, refining oils, textiles, retail stores and miscellaneous industrials were mixed. Foods weakened.

Western oils were mixed. Activity in Mid-Continent, yesterday's feature slackened as about 600,000 shares changed hands in the first three hours for penny gains.

Base metals showed little trend. A wide list of issues traded actively. Consolidated Smelters, Hudson Bay, Noranda and United Keno Hill added up to $1. Estella, Silver Miller and Yukeno dipped slightly.

Pinned Boy To Fence Jailed Four Months

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 12 (CP)— Leo Ryan, 20, of Rawdon township, today was sentenced to four months in jail and fined $85 after conviction on five charges arising out of an accident in which a boy, Lance Beer, was pinned against a fence by a truck.

The truck drove away, but Ryan was arrested three days later in swamp near his home.

Ryan pleaded guilty to drunk driving, dangerous driving, driving while his licence was suspended, leaving the scene of an accident and careless driving.

Accept Apology

Hope of peace for war-ravaged Korea today balanced gingerly on Communist reaction to an allied apology for accidentally strafing the Kaesong neutral zone Monday.

The question was:

Will the Reds accept the United Nations command explanation, or will they demand the same kind of answer to 10 other Red charges of allied violations?

The Reds broke off truce talks Aug. 23, charging that an allied plane had bombed the neutral area. The allies denied this charge.

Chances appeared reasonably good that the Reds would accept the UN command explanation of Monday's strafing. Sources close to the UN command were optimistic.

These sources said the Supreme Allied Commander, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, has shown his good faith by readily admitting this violation.

But they emphasized he has no intention of being "railroaded" into admitting any Communist charge that has no basis in fact.

Wrecked Car In City Tried Escape

A Winnipeg man who a month ago wrecked a stolen car near the liftlocks and later did a 10-day term here for drunk driving, Monday afternoon escaped from an Ottawa jail.

He was recaptured by jail guards as he hid in the garage of an Ottawa doctor, two hours after he made his bid for freedom.

The man is William David Waslew, 35, who was in the Ottawa jail awaiting transfer to the Ontario Reformatory. He was convicted in Pembroke of stealing a car.

It was this car that he smashed up on the Wesclox hill while driving through Peterborough shortly after midnight July 31. He snapped off a safety sign and the car slid 150 feet down the southern slope of the hill, receiving about $400 damage.

He was given 10 days on a drunken driving charge and then was taken into custody by Pembroke police.

Monday afternoon he was sent on an errand by one of the guards in the Ottawa jail. By accident he found a wooden ladder and he decided to put it to use.

He climbed to the top of the jail wall, then dropped 20 feet to the ground and ran down a street. Nearby workmen who saw him walking along the top of the wall mistook him for a telephone repairman.

Some 15 jail guards, a score of detectives and uniformed officers, as well as 20 police cars joined in the search.

Waslew offered no resistance and was found nursing his left leg, injured in the fall. His only comment was: "Well, it was a good try, anyway."

City Utilities Sells 9,980 Gals. Propane

Utilities Commission sold 9,980 gallons of propane in August. This is new business which has boomed during the summer season, and may continue in fair volume through winter.

It is being delivered by private enterprise all through this district from the Commission's plant at the foot of Simcoe St.

Water pumpage in August was 161,775,000 gallons, which was 980,000 gals. more than in August last year. Daily average pumpage was 5,218,000 gals.

R. L. Dobbin's report even provides this detail of information regarding chemical treatment of the water for public use through the mains: alum 61.5 lbs. per million gallons; chlorine 7.2 lbs. per million gallons.

"During the month, heavy algae growth appeared in the raw water, the same as appeared last year at this time."

Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH, said recently the quality of the water was carefully watched by both the Commission and health departments.

New water mains built in August: Brunswick Ave., from Ford to Hayes Ave.: 375 ft. of six-inch main.

Ephgrave Boulevard, from 70 ft. east of Lloyd, westerly; 70 ft. of six-inch and 350 ft. of four-inch.

Thirty-three new water services were laid, and two hydrants were set up.

Czechs Face Problem On Bank Aid

Overdue On Payment Of $625,000 Ask Further Delay

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. — (AP)—Czechoslovakia the lone Soviet-bloc country in the world bank and world monetary fund, posed one problem for the United States and faced another of its own today.

Committees of the bank and fund board of governors holding their annual meetings scheduled consideration of:

1. Czechoslovakia's being overdue on payments of $625,000 in gold, or US dollars, on its membership.

2. A Czech complaint about trade and currency restrictions the US imposed on Communist China when it entered the Korean war. The complaint seemed fated to get nowhere.

The Chinese Nationalist government, which the Czechs failed to oust from membership, also is overdue on a payment.

The Nationalists, however, made a part payment of $30,000 on $3,000,000 due from them. They promised to pay the rest as soon as they are "in position to do so."

Ask Further Postponement

Both the Czechs and Chinese were allowed to defer the subscription payment up to last July 25. The Czechs claim the right of a further postponement.

The Czechs charged that US trade and currency restrictions against Communist China are "illegal" and "contradictory to the principles of the fund."

The third day of the joint meeting found the bank management, under president Eugene Black of the US, enjoying peaceful relations with members while the fund management, under a new chief, Ivar Rooth of Sweden, was having rough going.

Fund members, complaining about the fund's failure to provide them more aid seemed pleased over a promise of a more liberal aid policy. But they complained about a management project for tying conditions to aid grants.

On the other hand, the fund appeared to have averted any argument during the governors' meetings this week about its gold policies.

Officials said members indicated willingness to let the topic go until after the board of executive directors has gone over a report on gold prepared by the fund staff.

Defence Committee To See Demonstration

Peterborough's civilian defense committee will be represented at a demonstration by the General Electric Company in Syracuse, NY, Thursday, of a new system of communications which has been developed by its experts in electronics for use in civil defense.

The local party will be composed of Ald. J. A. Dewart, R. L. Dobbin, Gordon Hodgson, director of the utilities group which includes communications, and A. E. Sayers, Bell Telephone engineer, who is assistant director in charge of communications. It is understood that GE experts have been engaged in this special work for more than a year, and have reached the stage of technical completion at which public representatives are being invited to observe the demonstration of equipment.

This Syracuse meeting apparently becomes in part an international conference in civil defense. It will be attended by military leaders, Washington experts, governors of states, and civil defense delegations. Governor Dewey of New York will be the speaker at the concluding session in the evening.

Propose Plan Change Lawsuit Law

TORONTO, Sept. 12 (CP).—A proposal for a new step to make it easier for a citizen to sue a federal agency will be placed before a section of the Canadian Bar Association today.

A draft resolution to be presented to the association's section on civil justice suggests that the Government introduce legislation as soon as possible to put the crown and its incorporated companies on the same footing as ordinary citizens in matters covered by provincial statues governing highway traffic and business transactions.

If approved, the resolution will go before the 300 delegates at a general meeting Friday. Its sponsors contend that Federal Government amendments reducing crown immunity in 1950 and 1951 did not go far enough.

"We are engaged in a fight for the hearts and minds of people who have never possessed freedom, or who have lost it. We have to make clear to them that our way of life is better than a police state."

Underground Wiring Down Town

Last year the Peterborough Utilities Commission admitted the feasibility of underground wiring in this city and said that within a couple of years, or when supplies, time and opportunity were available, a beginning would be made to putting our unsightly overhead wires underground. This project would be started down town where there is a concentration of load (and of wires and poles). Replacing overhead wiring in areas of lesser density would be more expensive, since there are fewer users and less consumption of power to meet the cost, but in time we hope that all wiring within the city will be out of sight.

• • •

For many years wiring in Britain, even in the country, has been underground generally and the system has worked well. Even during the war, disruption to power service by bomb damage was not as bad as might have been expected, although bombs can cause greater and more prolonged damage to underground cables than to overhead wiring. Montreal has taken the lead to rid Canadian cities of overhead power wires. Since 1911 a three-man commission has been working steadily on the replacement. Today the city has more than eighty miles of streets wired underground. By comparison Toronto has only six miles of street with underground conduits. The Electric Commission of Montreal which began its work forty years ago has the task of co-ordinating the removal of all overhead wires—for power, telegraph and signals, and it achieves this in a remarkable way, financially.

• • •

The Montreal Commission (set up by Provincial legislation) leases conduit space to the City and utilities and firms needing it. The Commission is self-supporting and able to liquidate its capital costs. It lessees are the City of Montreal (for its police and fire signals wires and its street lighting wires); the Quebec Hydro, the Montreal Transportation Commission, Canadian Pacific Telegraphs, Canadian National Telegraphs and Dominion Electric Protection Company. The Commission now has nine billion duct-feet of installation, with about 4,000 manholes in the system which are inspected and serviced annually. The ducts carry wires ranging in voltage from about seven to 12,000. Capital funds are provided the Commission by the City of Montreal, but with proceeds from the duct rentals the Commission pays all operating, maintenance and interest charges and sets aside sinking fund instalments to liquidate the original advances.

• • •

The co-operative Montreal effort shows what can be done in this matter if municipal authorities, industry and business really want to get it done. We do not suggest that a separate Underground Wiring Commission is necessary for Peterborough, nor that the problems of a small city have the same answers as those of a large. We do suggest that underground wiring is feasible and will pay its way. There is more than one agency involved in the transporting of wires from above the ground to below it. The telephone company has overhead wires (and, we hasten to say, already underground conduits downtown), several industries in town have their own systems and poles, and the telegraph companies have theirs. The co-operation of all will make underground wiring a reality in Peterborough.

76 Royal Miles In Montreal

As Toronto shocks itself into spending a million or so dollars to greet T.R.H. the Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh, as Brantford preens itself for a brief royal tour through its streets, as London gets ready to line itself along railway tracks and Cobourg sets its watches to the split second so as not to miss the passing of the train; as these and a hundred other places prepare for the princely appearance, Peterborough can sit back placidly, perhaps more smugly than enviously, to watch these other places fuss and fume. Peterborough is not having any royal visitation this year; in fact, it is waiting for Princess Margaret's tour of Canada, sometime in the foreseeable future.

What a tizzy some places are whipping themselves into! Montreal, for instance, has an over-all Committee for the Visit, with patrons, honorary presidents; first, second and third honorary vice-presidents; joint presidents, joint secretaries, joint treasurers; an Advisory Committee as long as your arm; a Woman's Committee (with its roster of honorary presidents, vices and joints-this-and-that); a Banquet Committee; a Buffet Luncheon Committee; a Decorations Committee; a Parade Committee; a City Hall Reception Committee—and, as might be expected to round off all this, a Co-Ordination Committee. Montreal is well-girded for the day and a half visit.

We hope that the Princess and her Duke are likewise well prepared—to stand the strain of Montreal's preparations. All told the royal couple are expected to drive 76 miles through Montreal streets, at a speed of ten miles an hour, except in lightly-populated sections when the speed will be 20 m.p.h. We suspect that half way through her fifty-mile tour arranged to take place during the forenoon and early afternoon of October 22rd, Princess Elizabeth will wish she were behind the wheel of her new Daimler, and ripping down Ontario's four-lane Queen Elizabeth way at 90. But she and the Duke will have had their exciting fling of the visit the night before, at the Forum when they will see the Canadiens play the Detroit Red Wings.

Art Criticism And Cars

The trouble with art criticism is that there is no precise language of art criticism; in fact, the lack of a special vocabulary is the fumbling point of criticism in any of the arts. It has to borrow phrases from other arts and at the same time use the language of understandable speech. Art criticism has no symbols like the mathematical x, precise and at the same time indefinite and understood only by the initiate. Nor has it the esoteric usefulness of medical jargon—garbled Latin which doctors hope they understand but hope that nobody else does.

The language of criticism has to deal with things as specialized as anything in mathematics or medicine but its only tool is plain varnished English. So we get musical critics talking about the colour of a composition or performance; art critics talking about the tone of a painting; literary critics talking about the music of form. They haven't any accepted standard symbols like x and y or any Latin like peripalpebral ecchymosis to throw out learnedly, though all that the doctors mean by the lurching string of foreign syllables is 'black eye'. Critics have to pretend that they know what they mean when they attempt to say what they think they think—in terms which can be found out. Literary and art critics cannot fool part of the public all of the time or all of the public part of the time. They simply haven't the specialized vocabulary. But they try their best. For instance—

At present, the Museum of Modern Art in New York is holding an exhibit to illustrate automobile design present and past. The curator of the museum has written a catalogue of the car exhibits, discussing their "excellence as works of art." He finds in a 1951 Jeep "the combined appeal of an intelligent dog and a perfect gadget . . . looks like a sturdy sardine can on wheels . . . one of the few genuine expressions of machine art". What on earth, or above or below it, does that mean? Physicists, surgeons and even tea-cup readers, endowed with a special vocabulary, can get away with a meaningless gobble-de-hoik without being found out; but not the curator of a famous art gallery; he has to talk in language that at least sounds like English, and sounds as if it had meaning. Other people pardonably laugh at it. They understand that the sound doesn't make sense.

So in English which sounds as if it ought to be understood, the museum critic is forced to discuss the artistic merits of a 1930 German Mercedes: "an amusingly solemn piece of stagecraft" with "a necklace of lights, bumpers, straps, horns and handles, undecorated but nevertheless expressively decorated." A 1939 Bentley (British) has "a patrician urbanity of style other schools of design have failed to render obsolete." A 1939 Talbot (French) is "a composition of voluptuous shapes." The 1948 M.G. (British) is a "stylistic understatement . . . artful simplicity."

Only when the Curator of the Museum of Modern Art gets down to brass tacks (pardon the metaphor; we mean, to hard chromium) does an ounce of sense come from a metric carat of his jeweled terms: "The dollar grin, as the American grille is known abroad, does not represent our best effort."

Lindsay's Fair

Fall fairs are in full bloom all over the district. The one-day fairs of village and small town are the authentic stuff, and good neighbourly affairs they are; they offer lively protraits of the district's ways and vitality, and the people and their produce are on hand to vie and and josh with each other and to enjoy a vigorours fete. Lindsay's fair is a more pretentious effort, and in this it resembles Peterborough's. It is an "Exhibition". The Lindsay Exhibition opens next Tuesday and goes one better than Peterborough in having five days, not four. Post-war Lindsay shows have been busy, impressive and big under a vigorous management. We expect that this year the Lindsay fair will be even bigger and better. It is setting out with that aim, anyway.

It is assumed that human beings could not live on the moon because there is no air or water there. A few nightclub habitues might manage it, without too much trouble.

Senora Peron's "Sacrifice"

By J. HALCRO FERGUSON

SENORA PERON'S decision not to accept the candidacy for the Vice-Presidency of Argentina has been widely described as a sacrifice imposed by the Army. There is certainly a great deal of truth in this explanation, but not the whole truth.

All reports from Buenos Aires mention that the crowds of workers whose descent on Buenos Aires was to set the seal on the campaign fell far short of the two million who had been expected. Welcome though this development must have been to Army leaders, they can have had no direct part in bringing it about.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE first and most obvious explanation that springs to mind is that, despite the promise of free travel and unlimited beefsteaks, a large number of Argentine workers preferred to spend their day-off at home. No doubt they did, but normally they would have been unwise to indulge their desires if the all-powerful C.G.T. (General Confederation of Labour) had told them to attend the "Manifestation" in Buenos Aires.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE implication is that the C.G.T. was not as pressing as usual in its invitations. If this is the case, it would reflect a basic lack of unity in the Peronista ranks. The one thing that holds the Peronista Party together is a common loyalty to President Peron himself. Eva Peron, on the other hand, though she commands vociferous support among some sections of the movement, is anathema to others. While Peron is a unifying force, his wife is a disruptive one.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS division in the Peronista movement is inherent in its origin, for it grew up to give expression to two very different trends of feeling in post-war Argentina: firstly the touchy nationalism of a nation which had been for over two decades in the political doldrums and—as an Argentine would put it—whose national matrimony had been exploited by foreign capital; and secondly the upsurge of working-class sentiment which reflected the same phenomenon in almost all other parts of the world.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT was in an effort to cover up this fundamental split that Peron, after assuming office in 1946, merged the various parties which had supported him (Labour, Nationalist, dissident Radicals and so on) into a single Peronista Party. But the split remained behind the facade, and was widened by the activities of Party members who were more interested in their own fortunes than in any ideology. It was the kind of situation which Hitler resolved in the Nazi Party by purging the left-wing elements, except that in Argentina the two factions were too evenly balanced for such drastic action.

✧ ✧ ✧

ONE might imagine that the C.G.T., as a supposedly trade union organization, would be all in favour of Senora Peron, the champion of the workers. But in fact the C.G.T. is a purely Government-controlled body to which many workers are bitterly opposed, and it reflects the views—or the conflict of views—in the Administration itself.

✧ ✧ ✧

UNDER these circumstances Senora Peron, who has never yet bitten off more than she could chew, may well have felt that by accepting the Vice-Presidency she was endangering the structure on which she and her husband relied. She has always managed to wield power without office, and she is far too shrewd to accept office unless it is going to maintain or increase her power. What drastic reorganization there may now be of the negligent C.G.T. is another question.

✧ ✧ ✧

ARMY leaders will naturally regard her decision as a victory for themselves, but in effect it has been more of a containing action. Peron is bound, barring some totally unforeseeable circumstance, to win the elections on November 11, and his wife will still be the First Lady of the Republic. Even with their opponents divided the Army leaders would still risk a civil war if they intervened directly, and that they do not want, whatever the outcome. They will only act if their action can be decisive.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHAT they can hope, however, is that Peron's popularity will begin to fade during the President's coming term of office, to a point where action would be possible. To Peron's civilian opponents even that would not be a very encouraging outlook: the last time the military ran the country (1943-45) they gave it one of the most clumsy, bureaucratic and unpopular administrations in modern Argentine history, and, having taken over to remove the ineffectively authoritarian Government of Dr. Castillo, ended by replacing it with—the Government of General Peron. In fact throughout its history the Argentine Army, however lofty its motives, has never been particularly clever in its excursions into politics.

Too Rich Food

(News of Norway)

Crews aboard Norwegian ships should be served more fresh fruit, fruit juice, and salad. That is the recommendation of a mixed committee, representing management and labour in the Norwegian shipping industry, as well as the Government. The present diet, states the committee in its report, is definitely injurious to good health.

Under the chairmanship of Surgeon General Karl Evang, the group has examined reports on the meals served aboard 49 ships in various trades, which revealed the following: Over 90% serve more than 4 meat dinners a week; 75% serve warm meat or fish suppers at least 6 days a week, and almost 90% serve meat, bacon, or fish for breakfast at least 4 days a week.

The committee found these faults: too much heavy, indigestible food; too many heavy meals a day; coffee consumption excessive; facilities for proper food preservation frequently inadequate; cooks not always sufficiently qualified; average expenditure for food too high.

To remedy this situation the committee proposes adoption of a new 6-week menu based on more varied and digestible foods. The merits of a more balanced diet will be explained in a pamphlet which will be distributed to seamen aboard all Norwegian ships.

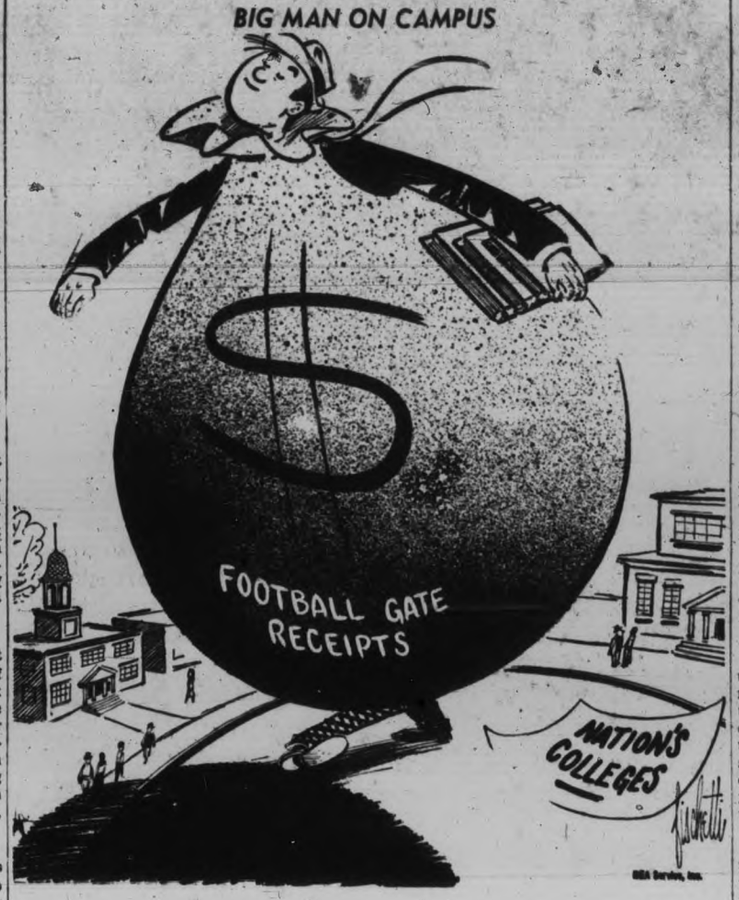
BIG MAN ON CAMPUS



Rarest Postage Stamps

(BRANDON SUN)

THE rarest and most valuable stamp in the world, for which offers of more than $60,000 have been refused, will be on display at the Canadian International Stamp Exhibition in the Automotive building, Toronto, from September 21 to 29. This exhibition will commemorate the 100th anniversary of government issued postage stamps in Canada as well as the 100th anniversary of postal administration.

The world's rarest philatelic gem, an 1856 British Guiana one cent stamp, is said to be the only British Empire stamp missing from the famous collection of His Majesty King George VI. It was found in 1873 by a young collector, L. Vernon Vaughan, while searching through family papers at his home in British Guiana and was sold to a neighbour for only six shillings. Despite intensive searchings by philatelists and stamp collectors all over the world, no other copies of the 1856 British Guiana one cent stamp have ever been discovered.

Some of the greatest and most rare collections of stamps from the four corners of the globe, including a portion of the famous collection of His Majesty King George VI, will be on display at the Canadian International Stamp Exhibition. The various exhibits will be judged by an international jury of eminent philatelists from various nations.

During the exhibition, tribute will be paid to the memory of Sir Sandford Fleming, the man who designed Canada's first postage stamp back in 1851. Another highlight will be the demonstration of various methods used in transportation of the mails including Indian runner, pony express, stage coach, wood-burning locomotive and helicopter.

Letters To The Editor

ROPES WITH RAGS ACROSS STREET

Sir: I was passing through Peterborough tonight on my return journey to my home in Flint, Mich., when my attention was attracted to some ropes, stretched across your main street. Each rope had a number of what I presumed to be pennants, spaced at regular intervals hanging from it. I was at a loss to understand why they were there, but, taking into consideration their venerable appearance, I concluded that they were associated with some sacred or historical event in the early history of Peterborough, and had been used at that time.

Arriving at Campbellford, I decided to rest here overnight, and continue my journey in the morning. I met a gentleman on the street and asked him about the display in Peterborough. He explained that it was meant as a welcome to tourists, to show that they appreciated having them there. Peterborough was assuming a very heavy financial burden on account of new civic buildings, some completed and some in course of construction, and they did not dare to incur any additional expense for decorations, so they were making the best possible use of what they had!

This explanation, of course, put the whole matter in a different light. Having a little spare time ere bed time, I decided to write to you to express my sincerest appreciation of the efforts of those responsible for the display of good will to us tourists from the land to the south.

This is my first visit to Canada and I have had a very enjoyable time.

I expect to come again next year.

Yours truly,
R. J. DAVIS.

ABDUCTION OF CHILDREN

Sir: After an intelligent editorial in Sept. 7 issue on relations with Russia, you get sanctimoniously maudlin about Greek children taken north into Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Romania, mostly with their parents, when the Greek fascists with American arms overran the region held by the remnants of the Greek Peoples' Army which had previously fought against the Nazi invaders.

Were you so condemnatory about the thousands of Spanish orphans and other children of Loyalists who found refuge in France, Britain, Mexico, etc., 1937-40, and who were demanded back by Dictator Franco, another Fascist who won out with the aid of Hitler, Mussolini and the "democracies," and who is once more our "Ally"?

Nor did I read your editorials exposing the authorities in West Germany, West Austria and Italy who refused, 1945-51, and still refuse to allow representatives of Russia and the Eastern European states even to contact hundreds of thousands of children raped from Eastern Europe by the Nazis and Italians in World War II?

The Roman Catholic orphanages where most of these are being indoctrinated with hatred of their homelands have refused to return them even in the thousands of cases where the children's parents in Eastern Europe plead for their return, and instead tell them their parents are dead. This is well authenticated by Western reporters.

WALLACE MASON.

Ottawa

(Ed. Note: In plenary session November 27, 1948, the General Assembly of 58 United Nations adopted unanimously a resolution requesting the return of Greek children to Greece, if their closest relatives so desired. The children had been removed by guerillas to Albania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia, a special committee reported to the Assembly, after careful investigation. United Nations nor any independent group of them have not found any similar abduction of Eastern European children by Western European countries. It is Communist propaganda that there are "thousands of cases" of Eastern European children being held in Western Europe against their closest relatives' wishes.)

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon. For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord. For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts. (Isa. 55: 7-9.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And Jesus went into the temple of God, and cast out all them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the money-changers, and the seats of them that sold doves, and said unto them, It is written, My house shall be called the house of prayer; but ye have made it a den of thieves. (Matt. 21: 12, 13.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And he taught daily in the temple. But the chief priests and the scribes and the chief of the people sought to destroy him, and could not find what they might do. (Luke 19: 47, 48.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And they watched him, and sent forth spies, which should feign themselves just men, that they might take hold of his words, that so they might deliver him unto the power and authority of the governor. And they asked him, saying, Master, we know that thou sayest and teachest rightly, neither acceptest thou the person of any, but teachest the way of God truly: is it lawful for us to give tribute unto Caesar, or no?

But he perceived their craftiness, and said unto them, Why tempt ye me? Shew me a penny. Whose image and superscription hath it? They answered and said, Caesar's. And he said unto them, Render therefore unto Caesar the things which be Caesar's, and unto God the things which be God's. (Luke 20: 20-25.)

Bell Wants $13,000,000

(Toronto Star)

The Bell Telephone company has applied to the board of transport commissioners for rate increases which would provide it an additional 10 per cent. in revenue. The proposed rates would raise the charge on public pay phones from five to 10 cents, and 50 cents a month to the cost of two-party residence telephone service in Toronto and 75 cents for home individual lines. No increase is sought for long distance lines.

This application follows an interim increase in rates granted by the board in July, 1950, which was confirmed and extended effective Jan. 1 this year. The combined effect of these rate revisions was to raise Bell revenues by an estimated 20.6 per cent. —as sought by the company. A 10 per cent. increase on top of that would mean revenue nearly one-third higher than was being earned 14 months ago. That is an enormous increase in revenue even for these times of mounting labour and equipment costs.

The company claims that the 20 per cent. defence surtax announced in the last budget has necessitated higher charges so the dividend rates may be maintained. But the company has yet to make clear that a full 10 per cent. increase, which would amount to nearly $13,000,000 on the basis of last year's revenues, is needed to offset this additional tax.

Prince Philip Interested In Many Types of Sport

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON

LONDON — (CP)—When the Duke of Edinburgh visits the Dominion in October with Princess Elizabeth Canadians will meet one of Britain's keenest sportsmen who revels in rugged recreation when he can get it.

As president of the National Playing Fields' Association, Prince Philip has striven for years to encourage a diversity of team games among Britain's growing generation and himself has had a fling at almost every sport in the book, except ice hockey.

An all-round athlete he still has a modest collection of trophies won for swimming, diving and high-jumping during his school days. In more recent years, however, he has devoted the meagre spare time available to him in pursuit of his favorite sports, yatching and polo.

He has his own racing yatchs, the "Coweslip," presented to him by the people of Cowes, famous yatching centre in the Isle of Wight, and the dragon class "Bluebottle," a wedding gift to the Royal couple. He is particularly fond of this craft and has sailed it himself in many races in home and Continental waters.

In 1948 he presented a trophy bearing his name to the yatch racing association which has become one of the most prized awards at the annual Cowes regatta.

Rugged Polo Player

Encouraged by his uncle, the Earl of Mountbatten, the Duke likes polo. Although he has figured in several spectacular spills Philip is regarded as a rugged player, forceful in attack and possessing a fine driving shot. He is the owner of some of the best ponies in the country, including three highly-bred performers, presented to him by the President of Turkey.

At Dartmouth College, where he received his early training, he was picked for the school's first soccer eleven and usually found himself playing in goal by reason of his height and agility.

Later, while attending Gordonstoun school in Scotland, he was selected to lead the cricket team. When he subsequently became president of the Marylebone Cricket Club, he captained all-star teams in special charity matches, mainly for his pet hobby —more and better playing fields for the nation.

ther Interests

As a spectator, the Duke particularly favors motor-speedway racing although he is also a keen race horse fan, particularly since the Princess became an owner. He makes a special effort to attend one of the major events of the Ascot fall meeting, the running of the Duke of Edinburgh stakes, a late test for two-year-old fillies.

In season he is fond of shooting and also rounds up his friends for an occasional game of squash racquets, his favorite indoor sports diversion.

When he returns from his Canadian tour, he will have less opportunity than ever for sports diversions. He will then assume added responsibilities as Royal representative at home while the King, Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret are away on their tour of Australia and New Zealand early next year.

REBELS—Hamilton's most discontented group of football fans, the Catty-Tigers' Nickelback Club held their inaugural meeting recently. Wives of Tiger-Cats' executives and their friends formed the splinter group when their husbands decided the Tiger-Cats Quarterback Club would be strictly stag this season. The Nickelbacks indicate they may become a permanent booster group. Charter members, left to right, are: Mrs. G. H. Parke, Mrs. E. J. Holton, Mrs. C. S. Lazier, Mrs. F. M. Gibson, chairmwoman Mrs. B. G. Southam, Mrs. J. G. Langs, Mrs. J. M. Pigott, Mrs. W. M. Hatch, Mrs. W. H. Young and Mrs D. I. Ker.

More Palatable Order

BERLIN, Sept. 12 — (AP) — Professor Emil Fuchs, father of Klaus Fuchs, Britain's convicted atomic spy, has been appointed by the Russian zone to devise a way of making Communism more palatable for devout church-goers, West Berlin church circles said Tuesday. Prof. Fuchs is professor of theology at Leipzig University.

The meeting was fully represented by all those interested in the welfare of the veterans. In attendance were representatives from the Legion, the Welfare Committee, Branch 452 (ladies), the Red Patch Club, the RCAF Club, the Duffy Club, the S. D. & G's, the Navy League, the C.G.E. veterans, the Westclox veterans and the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Albert Mason was again named chairman of the committee with the publicity in charge of Fred Kiff. Hurrel Dodds is secretary-treasurer and E. Hogg will be in charge of parade activities. L. Durkin was named master of ceremonies at the war memorial. J. Weyer is parade marshal. H. Dodds chairman of the sale of wreaths, Mrs. Albert Mason poppy day activities and A. Butcher will be in charge of special duties.

With The Ladies

A zone rally of the ladies' auxiliaries was held in Lindsay on Friday evening with more than 400 in attendance. Premier Leslie Frost was the guest speaker at the dinner and Mrs. G. Evans of Oshawa the zone representative was in charge of the rally.

For some time it has been felt that the zone was too large and heavy for proper organization so action was taken at the meeting to divide the zone in two. The new zone numbered 24 will consist of Coboconk, Fenelon Falls, Apsley, Lakefield, Lindsay, Havelock, Hastings, Haliburton and Peterborough. At the election which followed Mrs. A. Parrington, Peterborough, was elected the first zone representative.

The rally in 1952 will be held in Peterborough.

Those who will attend the Ontario convention at Timmins October 1 to 4 will be Mrs. Albert Mason, president of the Peterborough Auxiliary, Mrs. A. Wade, Mrs. R. Ritchie and Mrs. Parrington.

RCAF Planner Gets Appointment

OTTAWA, Sept. 12 (CP)—The RCAF's chief logistics planner, Group Capt. E. C. Luke, OBE., 47, of Westmount, Que., has been appointed to the staff of Gen. Lauris Norstad, head of the Allied air forces in Central Europe.

The Air Force said today that Group Capt. Luke will sail from New York Sept. 18 to take up his new duties at Fontainebleau. With the North Atlantic Treaty Organization he will be engaged in staff duties dealing with logistics and airfield installations under Gen. Norstad.

Educated at Royal Military College, Kingston, Group Capt. Luke was commissioned in the RCAF in 1925, did a three-year hitch and then went into private engineering in British Columbia.

He rejoined the Air Force in 1938, had an active part in the build-up of units for the British Commonwealth air training plan and in 1941 became a senior staff officer at western command headquarters at Vancouver.

In 1949 he came to Ottawa as chief logistics planner in the technical services division at Air Force headquarters.

Oshawa Erases Orphans In Nifty Game

Oshawa Pedlars defeated Peterborough Orphans 4-0 Tuesday night in a thrilling Senior B OASA playoff battle at the Motor City. The win gave Pedlars the best-of-three series in straight games, following Saturday's victory in Peterborough.

Norm Bagnall and Terry Woods again hooked up in this important struggle and the fans enjoyed a fine duel between two good twirlers with little to choose on the basis of earned runs. Bagnall fanned 17 batters, allowed three hits and walked one; but Woods held the highly-touted Pedlars to seven bingles, walked but two in a fine display, and despite four errors by his mates kept Orphans' defensive well under control.

Scored Early

Oshawa scored in the first as Yourkevich singled, advanced on Stark's sacrifice and scored as McMillen's drive sifted through the infield. Homers by the same hitter in the third and Logeman in the eighth accounted for the only earned runs of the game, but McMillen scored in the sixth on Logeman's infield rap to second after reaching first on an error, to give the Motor crew their other tally.

Orphans were unable to bunch hits off the clever speed and curve ball artist. They threatened in the sixth when Sulivan and Lewis singled to open, but Orfs' next three hitters blew as ducks died on the pond.

Jack Logeman led Pedlars' attack in the RBI column as he belted a homer and single to drive in two runs and score one, while Bill Yourkevich also homered, hit a pair of singles, drove in one and scored one. The team as a whole fielded faultlessly, though few chances were offered.

For Orphans, who died fighting, aside from Woods, the fielding of Fraser Wade was exceptionally fine as he snared all the chances that came his way with two putouts and four assists; also Russ Scriver who handled seven chances in centre with one excusable bobble.

Orphans — F. Wade 3b, J. McGrath c, Sullivan ss, Lewis rf, Scriver cf, Jaquith lf, Curry 2b, O'Donoghue 1b, Woods p.

Oshawa— Yourkevich cf, Stark 3b, Keeler ss, McMillen rf, Logeman lf, Barker 1b, Nelson 2b, Cooper c, Bagnall p, Romaneski (for Yourkevich in 8th).

Umpires—P. Calladine at plate, F. Keller on bases.

Batting: Ted Williams, Red Sox —singled with bases loaded to drive in the tying and winning runs as Boston nipped Detroit, 4-3.

Pitching: Early Wynn, Indians —pitched three scoreless relief innings, halting the A's with the bases loaded in the ninth and tenth innings, and driving in the wining run in the 11th with a triple as the Indians won the opener, 6-5. Philadelphia won the nightcap, 9-5.

Hope To Collect On Team Shifts

TORONTO, Sept. 12 (CP). — The Maple Leafs, who last year made more player shifts than any other team in the National Hockey League, are this year hoping to reap the benefits of those changes. While their victory in the playoffs last winter indicates they already have had a fair share of the benefits, general manager Conn Smythe says his team is "just coming of age."

The Leafs open their training program Sept. 23 at St. Catharines. Twenty-six players so far have been invited to play and the Toronto team will have four exhibition games before their league opener in Maple Leaf Gardens, Oct. 13.

Leafs open their exhibition schedule against Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League Sept. 29 at St. Catahrines. On Oct. 5 they will meet their own farm club, the American Hockey League Pittsburgh Hornets, at Niagara Falls, Ont., where the Hornets will be training. In St. Catharines the following night the two teams will play a return game. Leafs have signed Ken Laufman of last year's Guelph Biltmores.

The National Hockey League all-star game is slated for Oct. 9 in Maple Leaf Gardens.

The Pittsburgh Hornets have invited 28 players to their Niagara Falls camp and will play five exhibition games in addition to the two against the Leafs. They meet the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League in Niagara Falls, Sept. 28 with a return game at Guelph, Oct. 3. The Hornets are scheduled to clash with the Bisons in Buffalo, Oct. 7.

Ulsters Chalk Up Win

TORONTO, Sept. 12 (CP). — Toronto Ulster United Tuesday night beat Montreal Italia-Canadians 3-0 and qualified to meet Vancouver St. Andrews in a best-of-three soccer final for the Dominion Cup and the Canadian championship. The finals start Saturday in Montreal.

Tuna Costing Sportsmen $50 A Pound

By JACK BRAYLEY

WEDGEPORT, NS, Sept. 12—(CP)— Somebody estimated here today that tuna cost the wealthy sportsmen about $50 a pound but this is no deterrent to what promises to be one of the best international big game fishing tournaments ever held.

Most members of the five international teams from Chile, Cuba, British Empire, United States and Scandinavia retired early Tuesday night.

In Paris, they were in a flag-bedecked fleet of 15 pot-bellied boats before dawn this morning.

And to shoot at they had the near world record of an "amateur" who landed a 932-pound bluefin after a 50-minute fight on Soldiers Rip fishing ground Tuesday. This big fish, together with a fine selection of less weighty brothers, augured well for today's opening of the three-day world championship. And the weatherman said the day would be sunny with only a few cloudy intervals.

Sets Example

The man who set the example for the experts was 66-year-old Harvey Teller, retired recreation chief of San Francisco. The only other fish he ever caught was 24-pound salmon in his native California. First man to congratulate him was Cmdr. Duncan Hodgson of Montreal, captain of the British team and holder of the world title with a 977-pound tuna he caught in Cape Breton waters last year.

The five teams will fish from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. ADT daily and will be judged on a scoring system that takes into account poundage, biggest fish caught and largest number caught.

Turbulent Spot

The fishing ground is a square mile patch of water — Soldier's Rip—made turbulent by the sea running over a shoal into deep water. This turbulence helps the bait lures by making them appear alive to the hunting tuna.

But that tuna steak at the end of the day—and this is purely theoretical, because the sportsman always presents his guide with the catch—costs plenty.

The cost includes items like $40 a day for the boat, $800 for the purchase of good gear, $100 for a clothing outfit, transportation costs, at least $50 for hotel and an unestimated sum for entertainment which goes with this sport.

Incidentally, the guide sells the catch at about six cents a pound to a cannery and you buy a seven-ounce tin in a shop for about 40 cents.

But all the team members can afford it. For instance, they include Anthony Hulman, owner of Indianapolis Speedway on the American team, Count F. Blucher Altona, Danish newspaper baron on the Scandinavian team, and Benjamin Claro, leading economist of his country on the Chilean team.

Tennis Playoffs

Mrs. J. Fletcher defeated Miss A. Bubik 6-3, 6-1 earlier this week to retain the ladies' single tennis championship of the Kawartha Club. Ron Lye and Don Lamont captured the men's doubles over John Faguy and Peter Thompson 5-7, 6-4 and 6-3.

In other club events, J. Faguy meets W. Elmsley while J. Fletcher plays D. Lamont in men's singles semi-finals. Mr. and Mrs. J. Fletcher meet Mrs. R. Charlton and W. Elmsley in mixed doubles finals. In ladie's doubles, Mrs. Charlton and Miss V. Rose play Mrs. Fletcher and Miss A. Bubik in finals.

City championship semi-finals in men's singles has J. Faguy playing J. MacPherson, while J. Fletcher meets R. Charlton, both matches were to have been played Tuesday. In finlas, Mrs. Fletcher plays Mrs. Charlton in ladies' singles, while the doubles has Mrs. Stuart and Mrs. Fletcher playing Mrs. Charlton and Mrs. Whitehouse. In men's doubles, it's Charlton and MacPherson against Faguy and Fletcher, the latter pair reaching finals by beating Bun Kingdon and Roy Johnston 6-1, 6-1.

Oshawa Red Raiders tackle the local Orfuns tonight in Morrow Park, under the lights, to open their 1951 ORFU senior "B" schedule. Parade, bands, cheer leaders, and the works, to pry off the seasonal lid on the autumn classic. Besides that, it should be a swell grid scrap between the Argo-sponsored Raiders and Leo Deadey's strong Peterborough pack. The pick of last year's team on the Orfuns as well as some classy newcomers, including several officers of the law to keep the enemy in check. Football followers, no doubt, will be out in force to see Orfuns try for that first important league win.

Jack Rutherford of St. Paul in the American Association has a pitching record now of 13 and 8, and he was chosen on the Triple-A American Association all-star team of '51. The big young righthander is a son of Walter Rutherford of Detroit, formerly of Peterborough. Walter played shortstop a spell with the old Petes of the early Central Ontario Baseball League, and he will be remembered by many veteran ball fans. He preceded Roy Cherrett in the days of Kirn, Frost, Phelan, Swanston, Guerin, Lowe, Adams, Rose and other diamond stars of yesteryear. Nice to know his son is on the way to the majors.

Drop Gans And Queen's

Our opinion on the senior "B" hockey group situation is that George Patterson's application for a third Kingston entry should be refused, and that Queen's and Gananoque should go intermediate "A". Leaving Kingston Nylons, Belleville, Petes and Eagles for a good senior "B" grouping. These teams will draw and provide keen hockey, but the others won't, and there's no use kidding ourselves to the contrary. Three teams in Kingston would mean weakening em all, and we know the Gans and Queen's didn't have much last semester. Local clubs don't like so many long hikes nor so many half-filled houses at home.

Petes' lacrossers are off to Mimico tonight, hoping to wind up the Eastern Canada senior finals in four straight. Should they slip and drop the decision tonight, the fifth of the best-of-seven series will be here Friday night. But don't count too much on it. The club is sharp and hungry now. The players are counting the day till they fly to Vancouver to meet Victoria Shamrocks or Vancouver Combines in the best-of-seven Dominion final for the Mann Cup. They'll likely leave Sept. 22 on the 10-hour flight and have a day to stretch their legs and go through a light workout on the arena wooden floor ere the big sawoffs start Sept. 24. So, they want to oust Mimico right now.

A Brooklyn Rhubarb, Eh?

Something of a rhubarb developed at Quaker Park last eve in the deciding game of the Industrial Fastball League semi-finals. Mutuals were leading Raybestos 4-0 in the sixth when a player (Byers) got into an argument with Umpire Al Quemby. Latter ejected Byers from the field, but he returned to the vicinity of the diamond—and the ump wound up by awarding the game to Raybestos. Quite a hullaballoo then, and the loop executive held a meeting. The umpire agreed to reconsider the forfeit, and the game will be replayed Thursday or Friday night at eight in the Bowl (whenever it is available), winner to tackle Mount Pleasant in the finals for the G. K. Fraser Trophy. Quite a few fans on deck last mild evening.

Orphans came to the end of their senior "B" softball trail in the Motor City last night as Oshawa Pedlars blanked them 4-0 in a fine OASA fixture. Normie Bagnall again came up with top twirling in a three-hit effort, fanning 17. But Terry Woods of the Dormer squad was good, also, in giving just seven hits. He had four miscues behind him, Oshawa earning only two runs. Fraser Wade and Russ Scriver were good defensively for the Peterborough outfit, but the Pedlars now meander into Eastern Ontario finals against Hull, winner of the Ottawa district. Oshawa is always a tough hurdle for our softball entries in provincial playdowns. Orphans were city champs here this season.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

For the first time since the war an English first class cricket season has been completed without any player accomplishing the "double" of 1,000 runs and 100 wickets.

The three nearest to achieving the feat were Vic Jackson, of Leicestershire, who obtained 1,233 runs and took 98 wickets, Ray Smith, of Essex, who obtained the "double" in 1947 and 1950, 1,294 runs and 95 wickets and Roland Jenkins, of Worcestershire, 959 runs and 143 wickets.

Warwickshire won the county championship for only the second time in its history. The championship goes back to 1873 and the counties' previous success was in 1911.

The National Boxing Association voted Tuesday to get tough with champions who fail to defend their titles within six months.

At its closing session of the 32nd annual convention, the NBA put sharp teeth in its long-standing rule which requires a champion to make a title defence within a half-year or forfeit his crown.

Now, there will be no if's, and's or but's, the NBA claims, when a champion evades a defence against a logical contender within the six-month period. Formerly, a champion could dodge the rule if the purse was not suitable.

David Rochon, 53-year-old member of the Quebec Legislative Assembly, Tuesday was elected president of the National Boxing Association. He succeeds Archie Hindman of Hagerstown, Ind. Rochon's hometown of Montreal was selected for the 1952 NBA convention to be held in the second week in September.

Saint John Beavers, one of six teams in the expanded Maritime Major Hockey League, Tuesday night announced the signing of Phil Hughes, goalie for Toronto St. Michaels last season.

St. Mike's, Ontario Major Hockey Association winners, conquered the western Canada Major Hockey League champions and were finalists against Valleyfield Braves in the Alexander Cup series.

The six-foot-three Hughes is the property of Toronto Maple Leafs.

At Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Freddy Glover, last year's top scorer in the American Hockey League, is shaping up favorably as third member of the Marty Pavelich and Metro Prystai line, number two with Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League, coach Tommy Ivan said Tuesday.

Glover, 23-year-old native of Toronto, who scored 48 goals and 36 assists with the Wings' farm team Indianapolis Capitols last season, seems assured of a spot on the line, Ivan and general manager Jack Adams agreed after watching Tuesday's workout.

At Coldwater, Ont., a standardbred left the track in a race at the 58th fall fair Tuesday and plunged into the dense crowd. Jack McMahon and son, Lorne, of Port McNicoll and Jean Palmer, 4, of Eady were knocked down but suffered only minor injuries.

Juniors Ousted By Mimico In Fourth Fray

MIMICO, Sept. 12. — Mimico junior Mounties won the right to represent Eastern Canada in the Dominion junior lacrosse finals by handing the visiting Peterborough Filter Queens a decisive 16-5 lacing in the fourth game of a best-of-five series.

Jack Mitchell was the star of the game as he turned in a sparkling performance in the Mimico nets while his mates provided him with the game-winning goals.

The Filter Queens held the high-flying Mounties to a 2-1 margin the first quarter but an eight-goal splurge in the second quarter assured them of victory as they held the visitors to one goal, that coming from the stick of O'Reilly.

A Big Fourth

Both teams scored once in the third quarter and Mimico cemented their win by adding five in the final stanza as the Filter Queens appeared bewildered at the flashy offensive play demonstrated by the homesters.

Lou Nickel and Rock Batley with two goals each and O'Reilly with a single, accounted for all the Filter Queen's goals, while for Mimico, Don Meikle and Bert Barager claimed top honors, each getting three goals.

Al McLean, Jim McIntyre and Bill Riley each got a pair for the victors and they will meet either British Columbia or Winnipeg, depending on who wins the three-game playoff at Winnipeg. The Dominion finals will start at Brampton on Saturday Sept. 22nd.

Line-ups:

Peterborough: Nicholls, Groves, Nickel (2), Powell, Brioux, G. Robinson, B. Robinson, Burns. Morrissey, Heffernan, Batley (2), Farley, Fitzgerald, O'Reilly (1).

Mimico: Mitchell, McNeill, Lubbock, Barager (3), McLean (2), McIntyre (2), Meeke (3), Sandford (1), Kelly, Hodson, Venenner (1), Riley (2), Harte, Rock (1).

Referees: Joe Murphy and Lou Vipond, Toronto.

Merchants Whip Colborne 8-2

COBOURG, Sept. 12.—Lindsay Merchants took a stranglehold on the Lakeshore League title in Colborne Monday night, under the lights, as they whipped Colborne for the second straight time in the best-of-five series, 8-2.

Colborne were on even terms in the third frame when Karl Higenbothem, their ace pitcher, developed a sore arm and was forced to give away to Bill Ball who was promptly set on in the fourth for two runs and slammed for five more in the fifth. That was the ball game. The Lindsay 10-hit attack never was equalled by the Colborne crew who got to Dugger Loucks for but four safeties, one a double, by Irwin Post.

The teams return to Lindsay tonight for the third game of the set.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

In one of the best played games on local greens this season, G. Coleman Jr.s' rink in a group playoff final defeated Bill Jeffries' rink 17-14—and it was well-earned. It was nip and tuck all the way down from the first end to the 18th. It would be wasting time and space to attempt to pick the star. All eight were good. The oustanding point of it all was that each rink had as a lead a first-year man, and they were great. They set a hot pace. And now the Coleman rink will meet P. Johnson's rink for the club championship.

The rinks:

L. Mitchell	W. McCreery
C. Turnbull	R. McVeety
T. McMillan	H. R. Martin
G. Coleman, Jr.	R. Gamble
Skip ... 17	Skip ... 14

Ronnie Knox and Ed Pritchard pulled a smart play on the boys. They stole up to the green Tuesday afternoon and played the final game of the club singles. It must have been a honey of a game. At one time Knox was leading 20-5 and only needed one more point for game—but Pritchard kept plugging away and scored the last eight ends to finish on the short side 21-19. Congratulations.

Mr. Joe Ditcher was umpire for this game.

Men's doubles tonight.

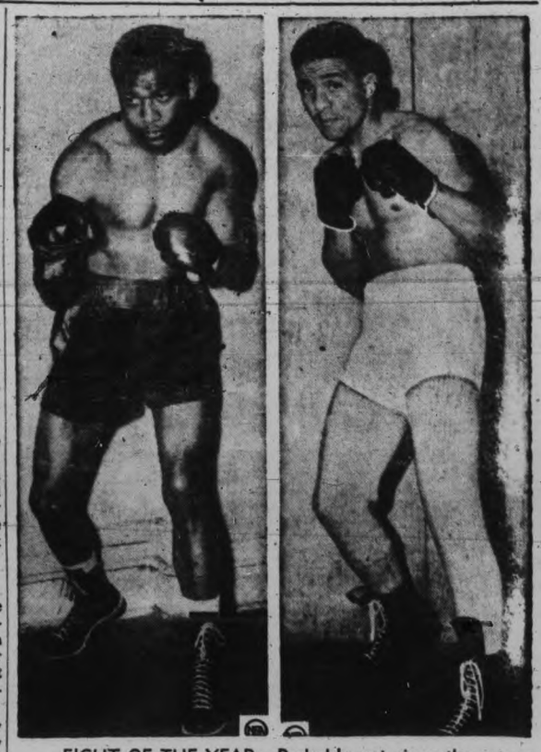
Thursday night: Visitors' night.

2 Running Champions Take US Scholarships

TORONTO, Sept. 12 (CP) — The 20-year-old running champions, Rich Ferguson and Don McColeman of Toronto, have accepted athletic scholarships at American universities.

Ferguson, Canadian junior mile and two-mile champion, will study biochemistry at Iowa University. This year Ferguson established an unofficial North American interscholastic record of four minutes 21 seconds for the mile.

McColeman will attend Western Reserve University at Cleveland, where he will run under coach Eddie Finnegan. McColeman holds the Canadian interscholastic mile and two-mile crowns.



FIGHT OF THE YEAR—Probably not since the return fight between Tunney and Dempsey has so much interest piled up among followers of pugilism in England, Canada and the States, as is the case tonight when the gong goes in New York's Polo Grounds. It will be Sugar Ray Robinson at Left) trying to regain the world middleweight title he lost to Randy Turpin (Right) earlier this year in England. Fight experts say if Robinson doesn't win by a kayo in the first six rounds, the durable Britisher will wear him down the rest of the route.

Senior B Group May Be 7 Clubs

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 12.—The possibility of a seven-team OHA senior "B" group in Eastern Ontario was discussed here Monday night at a meeting of team representatives. Teams represented included the Belleville Redmen, Peterborough Petes, Peterborough Eagles, Kingston Nylons, Queen's University, a third Kingston entry, and Gananoque.

Gananoque requested permission to play in the Senior "B" group and then revert to intermediate "A", but this was turned down by a unanimous vote of team representatives. The Gans then decided to stick to the senior "B" rating. There is a possibility that both Peterborough teams will apply to the OHA for permission to play in the group with Stouffville, Markham and possibly a Toronto club. The Peterborough teams object to the long trips involved to Gananoque and to the third Kingston entry.

Nevertheless, tentative opening dates were set with the teams agreeing to be ready for action by Nov. 1. The teams will play a 30-game schedule. A change in the playoff procedure was approved whereby the first and fourth and second and third teams will hook up in the group semi-finals, instead of the usual first and third and second and fourth.

Frank Buckland of Peterborough, OHA executive member, advised the meeting that under a new ruling all teams must declare themselves as entering senior "A" or senior "B" by Sept. 25. All teams announced that they would be senior "B."

St. Louis Giant-Killers Whip Yankees Twice, Indians Split Twin Bill

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

The weary Cleveland Indians staggered out of Philadelphia today, their warpaint smeared, their tomahawks bent, but safely ensconced in first place in the American League race. Fortunate to escape with a split in Tuesday's twi-night doubleheader, the Tribe today owned a full-game advantage over New York. While Cleveland was thrashed 9-5 by the giant-killing Athletics after squeezing out an 11-inning, 6-5 victory, the Yankees were struck by lightning twice.

The usually-inert St. Louis Browns stunned the baseball world by inflicting 4-3 and 6-3 defeats upon the defending champions. The twin loss sent the Yanks reeling out of first place, and dropped them a full game behind the Indians and only four in front of the third-place Boston Red Sox.

A former Boston pitcher and three erstwhile Clevelanders led the Browns in the slaughter. Jim McDonald pitched and batted the Browns to their first win. His ninth-inning, two-out single scored Fred Marsh, a former Indian, with the winning run.

Winning Margin

A three-run homer by Cliff Maples, another former Indian as well as a Yankee, provided St. Louis with the winning margin in the nightcap. The victory went to Tommy Byrne, whom the Yankees last June traded to the Browns. The left hander was kayoed in the sixth, but a sterling relief job by Satchell Paige nailed down the triumph.

It was a profitable day for the Red Sox, who picked up a game and a half on the Yankees and a game on the Indians by beating Detroit 4-3. A three-run, eighth-inning outburst enabled them to overcome a 3-1 deficit.

Elsewhere, Washington ended a nine-game losing streak with a 10-inning, 7-6 victory over Chicago White Sox. Sam Mele's single scored Tom Ferrick with the winning run.

Shut Out Cincinnati

Brooklyn moved nearer to clinching the National League flag, shutting out Cincinnati, 7-0, as St. Louis Cards held New York Giants to a split. Cliff Chambers, Redbird lefthander, stemmed a three-run ninth-inning uprising to walk off with a 4-3 win after the Giants had clubbed out a 10-5 opening victory. The Dodgers' lead is six games over the Giants.

Philadelphia's Phils nipped Pittsburgh 3-2 to snap a six-game losing streak, and Chicago's Cubs outslugged Boston's Braves 13-11.

Superb relief pitching by Early Wynn, who won his own game with an 11th-inning triple, saved the Indians from suffering the same fate as the Yankees. Twice Wynn pitched himself out of trouble with the bases loaded before he broke up the game.

The A's watched a 4-0 lead, built at the expense of Bob Feller, go up in smoke when Cleveland rallied for four runs in the eighth to take a 5-4 advantage. The fighting Philadelphia club, however, roared back with five tallies in the bottom of the eighth on three hits, a couple of walks and some loose play by the Indians. Zernial's single was the only solid blow off loser Lou Brissie and Mike Garcia. Bob Hooper was the winner.

Montreal Holds MCC To Draw

MONTREAL, Sept. 12 (CP). — An all-Montreal cricket team on Tuesday held the touring British Marylebone Cricket Club to a draw in an exhibition match here.

MCC had 260 for eight, declared, while Montreal had 121 for nine.

Bad weather earlier had forced postponement of game time from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

MCC won the toss and batted first. The wicket was bad and got worse as play progressed. J. J. Warr, wearing his Cambridge blue cap, batted well. A. W. H. Mallett hit four 6s and four 4s to score 50 in less than 30 minutes.

Several other good scores were made, including one by Geof Keighley, who contributed 70, not out.

With one hour and 50 minutes left in which to bat, Montreal did well to make a draw of it. M. Kemp, an Australian, batted well and was at the wicket for a long time.

Staffords Win 13-12

By The Canadian Press.

Toronto Staffords took more than three hours to edge out Kingsway Lumber for a 13-12 win in the second game of the Viaduct Major Baseball League best-of-seven finals Tuesday night. The win put them in a 1-1 tie with the Lumbermen. Next game in the series is scheduled for Thursday at Millen Stadium.

Royals Blank Bisons 7-0 As Chiefs Shade Wings 6-5

By The Associated Press.

Montreal Royals and Syracuse Chiefs were off and running today in their quest for the International League's Governor's Cup championship.

Both clubs opened their semi-final playoff series in auspicious fashion Tuesday night. The flag-winning Royals received a splendid pitching effort from southpaw Chris Van Cuyk and blanked the fourth place Buffalo Bisons 7-0. The third-place Chiefs overcame a 5-1 deficit to shade the runner-up Rochester Red Wings, 6-5, in 10 innings.

The Royals will send another southpaw, Mal Mallette, to the mound tonight. The Bisons will counter with Tom Acker.

Mallette boasts a gaudy 10-2 slate, but has not recorded any victories over the herd. Acker stands 10-13 on the season and is 1-3 with Montreal.

Try To Even Matters

The Red Wings will try to even matters in their series at Rochester by using Eddie Yuhas against the Chiefs, who will start Bob Keegan.

Yuhas compiled a 13-11 record during the season having won three out of four decisions with Syracuse. Keegan wound up with a 13-9 mark, but lost twice to the Wings without a triumph.

Van Cuyk, in posting his seven hit shutout, was given some lusty batting support by George Shuba, George Byam and Bobby Morgan. Shuba and Byam belted homers and Morgan slammed a pair of doubles. Four hurlers saw action for Buffalo, with starter Rudy Minarcin absorbing the defeat.

After Syracuse routed lefty Jackie Collum in the eighth inning, the Chiefs tied the score in the ninth off losing pitcher Bob Tiefenauer on Charley Weather's pinch double and a two-base throwing error by Don Richmond.

Hank Workman's triple and a fly ball by Gene Markland in the extra frame enabled reliefer Art Hartley to gain credit for the victory.

Remember When—

The longest scoreless-tie game in the major baseball leagues was played between Cincinnati and Brooklyn five years ago Tuesday. The National leaguers went 19 innings and played four hours and 40 minutes before the game was called by darkness. Longest game was a 26-inning 1-1 tie between Brooklyn and Boston in 1920.

Leave Walcott Loophole In NBA Ruling

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP)—The National Boxing Association has left a loophole for Jersey Joe Walcott in its new get-tough policy against champions who evade title defenses.

In closing its 32nd annual convention Tuesday, the NBA pledged firm enforcement of its long standing rule requiring a champion to defend his title within six months or forfeit it.

Some fighters have been dodging the rule when purses were not suitable.

However, the NBA said it will listen to "legitimate or logical explanations" for failure to defend.

This will be especially true, the NBA said, in the heavyweight division which has "inherent peculiarities." This was considered a loophole for the aging Walcott who realized his dream by winning the crown from Ezzard Charles in July.

Would Look Silly

"Let's not kid ourselves," said Joe Triner, chairman of the Illinois commission. "We would look silly depriving Walcott of his title within six months when he has all of the public's sympathy after striving so long to win it."

Jersey Joe, who is exploiting his new title at a good price in exhibitions, was censured for failing to keep an exhibition date at Evansville, Ind., Aug. 29. Walcott pleaded illness.

Archie Hindman of Hagerstown, Ind., who turned over the NBA presidency to Dave Rochon, 53-year-old Montreal city councillor, proposed that Walcott be suspended for skipping the exhibition.

The matter was referred to the Indiana state commission for disposition.

March, Loman Get Together After Two Years

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 12 (AP). —After years of trying, Fredric March and Willy Loman finally got together on a movie stage.

Of course, you know March, the two-time Academy award winner and perennial movie topliner. Willy is the traveller of Arthur Miller's prize play, "Death of a Salesman."

Fred and Willy go back a long way together. Let March tell about it:

"I first heard about the play when I was in England finishing up 'Christopher Columbus.' They sent it to me to read and wanted a decision in a hurry. I was exhausted, having worked for 14 weeks on the picture, with three or four weeks to go. I read the play between scenes of the picture, which is the worst way to read anything, particularly a play with as many transitions as 'Salesman.'

"Well, I couldn't make much out of it and quit after reading the first act. Actually, they wanted my wife (Florence Eldridge) for the play and would take me, too. But I turned it down and so she decided to, also. They all thought I was crazy, and rightfully so.

Change of Heart

"Later, I had a change of heart and said I would do the play. But they had signed Lee Cobb the day before."

When March observed the play's tremendous success he figuratively kicked himself up and down Broadway for his hasty decision.

After that, there were discussion of his heading up the Chicago or London company but nothing came of them. A deal was set for him to appear in the film version but that fell through.

March was also supposed to enact the salesman for the record album. "I agreed to do it if I could have a few days of rehearsal with the director, Elia Kazan," he explained. "But Kazan wasn't available and I didn't want to merely read the lines of a character I hadn't been able to study. So Thomas Mitchell did the album."

March had just about abandoned hope of meeting up with his would-be friend, Willy. Then a couple of months ago, his agent wired him: "Have firm offer from Stanley Kramer for 'Salesman' on Screen." March nabbed the offer anw now is playing the movie version.

Reject Criticism

TORONTO, Sept. 12 — (CP) — Criticism of the federal government for "bringing in nothing but Roman Catholics" from European displaced persons camps was rejected Tuesday by a Presbyterian meeting at Dovercourt Road Presbyterian Church.

Beside Mrs. O'Donoghue is sister Rosemary, who came from McMasterville, Que.

Will Follow Official Precedence Table

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA—(CP)—Canada's official table of precedence, which bears the King's approval, will be used in all federal functions for Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh during their October tour of the Dominion.

The table, which originated in the early days of the British monarchy, determines the order of presentation of officials and other high-ranking persons at Royal and state functions. It was put into law in Britain about the 16th century.

In Canada, the table places the governor-general first—in the United Kingdom the sovereign has first rank-followed by the prime minister, the federal cabinet and the lieutenant—governor of the 10 provinces. Members of the church, the judiciary, the military and the state follow in an established order.

Curiously, though Ottawa is a national capital, the Canadian table gives no place to diplomatic representatives. However, by courtesy, they are placed behind the lieutenant—governors.

Have Own Tables

The provinces have their own tables of precedence. They are based on the federal table, but vary according to provincial custom. They will be used when the Princess and the Duke attend provincial functions.

Generally, the provincial tables place the lieutenant—governor first, followed by the premier and members of the provincial cabinet. From there on, the order closely follows that set out in the federal table.

There is no table of precedence for municipal ceremonies. However officials here say that even the tiniest hamlet can adopt the official table to local use.

For example, the mayor or reeve would come first as the highest muncipal official. The members of his council, in a sense his cabinet, would be next, followed by consuls-general or other foreign representatives, local church dignatories. military officials and so on.

Table of Precedence

Here is the official table :

Bigger Jackpot

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP) —Revenue Commissioner John B. Dunlap said Tuesday special government squads are hitting a bigger jackpot than expected in their drive to force racketeers to pay full income taxes. He said investigations completed before Aug. 1 have resulted in additional assessments of $5,627,345 in taxes and penalties.

JELL-O LIME FANCY

Dazzling . . . flavor-filled . . . and like all the desserts here, takes less than 5 minutes' actual preparation.

1 package Lime Jell-O (its flavor is pure fruit)
2 cups hot water (or peach syrup and water)
Drained canned peach halves
White cream cheese
Chopped nutmeats (optional)

Dissolve Jell-O in hot water (liquid need not be boiling, so Jell-O retains more flavor). Chill in tall mould. Unmould on serving plate. Surround with peach halves stuffed with cheese balls. (Cheese may be rolled in nuts). 6 servings.

or PINEAPPLE TUTTI FRUTTI

Chill Pineapple Jell-O in dessert glasses. Top with canned fruit cocktail and whipped cream. Thrilling, time-saving. But don't expect Jell-O results with any brand but JELL-O Jelly Powders. 6 servings.

or ORANGE JELL-O RING

Add 1 cup (each) diced canned pears and seedless white grapes (or canned white cherries) to partially thickened Orange Jell-O. Chill in ring mould. Serve with cream cheese as salad, or whipped cream as dessert— enjoy that wonderful pure fruit Orange Jell-O flavor. 8 servings.

or APPLE-SNOW JELL-O

A "pin-money" dessert that tastes like party best! Chill Raspberry Jell-O in dessert glasses. Add 1 tsp. lemon juice to 1 cup chilled apple-sauce; fold into 1 stiffly-beaten egg white. Pile on Jell-O. Serve immediately. 6 servings.

or CHERRY-ORANGE PARFAIT

Chill Cherry Jell-O in shallow pan. When firm, break into bits with a fork . . . pile on Orange Jell-O in parfait glasses. Sparkling, flavorful — and one of the easiest desserts imaginable! Makes 8 to 10 servings that cost less than 2¢ each!

or STRAWBERRY TROPICANA

Chill Strawberry Jell-O in individual moulds. Unmould on drained canned pineapple slices. (Use canned pineapple juice to replace part of water for making the Jell-O). A delightful way to vary any of Jell-O's seven famous "locked-in" flavors. 6 servings.

Today important parts of sterilizers and instruments in hospitals are being made of nickel alloys because these alloys provide strength, corrosion resistance, long wear, and a surface that is bright, non-porous and sanitary. For the same reasons, kitchen working surfaces are made of nickel alloys.

Laundry equipment in hospitals and commercial hotels is made of nickel alloys because these alloys are rust-proof and extremely durable.

Nickel helps save lives too

Hundreds of everyday uses for Nickel have been developed by the Nickel industry through a planned program of research. Today a large share of Canada's Nickel production is being diverted from peacetime uses into channels for preparedness. So the Nickel mine facilities, greatly expanded over the past decade, are again being operated at peak capacity. There is actually more Nickel now being delivered by Canada to the free world than in any peacetime year.

Jailed 15 Days For Assault

Raymond Lester, 21, no fixed address, was sentenced Tuesday to 15 days in jail for common assault.

Kenneth Moher, 18, 295 Lake St., also charged with assault, was fined $10 and costs for causing a disturbance and the assault charge was dismissed.

Teeth Broken

Lester was charged with assaulting Jim Hum, manager of a George St. restaurant. Hum had two teeth broken and his lip cut in a fracas outside the restaurant last Saturday night.

Moher was charged with assaulting the manager's brother, Sing Hum.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, KC, remarked when he was speaking to sentence, that there were too many restaurant scuffles with "hoodlums such as this involved."

Evidence on the actual assault was confused; Sing Hum and his brother differed as to whether the fight was inside or outside, and other witnesses testified they saw no blows struck.

Jim Hum was positive on the one point, that it was Lester who hit him.

New Substation To Open End Of Month

The line of tall poles along the CPR right-of-way westerly from Park St. are to carry the 44,000 volt feeder wires to the new substation near the foot of High St.

R. L. Dobbin, manager, reported to the Utilities Commission Tuesday that the station is expected to be in service by the end of this month. The electrical switching structure has been erected, but all the equipment for it is not yet available.

In his report for August, Mr. Dobbin said the peak load of electricity was 23,300 kilowatts, an increase of 4,346 kw. over August 1950. Kilowatt-hour consumption was 1,374,500 kilowatt-hours more than a year ago. The total for the month was 9,424,400 kwhrs., as against 8,049,900 in August 1950.

"The new substation on High St., at Third Ave., is now cut into the distribution system, and has been fully loaded. The peak load on this station in August was 3,408 kva. All this load has been removed from the main Aylmer St. substation, and leaves this station loaded within a comfortable margin of safety for the present.

Direct Line

During August the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission did additional work on the completion of a direct line from the R. L. Dobbin station to Aylmer St. This line will intercept the line now feeding through Auburn substation, at the head of Bethune St., and will connect into the existing 44,000 volt line on Bethune St., and thereby directly to the Aylmer St. substation.

When this line is completed, a breaker will be freed at Auburn, to which will be connected a 44,000 volt feeder direct to the Clifton St. substation (in Ashburnham). The conductors and poles for both these jobs are now erected.

In the distribution system primary and secondary circuits were run to service the Ephgrave housing subdivision, Braidwood Ave., between Park and St. Catharines Streets, and the rear of Steele Ave. from Cameron to Riverside Drive. Monaghan Rd. lighting service was rebuilt from Cameron St. to the river."

Other work details were: seven new two-wire, 42 new three-wire services connected; 20 services were changed from 2 to 3-wire; 40 flat rate water heaters were connected; five street lights were erected.

Omemee Couple Celebrate 69th Wedding Anniversary

Omemee's oldest couple, Mr. and Mrs. William Rehill, are today celebrating their 69th wedding anniversary. Residents of Omemee for the past 50 years, the spry though elderly (Mr. Rehill is 93 years old and Mrs. Rehill 91 years) couple were married on Sept. 12, 1882, at her family's Emily township home by the Rev. Albert C. Wilson. Witnesses at the quiet ceremony to which only close relatives attended were Coplen Rehill and Addie Lee.

In spite of their years the Rehills still manage their household but chose to celebrate quietly today. They proudly showed to every visitor their 69-year-old marriage certificate and their wedding pictures, all well preserved over the years.

Slightly deaf, Mr. Rehill is still "as bright as a dollar," enjoying a daily visit downtown to get the mail. Mrs. Rehill, in spite of the effects of a broken hip some time ago is still quite active.

Several neighbors referred to the Rehills as "a spry young pair."

Eyes sparkling, Mr. Rehill answered, "sometimes it's alright, other times it's all wrong," when asked if young couples should marry before they're 21.

Then after a minute's thought, he added, "I was in my 24th year and that's early enough."

Think Before Jump

Mrs. Rehill's advice to young lovers is "to think before you jump; consider everything to make the marriage successful.

Mr. Rehill, the son of the late Thomas Rehill and Mary Jane Windrem, clearly remembers "the good old days." He helped clear his father's farm and recalls riding to Lindsay behind a team of oxen when Lindsay was but "a mud hole," without sidewalks. The town then had only one grocery store.

Shortly after, he remembers, Janetville "had its own flour mill." The miller, he said, bought wheat at $2 a bushel, storing it in the mill; then he had to sell it at $1.00 a bushed, forcing him out of business.

Pioneer adventures in Mr Rehill's memory required women to be resourceful as well as plucky. When he was only "a tiny tot," his mother with a band of a spinning-wheel trussed a deer, cornered in the backyard by hounds. She slaughtered it with a butcher knife.

Retired In 1919

Mrs. Rehill is the former Addie Fee, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William James Fee of Emily township.

After their marriage they lived on a farm near Janetville and in 1900 moved to a farm north of Omemee. They retired in 1919 to the village.

All the Rehill children, Ormand, Osborne, Ira, Bruce and Vera, have predeceased their parents. Mr. and Mrs. Rehill are survived only by grandchildren, Ross, Willard and Mrs. Kenneth Spence, all of Omemee, Osborne of Guelph and Hugh of Toronto. They have eight great-grandchildren.

United Service Of Churches Next Sunday

Peterborough's second community church service will be held in the Civic Arena on Sunday commencing at 8 p.m.

It will be under the direction of the Peterborough Ministerial Association at the request of His Worship Max J. Swanston and under the auspices of the City Council.

A former associate secretary of the department of education for the Presbyterian Church in the United States, the Rev. J. D. Smart, M.A., PPI.D., will be guest speaker. Mr. Smart was a former minister of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church of this city. He is now minister of Rosedale Church in Toronto.

The Rev. C. G. Boyd, president of the Ministerial Association, will preside. The scripture lesson will be read by the Rev. M. P. Poole of All Saints' Anglican Church and the prayer given by the Rev. Dargan of St. Andrew's United Church.

The Rev. R. E. Dargan of Free Methodist Church will lead in the responsive reading and the benediction will be pronounced by Archbishop C. W. Balfour of St. John's Anglican Church.

A massed choir from city churches, consisting of 200 members, will be in attendance and will sing under the direction of Christopher Gledhill with Donald Kennedy at the organ. They will render the "Hallelujah Chorus" by Handel and "Glorious is Thy Name" by Mozart. The Peterborough Temple Salvation Army Band under the direction of R. G Routley, will play sacred selections.

East City Water Main Delayed To Next Year

The laying of a 12-inch water main in Ashburnham as a means of increasing pressures on the high levels of King George School, Western Clock Co. and St. Joseph's Hospital may have to be set over to next year's construction program, R. L. Dobbin suggested in a discussion at Tuesday's meeting.

Pipe was ordered for earliest delivery possible, some months ago, but is not expected until some time in October. Commission instructed Howard Clegg, accountant, to go ahead with preliminaries for a debenture issue of around $35,000 to $40,000 to pay for this projected work.

First Step To Unite Health Bds.

Board of Education Health Board May Amalgamate

First step in the possible amalgamation of health services was reached last night at an exploratory meeting of the Board of Education and the Board of Health.

Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH, was asked to prepare an estimate of the cost of an amalgamated health service, without taking into consideration inclusion in a county health unit or the inclusion of suburban schools.

The meeting was attended by the health committee of the Board of Education and two members of the Board of Health—Dr. Kelly and Alderman J. A. Dewart, chairman.

County Unit

Dr. Kelly said that amalgamation of the health services was a means to an end. Eventually he hoped to see a county health unit established. If this comes about the urban municipality will get a provincial grant of approximately 30 per cent and the rural municipality a grant of 50 per cent.

If even one township joins in, a county health unit can be formed.

This grant on their gross expenditure is the principal lure for the Board of Education to merge their own medical and dental service in the general health service operated by the Board of Health. But before they do so the members want to be sure that the general health service comes up to the present standard maintained in the public schools.

Dr. Kelly says the standard can be maintained.

Serve Separate Schools

At present the Board of Health gives a nursing service and immunization service at the city separate schools. If the present tentative plan goes through, they too would receive the full medical and dental services.

The cost would be for the Board of Health and thus levied on the general tax rate.

W. B. Gordon pointed out that at present the city council cannot arbitrarily cut the Board of Education estimates but this provision doesn't apply to the Board of Health.

Alderman Dewart said this was true but the city had not cut the Board of Health's estimates at any time, to the best of his knowledge.

Best Investment

Dr. Ralph Honey thought that additional help—a dentist and a doctor—would be required to look after all the school children in the city.

Dr. Kelly told the meeting that the best means of cutting down on mounting costs would be a sharp increase in preventative practice.

"We must not be too tight with the dollars," said Dr. Honey. "Money spent on health services is the best investment a municipality can make."

Near Thing

COBOURG, Sept. 12 (ENS) —The Hon. George Doucette, minister of highways, almost got himself a parking ticket yesterday. His driver parked the car just west of the town hall, near a no parking sign on the boulevard, in the area used for parking the police cruiser. Police had to park back of the town hall. Acting Chief H. Pearse eyed the car with a speculative look that for a moment spelled parking ticket but he changed his mind with the observation to a local man that perhaps he should maintain the good neighbor policy.

Village Doctor For 35 Years Dies At Marmora

MARMORA, Sept. 12 (ENS).— It was with regret that residents of the Marmora and Deloro district learned Tuesday morning that Dr. A. Hamilton Crawford had died in this village at the age of 76.

From 1912 to 1947 he was not only the village physician but also the company doctor for the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company. The energy and long hours that marked his practice were a source of wonder to the many who knew him. He ended a short practice in Havelock to succeed the late Dr. W. G. Mackechnie in 1912 and shortly after his retirement in 1947 his work was memorialized with the erection of the Dr. Hamilton Crawford Memorial Arena towards which the Deloro company subscribed several thousand dollars.

Upon his retirement he moved to the Brighton district for about three years but upon the death of his wife in June of last year, he returned to the village. His health had not been good for the past six months during which time he spent a period in Belleville hospital.

He was twice married, his first wife who before marriage was Helen Hay of Peterborough. She died in May, 1919. He is survived by three children of this marriage, Grace Crawford, Reg. N., Aubany, NY; Mrs. W. J. Bryant (Frances) Kirkland Lake; and Thomas, Toronto. Later he was married to Mrs. Mary Denike (nee McGlennon) of Colborne, who died on June 16, 1950. There were no children of this marriage.

The funeral takes place Thursday afternoon. The body will rest in St. Paul's Anglican Church, Marmora, from 11 a.m. that day. Service will be conducted in the church by the rector, Canon J. M. Brownlie. Burial will take place in Lakeside cemetery, Colborne.

Murder Charge Preliminary Opens; Two Witnesses Say Thompson Drinking

Neighbor Testifies Mrs. Thompson Said: "I've Shot Him," Overheard Couple Arguing Over Car

Preliminary hearing of the charge of murder against Mrs. Lillian Thompson, 35, of 579 Howden Ave., began today. Two witnesses, both Howden Ave. residents, testified: Mrs. Thompson was charged after her husband was fatally shot the night of August 25. She is the mother of four children and is expecting a fifth. Her husband, Roy James Thompson, was a successful scrap metal dealer in the city. A veteran of the Second World War, he rose from the ranks to gain a lieutenancy in the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. At one time, Thompson was head of the city's sanitation department.

First witness at today's hearing before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, was Thomas Gardner, 563 Howden Ave. Both he and the second witness, William Jamieson 584 Howden Ave., said they believed Thompson had had something to drink the night of August 25.

Neither one had actually seen him take a drink.

Jamieson testified that about 9 p.m. he was getting out of his car and heard the Thompsons arguing near their car. "She said something like 'You're not taking this car under any condition.' He was standing at the front of the car and she stood by the right front door of the car."

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw KC, asked Jamieson if he noticed anything unusual about either of them.

"I knew Thompson had been drinking," said Jamieson.

"What made you think so?"—"Something he said to me."

Jamieson earlier quoted the remark Thompson made to him, but it was stricken from the record, as Mrs. Thompson was not present when it was said.

Then Jamieson told how he had heard a commotion at his front door. He was working in his cellar at the time.

"I went upstairs and Mrs. Thompson was at the front door, hysterical. She told my wife to call a doctor.

"My wife asked her if she h to go to the hospital, know her condition, and Mrs. Thompson said: 'No. I've shot him.'

"I've Shot Him"

"My wife asked her who, and she repeated, 'I've shot him,'" Jamieson testified.

"I followed her over to her house, and we went into the kitchen. She picked up a gun from the kitchen table, and I took it away from her," he went on.

"Did you have to use force to take it away from her?" asked defence counsel, T. J. Carley, KC. Jamieson said she gave him the gun voluntarily.

"Wasn't this gun yours at one time?" asked Crown Attorney Bradshaw. "Yes, I'd traded it to Mr. Thompson," answered Jamieson.

"Then she said: 'He's in there.' I went into the bedroom and Mr. Thompson was lying there in a pool of blood. He was about three or four feet inside the door from the kitchen into the bedroom."

"How big was the pool of blood?" asked the Crown. "A pretty good size," Jamieson replied. He did not specify in feet and inches the size of the pool.

Felt No Pulse

"I felt for his pulse, and there was none. Then Mrs. Thompson and I went back to my place and waited for the doctor."

"Did Mrs. Thompson say anything there?" Mr. Bradshaw ask-

Smith Township Adds To Taxes For Fire House

The completion of the Smith Suburban fire area Fire Hall with funds to be raised through taxes was given a majority vote at a ratepayers' public meeting Tuesday night.

The building is on the corner of Bellevue Avenue and Chemong Road, just two blocks north of the city limits.

Approximately 55 ratepayers attended the meeting called by Reeve Ross Harrison at Queen Elizabeth School to discuss ways of raising the necessary funds to complete the fire hall. Only one dissenting vote was registered when Township Clerk A. J. Edmison, chairman of the meeting, asked the assembly to vote for or against raising the money through taxes. Smith Fire Chief R. N. Hicks explained that the $4,500 needed to complete the building would cost each ratepayer an average of approximately $3.50 a year for next five years. This amount was reached after estimating the total assessment of the area for next year as $300,000, and levying a 3½ mills on that amount.

The exact of the work already completed by the Fire Building Committee was outlined by committee president Roy Hancock.

He explained that the committee had already raised $3,200 by holding draws. This money had been used to erect the building to its present stage. The building is about half completed.

The idea of building a fire hall arose for two reasons. The facilities provided at the Longhurst Bros. garage, Chemong Road, were found to be inadequate for the proper care of the truck and equipment. In addition the space taken up by the truck was needed for desired garage expansion.

The Fire Hall Building Committee was formed in October, 1950, to finance the erection of a new building, and also to arrange for voluntary work on the project.

Mr. Hancock said that the committee found that not enough money could be raised by draws and as a result was forced to approach the council for aid.

National Ballet Begins First Rehearsal

TORONTO, Sept. 12. (CP)—In a 19th-Century high-ceilinged hall over a vegetable market in downtown Toronto an English ballerina has brought together top Canadian dancers from more than half the provinces to begin rehearsals next week for Canada's first National Ballet Company.

Celia Franca—termed by Dame Ninette de Valois, director of Sadler's Wells, "the finest dramatic dancer" the English company ever had, and a leading choreographer and ballet mistress — will have with her Canadians with a background of several countries.

Most were born in Canada. For several this is their adopted country and to others—who interrupted promising careers abroad—it is the land of their return. The company was organized by the National Ballet Guild.

David Adams is a native of Winnipeg who danced with Sadler's Wells in England and returned. Angela Leigh of Barrie, also danced with the famous English company, but is a native of England who came to Canada a few years ago.

Jury Gottschalks and his wife Irene of Halifax, are natives of Latvia where they were well-known dancers.

Others Come Home

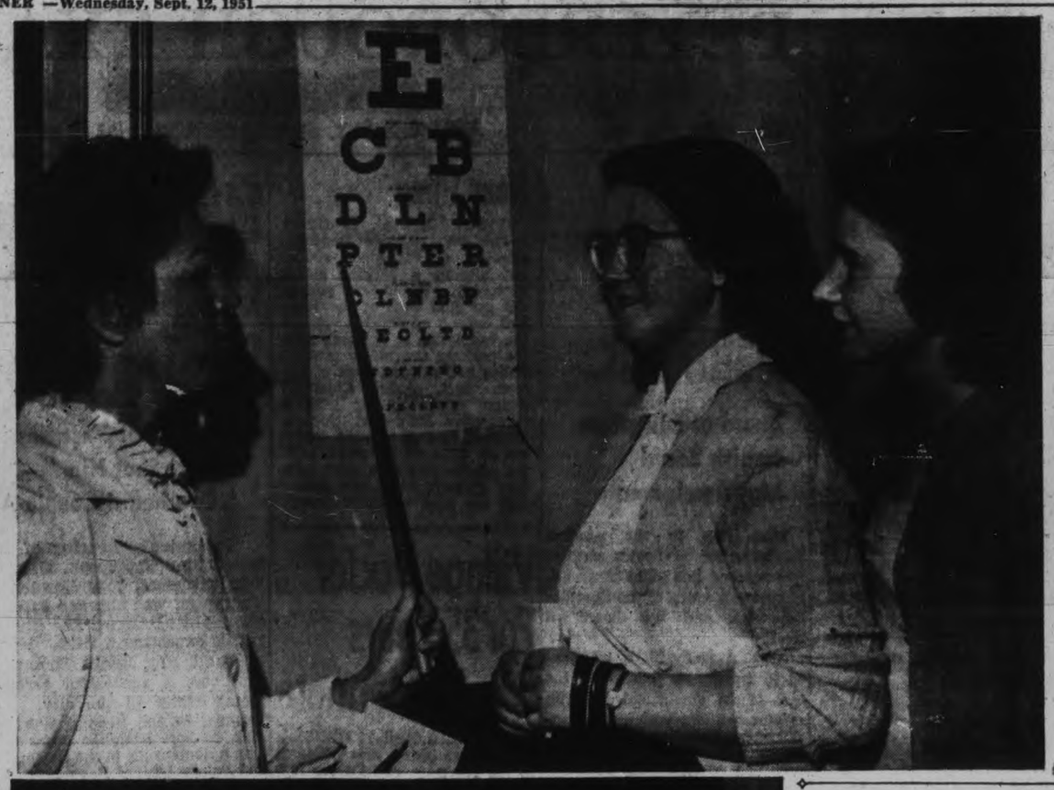
Three from Toronto also have returned from abroad. Olivia Wyatt was a highly successful model in New York; Ruth Carse was with the Radio City Music Hall ballet for several years; Lillian Jarvis was with the London company of "Carousel."

From London, Ont., come Coleen Kenney and Earl Kraul. From Montreal are Marilyn Rollo, Leise Gagnier, Bob Ito and a young man named Andre (whose last name Miss Franca has never received, since he was auditioned by number only).

Lois Smith is from Vancouver as are Mary Toochin, Hele Krusick and Fergus Hunter. Joyce Hill is from Powell River, BC.

Another from Western Canada is Grant Strate of Edmonton, a graduate lawyer who took ballet classes as a hobby while studying law. Auditioned by Miss Franca he has delayed his practice while pursuing a career with the company.

The group will rehearse in St. Lawrence Hall, where Jenny Lind once sang, on the second floor of the St. Lawrence Market.



A GAIN OF TEN STUDENTS over 1950's registration, 136 in all, registered on Tuesday at the Peterborough Normal School. All will start their course if their medical check is satisfactory and in the TOP photo public health nurse Mrs. Norman J. Gainer, Left, explains the requirements of the eye test chart to Lois Brown of Parham, Centre, and Helen Dailey of Rosseau, Muskoka. Ottawa Asked Form Veterans Committee

SAINT JOHN, NB, Sept. 12 — (CP)—Col. A. J. Brooks, spokesman for the Progressive Conservative Party on veterans' affairs, Tuesday night called for re-establishment of a veterans' committee at the fall session of parliament.

Col. Brooks, member of the Commons for the New Brunswick constituency of Royal, said a committee should be established at the session opening Oct. 9 to consider "long overdue" increases in the basic pensions of veterans and in war veterans' allowances.

He spoke over a national network of the CBC's series "The Nation's Business."

Women's Groups Outraged By Shows

Miss Charlotte Whitton, acting mayor of Ottawa, is reported as having asserted Monday that women's organizations have been "outraged" by the contents of sideshows at the Ottawa Central Exhibition recently.

Strictures against the free-hand that is given midway show people in setting up their section of these fairs have recently appeared in both Ottawa and Detroit. The most courageous expression was the denunciation published by Ottawa business men in demanding that the authorities "clean-up" these appendages that have become attached to some fairs.

Top officials of the Ottawa "Ex" are making a study of this business, together with legislation, and as a preliminary they are making a tour of Toronto, London, New York, Michigan in a serious effort to "clean up Ottawa's annual fair."

Cobourg Trio Nabbed

COBOURG, Sept. 12 — (ENS)—Ralph Lees, George Brown and Lionel Clayton of Cobourg were arrested by local police yesterday on a charge of theft of scrap iron from the CNR at the docks. About a thousand pounds of the scrap metal were stolen. The trio was remanded until Friday.

Accidental Hanging

MAGNOLIA, Ark., Sept. 12 (AP).—An 11-year-old boy Monday night accidentally hanged himself on a home-made trapeze. Police said Thomas A. Spaulding apparently mounted a ladder to reach the trapeze, lost his balance, fell and caught his neck in the rope.

Part-Time Sentence

ITHACA, NY, Sept. 12 (AP).—Leslie C. Morgan is spending his nights in jail serving a six-month jail sentence on a part-time basis. He was sentenced Aug. 30 on a disorderly conduct charge, but Judge Edward Casey said he could continue working if he reported to jail at night and on weekends.

Turn First Sod On Nylon Plant

MAITLAND, Sept. 12—(CP)—The first sod was turned Tuesday at the site of the new Maitland works of Canadian Industries Limited, a plant which will manufacture for the first time in Canada the basic chemicals used in making nylon.

The site is on the St. Lawrence River between Brockville and Prescott. The plant, which will employ 600, is scheduled to go into production late in 1953.

Herbert Lank, company vice-president, said the plant will enable CIL to double production at the Kingston nylon plant. Canada would be self-sufficient in the raw materials required for nylon.

Alberta Has Policy For Oil Prospecting

EDMONTON, Sept. 12—(CP)—The Alberta government Tuesday night announced a policy on prospecting reservations and leases designed to "encourage immediate development" of the province's oil sands.

The sands, straddling the Athabasca River in Northwestern Alberta, are believed to hold the world's largest known oil reserve.

Mines Minister N. E. Tanner said licences will be issued for geographical exploration for a fee of $25 and a cash deposit of $1,000 as security that operations will conform with Alberta regulations.

Living Costs Up In 7 Cities, Montreal Down

OTTAWA, Sept. 12. (CP) — Cost-of-living indices for seven of the eight larger cities of Canada moved up during July, the Bureau of Statistics reported on Tuesday.

The exception was Montreal, where the index declined 0.3 per cent. The advances ranged from 0.3 per cent for Winnipeg to 1.2 per cent for Edmonton, and were attributed to higher prices for foods and other index groups.

Clothing, home furnishings and services and miscellaneous indices were generally higher. Fuel costs also went up in Toronto, Montreal, Saint John, NB, and Winnipeg. The decline in Montreal was due mainly to sharp seasonal reductions for fresh vegetables, which sent the food index there down 2.2 points.

Rents were not surveyed, and this index remained unchanged.

The indices show changes in retail prices and services in each city, but do not indicate whether it costs more or less to live in one centre than in another.

They are based on August, 1939, equalling 100.

The regional indices at Aug. 1, with comparisons for July 3 and Aug. 1 last year in brackets, follow:

Halifax, 177.9 (176.3-158.9); Saint John, NB, 184.2 (182.5-164.9); Montreal, 194.8 (195.3-172.3); Toronto, 184.5 (183.5-164.4); Winnipeg, 182.4 (181.8-163.1); Saskatoon, 186.0 (184.4-167.2); Edmonton, 181.7 (179.6-165.0); Vancouver, 189.8 (188.8-169-6).

Flagstad Sings For Beer At Small Theatre In London

LONDON, Sept. 12 —(AP)—Soprano Kirsten Flagstad is singing at a London theatre for two pints of beer a day.

The famous Norwegian singer signed the unusual contracts with two British friends, Josephine Wilson and Bernard Miles.

It calls for 20 performances, beginning last Sunday, in the opera Dido and Aeneas at the tiny Mermaid Theatre.

Miss Flagstad told her friends a long time ago she'd perform for peanuts, or anyway beer, when they finished converting an old school hall into an opera house.

The contract entitles the 56-year-old Wagnerian soprano, who has earned up to $3,000 for a single performance, to half a pint of beer with luncheon and dinner and a pint after each show.

Miss Flagstad agrees in return, among other things to "be obedient, tractable, sweet-tempered and helpful in every possible way and not to brag about the Vikings."

Credit Restrictions Fail To Achieve Purpose

KITCHENER, Sept. 12 (CP)—E. B. Joliffe, CCF opposition leader in the Ontario Legislature, said Tuesday night that credit restrictions are slowing down production but are falling short of their goal of stopping inflation.

Adressing a meeting sponsored by the Kitchener Political Action Committee of the Canadian Congress of Labor, he said "screwball economists" are telling labor that the only answer to inflation is to produce more goods while, at the same time, many workers in Windsor or elsewhere are being laid off or placed on short time.

"Certainly the world needs higher productivity. But the level of production in this country depends more than anything else on sound policy in government and industry," he said.

War General Threatens To Win Crown

By RALPH BERNSTEIN.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 12 —(AP).—A silver haired Brigadier General from the southwest is threatening to march off with the 51st national amateur golf championship right under the noses of defending champion Sam Urzetta and four illustrious Walker Cup teammates.

The Second World War officer, Ken Rogers of Oklahoma City, has made America's ranking amateurs sit back and take notice with his brand of par-wrecking golf. While none of the top linksmen have exactly burned up the 6,979-yard Saucon Valley Country Club course, Rogers has turned in two front-nine rounds of two under par 34.

Rogers opened his bid for the national title by blasting Edward Ervasti of Normandy, Mo., 8 and 7, and Tuesday he continued to reel off spectacular shots with a 3 and 2 triumph over John Weaver of Houston, Tex.

Today the former army brass gets a chance to show whether he has endurance as well as mechanical golfing ability. The 64 surviving amateurs play two 18-hole rounds and before the sun sets on this beautiful Lehigh Valley course, the men will have been separated from the boys.

Two other dark horses look as if they may have more than a little to say about the eventual winner. Bob Gardner, a steady and brilliant golf workman from Los Angeles, fired the best round of the tournament, a two under par 34-35—69, in eliminating Lloyd Ribner, White Plains, NY.

The fair haired boy of many spectators is Bill Joe Patton, 29-year-old former Wake Forest athlete who now sells lumber when he isn't wielding a golf club. This Morgantown, NC, native slaughtered Mike Dudik of Johnson City, NY, 6 and 5. Patton, Carolina open champion, plays what could be the best match of the day when he tees off against Jimmy McHale of the host club, a Walker Cup star.

Bethany WI Hear Discussion On Citizenship

BETHANY, Sept. 12 (ENS) — Following a two months vacation the members of the Bethany Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. T. J. Jackson on Monday. Mrs. Jackson is convener for citizenship and education and gave a most interesting talk on this subject. She stressed the value we should place on our rights as Canadian citizens, the pride we should take in our own country, using our franchise to vote intelligently and to elect women or men of the highest integrity to represent us in government.

The Canadian Citizenship Act passed in 1947 was explained, also the new Canadian bill on Human Rights and Fundamental Freedom now under discussion in parliament.

"As Canadians we are a privileged people. People of eastern countries look on us with envy and the steady flow of new immigrants is proof of their desire to avail themselves of the many opportunities open to Canadian citizens. We must realize that privileges and opportunities bring responsibilities.

"If we would preserve our rightful heritage . . . that of living in a free country with all the many freedoms we enjoy, we must be aware that we have duties and responsibilities. A good citizen is not content to just sit quietly . . . he finds his place in any community," she said.

Canadian songs were sung by the group during the afternoon. Mrs. R. Carr gave a brief talk on the advancement of Canada during the past 100 years. "Actually 100 years ago Canada was so poor that only the most primitive life was possible. Most people had neither the time nor the money to devote themselves to the higher things of life, or even to indulge in luxuries. Their chief relaxations were found in fishing and hunting and in the case of the women in needlework, and these occupations were closely connected with the business of earning a livelihood. A century ago travel was slow and difficult. There were then no roads of concrete or asphalt. Just as travel was difficult, so was communication. There were no telegraphs, wireless or otherwise and no telephones. There were post offices, but no postmen to deliver letters; and the cost of sending letters by post was prohibitive for poor people.

'Wages seldom exceeded one dollar a day. Trade was still to some extent a matter of barter. There was little actual money in the country; and much of this was in the form of a variety of coins. The Canadian dollar was then unknown; accounts were kept in "York shillings." Credit was freely given and often payment was made in goods or labor. It is truly amazing the progress made by the people of Canada, almost within the memory of the living." Mrs. Carr read Pauline Johnson's poem "Canadian Born."

Mrs. H. L. Challice presided for the business session. The minutes and correspondence was read by the secretary, Mrs. Harold Sanderson. The treasurer reported funds on hand in the amount of $36. It was decided to send a delegate to the annual convention in Toronto in November. Mrs. Mansell Finney was appointed leader of the junior girls' work for the coming term. Mrs. H. Sanderson, Mrs. J. Challice and Mrs. R. Carr were appointed a committee to arrange for some form of entertainment in October.

The hostess, assisted by Miss Lily Thompson served lunch and a social hour was enjoyed.

May Classify Post-War Era As Age Of Anxiety, Discontent

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Sept. 12 — (CP) — Taking the long, philosophical view, historians of the future may classify this post-war era as an age of anxiety and discontent.

Most British commentators would certainly agree. A special 56-page publication just issued by The Times Literature Supplement, for instance, reviews modern trends in a dozen countries and decides that the "residuary emotion" of the age is dissatisfaction.

Similarly, political correspondent Francis Williams writes in the News Chronicle:

"We live in a dissatisfied age. If the literature of our present times is to be accepted as evidence then modern man, whether he lives in social-security Britain or capitalist America, in the old civilizations of France and Italy or the new civilizations of Canada, Australia and New Zealand, shares the same sense of anxiety and unease—an unease which brings with it a so-far-unsatisfied 'thirst for belief'."

Cold War Struggle

Most observers would also argue on the causes of the current malaise. Underlying almost all the anxieties of the western world is the political and ideological struggle of the cold war, thwarting aspirations for peace and reconstruction and leaving men of good will in earnest quest for a new dynamic to combat Communism — seemingly the strongest "religion" in an irreligious age.

Agreement on the paths to be followed is far from universal. Thus, when a Times editorial asked recently how to counter what it called the Communist "mystique" or "pseudo-religion," the response was diverse.

Emrys Hughes, pacifist Labor member of parliament, wrote that the problem should be tackled through an international plan to provide housing for Europe's homeless, overcrowded and refugee populations. Another correspondent said Marshall Aid in Europe has not penetrated to the working classes, but serves only to fatten up those at the top.

A similar correspondence has been running in The Daily Telegraph. A worried reader in Birmingham wrote that he had watched with consternation the transition of his son from a staunch Conservative to a rabid Communist.

Not Answer

"What is happening in my home," this man wrote, "is being repeated in thousands of other working-class homes in the Midlands; decency, religion, thrift are being scoffed at and scorned"

But the reader's closing plea—that Communism should be dealt with as a "vile and deadly disease" — was rejected, sympathetically by other contributors to the correspondence. Banning Communism in Britain, these writers said, would just be playing into the hands of the Communists.

Even Canada was drawn into the correspondence at one point. John Baker White, Conservative member of parliament, said British youth organizations should handle the Communist peace campaign as it was in the Univeristy of Toronto, where an energetic non-Communist group succeeded in ousting a Communist peace group by constiutional means.

Defence College Trains Men For High Posts

KINGSTON (CP).—Brains that would run vital jobs in any new Canadian war effort are being sharpened and broadened here in a school where secrecy is a passion and nobody gets marks, good or bad, for anything.

It is the National Defence College. Since 1947, it has been turning out men who would go to senior jobs not only in the armed forces but in government and industry if war came.

The latest class graduated Aug. 25. Another entered Sept. 6. Both comprise more than 20 men.

Behind the towering walls of old Fort Frontenac, they come for a year at a time and study and consider not one particular realm of Canadian defence but the whole broad picture—strategically, politically, economically and otherwise.

Important Effort

The school is an important effort to find the answers to the complexities of modern war. It is Canada's parallel of the United Kingdom's Imperial Defence College and the War College in the United States. Its aim is to fashion the cogs for a top-level war machine that could function with a minimum of delay, confusion and friction.

The students are near the top of the ladder in the forces, departments of government and, occasionally, industry. All are marked as "comers." When they leave, they get no report, no marks, nothing but the right to put the initials NDC after their name. That is coming to mean more and more where it counts most.

Of High Rank

The army's representatives, for instance, are usually at the brigadier or colonel level. One graduate, Brig. T. G. Gibson, now is deputy chief of the general staff. Another, Brig. Paul Bernatchez, soon will be a major-general.

The first commandant was Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds who left here to become chief of the general staff. The present one is Air Vice Marshal C. R. Dunlap, RCAF. He will be succeeded by a naval rear admiral. The directing staff includes senior officers of the three forces and the external affairs department.

Over-all direction rests with the chiefs of staff in Ottawa.

Each course divides into two main fields—academic and travel. For 13 of the 50 weeks, the students fly through the United States, UK and Canada, including the Arctic. They spend two days at United Nations headquarters. They get lectures and chances to talk to outstanding men in government, industry, and other fields.

Academically, the classes break up into syndicates of six or seven men, changing from time to time. Each syndicate gets a room, an introduction to the library and secret documents—and a problem.

The first problem involves the set-up of the Canadian government. It is a trial run. From then on, each group finds itself grappling with complex problems to which there can be no absolute answer.

Broad Solution

For anywhere from 10 days to five weeks, a syndicate will wrestle with a problem, assign individual tasks, then build up a broad solution and finally present this to the whole school. The other students proceed to try to tear the solution apart in discussions that may last two days.

Each syndicate has one or two members of the directing staff assigned to it. But they don't teach or mark or correct. They explain the problem, stimulate discussion, keep things going.

The courses are interspersed with lectures—roughly 10 a month —by leading figures in government ,the military, private firms, labor, the press.

Over the whole activity, there is a heavy layer of secrecy. Nobody comes here without a special screening. Numerous secret documents come their way but from the first security is preached to them.

Out of all this come men who, by general agreement are superiors, are broader, sharper and brighter, for having done what Gen. Simonds once called "rubbing their brains together."

Low-Rent Apartments Open In Owen Sound

OWEN SOUND, Sept. 12 (CP)—A new low-rental apartment project will be opened officially here Saturday with three-and four-room suites to rent for $22 and $27 a month. They are built especially for pensioners and widows receiving government allowances.

It is expected the units, built by the Owen Sound Housing Company, Ltd., may become models for similar developments in other Ontario cities. The first 40-family apartment building cost $200,000 with the city's share $20,000. The buildings were financed by a 90-per-cent loan from the crown-owned Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, to be paid off over a 50-year period at three per cent interest.

16 Workers Ignore Orders To Return

WOODSTOCK, Sept. 12 (CP)—Sixteen workers who walked off their jobs at Weiler Machine Co. last Friday, ignored a registered letter received from the firm Monday asking them to report back to work Tuesday.

The workers walked out in protest of the laying off of five employees one of whom, Wallace Martin, union officials said was an employee with six years seniority. Union members claim Martin was being discriminated against because of his efforts in organizing a union at the plant.

The registered letters said if the men did not return by Tuesday it would be presumed they had resigned.

Students Battle Cost Of Books

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 12 (CP)—Sixty-five university students from across Canada, delegates to the 15th annual conference of the National Federation of Canadian University students, Tuesday prepared to battle—among other things—the high cost of textbooks.

At the opening sessions of the conference they heard reports of a textbook committee describe the textbook situation as "acute." A Western delegate said prices were "deplorable."

T. H. B. Symons of Toronto, chairman of the textbook committee, reported that prices of a selected group of textbooks used in Canadian universities cost from 20 to 70 per cent more than the American price for the same publication.

Triple Murder, Suicide Jury Rules In Shooting

KITCHENER, Sept. 12 (CP) — A coroner's jury Tuesday night termed "triple murder and suicide" the July 28 shooting near New Hamburg of four members of the Grofton family.

A baker salesman discovered the bodies of the four, Wilbert A. Grofton, 39; his wife, Clara, 35; their son, Ceci, 7, and daughter, Delores, 5, after the shooting. Hans Kondert, a resident in the area, testified Grofton had been heard to say that he was going to "clear out the whole family."

Violent Storm

LONDON, Sept. 12 (Reuters).—A violent 15-minute thunderstorm over central London today stopped traffic and sent thousands of workers rushing for shelter. Lightning struck an electricity control box, putting trolley-buses out of action on the east side of the city. Low-lying streets and basements were flooded.

It was essentially a "get acquainted" evening at Omemee Home and School Association's first meeting for the fall term on Monday—acquainted with new members and also with the aims of the association for the coming year.

Program convener Mrs. A. Stephenson gave a general outline of proposed programs for the year, adding that Miss Marion Rea and Mrs. R. Kenny had consented to assist in their further planning. Health convener Mrs. H. Lennox introduced the subject of dental survey in schools, which had been discussed at the June executive meeting. She announced that a speaker from the Dental Association in Peterborough would be available for the October meeting.

Principal J. B. Hough introduced two new members of the High School Staff, Mrs. D. H. Kerr and Mr. S. B. Adelman, also Mrs. Adelman who accompanied her husband.

Miss Marion Rea, who this year joined the Public School Staff was introduced by Principal L. M. Curtis. Miss Rea said, though she had been associated with Omemee folk in many activities she had not before been their teacher, nor had she in any of her teaching experience had the privelage of being a member of a Home and School Association, and she looked forward to a pleasant relationship in both capacities. She was also happy to occupy the new school unit, saying it was comfortable and convenient and had met with the full approval of Inspector Anderson. Rev. C. Richmond who was welcomed by the president said he had been familiar with the Association in England where it was known as 'Parent and Teacher Association'.

The Parents Roll Call gave the shield to the High School for the current month.

Two pleasing duets were sung by Misses Joan Whitmore and Joan Saulter, students of the High School.

Folowing the meeting lunch was served by hostesses Mrs. C. McGill, Mrs. H. Bent, Mrs. J. Swinson, Mrs. G. Nelson and Mrs. W. Wilson.

In all probability the greatest single force in adult education is Your Newspaper. When you completed your formal education some years ago, the event was celebrated as your Commencement. It was then that you really commenced to learn. From that day to this you have learned constantly from Your Newspaper. Deep within you, even though you may not have thought much about it, you realize this and appreciate it. That perhaps is why you'd rather miss a meal than your newspaper. DOROTHY DIX

Couple Advised To Adopt Unmarried Sister's Child

DEAR MISS DIX: Would you advise a young couple, such as we to adopt the small child of an unmarried mother? My husband and I love this baby and both want him. The trouble is, the baby is my sister's, and my husband's people are remarking that I am forcing the adoption. This isn't true. My husband truly loves the child and is most anxious to have him. M.H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The chief trouble in your projected adoption is the fact that your sister may in time want her child back. Right now the baby is a responsibility she is unable to assume, but as he grows older and is less trouble to care for, her maternal instinct may assert itself and trouble will ensue.

If you get the child in an ironclad adoption, you will be saved the heartbreak of surrendering him later.

You Won't Regret Move

Opening your heart and home to a fatherless, unwanted infant is a wonderful gesture, from which you will reap much happiness. Don't let the unfortunate remarks of relatives or neighbors deter you. These nameless waifs have a hard road ahead of them unless someone with a true sense of charity befriends them.

As this baby grows, your in-laws will come to love him just as you do and their nasty thoughts and words of today will be forgotten. There is one other point on which you must be careful. Since the child's parentage is known to those about you, let the youngster know as soon as possible that he is adopted so the news will not come later through an undesirable source, causing him undue shock.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been dating a man for whom I care very much. We are both in our 20's. He has told me he has been married but is now divorced. He has no children. I am undecided what to do and he has left it up to me to decide. EDITH.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: There is certainly no harm in your going with this man. You are old enough to form a good judgment of him, but I would advise that you learn—not from him but from a disinterested party—just what his former marriage was like, who was responsible for the divorce, and what kind of husband he made. Don't take facts for granted; in a matter as serious as this, check them. If the divorce came about through some fault of his, you surely don't want to be the next victim.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a boy friend five years older than I. He seems very much interested in me, but I don't like him too well and would like to discontinue our friendship. How can I do this without hurting his feelings? P. C.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It shouldn't be too difficult. Simply excuse yourself from further dates with him, and he should get the point after a few attempts. I don't think you'd hurt his feelings, either, if you told him tactfully that you — or your parents—thought he was too old for you.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Special-Purpose Menu Served At Pooled Picnic

A Pooled Picnic
Hungarian Goulash
Poppy Seed Rolls
Celery Hearts, Halves of Small Tomatoes, Raw Turnip Curls
Dessert Pears
Low-Sugar Chocolate Cake
Coffee

Directions

A service club to which I am an adherent staged their annual evening of entertainment for their pet camp crowd. The club girls took their picnic supper with them so they were on the grounds to give the entertainment an early start as soon as supper was over.

The above menu was brought by everybody on the executive and pooled. The gal who made the Goulash was ever so pleased to know that I liked it well enough to ask her for the recipe to pass on to my beloved readers. (I wonder if you folks realize that I absorb a lot of sly remarks about my reader fans—I have been accused even of being more faithful to you than to Marianne and Pete! Imagine!)

Hungarian Goulash

Two lbs. flank or skirt steak cut into 2-inch pieces. Coat generously with flour. Cut ¼-lb. fat salt pork or smoked jowl into small cubes and fry until golden and slightly crispened. Add the beef and cook until it is medium browned on all sides. Cover with 2 cups boiling water, reduce heat and simmer about 2¾ hours, over very low heat. During the last hour add 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Simmer together 2 cups tomatoes, 1 onion chopped and 1 stalk celery, 1 bay leaf and 4 cloves. When they are soft stir them into a paste made of 3 tablespoons flour stirred into ¼ cup cold water, and boil, stirring, 2 minutes. Rub through a sieve and stir into the meat gravy. Lift meat out onto hot serving platter in a pile in the centre. Arrange around it in attractive mounds, 2 cups cooked wax beans, 1 parboiled green pepper cut into thin rings, 2 cups cooked macaroni. Pour the gravy over all.

Raw turnip curls are made same as carrot curls: slice the turnip as thinly as your knife can. Cut pieces into strips about 1 inch wide and 3 inches long. Drop into salted ice water and stand in refrigerator until needed. Drain well and dry before serving.

Low-Sugar Chocolate Cake

This is a moist cake, and while it is low on sugar it is high on corn syrup and the reducers need not think it is for them.

One and three-quarter cups sifted cake flour, 1½ teaspoons soda, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup shortening or margarine, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1 cup corn syrup, 2 unbeaten egg yolks, 2 squares melted unsweetened chocolate, 2/3 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 egg whites. Add soda and salt to sifted flour and sift 3 times. Cream shortening, cream the sugar into it slowly. Add syrup gradually by tablespoons at first, beating hard to keep the mixture thick. Add one-quarter of the flour mixture, and beat until smooth. Add egg yolks, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Beat in chocolate. Add remaining flour in thirds alternately with the milk in halves, beating very well. Add vanilla. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in buttered layer cake tins at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 25 minutes. This is good with a mint flavoured seven-minute boiled frosting.

Ray Sutcliffe Wed In Auburn, N.Y.

Mr. Joseph Raymond Sutcliffe, son of the Rev. Joseph H. Sutcliffe, former minister of Murray St. Baptist Church and now of First Baptist Church, Auburn, N.Y., was married Saturday, September 1, to Shirley Vaughn Cady of Auburn. Officiating in the double ring ceremony at the church was the groom's father and the Rev. Dr. Frederick Allen of First Baptist Church, Syracuse.

The groom is an alumnus of Colgate University, class of 1949, and served two years in the armed forces. He graduated from Peterborough Collegiate after elementary training at Central School. He majored in political science and spent six months studying government in Washington. He then took his master's degree at the Maxwell School of Business Administration and served in the Navy's procurement office. He is now undergoing a training period in the employ of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. His bride majored in music education at Potsdam State College for Teachers.

The couple will live in New York for a few weeks and then in Albany.

Mrs. Sutcliffe, mother of the groom, wore charcoal grey with black velvet accessories and a salmon-pink glamellia corsage at the wedding. The bride's mother, navy with white accesories and Mrs. Ernest Vaughn Cady, wore pink glamellias.

Jack E. Sutcliffe attended the groom, and ushers were his cousin Walter Kendus of Philadelphia and Bruce Springler of Auburn.

Bridesmaids were Georgia Anne Cady, wearing emerald green taffeta veiled in white nylon net, her arm bouquet of bronze yellow and white daisy 'mums, and Amy Lou Cady in a similar bouffant frock with taffeta stole, and Miss Sillie Maxcy of Potsdam was maid of honor in emerald taffeta veiled in emerald net and she carried bronze and yellow daisy 'mums.

The bride's champagne satin gown with high neck and long sleeves had a redingote of imported French lace, was made en train, slightly bouffant. She carried a bouquet of pale gold glamellias and sweetheart roses. Her three-quarter veil of nylon net was held by a satin cap.

A reception was held at the Cady home.

The 10 defendants are accused of spying for Britain, the United States and the Vatican.

All Work Not Luck Brought Titles

By KAY REX

FONTHILL, Ont., Sept. 12 (CP) —Golf instructor Gordon McInnis says it wasn't luck that brought Marlene Stewart the Ontario and Canadian women's open golf championships this year.

"Has she shown you the callouses on her left hand?" he asks.

Pro at the nearby Lookout Point Golf Club, McInnis is the man chiefly responsible for 17-year-old Marlene's surprise victories at Toronto and Montreal this summer.

The hand of the five-foot Miss who has only three years' golf experience has a large half-moon of callouses on the palm.

"Practising," McInnis explained.

Marlene modestly says, "I was just lucky" McInnis—"Gordie" to the first winner he has coached in six years at Lookout Point—doesn't agree. He says it was work—work that brought her the titles.

Some Luck

There has been some luck, of course. Three years ago, she got a hole in one. Beginner's luck? Certainly, McInnis agrees. Why, he adds, "she was so excited she ran up the hill."

But the feat — so far her only hole-in-one — was significant in that it involved a 127-yard drive. At that time she used a No. 3 iron.

"Now she plays the same hole with a No. 7 or a No. 8," said her tutor. "These clubs give shorter distance — it shows that now she's hitting the ball 50 yards farther."

How come?

Marlene has put on a "little more" weight. (She now is a shapely 108 pounds.) She also is hitting the ball more squarely.

Day-Long Job

The little girl with the big swing doesn't exactly know how many balls she uses in a daily workout. McInnis figures she averages "between 100 and 200." And she's at it from mid-morning 'til sunset — seven days a week.

Gordie, who's not much taller than the five-foot "champ," couldn't recall that Marlene was any better — or worse — than the average beginner when she started hanging around the course five years ago when she was 12.

"You can't tell from a child that young," he said. "You can't tell whether they'll turn out all right or not."

Three years ago he really began working with her.

Last year she aroused enough comment at the Canadian Women's Golf Championships in Winnipeg to take a second look at the tournament field.

"That's when I began thinking about it seriously," she says.

She Practised

Club President J. P. Kinghorn says Marlene came by her victories through her own hard effort. She practised.

"When the rest of us are out playing — Marlene's practising," he says.

By now, McInnis figures Marlene has her game pretty well in hand. It was "sound" in Montreal — although they worked on her putting before she went there in August to take both the Open and Close titles — the first double winner since 1933.

"She has some practising to do yet," said Gordie as Marlene picked up her club and headed for the putting-green.

Strikers Awaiting Labor Board Ruling

HAMILTON, Sept. 12 (CP) — The strike of 250 employees of the Norman Slater Company marked time today as the union awaited further word from the Ontario Labor Relations Board. A union source said the board reviewed the case yesterday and the outcome of that meeting would probably be made known late today.

A Monday night membership meeting of Local 3505, United Steelworkers of America — the Slater employees' bargaining agent—called the strike for the next day to enforce demands for a new contract.

This morning the strike committee of the local was waiting for release of the Ontairo Labor Relation Board's review of their request. Union officers expected the board decision to be made late this afternoon.

First Polio Victim Dies On Manitoulin

LITTLE CURRENT, Ont., Sept 12 (CP)—What is believed to be the first case of polio ever reported on Manitoulin Island ended in death Tuesday night for 26-year-old James Malcolm Halcrow, of Sheguidandah, six miles south of here.

At 4 pm Tuesday Dr. J. F. Bailey, Little Current, phoned Sudbury Red Cross centre for permission to pick up the iron lung at 6:30 pm. He called again at 7 pm to cancel the pick-up The youth was still alive, he said, but the lung would be of little help.

Halcrow was stricken Saturday.

Veterans Advised To Sell Property

KITCHENER, Sept. 12 (CP) — The Kitchener-Waterlo branch of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans in Canada, once the strongest unit in Ontario, was warned last night that sale of part of its property was the only way to overcome its present financial straits.

L. A. McNeill, president of its Simcoe branch and chairman of a special committee set up by the provincial command to administer the affairs of the local unit, reported that a lien had been entered against the branch by a sub-contractor on the partly-finished headquarters.

He said sale of an apartment building owned by the branch was "the only salvation." The branch owes $34,000, he said.

Whipper Watson To Leave Hospital

KINGSTON, Sept. 12 (CP).—Whipper Billy Watson, Toronto wrestler injured Monday night in the main bout of a weekly wrestling card, will be discharged from hospital today, hospital officials said Tuesday night.

The British Empire heavyweight champion was struck down by Lord Athol Layton at the conclusion of their match, which was ruled a draw.

Layton slashed Watson across the throat with the side of his hand in a blow he calls a scimitar slash. Watson was unconscious for several hours.

Canada's Best Water Skiers To See Action on Stony Lake

Water skiers will probably have their last fling of the summer this weekend, when the Ottawa Water Ski Club holds its open invitation meet at the Viamede Hotel, Mount Julian.

More than 100 entries are expected from southern Ontario, including Ottawa, Toronto, Owen Sound, the Lake Huron district and the Kawarthas.

Visiting competitors will include Gus McIntosh, Bobcaygeon, Ontario open champion; Charles Bleckwell, Jr., Owen Sound, Canadian closed champion; Norma McIntosh Gordon, Bobcaygeon, Canadian closed champion; Bruce Poole, Bobcaygeon, Canadian junior closed and Ontario open champion; and Carole Anne Duffie, Canadian junior closed and Ontario open champion.

Invitations have also gone out to United States' ski experts but it is not yet known whether or not they will be able to attend.

Although sponsored by the Ottawa club, the Kawartha Ski School is co-operating fully. There are only three water ski jumps in Ontario. One is at the CNE, another at Southampton on Lake Huron, and the third is at Viamede.

Because it is conveniently situated for both Toronto and Ottawa, the Ottawa club chose Viamede. Next year they hope to have a jump of their own.

There will be four classes for entrants:

Pee-Wees (boys and girls), under 13.

Junior (boys and girls), under 17.

Doubles (two girls or one girl and one boy).

Club officials are urging novices to enter. Entries will be accepted up to an hour before the event.

The Pee-Wee and Junior events will be run off on Saturday, but the Senior and Doubles will be run on Sunday.

Besides the usual fun of watching the contestants in straight races there will be novelty acts to amuse the spectators. These include clowns, performers in shoe (i.e. short) skis, and a precision drill.

Prizes will include water skis, trophies and crests.

Murder Charge

ed. "She was crying and hysterical, but she muttered something about being yellow and afraid to fire. I couldn't make anything else out of it," Jamieson said.

Mr. Carley began cross-examining Jamieson.

"Do you know whether Mr. Thompson had been drinking that night?" he asked. Jamieson said he could not tell from what he saw of Thompson at 6:15 that night whether he had been drinking. He formed the conclusion Thompson had been drinking from something Thompson told him.

"You say you heard an argument; could you say what any of the words were?" "Yes, she said: 'You're not taking that car out under any condition.'"

Mr. Carley re-covered the evidence given by Jamieson in his examination by the Crown Attorney, and asked Jamieson if he had observed anything about company coming to the Thompson house.

Saw Car Drive Up

Jamieson said he had seen a car drive up shortly after he heard the argument. The car had stopped in front of Thompson's house, a man and a woman got out, and went into the house. Jamieson said he did not see any more of them.

"Now, when Mrs. Thompson came over to your house, was she plainly hysterical?"—"Yes."

"Did she say: 'I've shot.' or 'I've shot him.'?"—"She said: 'I've shot him'."

In his examination by Mr. Bradshaw, Jamieson told court he had known the Thompsons since May 14 when they moved into the neighborhood.

Thomas Gardner, the first witness called, said he had known the Thompsons for about two months, and during that time had visited with them perhaps five times.

"Just before 6 p.m. that night, Roy Thompson came out of his house. I was cutting the lawn, and he shouted something at me, kidding about the way I was doing it.

Gave A Beer

"He went into the Dennie house. Later, I went over myself and Dennie gave me a beer. I didn't see Roy when I first went in, but I understood he was having a drink in the front room.

"Then Roy came out of the front room, and I wished him many happy returns of the day. It was his birthday, you know.

"I didn't see him again until around 9 o'clock. My wife and I went over to Dennie's and Roy was there in the kitchen. A few minutes later, Roy left the house."

"Did you see him again?" asked the crown. "Yes," said Gardner, "we were about to leave the Dennie house when I saw Roy come out of his house with a bottle in his hand. It looked like either beer or liquor.

"He came over and got in the front of the car, beside Mr. Dennie. Mrs. Dennie and my wife and I were in the back seat. He wanted to come with us."

"What, if anything, unusual did you notice about him?" asked Mr. Bradshaw.—"Nothing, he was just his usual cheery self."

Wife Sobbing

"As he was getting in the car," Gardner told court, "Mrs. Thompson came over and stood on the driver's side. She was sobbing and she insisted on Roy getting out of the car.

"She said: 'You're going no place.' I told them then that I'd like to invite them to the party I was going to, but couldn't. I think Roy said: 'If I can't go in this car, I'll go in mine.'

"Mrs. Thompson said something about that he had broken their home. Roy got out of the car and walked away. It was about 9.30 then."

"Was there any drinking in the car while he was there?" asked the crown. "Absolutely not."

"When did you next hear of the Thompsons?" — "We knew nothing more about it until we got home, past midnight."

"You knew Mrs. Thompson was expecting?"—"Yes."

"Was this sobbing unusual conduct for her?"—"Yes, I thought she and Roy were very happy."

Mr. Carley began cross-examination.

"The first time you saw Mr. Thompson that day was when he was entering the Dennie house?"—"Yes," Gardner said.

"Now, the Thompsons were comparative newcomers to the district, weren't they?"—"Yes."

"The total number of visits between you and the Thompsons was about five?"—"Yes."

"When you went to the Dennie house, did you see him come into the kitchen?"—"Yes."

"Would you say he had been drinking?"—"No."

"Did you see him take a drink?"—"No."

"Do you think the bottle you saw Thompson carrying later was a bottle of liquor?"—"I don't know, but I thought it was either liquor or beer."

"When he got in the car, was he asked to get in?"—"No. He just got in."

"Was Mrs. Thompson greatly disturbed when she came over to the car?"—"Yes."

"At that time did you think he had been drinking?"—"I didn't see him have anything."

"You don't have to see a man take a drink to know he's been drinking," remaked Mr. Carley.

The hearing continued this afternoon.

Hamilton Baby Fails To Live

HAMILTON, Sept. 12 (CP)—The baby girl born at Hamilton General hospital after her mother Mrs. Arthur Tew, had died as a result of a broken neck, died Tuesday night.

The child, 3½ months premature, had lived for about 24 hours. Before she died, her father, who lives in Galt, Ont., named her Mary.

Mrs. Tew, who broke her neck when she fell down a flight of stairs at her farm home, was rushed to the hospital Sept. 5. The baby was delivered by surgery a few minutes after she died.

Mr. Tew has a five-year-old daughter.

Report Negotiations Delayed In Strike

SOUTHAMPTON, Sept. 12 (CP)—Negotiations between striking employees of the Hepworth Furniture factory here and management have not begun in this town 20 miles west of Owen Sound.

Members of the International Woodworkers of America went on strike Monday to enforce their demand that the company implement the findings of a conciliation board last June.

The plant employs about 170 persons.

Reports Tuesday night indicated that talks between the union and company may not get under way for several days.

Held Up

BUFFALO, NY, Sept. 12 — (AP)— Motorists are driving on Florida Street today. That house that's been in their way since Sunday is gone. And so is $500 from the pocket of Anthony T. Firta.

Firta had moved a two-family frame house three blocks to its new location. He got it as far as the street in front of the lot on Sunday. There it stayed.

The owners of the neighboring property wanted $500 before they would let Firta drag the house across their property.

Firta balked. He tried to get the city forester to cut down three trees on his own property so the house could be moved The forester turned him down

Yesterday Firta shelled out the $500 and the house got a new home.

All Christians Should Unite Pope's Message

By FRANK BRUTTO

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Pope called upon all Christians today to unite "under one flag" — the Roman Catholic Church—to fight Communism.

An encyclical letter, described in an official Vatican summary as "of great importance from historical, doctrinal and pastoral viewpoints," was issued by the Pope on the occasion of the 15th centenary of the Council of Chalcedon, which outlined aspects of the nature of Jesus Christ.

The encyclical, entitled from its first two Latin words, "eternal king," reaffirmed the Roman Catholic Church's doctrine that Jesus Christ has both human and divine nature, and reasserted its belief in the primacy of the Pope, the Bishop of Rome.

The encyclical urged all Christians—but especially those of the East, the orthodox Catholics, of Russia—to return to the Roman Catholic Church.

About 10,000 Words

The encyclical was dated Sept. 8, feast day of the birth of the Virgin Mary. The document contains about 10,000 words.

It called upon all Christians "as soon as possible to unite under one banner against the stormy assaults of the infernal enemy." It asked:

"Who is not horrified by the hatred and the ferocity with which the enemies of God, in many countries of the world, threaten to destroy or try to uproot all that there is of divine and Christian?"

The Ecumenical Council of Chalcedon, held in 451, concerned itself primarily with doctrine on the nature of Jesus Christ.

Must Be United

"Divided and dispersed, Christians cannot continue to lose time against the combined hosts" of their enemies, the encyclical said. It urged all Christians to unite to meet "the ferocity of the enemies of God."

It called upon all Christians to recognize the authority of the Pope of the Roman Catholic Church.

"All those, especially in eastern countries, who because of the iniquity of the times are separated from the bosom and unity of the church, should render without hesitation the due, reverent homage to this primacy, following the example of the footsteps of their fathers," said the encyclical.

Such a unity, it said, would conform with the desire of Jesus Christ in his prayers at the last supper that "all would be one."

US Police Deny Editor's Charges

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 12 (AP)—Police Chief W. D. Rayfield said Tuesday Jackson police last July questioned a Canadian magazine editor but charged the editor "misrepresented" parts of the incident.

John Clare, editor of Maclean's magazine, wrote in the current issue that the police took him into custody because a woman thought he looked like Communist organizer Gus Hall, target of a country-wide police search.

Clare was released the same day.

Rayfield said Clare's claim that he was told his Canadian passport was no good in Mississippi was a "misrepresentation."

"He misrepresented that," the chief said. "The FBI told him a passport wasn't much good for identification purposes. After all, such things can be forged. It meant nothing to us in proving his identity."

Teacher Tells Of Psychology At H&S Meeting

HAVELOCK, Sept. 12 (ENS).—Elementary psychology was the subject of an address given at the Home and School meeting on Monday night by A. R. McNab of the high school staff.

Personality, Mr. McNab said, is more the result of heredity, plus environment plus behavior, than experience, he said. Environment, he said, meant surroundings and he stressed the responsibility that rests on the school—teachers and pupils, the Home and School Association, the board of education to help in providing the proper environment during the hours the child is in school.

Then he mentioned the importance of proper home environment. Under behavior he said it was the duty of the school teachers to make the child socially acceptable and help him to get ahead in a competitive world.

Mrs. L. Harrison moved a vote of thanks to Mr. McNab.

The following new conveners were announced by the president Mrs. H. McNeely; social, Mrs. B. Johnson; health, Mrs. J. Wilde; membership, Mrs. R. Sayers.

Mrs. J. Calnan was appointed vice-president to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. L. Harrison.

Mrs. J. Wilde gave a very timely health talk on polio, its symptoms and treatment.

Mrs. W. Corneil, literature convener spoke briefly about the various publications in her department.

Use Portraits In Ads, Souvenirs

OTTAWA —(CP)— The government has no objection to the use of portraits of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh in advertising matter issued in connection with their October visit to this country.

A government spokesman says advertising matter comes within the scope of an Aug. 2 press statement setting out relaxations in the use of Royal emblems and portraits on souvenirs produced for the Royal visit.

The relaxation extends from Sept. 1 to Dec. 1.

In the case of portraits which have been copyrighted, the government assumes the user will make the usual clearance arrangements with the holder of the copyright.

No Objection

The Aug. 2 press statement said on this point:

"Objection will not be raised to the use of Their Majesties' portraits or Their Royal Highnesses' portraits as souvenirs, but in the case of any such portraits or photographs which have been copyrighted, manufacturers will no doubt make usual arrangements with holders of copyright."

This also applies to drawings or royalty.

Under the relaxation, manufacturers may also use reproductions of the Royal Arms, the Crown, the Arms of the Princess and the Duke and the Standard of the Princess.

They will not, however, be permitted to use reproductions of the Royal Standard, the Royal Cypher, Their Royal Highnesses' Cypher or Their Royal Highnesses' Badge.

Hot Debate Over BC Union

HALIFAX, Sept. 11 (CP)— Suspension of the Vancouver Civic Employees Union from the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada for Communist affiliations stirred up a warm debate at today's session of the TLC convention.

The issue was still under discussion when the convention rose after its morning session. However, indications were that later in the day the TLC would uphold and continue the suspension slapped on the 1,300-member union by the Congress executive early this year.

The Civic Employees Union was tossed out of the Congress because of the suspected Red associations of Jack Phillips, its recording secretary, and Donald Guise, business agent. The union —known as Local 28 in Vancouver —refused to put out Phillips and Guise after the TLC adopted a resolution last year ordering all affiliates to drop Red officers under penalty of suspension.

Opening Delayed Waiting For CNR Okay

BANCROFT, Sept. 12 (ENS)— Pupils of Birds Creek and Monteagle and Herschel township School Area No. 2 have had an extra week's holidays because school officials have not yet obtained official permission from the Canadian National Railways to bring hydro-electric power across the track running from Bancroft to Maynooth to their new three-room school.

As a result of this the painters have not been able to work overtime to complete their work. The water and heating systems are electrically controlled.

However a stationary power plant was obtained by the board over the weekend and it is expected that the new building will be opened today.

BANCROFT, Sept. 12 (ENS)— As an indirect result of the building of a three-room consolidated school for the western section of Faraday township three community buildings have been established for the citizens of that area. Paudash was purchased by the Paudash Women's Institute, Monck Road by a newly-formed community organization and the Tin School by Faraday township council.

War Duties Started Princess on Career

LONDON— (C P) — At the height of the last war the voices of two young girls were heard over the radio one evening. They came from an underground studio of the BBC— A studio then without a name because it was in the heart of bomb-torn London.

One voice was that of the small Princess Margaret, bidding goodnight to all the British children who had been evacuated to other countries.

The other was the voice of Margaret's not-so-much-bigger sister Elizabeth —grey-eyed and just 14.

"I can truthfully say to you, that all we children at home are full o fcheerfulness and courage," said Elizabeth.

It was one of her first public speeches. Many more were to follow, but perhaps this and others she made as a child growing up in the midst of a broken world were the ones in which Elizabeth first touched the heart of a kingdom.

Training Kept Up.

Despite the war and its upsets, the training of Britain's future Queen never slackened during those unhappy years. There also were wartime jobs. For instance, as a subaltern in the Auxiliary Territorial Service she took a driving course and learned the mechanics of the trucks she drove.

On a visit to the A.T.S. centre the King and Queen found Elizabeth stretched under a truck, smeared with oil but enthusiastic about her "grease monkey" job.

It was shortly after her 11th birthday in 1937 that her future suddenly became apparent to Elizabeth. She was still too young to realize the significance of the moment when "Uncle David," Edward VIII, had abdicated and her father became George VI. But she came to understand in the little changes around home.

"Mummie" Was Queen.

The weight of what had happened fell upon her one day when she saw a letter addressed to "Her Majesty The Queen."

"That's mummie now, isn't it?" asked the small Elizabeth.

There were still carefree days for a girl who liked to collect cocoons, who could dance an Irish jig and ride a bicycle. But studies became more important than ever. And Queen Mary herself undertook to teach etiquette and diplomatic convention to young "Lilibet" as she was known throughout London.

Then there was a governess for the history and literature— which she liked —and arithmetic—which she didn't.

Those were the growing-up years of the Princess Elizabeth Alexandra Mary who now as a young married woman of 25 is making her first visit to Canada.

Big Change.

When the war began Britain's future Queen was a little girl wearing skirts up to her knees and indulging in good-natured wrestling with young Margaret. As its end she was a serious young woman.

Britishers were hungry for news of their Princesses in those war years. But for safety's sake it often had to be held back for days at a time. The girls spent the first four months of war in a small granite house in a lonely Scottish glen. Then later they moved to the South of England.

News dispatches in 1940 recorded that Elizabeth tap-danced and sang at a village concert which the Queen organized to aid war charities. Such charities formed part of the Princess' wartime activities, with much of her spare time spent on knitting sweaters and scarves for servicemen.

She lived without fanfare during the war and reached her 16th birthday in 1942 without much recognition from a Britain then fighting for its life. For Elizabeth, this particular birthday chiefly meant registering under the government Youth Service scheme, like any other 16-year-old.

Dog Adopts Kitten Family

LINDSAY, Sept. 12—An Ops township dog has adopted an orphaned family of four kittens.

The story began two weeks ago when "Sandy" an Ops township cat gave birth to five kittens. A first tragedy occurred when one of the kittens was killed by an older brother or sister while the mother was absent.

But Saturday the great tragedy occurred when Sandy disappeared. Since then there has been no trace of her. The babies were saved from starvation with bottle feedings. But there were more troubles. The nipple of the bottle had a large split in it and the kittens all suffered from gas.

It was here the dog stepped in to take care of the orphaned family. She took each suffering kitten out of its box and rolled it across the floor until the crying ceased.

As well as this burping procedure after every meal, mother dog also keeps her adopted family clean with periodic washings.

Wielding Bayonets UN Troops Take 9 Important Peaks

US EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Sept. 13. (AP)—Allied troops won another commanding mountain peak today in their roller-coaster drive to force Communists off high points in rugged east-central Korea. The Allies gained the mountain top northeast of Kumhwa in less than three hours of fighting against only light Red resistance. The same United Nations troops captured another peak and seven surrounding ridges in the same area Wednesday. The Reds put up a foot-by-foot defence.

An Allied officer said Thursday there was "a definite decrease of Red strength in the sector." The area is just east of the Reds' old "iron triangle" troop assembly area in central Korea.

Allied troops captured six vital peaks Wednesday in bitter local fights that raged east of Kumwha to the vicinity of Kansong on the Sea of Japan coast.

Advance Three Miles

The battle line in the east is roughly 25 miles north of Parallel 38. The fighting of the last few days has pushed Allied positions forward as much as 3½ miles in some sectors.

On the western front, action was slow. Allied patrols scanned Red positions for signs of a strike from their built-up forces there.

AP Correspondent Stan Carter reported that at least 250,000 tank-supported Communist troops were believed in position on the western and west-central fronts for a possible thrust at Seoul, South Korean capital.

He said there are no signs that a Red smash is imminent but that there was speculation the Communists might try a drive this weekend, when the Korean moon is full.

Most sources, Carter said, doubted the Reds plan a major attack soon. Their present mission appears to be defence, not attack.

Good Weather

Sparkling fall weather gave Allied planes their best opportunity in weeks for close support of ground troops and long-range bombing forays over North Korea's rail and highway network.

By noon Thursday the US Fifth Air Force had flown 250 sorties. Red and Allied jets clashed high above Northwest Korea Wednesday for the fifth straight day. Thirty US Thunderjets tangled with 35 Russian-type MIG-15s in the swirling sky fight. Three Red jets were damaged, raising to 10 the number of Communist planes destroyed or damaged since Sept. 9. An F-84 Thunderjet was shot down Wednesday—the only Allied loss reported for the five days of jet battles.

Thirty other MIG-15s appeared south of the Korea-Manchuria border Wednesday, but showed no disposition to battle.

Allied naval units pounded Red supply lines Wednesday on both the eastern and western coasts of Korea.

Testify Explosion Caused Quebec Bridge To Collapse

Eluded Police Gross Spent Day At Races

NEW YORK, Sept. 13—(AP)—Gambler Harry Gross, urbane and grinning after his one-day flight from his cop guards, was shuttled through legal proceedings today to put him back on tap as star graft case witness.

Brought back from New Jersey where he had spent a leisurely day at the races, he was hustled before a US commissioner to answer a federal fugitive warrant issued after he disappeared.

Commissioner Martin C. Epstein dismissed the federal charge so as to formally return Gross to custody of the state, which has billed him as chief prosecution witness in its gambling-graft trial.

The trial, still in its jury-picking stage after two days, appeared likely to collapse after Gross, ex-boss of a multi-million dollar bookmaking empire, slipped away from guards at his Atlantic Beach, LI, home Tuesday night.

Fight Restoring Bail

Gross' lawyer said he will seek to vacate an order—issued after Gross vanished—forfeiting the gambler's $25,000 bail. But District Attorney Miles F. McDonald said he will fight any attempt to restore the bail.

Facing 65 years in prison on gambling charges, Gross had been freed in $25,000 bail pending sentence and his testimony against 18 accused policemen.

Chatting and amiable after being picked up at the race track, Gross said he could not understand all the fuss over "just a bookie case."

"They'll parlay this thing into a three-ring circus," he added.

Gross said he got tired of having the police around and just walked out, got into his Cadillac and travelled 180 miles.

He called three letters, threatening his life and his family if he testified, the work of cranks but said they upset his wife.

Suggest Canada Stop Imitating

MURRAY BAY, Que., Sept. 13 (CP)—Resources Minister Winters appealed to Canadians today to resist the temptation of becoming "mere carbon copies" of Americans and to build up a greater tourist trade by a more distinctive Canadian culture.

He suggested there was too great a display of the United States flag in Canada and that Canadian publications feature too many American news items and news pictures.

American tourists, he told the annual convention of the Canadian Tourist Association in a prepared speech, come to Canada because to them it is a "foreign country." Yet too often they are disappointed.

"We all too often go out of our way to greet Americans with shows of what they expected to leave behind them. We have, in fact, been ingenious in devising ways of making them feel at home, whereas what they want is to feel away from home."

By an "over-display" of the American flag, Canadians gave the impression of "trying to curry the favor of the American tourist," Mr. Winters said. "This must surely repel the average American while at the same time it discourages the creation of a Canadian atmosphere.

Hull Mayor Dies After Long Illness

HULL, Que., Sept. 13—(CP)—Mayor Alphonse Mousette, 59, serving his third term as mayor of Hull, died in hospital today. He had been ill for some time.

Alderman J. David Joanisse became acting mayor of the city. A meeting of the council will be called for next week to discuss election or appointment of a new chief magistrate to act until the next civic election in 1953.

Mayor Mousette, a native of Aylmer, Que., first entered civic politics when he was elected a Hull alderman in 1926. Ten years later he was elected mayor, holding office for 10 years until he temporarily retired.

Britain Signs Contract Buy Russian Grain

LONDON, Sept. 13 — (AP).—Britain announced tonight she has signed a contract to buy 1,000,000 tons of grain from Russia.

The announcement by the Food Ministry said the grains were from this year's Russian harvest and that deliveries are expected to begin shortly.

The breakdown on the 1,000,000 tons was given this way:

Wheat 200,000 tons, barley 425,000 tons, corn 300,000 tons, and oats 75,000 tons.

Take Fuse Out Of Mothballs Now Big Weapon In Korea

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—A super-secret weapon, developed in the Second World War, became so enemeshed in military secrecy that few people knew how to use it when the Korean war broke out.

The curiosity of a civilian scientist finally broke the secrecy and increased the use of the killer-gadget in Korea. It now may be a decisive weapon in turning back any new Red offensive against United Nations' forces.

Dr. Louis N. Ridenour, Jr., a radar expert in the war, pulled the weapon—the proximity fuse—out of mothballs.

The fuse is the electronic gadget that can cause artillery and anti-aircraft shells, rockets or bombs to explode within a few feet of their target.

The fuse, screwed into the nose of a bomb, has a tiny radio which sends out waves which bounce back from a target to a receiver. As the bomb nears its target, the echo-waves "trigger" the bomb to explode.

(Virtually all the preliminary work on the proxmity fuse was done in Canada with research centred at the University of Toronto.

(Sir Henry Tizard, British scientist, brought the fuse problem to Canada in 1940 and it was turned over to Arnold Pitt, assistant professor of physics at U of T who studied it with other colleagues.

(Later the Carnegie Institute at Washington started on the proximity fuse and the work was merged with Canada's research. Armed with the Canadian information, the US completed and perfected the fuse.)

Last fall, Ridenour was curious why the armed forces were not using more proximity fuses even though there was a large stockpile in the Far East.

As a result of his curiosity, a joint mission was sent to Korea last December to study the problems.

This mission discovered the fuse had remained such a secret that airmen, artillerymen and others didn't realize its effectiveness as an anti-personnel weapon—although the fuse had been a deadly weapon in the battle of the bulge in the Second World War.

Form First Guided-Missile Squadron Has New Pilotless Bomber Type Weapon

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 — (AP).—The US Air Force disclosed today it it forming its first guided-missile squadron, equipped with a new "pilotless bomber" type of weapon apparently intended for tactical use in warfare.

An announcement said the bomber squadron is being formed at the guided missile centre, Cocoa, Fla., Oct. 1 and that it "will be the first operational unit of its kind in the air force."

The squadron, the announcement said, will be equipped initially with the 'Matador, B-61 pilotless bomber, now in production by the Glenn L. Martin Company, of Baltimore, Md.

The squadron will train at first as part of the air research and development command but later "it will be made combat-ready by intensive unit training under the supervision of the Tactical Air Command," the announcement said.

An Air Force spokesman described the missile as being similar in appearance to the swept-wing XB-51 Martin jet fighter, but smaller.

It is powered with one jet engine.

The spokesman emphasized that it is a "guided missile," not merely a drone airplane of the type used experimentally during recent years.

Would-Be Bank Robbers Slowed By Bullets, Police Catch Three Men

ST. DAVID'S, Ont., Sept. 13. (CP)—Earl Gilson, 27, of Niagara Falls, has been charged with attempted robbery of the Imperial Bank of Canada branch in this Niagara peninsula village. Two other men taken into custody after three would-be robbers fled in a flurry of gunfire from the bank are under police guard in hospital at St. Catharines, seven miles from here. Gilson's capture climaxed an eight-hour manhunt through woods and underbrush south of St. David's. He was found at a hydro construction camp on the outskirts of Niagara Falls.

Meanwhile, George Dabald, 27, and Boyd Englehart, 29, both of Niagara Falls, were in St. Catharines hospital with bullet wounds police say they suffered when they traded shots with sharpshooting bank manager A. T. Minnis. They were arrested soon after the holdup near a highway on which their automobile had careened out of control.

Second In Month

The raid on the bank in this little Niagara Peninsula community was the second in a month. Three bandits escaped with $6,000 Aug. 16, and two suspects have been arrested in connction with that holdup.

Three would-be robbers walked into the branch Wednesday just before closing time, brandishing revolvers and shouting: "This is a stick-up."

Teller Joan Cornell ran to the vault at the rear of the bank and tripped an alarm.

One man poked a gun through a teller's wicket and told Ann Neufeld to "put 'em up." Another man went to the manager's office and rammed the muzzle of a sawed-off shotgun through the glass of the door.

Minnis, who had been on holidays at the time of the August holdup, pulled a .32-calibre colt revolver from his desk drawer and blazed away at the intruder. The shotgun crashed out, sending a blast of buckshot into the ceiling.

Gives Second Alarm

Miss Neufeld, who broke up the first robbery by tripping her alarm signal, turned in a second alarm.

The would-be thieves turned and fled. Minnis and ledger-keeper Roger Hoffman followed them to the street, firing as they ran. Carl Slingerland, a storekeeper, also helped to shoot at the men fleeing down the street. Some of the shots hit a tire of the getaway car.

Peiping Hints Price Of Talks

TOKYO, Sept. 13 —(AP)—The Peiping radio threw out a hint tonight the price for resuming Korean truce talks would be Allied admission that all Communist truce violation charges are true.

The United Nations command has rejected all of a long string of Red charges except one. It has admitted the accidental strafing of the Kaesong neutral zone Monday.

The Peiping radio quoted a Communist correspondent at Kaesong as saying:

"The cease-fire talks could start again immediately and agreement could be reached in a short time if the Americans accepted the military realities" and took the responsibility for all the alleged neutrality violations.

The UN command for the moment was saying nothing. It would not even say what was in the latest Red note handed allied liaison officers Wednesday.

It was considered possible that Ridgway was hold up the note until he receives the official Communist reaction to the note of apology for strafing Kaesong.

Cooler Weather Being Promised

TORONTO, Sept. 13 — (CP) — A west wind bearing cool air and showers moved into Ontario today and promised to relieve an unseasonal hot spell resulting from strong southerly winds bringing warm air from the tropics.

Along with this information, the Weather Bureau included the fact that noon temperatures in Ontario today averaged about 80 degrees but "will drop."

Windsor, one of the first points the west wind reached, bore out the forecaster's prediction.

The temperature there dropped from 70 earlier today to 68 around noon, with the prospect of falling further during the afternoon.

The cool air from the west, said the Bureau, will spread across most of Southern Ontario by tonight.

Report 39 Aboard Missing French Plane

PERPIGNAN, France, Sept. 13 (AP)—Airport officials said today 36 passengers and three crew members are aboard a French DC-3 plane missing on its run over the Mediterranean from Toulouse, France, to Oran, North Africa.

The plane left Toulouse Wednesday morning and was scheduled to land at Oran in the afternoon. It was last sighted over Valencia, Spain.

At least one plane from Algiers and a torpedo boat from Oran are searching the Mediterranean.

Passenger lists here showed 12 children—four of them babies—among the missing.

Registration Plans Move Rapidly

Soon Ready To Act In Emergency Gregg Announces

HALIFAX, Sept. 13. (CP)—Labor Minister Gregg said today that advanced planning for a national registration is going forward rapidly.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, Mr. Gregg said the registration plans are being made "so that one might be completed at short notice if the situation should demand it."

The government, he said, has acted on several important recommendations of the National Advisory Council on Manpower, which a few months ago expressed belief a national registration was not needed at this time.

Train Skilled Workers

A plan has been inaugurated to step up the trianing of skilled workers for the armed forces and for defence production. An interdepartmental committee is working out a plan whereby employers engaged in essential activities will be given preference when the men and women who apply for work at National Employment Service offices are referred to jobs.

"I can assure you too that in other departments of the government, similar efforts are being made to make certain that nothing will obstruct the fulfillment of Canada's program of preparedness," said Mr. Gregg.

He referred to the cost of living, one of the top issues at the convention, and reiterated the government's view that price and wage controls would not be effective at this time.

"It is still our belief that inflation can be stopped without a maze of government orders, an army of government officials and the resultant imposition of restrictions which bind and chafe the individual citizen, and thwart the exercise of his democratic rights and freedom," said Mr. Gregg.

Must Do Part

He added:

"These beliefs are based on the assumption that most Canadians will play their full part in the struggle. I believe they will do that.

"What is needed above all else is individual restraint and greater production. Restraint on the part of the consumers when tempted to buy non-essentials regardless of price. Restraint on the part of businessmen, so they may be slow in translating a market opportunity into an increased price for their goods. Restraint on the part of labor in its collective bargaining proceedings that it may not seek and impose all that the traffic will bear.

"In the midst of this restraint there is the need for greater efforts for more production on the part of us all."

Must Meet Demand

The major cause of inflation was the robust demand for goods and materials. It followed that

King Joins Party Shooting On Moors

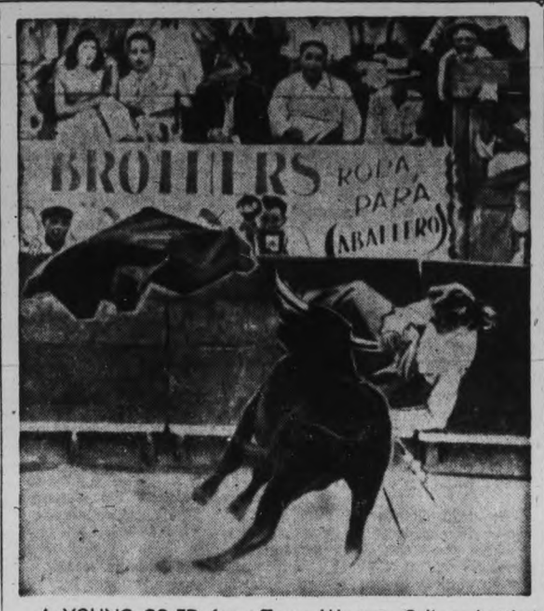
EDINBURGH, Sept. 13 (Reuters). — The King, still under treatment for lung trouble, braved rain on the moors today to join a shooting party from Balmoral Castle.

He was accompanied by the Duke of Edinburgh, husband of Princess Elizabeth, on an expedition to Gairnshiel, about four miles from Balmoral.

The King is returning to London by train Friday night to see his physicians. The Queen and Princess Margaret will travel with him.

Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh may remain in Scotland for another week. But their children, Prince Charles and Princess Anne, may travel south with the King and Queen.

Doctors believe the King's present lung condition is an aftermath of an attack of catarrhal inflammation of the lung last May. The King, 56, was then advised to take a long rest.



A YOUNG CO-ED from Texas Western College battled and killed her first bull in a Mexican ring. Thrown by the big, snorting animal, 22-year-old Patricia McCormick lost her muleta and sword, was trampled, but came back to make the kill.

Air Squadron Grounded After Crashes In Alaska

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. (AP)—A naval air squadron in Alaska has been grounded by the navy for "morale reasons" after a series of recent air crashes there. Word of the action was given to representative Hugh Mitchell (Dem. Wash.) today in a letter from Francis P. Whitehair, Under Secretary of the Navy.

Whitehair said a special board of inquiry is investigating the accidents.

Mitchell recently asked that the navy ground all navy Privateer bombers pending a check into the circumstances of four crashes in the Alaska area. The crashes claimed a total of 45 lives.

Three In One Squadron

Whitehair informed Mitchell that three of the crashes involving Privateer bombers were suffered by Patrol Squadron 9.

For "morale reasons," he said, this squadron in the Alaskan area presumably would be used to patrol the ocean area between Alaska and Russia.

In addition to the navy crashes, nine other craft have crashed or vanished in he Alaskan sector since July. Several were air force planes. The toll of dead or missing is close to 100.

Whitehair termed the navy's string of accidents "baffling" and "distressing."

That's Gratitude

NIAGARA FALLS, Sept. 13. (CP)—A week ago, lawyer Judy LaMarsh won an acquittal for her clients, Earl Gilson and George Dabald, on vagrancy charges. Wednesday Miss LaMarsh's automobile, stolen from its parking spot, was used in an abortive bank holdup at nearby St. David's. It was recovered riddled with police bullets and stained with blood. Two of three men captured and charged with attempted armed robbery were Gilson and Dabald.

Stop UK Ships Going To Iran

LONDON, Sept. 13 — (AP) — Britain today stopped British ships from delivering any cargo to Iran.

A Board of Trade spokesman disclosed vessels carrying "certain scarce materials" to Iran have been diverted.

This, he said, was in line with a British Treasury statement which earlier this week cancelled financial and economic concessions to the Tehran government.

Breakdown of the Anglo-Iranian talks for settling the oil nationalization dispute brought about the British squeeze on Iran.

Meanwhile, Iran will launch a 2,000,000,000 rial (about $60,000,000) loan drive next week in an effort to relieve economic difficulties stemming from the crisis over nationalization of oil.

This was disclosed today by Deputy Premier Hossein Fatemi, who said the money would be used to meet the government's payrolls.

Private Performance

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 13 (Reuters) — Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip may have a private ballet performance during their trip to Canada aboard the Empress of France. The Sadler's Wells Theatre Ballet Company will be aboard the Empress when she sails Sept. 25. The company is prepared, if asked, to perform. It starts its North American tour at Quebec City Oct. 5.

Advance Guard Arrives For Ottawa NATO Parley

OTTAWA, Sept. 13 (CP)—By train and by plane, in steadily increasing numbers, representatives of foreign countries are arriving for meetings of the 12-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Some of the advance guard has already arrived and the flow of delegates will continue until shortly before the meetings open Saturday at 12.30 pm EDT.

One of the leading delegates scheduled to arrive today is Hon. Paul Van Zeeland, Belgium's foreign minister and president of the NATO council. The portly, handsome Belgian will preside at the historic Ottawa meetings, called to consider ways of improving the defences of Europe and the economic relations of the treaty nations.

Mr. Van Zeeland, accompanied by the Belgium delegation, is due to arrive by air at 3:50 pm EDT. He will be followed by delegations from Luxembourg and Denmark.

Among the first delegations to arrive was one from Portugal, headed by P. Cunha, minister of foreign affairs.

The meetings, due to continue to Sept. 20 are to be held in the closely-guarded centre block of the parliament buildings where unprecedented security arrangements have been put in force. No one without a pass is allowed to enter the buildings. All except the formal opening meeting will be in private.

The United Kingdom delegation, headed by Rt. Hon. Herbert Morrison, and the Italian delegation, headed by Prime Minister Gasperi, are expected to arrive Friday. No time has been set yet for the arrival of Foreign Minister Schuman of France.

State Secretary Acheson of United States is due to arrive Saturday shortly before the meetings start.

Among other countries to be represented are Holland, Norway and Iceland.

The Canadian delegation will consist of External Affairs Minister Pearson, Defence Minister Claxton and Finance Minister Abbott.

Army Experts Positive Blast Set

Find Wire Strands Around Girder In Pile of Debris

THREE RIVERS, Que., Sept. 13. (CP)—Two Canadian Army engineering experts said today they believe strands of wire around a section of a steel girder of the Duplessis bridge were used to set off an explosion that caused its collapse.

Major-General H. Kennedy, Federal Government engineering consultant, and Brig. D. K. Black told a two-man commission investigating the collapse of the bridge last Jan. 31 that some "external force" was responsible for the tragedy. Four persons lost their lives while crossing the St. Maurice River span and another man was drowned when the tractor he was using to recover a submerged automobile crashed through the ice.

The Army officers examined the debris of the $3,500,000 structure before testifying. Major-General Kennedy said he estimated that 25 pounds of high explosives were used to cause the collapse. Brigadier Black said he considered that 10 pounds of explosive would have been sufficient to crack the steel.

Chose Best Spot

Both said that "no better place could have been chosen for the explosion" than where it was placed near pillar No. 2 of the structure. This spot was readily accessible for such an act they said.

Before today's session reconvened Judge Rene Lippe and Commissioner Lucien Dansereau, appointed by the provincial government to head the inquiry, examined a piece of steel to which a strand of wire was attached. They apparently were checking theories advanced by Premier Duplessis and a Dominion Bridge Company engineer that sabotage caused the bridge failure.

Robert Eadie, the Dominion Bridge Company chief engineer last week suggested that burns on a section of a steel girder might have been caused by explosives.

The inquiry board made a special visit to the site where debris from the $3,500,000 bridge has been stored.

The hearing is continuing.

July Exports Climb Sharply

OTTAWA, Sept. 13 (CP). — A sharp climb in sales to Britain and the United States boosted Canada's total exports in July to a record $374,500,000 the Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday.

Shipments to the US jumped almost $50,000,000 to $203,900,000 from $169,600,000. Exports to Britain doubled to $74,700,000 from $35,200,000.

This bright turn in Canada's foreign trade picture provided a 47.6 per cent gain over last year's $253,700,000 worth of exports and helped boost the seven-month total for 1951 to $2,114,700,000 — a half billion dollar increase from $1,684,300,000 last year.

It was the first surplus in a six-month pattern of trading deficits.

Danger Of Inflation Topic At NATO Talks

OTTAWA, Sept. 13 (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said today there is "a very real feeling" that inflation has become as dangerous to the western powers as bombs could be.

For that reason, he told a press conference, the relationship between rearmament and the economies of the free nations will be a major subject of discussion at the Atlantic Pact Council meeting starting here Saturday.

He indicated that some sort of resolution, possibly reaffirming the 12 nations' faith in creating a full-fledged Atlantic community, will likely emerge from a meeting that will draw to Ottawa 29 cabinet ministers, including the prime ministers of Italy and Luxembourg.

Bar Czech Flights In Germany

Allied Officials Give No Reason For Ban On Planes

FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 13. (AP) — The Allied High Commission has barred all Czech airline flights across west Germany, High Commission officials disclosed today.

Officials gave no reason for the action.

An American official said the United States, Britain and France had concurred in the joint action, effective last Tuesday midnight.

Asked whether the decision had anything to do with the case of William Oatis, AP correspondent, sentenced to jail by the Czechoslovaks on spy charges, he answered "no comment."

The US Congress has voted to recommend that commercial relations with Czechoslovakia be severed until Oatis is freed.

Determined To Act

President Truman was quoted Sept. 1 as saying he was "determined to take whatever measures are necessary" to obtain Oatis' release. He told a press conference that the Oatis case would never be closed until Oatis is out of jail. He also told the Czech Ambassador that Oatis' imprisonment was a hindrance to better US-Czech relations.

The Ambassador, Vladimir Prochazka, told reporters that his government will not yield to American economic, political or "propaganda" pressure.

Last December, the US High Commission restricted Czechoslovak airline flights across the American zone of Germany. The action was taken after numerous violations of flight regulations by Czechoslovak planes carrying delegates to a "peace conference" in Warsaw.

However, there have been no recent charges of any further violation which could account for the ban announced today.

Stock Market Prices Climb Steadily

TORONTO, Sept. 13 (CP). — Stock market prices today continued a steady climb to a record high in early afternoon dealings. Trading continued unusually heavy.

Agricultures and miscellaneous industrials showed the best gains while papers, manufacturing and retail stores had a majority of advances. Utilities, steels, liquors, refining oils, banks and textiles turned mixed. Constructions and foods weakened.

Western oils gained steadily. By 1 p.m. the exchange's index had posted three record highs. Heavy selected buying boosted a wide list of issues. Central Explorers, Anglo-Canadian, Federal Petroleum, Jupiter, Pan Western and Omnitrans added up to about 25 cents. Calgary and Edmonton, Devon-Leduc and Model Oil eased.

Golds dipped slightly. Profit-taking skimmed gains from many issues after yesterday's rapid climb. Senior issues were active. Five issues recorded gains up to 50 cents and an equal number weakened moderately. Juniors, prospects and holding companies were mixed.

Base metals showed little trend. Trading was heavy in a scattered list of issues. Barvue, Consolidated Smelters and Waite Amulet edged higher while Noranda and United Keno Hill eased.

Fear Of Foul Play Spurs Police Search

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 13 (CP). —Spurred by the family's fears of foul play, police throughout the province Wednesday were put on the alert over the disappearance Saturday night of John Ross Elgie, 28, Deputy-Reeve of West Nissouri Township.

His sister, Mrs. Freeman Brock, said, "We are terribly worried for fear something has happened to him. He sometimes carries fair sums of money and there is a rumor circulating that he had quite a bit Saturday night."

Other members of the family said he sometimes carried large sums of money in his pocket and that this might be known.

Hasty-Pees Plan Annual Reunion

Arrangements for the seventh annual reunion of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment October 6-7 in Belleville have been completed.

The reunion was originally planned for Picton but repair work at the Picton armouries forced the change to Belleville's Bridge Street armouries.

Registration will be held at the armouries on Saturday, October 6, followed by a banquet at the Moose Lodge club rooms.

After the dinner, former regimental padre the Hon. Major A. Goforth will show motion pictures of the battlefields and cemeteries in Europe taken during a recent visit.

On Sunday, October 7, the regiment will parade to the Station Street cenotaph for the memorial service at 2 p.m.

A draw, similar to last year's, will again be conducted to raise $1,000 for the regimental association scholarship which was inaugurated to provide for financial assistance for educational purposes of children of Hasty-Pees killed in action or died of wounds.

After the reunion the annual meeting will be held to elect officers.

Car Hits Storm Drain Driver Is Bruised

Donald Crompton, RR 4, Peterborough, suffered a bumped forehead and bruises Wednesday night when his small, English car hit a projecting storm drain on the section of Lock St. that is being repaired.

Crompton was driving south on Lock St., looking for a house address. The car's radiator was broken and the front damaged. Constable D. M. Stark investigated.

Tour Of Ganaraska Featured In Field Day

A tour of the Ganaraska forest area is being arranged for next Tuesday by Zone 4 of the Ontario Conservation and Reforestation Association. The annual meeting of the Zone will be combined with the field day of the Ganaraska River Conservation Authority.

Bicycles Tangle As Boys Fall On Hill

Two boys suffered cut elbows and bruises when they fell from their bicycles on Murray St. east of Monaghan Rd. Wednesday night.

Rendell Mesley, 499 Murray St. and Lavern Golloher, 498 Murray St., were the boys.

Both were riding down the steep hill east of Monaghan Rd. when Mesley fell. Golloher, who was in the lead, turned around to see what had hapened. He ran head-on into a tree. Constable D. M. Stark investigated.

Failed To Obay Traffic Light Fined $5, Costs

Wilbert Macklin of Fenella today was fined $5 and $16 costs when he was convicted of failing to stop for a traffic light.

The charge arose out of an accident June 28 in which Alfred Hawkins, 705 Orpington Rd., lost his left eye when his head hit the handle of a spotlight on his car.

Hawkins testified he was driving south on Park St., and as he approached Lansdowne St., noticed the traffic light was in his favor. He slowed down, looked west and was about to look east as he started into the intersection when the collision occurred.

Had Green Light

Leonard Dunstan, 740 Hurley St., said he saw the accident from a nearby factory where he is employed. He testified the lights were in Hawkins' favor.

Constable Harold Andrew told court he interviewed Macklin following the accident, and Macklin said he hadn't noticed whether the light controlling west-bound traffic was red or green.

Defence counsel Alex Elliott argued that no evidence had been presented to show whether the lights were similar to those required by the Highway Traffic Act. The Act stipulates traffic control lights must be on a post, at least nine feet from the ground and must consist of red, amber and green lighting.

Magistrate E. A. Gee of Lindsay said he felt the crown had made a prima facie case; that Mr. Elliott should put the accused on his defence.

"You don't suppose the city would allow a green light to show both ways?" his worship asked. Mr. Elliott said no but suggested no evidence had been entered to show there was any light controlling west-bound traffic.

Magistrate Gee referred him to the accused's statement to the officer, and said it could be inferred from that, that there was a light affecting west-bound traffic.

Lovett Begins Defence Job

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP) —Robert A. Lovett began today to "get on with the job" of United States secretary of defence, which he inherited from his partner in government service, George C. Marshall.

Because the two men—the 56-year-old banker and the 70-year-old general—had worked together so long, it seemed probable the policies and personnel of the vast military establishment would undergo little change.

Lovett, talking to reporters after President Truman had announced Marshall's resignation, said the general wanted no fuss about his leaving and that "we get on with the job."

"That we will do," said Lovett.

Senate leaders pushed aside routine rules in an effort to speed the necessary confirmation of the appointment. Generally, both Republicans and Democrats lauded Lovett.

inflation could be stopped if the demand were met.

"It can be met if we can increase our production to the point where the needs of everyday life are satisfied," said Mr. Gregg. "Perhaps it cannot be done. I think it can be done, and I'll tell you why I think that way — we have accomplished miracles of production before.

"In the Second World War, this country did more than anyone dreamed it could. There is no reason why we cannot do it again even though there does not exist the patriotic fervor of all-out war."

Big Three Push Work On Plan For W. Germany

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP) —The Big Three foreign ministers hoped today to wrap up by nightfall a "contract" proposal to bring West Germany into the western defence line-up.

The way was cleared Wednesday night when State Secretary Dean Acheson and the British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison, pledged support to a companion plan, devised by France, to make use of German troops in a European army.

Pressing for a wind-up of their conference before Friday, Acheson, Morrison and Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France called a morning session to iron out their remaining differences.

The latest warning from Moscow against rearming the Germans, sounded Wednesday in a Soviet note to France, was ignored.

Some details of the political settlement will be left for the Allied High Commissioners to negotiate with the Bonn (Western German) government, but the outlines already have been accepted by the three powers.

Left For Consideration

Left for consideration by the Big Three were these other issues: US plans to set up military bases in Spain, Italy's plea for revision of the peace treaty which limits Italian armed forces, the threat of Red China and other Far East problems, and joint action to protect western nationals behind the Iron Curtain.

The "contractual arrangement" to be offered Bonn is a substitute for a formal peace treaty such as was signed with Japan. It gives West Germany virtually complete sovereignty, abolishes the Allied High Commission with its veto powers, and changes the occupation armies into defence forces. Bonn will be expected to contribute troops to the European army.

Communist Police Kidnap Inspector

BERLIN, Sept. 13 — (AP). — East Berlin Communist police, guarding the street barriers isolating the Soviet sector from the West, today kidnapped a West Berlin policeman on the sector border.

West Berlin police headquarters said inspector Leopold Wittke was examining a new Communist barricade when he was dragged off into the Soviet sector.

The new barrier, erected during the night, reduced to 26 the number of streets still open for East-West crossing within the city.

West Berlin authorities believe the Communist aim is to channel traffic over a few streets so they can control it easily. The Reds claim that "smugglers" have been hauling raw materials and valuable scrap metal out of their zone to West Berlin.

Authorize Japan To Discuss Treaties

TOKYO, Sept. 13 —(AP)— The Allied occupying powers today granted Japan broad authority to negotiate directly with foreign diplomatic missions here.

A Japanese ministry of foreign affairs announcement said the grant has made it possible "for problems arising between various foreign countries and Japan to be made subjects of direct discussion in Toyko." It added:

"Except for the fact that agreements or treaties with foreign powers must be submitted to general headquarters for prior approval, Japan has fully recovered her right to negotiate with other countries."

The order excludes the Soviet Union, which has no diplomatic mission here.

The countries with which Japan is authorized to negotiate are:

Canada, Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Nationalist China Denmark, France, India, Indonesia Italy, South Korea, the Netherlands, Norway, Peru, the Philippines, Portugal, Spain Sweden, Switzerland, Thailand, Turkey, United Kingdom and Uruguay.

Winnipeg Loses Title Jaywalkers' Paradise

WINNIPEG, Sept. 13 (CP). — Winnipeg apparently has lost its title of "Jaywalkers' Paradise."

A survey recently completed by the City Traffic Department shows that for every 10 jaywalkers a year ago, there is only one today.

Winnipeg's pedestrian control by-law went into effect last May 12. Jaywalkers are subject to fines up to $50.

In 1950, 62.7 per cent of pedestrians observed traffic lights. This year, the percentage has risen to 96.1.

Human Barrier May Halt Princess' Car

DUNCAN, BC, Sept. 13 (CP)— A human barrier may block the Royal procession of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip here unless arrangements are made for a stop in Duncan.

"The people of Duncan are furious enough to form a human barrier across the island highway to stop the Royal couple," said Mayor J. C. Wragg Wednesday.

The procession is scheduled to motor from Victoria to Nanaimo.

Protest has been made to the provincial committee in charge of arrangements, and Mayor Wragg said:

"The people who produce the country's wealth should be given a chance to see them. I believe the Royal couple are more interested in seeing the common people than they are in mixing with politicians in Victoria."

Direct Appeal

He said he may appeal directly to Princess Elizabeth before the Royal visit if no official stop is scheduled.

Government and police authorities had no comment except to say that blocking a public highway is illegal.

Duncan, centre of Cowichan valley where many Old Country people live, is 40 miles north of Victoria.

Tension Mounts On Picket Line

HAMILTON, Sept. 13 (CP). — Tension increased in the picket lines of striking Tuckett Tobacco Company employees today as the police escorted office workers through the company gates. There were no incidents reported.

The office staff had embarked in cars at Queen and York Streets this morning and were driven through the picket lines under the eye of four police squad cars. Pickets said that police had checked the line the previous night.

Although no comment came from the company, the union said that tightening of picket lines had been responsible for the police escort.

Meanwhile John Cleland, president of Local 269, Tobacco Workers International Union, prepared to leave for Montreal where a joint policy meeting of 3,000 striking Imperial Tobacco employees is set for Friday. The head of the Hamilton Tobacco Local was hopeful that the talks would provide a key to end the five-week-old strike.

Cost Of School For Cobourg Set At $419,000

COBOURG, Sept. 13 (ENS)—The proposed new east end school, for which purchase of a site for $10,000 has been authorized by a by-law, will cost $419,000, it was revealed at the meeting of the public school board. The Department of Education has given the green light to this outlay but the final consent has to come from either the town council or by a vote of the people in December. Most likely the voters will be asked to make the decision.

Plans for the new school call for a very modern building containing 14 classrooms, a kindergarten, a playroom and an assembly hall. Right now the public school kindergarten is located in St. Peter's Anglican Sunday School hall. Last year the cost was figured at $350,000 but delays have retarded the project and the price has gone up in the interim.

Tonight the architect, John Parkin of Toronto, will meet with the school board to go over the plans in order that everything will be ready to roll once the project is sanctioned by either the town council or a vote of the people.

The increase of 83 in the enrolment for the fall term emphasizes the crowded condition of the present school, it was pointed out by the principal, Grant Sine. Mr. Sine told the meeting that the enrolment last week when school opened was 822 pupils. Average number of pupils per room is 38, which is eight more than the normal and recommended figure. In fact one class has 47 pupils in it, and the heavy enrolment will place a special burden on the teaching staff, Mr. Sine said.

A claim in connection with an accident on a township road was referred to the solicitor and the insurance company, and a complaint regarding an assessment was referred to the solicitor and assessor.

After passing the pay sheet, the council adjourned until October 2.

590 Students Enrolled East Durham Area

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 13 — (ENS). — School bus routes were discussed at the regular meeting of the East Northumberland District High School Board, held in Colborne.

Chairman H. N. Haggarty presided. Other members present included A. K. Loucks, Douglas McMaster, A. E. Hennessey, Fred Spence, Andrew Kemp, W. O. Graham, Gordon McCubbin, Vincent Farrell, D. H. Meyers, and W. Roy Loucks.

Principals of schools within the district reported on their respective schools, indicating their requests and showing the enrollment as of the start of the term. These are: Campbellford 251, Brighton 110, Colborne 97, Warkworth 80, Wooler 52, or a total of 590 pupils, an increase of 34 over the corresponding date in 1950.

Accounts totalling $4,096.96 were passed for payment.

The board decided to request advice from the Department of Education concerning the board's liability as it would apply to passengers other than school pupils riding on a chartered school bus.

Change Route

It was decided to ask one of the bus operators, Kenneth Ames of Campbellford, to travel a slightly different route. It is the wish of the board that he travel from Stanwood to Allan's Mills, then south past Union School, thence to Petherick's School, to Shea's School, and on to Campbellford, A second route will be established to serve adequately the remaining schools in Seymour East.

William Dunk and Mrs. Cope of Seymour East requested that the board give attention to transportation provided for pupils of USS 2 and 3. A letter, signed by a number of residents of Seymour East, wherein complaints were brought to the attention of the board, was presented. It is hoped the change of bus routes will straighten out this transportation problem.

A motion by D. H. Meyers, seconded by Mr. Kemp, was carried that all bus owners be requested to file with the board copies of their insurance covering transportation of pupils.

The next meeting will be held in the Warkworth High School on October 5.

The Resignation Of General Marshall

General George C. Marshall has served his country well, and his name will not quickly disappear from history. He is a man of stable vision and high sense of duty. To believe that a soldier of exalted rank is unsuitable to represent his people in diplomatic and political spheres because basically he is a soldier, is a nonsensical belief, for any man who reaches General Field Officer rank must do it by virtue of his diplomatic and political skill. General Eisennower is the supreme example. General Eisenhower became commander of 'Overlord'—the vast military plan and alignment of armies which ended the Second World War in Europe—not because of his success as a campaigner nor his skill as a military strategist, nor his renown as an army general in the field, but because of his ability to organize and to get along with his peers and inferiors. (His position during the last war and in the post-war period also owes much to his being an American. By virtue of American industrial and military power, an American had to command both then and now.) General Eisenhower is the top jewel in the managerial revolution. General Marshall, his national superior, was the Field Marshal of the neo-Roman civilization which the United States has evolved and which is encompassing the earth.

* * *

General Marshall's work is done, but not the task to which the United States was set by the forces of history. General Marshall is seventy. The sharpest indication of the nature of the American task and position in world power politics has been given by his resignation, and the American Government's acceptance of it.

* * *

Had there been any foreseeable end to the situation which brought on the Korean war, as there was to an outright Second World War, General Marshall would not have resigned as Secretary of Defence while the Korean War was still being waged. General Marshall resigned at the age of seventy because no end can be put to the condition which sent American and Chinese troops into Korea, fighting for land which is of little intrinsic value and in the name of a people who are being wiped out by the war. His resignation shows that the United States executive has become accustomed to national insecurity and to sparring indefinitely and inconclusively with ideological and material forces which are opposed to it. General Marshall's resignation and the American acceptance of it recognize that the burden and cares of power which the U.S.A. now has stretch beyond the life of one man. The Roman Pro-Consul, aged seventy, must sometime be replaced, and there are others to take his place.

* * *

General Marshall's retirement is actually a sign of buoyancy in the West. The West, under the American leadership, must feel confident in its powers to permit a man of General Marshall's experience and stature to resign. And it must feel that it has the experience and the replacement leaders to ensure the future in policy and execution. By "the West" we mean the United States, for the American Republic now holds beyond all question the authority and power to rule for all Western nations, and to dominate the world.

* * *

Other nations of the West, apart from the United States may feel some relief that General Marshall has resigned. While they will not and could not question his ability nor his capacity to sublimate his military training to civilian responsibilities, the General's departure from policy and direction may mean that the United States will begin to divest itself of its military leadership. Whatever their breadth of view and liberality of spirit, military men are military men; by instinct, training and experience they are divorced from civilian life. History teaches that they do not make the best diplomats and statesmen. Since the war the United States government has been surrounded and impregnated by military figures. Granted some of them have been giants—but their field is the field of strategy and tactics, not the meadows on which peace on earth is achieved nor even Fields of the Cloth of Gold.

"Man is in his prime at 33" says a contemporary, quoting someone whom it describes as 'a psychologist'. Phooey! Man is in his prime when he reaches his prime, if he has a prime, which is not always the case. Many men are like 1951 tomatoes—green and decayed at once.

Peterborough's Legal Clinic

On this page today is a letter from an old Peterborough resident who in a very personal way feels that justice has not been done by him. His wife suffered injuries from a fall on a down-town sidewalk which was in imperfect condition. He had expected that the city, insured against accidents, would recompense him for the monetary loss his family budget suffered as a result of the minor accident.

We do not pretend to judge the merits of the case and we think that the city can assume only limited liability in such instances; older people are prone to be tripped up by obstacles which younger ones take in their stride, and even a smooth hardwood floor in a quiet home can become a menace. But this man, a conscientious citizen, feels that the city through its insurance company has not dealt justice.

The way to remedy injustice is through the courts, but legal advice and court proceedings are outside the pale of many Peterborough people, partly because of their fear of costs. Here is an instance in which the Legal Aid Clinic which the Law Society of Peterborough is establishing, could be a solace, if not a positive help.

Peterborough lawyers have been and continue to be generous in their help to diffident, questioning people whose means and disposition ordinarily preclude their recourse to law. Peterborough lawyers do not turn a person away because they might be unable to collect fees. They have a praiseworthy sense of their professional obligations and their confraternity with other citizens. This sense has lead them to establish a Legal Aid Clinic. In the present instance, the Legal Aid Clinic could present an instrument of consultation available without fear or favour or charity. It could explain the situation (that municipal insurance does not cover minor gaps in street paving) and advise whether the client should accept the fortunes of age and municipal paving as an act of God or the design of circumstances to be compensated for in dollars and cents.

The Legal Aid Clinic is not yet organized, although its operation was expected to begin the first of this month. We hope that it will soon become a reality and the scope of its services made known.

"Fantastic In Their Operation"

When President Truman addressed U.S. Democratic Party leaders in San Francisco a week ago, he made some rather vague but nevertheless remarkable statements about new weapons now under construction in the United States. He said it was "fantastic what can happen with the use of the new weapons . . . not only the one which we all fear the most, but . . . weapons which are fantastic in their operation." He added the hope that "we will never have to use them."

We do not know whether to be annoyed or pleased because Mr. Truman did not go into greater detail. Incidentally, he is not the first prominent American to mention the existence of these "fantastic" weapons, but the other speakers have been just as vague. It would be interesting to know just how these weapons qualify to be rated as fantastic as atomic weapons—which appears to be what Mr. Truman intimated—but perhaps more detailed information would lead to even greater fear than there is today that man is travelling still farther along a road which may lead to the virtual destruction of humankind.

Many thought that the limit of the fantastic had been reached when a single bomb proved capable of destroying an entire city and killing its inhabitants. Then, when more destructive bombs were made, and one which would multiply their effect many times was predicted, there was certainty that nothing more fantastic could be devised, especially when the combination of atomic weapon and guided missile was forecast.

However, just as subsequent events confounded those who jeered at the prophetic writing of Jules Verne, weapons of the future may confound those who today ridicule the incredible weapons with which science fiction writers arm their heroes and villains. This generation may live to see all kinds of blasters, disintegrators, immobilizers, ray-guns and unbelievably deadly gases. For while the new weapons may not yet exist, research on them is no fantasy. Last Friday the United States Senate voted to give the Department of Defence five billion dollars and a free hand in developing these new weapons and building up air power to carry some of them. If their efforts are thoroughly successful, Professor Einstein's prophecy that a fourth world war would be fought with primitive weapons might be fulfilled some day.

Real Sportsmen: No Penalties

By BON VIVANT
(in Wolverhampton, England)

BY the exercise of some drag with a gentleman of my acquaintance I procured two tickets permitting me to sit down, while witnessing a soccer match between the Wolverhampton Wolves and the Arsenal of London. For the record Wolverthampton won 2 goals to 1. Arsenal, however, were without the services of one of their star men for the final thirty minutes of play.

As a result of this experience I can only express the greatest admiration for English players, and those who pay admission to watch them. There was not a penalty in the game. At no time did I hear any of the 50,000 people who attended express a desire to kill the umpire. The teams fielded eleven men each at the kick-off. Twenty-one of the same men were still playing when the final whistle blew. The absentee, Forbes of Arsenal, went out of the game after fifteen minutes of the second period with a leg injury.

* * *

IN the event you haven't come across soccer, or Association Football, to give the game its official designation, here it is in capsule form. Each team tries, by use of the feet, head or any part of the body except the hands, to propel a spheroid twenty-seven inches in circumference, and sixteen ounces in weight, with a leather cover and a rubber bladder filled with wind, into the opponent's goal. The goalie is the only player allowed to use his hands, and does not, as I had thought, lounge against a goal post until called upon to stop one of the other fellows from kicking the ball into his net. He takes an active part in the game, within certain prescribed areas around his goal. He takes passes from his own men, and is on the alert when a team-mate is hard pressed, and wants the ball well and truly hoofed down the field into enemy territory. The goalie is a bit of a hero, and the only player I saw asked for autographs.

* * *

SOCCER is fast. Not quite so fast as ice hockey, but much faster than baseball, rugby, duck-on-the-rock or numbley-peg. No substitutes are allowed, the players going the full hour and thirty minutes. Injuries leave the team short a man or men and they just do the best they can.

The teams I saw play are in the first division, which means the cream of the soccer crop. The players get an average of £7 per week, with a £2 bonus for a win and a £1 bonus for a draw. Nohing is paid for defeats. I understand many of the clubs invest their surpluses in house properties, and these are rented to members of the team, but, as you can plainly see, it is not a highly paid form of employment. The records fail to name any soccer players who died rich as the result of an educated toe.

* * *

AS a sitting down patron I had excellent seats at the half mark of the field. It was a lovely day, but I was in a covered stand, just in case. For all this I paid, for two seats, the grand sum of $1.50. I made a mental comparison of what similar seats would cost me at a Big Four match and found I had saved a substantial sum.

* * *

THE attendance figures were given as 50,000. Of this number perhaps 10,000 had seats. The other 40,000 stood in the rush sections at either end of the field and along one side. The Englishman loves soccer. If he didn't he wouldn't stand for two or three hours in a queue to get tickets and then stand for another two hours while the game is played.

* * *

IN England members of the St. John Ambulance Brigade attend all public functions, and four of them were on hand for the game. They dealt with those who fainted, as a number did, and also gave first aid to injured players. This work is entirely voluntary, although the four men on duty did see the game when not engaged in tending to the fallen. Maybe a free ticket to the game was all the reward they wanted, but they certainly earned their money.

* * *

THE attitude of the crowd was impressive. They were good natured and orderly, and not above giving the Arsenal team credit and cheers for an outstanding bit of play. Some of the experts sitting around me did question, among themselves, certain rulings of the umpires on off-sides. I learned, however, that the off-side rule, like many off-side rules, depends upon who is interpreting it. Even though my group of experts disagreed, they didn't rise up and tell the chief umpire how to run the game, nor did they demand his head on a charger.

When it came time to leave the grounds 50,000 people cleared the place in about 15 minutes. There was no pushing, hauling or shoving, and women were allowed first place. Although everyone was anxious for tea, the herd instinct to trample underfoot the women and children was missing.

* * *

THE players were real sportsmen. Although not a game of heavy bodily contact, like rugby, the players weren't afraid to charge in when required. When one was knocked down it wasn't unusual to see his opponent give him a hand up. This I must see sometime in professional hockey. Even a reputed "dirty player" failed to suffer for his alleged sins by ganging attacks.

Forbes, the Arsenal player who went out of the game with an injury, got just as much sympathy from the Wolves as he did from his team-mates. He was lustily cheered by the crowd when carried from the field. Apparently English soccer fans want the home team to win, but primarily they paid their money to see a contest of skill and stamina between two crack outfits. They genuinely regretted the injury to Forbes. It meant his teammates would play a defensive game, thereby slowing down the action and detracting from the interest.

* * *

THIS may explain why English teams and individual contestants do not show up in the winning column as frequently as representatives from other nations. The Englishman likes to win, make no mistake about that, but he likes equally to compete and enjoy a stirring contest. His supporters seem to feel the same way. Between them they make sport excellent entertainment and an enjoyable pastime, free of the blood lust which sprinkles the field with pop bottles and reduces the goal posts to mere hunks of wood to be torn from the ground and smashed.

THIRD TIME OF ASKING

"If you know any just cause or impediment," said the vicar to the telephone operator, "why I should not have this number, you are asked to declare it. This is the third time of asking."

FROM HERE TO ETERNITY?

The Three Chief British Delegates

(Ed. Note: When the Council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meets in Ottawa on Saturday, the British delegation will be headed by three senior Cabinet Ministers: the Secretary of State for Foregin Affairs; the Minister of Defence and the Chancellor of the Exchequer. Through the courtesy of the United Kingdom Information Office we herewith give biographical sketches of these three distinguished British ministers.)

MR. Emanuel Shinwell was born in London, England, on October 18th, 1884. His family's subsequent moves from London to South Shields, Tyneside and Clydeside, brought him into touch with the sea, and he ran away from home and tried to join the Navy, but was sent back because he could not produce the necessary written parental consent.

Mr. Shinwell then entered the clothing trade, and worked for some years as a tailor's machinist. Later, he found work in the clothing factory of the Scottish Co-operative Society and, by the age of 26, was the workers' representative on the newly established Trade Board. Meanwhile, he had become a delegate to the Glasgow Trades Council (a regional trades union grouping) of which he eventually became Chairman.

He began to spend much of his spare time at political meetings and became expert on labour problems. During World War I he was called in by the U.K. Government for advice on shipping labour problems—his interest in the sea and the life of sailors had persisted. Later, Mr. Shinwell joined the British Seafarers' Union and became national organizer of the Marine Workers Union.

Mr. Shinwell was, for seven years (1916-1923) a member of the Glasgow City Council. Elected to Parliament in 1922 as Labour member for Linlithgow, he entered the first Labour Government in 1924 as Parliamentary Secretary to the Department of Mines.

Losing his Parliamentary seat in the 1924 general election, he was re-elected for Linlithgow in a by-election in April, 1928, and again in November, 1929. In the second Labour Government of 1929 he had his first experience of the workings of the War Office, where, for twelve months, he was Financial Secretary; then, in 1930, he returned to his old Department (Mines) after Ministerial changes.

He lost his seat once again in the 1931 election, and worked for the next four years as a Labour Party propagandist, defeating Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald in the Seaham Division of Durham in 1935, a riding which he held until its reconstitution in 1950.

After Labour's return to power in the general election of 1945, Mr. Shinwell became Minister of Fuel and Power, and was in charge of Labour's first industrial nationalization projects of coal and electricity. Under his supervision a big hydro development scheme was started in Scotland. In October, 1947, he left the Ministry of Fuel and Power and returned to the War Office as Secretary of State for War.

In the general election of 1950, Mr. Shinwell was returned for the new riding of Easington, Durham, (incorporating much of his old Seaham riding) by a majority of 29,395 over his Conservative opponent. He became Minister of Defence in Mr. Attlee's second Labour Government.

THE RT. HON. H. T. N. GAITSKELL

The Rt. Hon. Hugh Todd Naylor Gaitskell, P.C., C.B.E., M.P. Chancellor of the Exchequer, was born in London, England, on April 9th, 1906. His father, Arthur, whose family originally came from Cumberland, was in the Indian Civil Service. His mother is Scottish and the daughter of a former British Consul-General in Shanghai.

Mr. Gaitskell was educated at Winchester and New College, Oxford. His interest at an early age in international affairs was manifested in the formation by him of a branch of the League of Nations at Winchester.

On leaving Oxford, where he got a first in philosophy, politics and economics, he took a post in the Department of Adult Education, at University College, Nottingham. This meant lecturing to audiences, chiefly miners, in the Nottinghamshire and Derby coalfield and Mr. Gaitskell has since maintained his contacts with some of his former students and has met them again during recent visits to this coalfield.

In 1928, Mr. Gaitskell accepted an appointment at University College, London, in the Department of Economics, and remained at the college for the next eleven years, becoming, in 1938, head of the Department of Economics and a Reader in Political Economy at London University. In 1933-34 he held a Rockefeller Scholarship and spent a year studying in Vienna.

Meanwhile he had entered more definitely on a political career. After taking part as a speaker, both in the 1929 and 1931 elections, he was adopted as prospective Labour candidate at Chatham in 1932, but was defeated in the 1935 election. In the autumn of 1937, he was adopted as prospective candidate at South Leeds, the riding which he now represents.

On the outbreak of war, he joined the staff of the Ministry of Economic Warfare. After about three months in the Intelligence Department dealing with neutral countries, where he was mostly concerned with the negotiations of War Trade Agreements with Belgium and Holland, he became head of the German Intelligence Section. Six months later he became Principal Private Secretary to the then Minister of Economic Warfare, Mr. Hugh Dalton.

In February, 1942, when Mr. Dalton went to the Board of Trade, Mr. Gaitskell accompanied him as his Personal Assistant. His duties were almost entirely connected with the coal problem and with the coal rationing scheme and the system of control which was eventually established. He was later in charge of price control, retail trade licensing, cinematograph films and plans for the disposal of Government surplus stores.

Mr. Gaitskell was made C.B.E. in the Birthday Honours of 1945. He resigned from the Board of Trade at the General Election of 1945 and was returned for South Leeds. He became Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Fuel and Power in May, 1946, and Minister of Fuel and Power in October 1947. He was made a Privy Councillor in 1947.

At the General Election of 1950 he was again returned for Leeds South and became Minister of State for Economic Affairs in the second Attlee Government. On the resignation, through ill health, of Sir Stafford Cripps in October, 1950, Mr. Gaitskell became Chancellor of the Exchequer. The announcement of his appointment as Chancellor came just after he had visited Ottawa for informal discussions with the Canadian Government on economic problems.

Mr. Gaitskell was married in 1937, and has two daughters aged 11 and 8. He is fond of walking and gardening and manages the fairly large garden at his home in the London suburb of Hampstead.

THE RT. HON. HERBERT STANLEY MORRISON

Herbert Morrison was born in Brixton, London, England, on 3rd January, 1888, the seventh and youngest child of Henry and Priscella Morrison. His father was a London police constable.

The boy attended local elementary schools, leaving at 14 to take a job as delivery boy, next as store clerk and then as telephone operator, but his day-time activities interested him far less than politics and municipal government, which he studied in the evenings.

He joined the then Independent Labour Party, led by the social reformer Keir Hardie, began to write articles and, in 1913, joined the staff of the Party's paper "The Daily Citizen" as Deputy Circulation Manager. In 1915 Morrison was appointed part-time Secretary to the newly-formed London Labour Party at a salary of £1 ($3 at present exchange) a week, and in 1919 became full-time Secretary—an office he retained until 1940.

In World War I he preferred to declare himself a conscientious objector and went to work on a farm rather than secure exemption on medical grounds (he lost an eye in an accident in early childhood).

Though immersed in national problems and the furtherance of the aims of the Labour Party Herbert Morrison had not lost his first interest in local affairs and in 1920 he was elected Mayor of the London Borough of Hackney. During his term as Mayor he went with Prime Minister Lloyd George to Scotland to enquire into the conditions of the unemployed.

In 1922, he was elected for the first time to the London County Council, Britain's greatest municipal authority, and served continuously on the Council until 1945 (he was its Leader from 1934 to 1940).

Side by side with his municipal career went his political activities. In 1920 Morrison was elected to the National Executive Committee of the Labour Party and has remained on the Committee continuously ever since. (In 1928-29 he was its Chairman). In 1923 he was elected to Parliament as Member for the London riding of South Hackney and represented the area in 1923-24, 1929-31 and 1935-45. From 1945-50 he represented the London Riding of East Lewisham and in 1950 was returned for South Lewisham.

In Ramsay MacDonald's Labour Government of 1929, Morrison was appointed Minister of Transport, a position he held until the fall of the Government in 1931. During his period of office he introduced the London Passenger Transport Bill which unified the street-car and subway services of London into a public utility run by the London Passenger Transport Board.

When Mr. Churchill formed his wartime Coalition Administration in 1940, Mr. Morrison joined it as Minister of Supply, and soon became Home Secretary and Minister of Home Security. He was made Chairman of the Civil Defence Committee of the War Cabinet, was responsible for the provision of a special home air-raid shelter (the "Morrison" shelter), organized Britain's National Fire Service and, later, planned special civil defence measures against flying bombs and rockets. Also his responsibility as Home Secretary were reforms in penal administration, the administration of defence regulations against fifth column activity, workmen's compensation, and electoral reform.

In the first Attlee Government of 1945, Mr. Morrison was apopinted Lord President of the Council and was in charge of national economic planning until a whole-time Minister was appointed. As Leader of the House of Commons, he was responsible for the smooth passage of the Government's legislative programme.

In the general election of 1950, Mr. Morrison was returned for the new riding of South Lewisham and again became Lord President of the Council and Leader of the House of Commons, playing a leading part in the early preparation and organization of the Festival of Britain, 1951. On the death of Ernest Bevin in March, 1951, he became Foreign Secretary, relinquishing his duties as Leader of the House.

Mr. Morrison married in 1919 and has one daughter, who is married to the son of Mr. Tom Williams, Minister of Agriculture in the U.K. Government.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Jesus sat over against the treasury, and beheld how the people cast money into the treasury: and many that were rich cast in much. And there came a certain poor widow, and she threw in two mites, which make a farthing.

And he called unto him his disciples, and saith unto them, Verily I say unto you, That this poor widow hath cast more in, than all they which have cast into the treasury: for all they did cast in of their abundance: but she of her want did cast in all that she had, even all her living. (Mark 12: 41-44.)

* * *

Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal: but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal: for where your treasure is, there will be your heart be also....

Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?...

But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you. (Matt. 6: 19-21, 25, 33.)

Letter To The Editor

SIDEWALK HOLE AN INCH DEEP

Sir: On July 21st my wife stubbed her toe on a hole in the pavement outside the Ritz Grill on Hunter Street. She fell, broke her glasses, had to have twelve stitches above her eye, grazed her knuckles and tore her stockings. The hole in the sidewalk was an inch deep and about a foot square.

Now it costs money to get my wife's face attended to, and glasses and stockings can't be got for nothing either. I went into the city buildings next Monday and reported what had happened. But now the insurance adjuster has been to see me and says we can't get any repayment because the hole was only an inch deep. It's got to be at least an inch and a half deep before they will pay anything, the insurance man said.

A hole's a hole; and I know I have been put to considerable expense because of it.

What's the good of the city carrying insurance if the insurance company won't meet bills like this? I am not a rich man and can't afford to pay for accidents like that; and anyway I think it is not right for the city to pay insurance and the citizens not get the protection. Another lady in East City fell about the same way some time ago and broke her arm. She didn't get any compensation either.

I don't want big damages or anything like that. I'm not out trying to skin the city or the insurance company. All I want is Justice—and the money for new glasses, new stockings, and to pay the doctor's bill. I am not working and have not been working for the last year because of my arthritis. I came to Peterborough 39 years ago and have lived and worked here ever since.

First Aid Training

(Ottawa Citizen)

The federal government has done well to entrust the St. John Ambulance Association with the operation of its program of training in first aid for civil defence. The association's own training program is efficiently organized on a large scale. Each year, about 55,000 persons attend the classes that the association holds in its own training centres in industrial plants, schools and colleges.

In addition to its new role in civil defence, the St. John Ambulance Association will continue to perform its volunteer services to the community. The cost of these services will not, of course, be met by the government's contribution to the association.

Scandinavia Leads Tuna Fishing

By JACK BRAYLEY

WEDGEPORT, NS, Sept. 13 (CP)—The battle of the bluefin continued today with the score against the tuna; but it was not one-sided.

On Wednesday's first nine-hour session of the three-day eighth annual world big game fish classic the steely-walled fighters cut confusing didoes, snarled lines, broke lines and leaders and hooks and frayed tempers before the Scandinavian team led the scoring.

It wasn't until the last two hours and in hazardous pea-soup fog that the day's kill of three was landed.

Preliminary morning conditions were right and less than half an hour after the fleet of 15 Cape Island boats arrived at turbulent Soldier's Rip fishing ground a tuna struck. It seemed the predictions of an active day were to come true.

Elude Wiles

But like eight who followed and many more who cut acrobatic dances over and under the bait, the big fish eluded the wiles of the sportsmen and their shrewd Acadian guides.

Scoring is based on poundage, biggest fish and most caught.

Here are Wednesday's statistics: First, Scandinavia, 1,071 2/3 points with a fish of 805 pounds, caught by Kund Kyvsgaard, Copenhagen textile man, after a 54-minute battle.

Second, Chile, last year's champs, 726 2/3 points with a fish of 660 pounds, caught by Joaquin Edwards of Santiago, after an hour and 40 minutes.

Third, British Empire, 663 2/3 points with a fish of 597 pounds caught by Maj. Cyril H. Frisby, BV, London stock broker, after 53 minutes.

Cuba and United States went scoreless.

It was Kyvsgaard's first fish in these waters but he is present Scandinavian champ with a fish of 822 pounds taken from Danish waters.

Maj. Frisby's catch was his fourth in four days so "I'm going out with my fingers crossed."

Mounties Halt Petes' Playoff Win Streak With 13-9 Lacrosse Victory At Home As Denny Peterson Scores Seven Markers

A one-man gang named Denny Peterson led Mimico Mounties to a 13-9 senior lacrosse win on their home floor over the Petes' Timbermen last night. He had two and one-third hat tricks in slamming seven goals into the Peterborough cage to halt the Petes' playoff victory streak and keep the Mountaineers in the hunt for the Eastern Canada title. The Petes had a 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven series before this game but they ran into a fighting flock of Mounties who dished up desperation lacrosse to earn the verdict. They laid the gad on plenty and got away with it as the Crowe crew drew four of the seven penalties handed out, one a major to Harry Wipper for fighting. The fifth game is here Friday and the sixth, if necessary, in Mimico the next night.

Not Up To Form

Playing below their form of the third contest, the Petes failed to give Moon Wootton sufficient support in the net. He turned in a remarkable effort with enemy players parked on his doorstep often in every quarter. The Petes were beaten by a step to loose balls and their checking around the Wootton cage was not up to par. They led 3-0 in the first frame but had a bare 5-4 edge at the half and were outplayed 4-1 and 5-3 in the last half of an exciting scrap before a big and noisy crowd.

Peterson was the Mimico star with his seven markers, singles going to Lytle, Chard, McPhail, Hayes, Stocks and Pritchard. An assist each was garnered by Simpson, Pritchard, Ken Dixon, Stocks and McPhail, with Lytle helping twice. For the losers, Dootch Vitarelli and Harry Wipper each scored twice, as one apiece was counted by Ike Hildebrand, Ross Powless, Russ Slater, Bob Thorpe and Don Ashbee. Ike and Bob each aided on two, and Jerry Fitzgerald, Nit O'Hearn and Arn Dugan one apiece.

An Early Lead

The visitors looked confident as they tore in early, Wipper scoring on the run from Hildebrand. Ashbee followed it up neatly when Thorpe sucked out the defence and passed over. Wipper added another from Hildebrand, racing up the field fast to outstep them and hit the netting. But Mimico were driving hard near the end of the hard frame.

Peterson counted early in the second, backhanding home Lytle's pass. The latter added one shortly on a good pass in close from McPhail. Ashbee returned from an interference penalty and Peterson fought his way out of a corner to tie up the score. Thorpe put the Petes up again with Dugan's pass, and Vitarelli added one from O'Hearn and Fitzgerald on good combination. Chard got that one back from Stocks as his shot trickled up over Wootton's shoulder on a partial stop.

Tied the Score

On a free shot, Peterson caught the corner to open the third and tied it again. He fooled his check shortly for another with Ken Dixon's short pass as Mimico whipped it around smartly. Hildebrand was off for slashing when McPhail intercepted and banged the ball home. Later Vitarelli took a running pass from Thorpe and blazed it by Hartley, who was tough to beat most of the night. Peterson broke away for a nice one with the Petes ganging up, and Simpson drew a tripping penalty at the gong.

Slater's hot shot from defence fooled Hartley to open the fourth, but Hayes got it right back on a free throw. Peterson whistled an angle drive into the twine as play got [illegible]d with some heavy checking seen. Lytle slashed Wipper, who threw a punch, the latter getting a major and Lytle a minor penalty. O'Hearn followed for slashing, and Hal Downer then went when Mountles had too many players in action. All were back when Stocks scored inside from Lytle and Pritchard. Powless picked a corner, but Pritchard counted another on a rebound. Hildebrand fought through for a nice solo score in the final minute of play.

Teams:

Petes: Goal, Wootton; defence, Fitzgerald and O'Hearn; centre, Thorpe; wings, Vitarelli and Ashbee; rover, Dugan; alternates, Crowe, Wipper, Mason, Slater, Powless, Hildebrand and Creighton.

Mimico: Goal, Hartley; defence, A. Dixon and H. Downer; centre, McPhail; wings, K. Dixon and Lytle; rover, Stocks; alternates, T. Downer, Chard, Hayes, Simpson, Allwell, Pritchard and Peterson.

Referees, J. Murphy and L. Vipond.

Professionals Score Decisive Win

TORONTO, Sept. 13 (CP). — The Ontario professionals scored a decisive 75-45 victory Wednesday against the amateurs of the Ontario Golf Association in their annual team match for the Hubert Trophy. The pros were up front from the start over the par 71 Weston course and as results of the Scotch foursomes came in they left no doubt that last year's defeat on the Islington layout was avenged.

In the singles Allan Balding, of Islington, recent winner of both Ontario and Canadian assistant's titles, carded a two-under-par 69 to tie with Lloyd Tucker of Kitchener Rockway, leading scorer among the Ontario pros this season.

Murray Tucker of London Sunningdale took a 70 while the three leading amateurs, Nick Weslock of Windsor, Milt Plomske of Rockway and Bobby Fair of Toronto Scarborough, came in with par 71s.

Tied For Top Place

In the best ball three pairs tied for top place. They were: Allan Balding and Jimmy Johnstone, Rosedale; Dick Borthwick, Hamilton, and Lloyd Tucker; and Bobby Fair and Emerson Creed, London Hunt, with 66s. Carding 67s were three other pairs: Bob Bray and Hal Butler, Oshawa; Bill Chinery, Burlington, and Bill Lamb, Lambton; Gordon Ball, Kitchener Westmount, and Milt Plomske.

In the Scotch foursomes Alf Hill of Peterborough and Archie Grimsditch of New Uplands, were out in 32 to tie with Al Cassidy of Toronto St. George's and Ken Jacobs of Rouge Hill but coming home the professional pair drew away and were three under par for 17 holes. Gerry Kesselring, Kitchener Westmount, and Phil Farley, Toronto Scarborough, were two under to take full points from Bob Grey, Toronto Scarborough, and Hal Butler, Oshawa.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Thought we'd be gloating today o'er the Petes' win last eve in Mimico to sweep the series in four straight. Sorry, folks, but it just didn't pan out that way. The Mounties (always tough on their own floor) played a desperate and hustling brand of lacrosse to earn a 13-9 victory to prolong the Eastern Canada senior playoffs. It's now three games to one for Don Crowe's crowd in the best-of-seven sawoffs. Fifth fray is here tomorrow night and sixth, if necessary, back there the next night. But surely to gosh the boys can wind it up on home terrain on the morrow. A break for the local fans, at that, as they should see the winning of this title as well as the last game of the season, since the Dominion finals are out west.

* * * * * *

Petes didn't play their best lacrosse last night, particularly in the last half. Good lacrosse, mind you, but not that championship brand of the last game here. Also, they were in against a do-or-die outfit, one facing elimination and ready to fight ferociously to stave it off. They may be plenty tough again here next game, but we're confident the Petes can down them this time and wipe the slate clean. No use messing around, they've got to hustle every minute. Any over-confidence they had before last night's number was dispelled soon. The homesters were a step ahead of 'em going after loose balls, plenty tough to check around the Petes' net and they didn't spare the wood, either. A hard, exciting game—a real crowd-pleaser.

* * * * * *

Short Passes Paid Off

Well, any team is entitled to slip once in a playoff series, and the Petes did well to win that second game in the Mounties' lair. And they didn't drop Wednesday's by much, either. Mimico's short-passing game paid off this time and they gave Moon Wootton a rough night of it. We thought the big fellow played a whale of a game, but didn't get enough protection from the Downers, Dixons, and that prolific playoff sniper, Denny Peterson. The big young hustler—he wears No. 19 on his sweater—scored seven goals in this game! A great show, and the Petes are seriously considering inviting him west with them as one of the two replacements they can have. How could they miss with a guy like that He's been hot up front all through this series.

* * * * * *

Besides Wootton, we liked the work throughout of Curly Mason, Dootch Vitarelli and Bob Thorpe. In the last half, Ike Hildebrand was rolling. Otherwise, we wouldn't select a local star. Some went well in spots and others couldn't seem to get untracked. Jerry Fitzgerald was late arriving from Western University. It's likely he'll be put on Peterson for a check, and that'll be worth seeing. Jerry is the best defenceman in the business. McPhail was out there and scrappy as ever, and it was definitely not a powder-puff game, as local fans who made the trip will testify. Hope the one here tomorrow is as exciting.

Raiders Beat The Orfuns

On the grid front, a strong Oshawa squad defeated the Orfuns 15-0 here before a good-sized crowd last p.m. to open their ORFU senior "B" schedule. Opening ceremonies, a tribute paid to the late Earl Spencley—former Orfuns line star—and a pretty fair football fray. But the Deadey pack lacked payoff punch while the Red Raiders cashed in on opportunities for the win. They were lucky but they were good, too, digging hard throughout. Orfuns clicked on more passes but two costly interceptions offset this aerial attack. A tough break at the start, but the season has quite a way to go yet and Orfuns will be there or thereabouts ere playoff time. They have Orillia here a week tomorrow.

* * * * * *

Ashburnham Bowl is likely to be idle most of next week, but two surviving leagues are fighting over its use now. Industrial Fastball Loop officials say they had it for tonight for a playoff between the Mutuals and Raybestos, but that they'd give the Civic League use of it for one early game this e'en. Secretary Art Reynolds of the Civic Loop later informed us that he had permission from Armar Butcher, parks superintendent, for full use of it tonight in a twin bill between Foresters and Bell, starting at seven, and two games if necessary tomorrow night. They're settling their best-of-five playoff for the Ostrander Cup, Bell leading by a game. Anyway, there'll be softball over there this evening.

SLATER FOILED TWICE—A couple of action shot of the senior lacrosse playoff Wednesday in Mimico shows the trend of play in the last half, the Petes trying hard but being stopped by a determined winning Mounties' squad. Orfuns Downed By Oshawa In First Game

Bob Cosgrove's Oshawa Red Raiders and Leo Deadey's Peterborough Orfuns officially opened the 1951 football season Wednesday night at Morrow Park here A fine crowd of fans was on deck to view the ceremonies and cheer the boys as they began their heaviest schedule in the history of local senior football. Oshawa won 15-0.

A silent tribute to the memory of a former great sportsman, football player and gentleman, was paid just prior to the opening whistle when the assemblage bowed to honor the name of Earl Spencely.

The game was hardly as one-sided as indicated. When opportunity knocked, the Cosgrove pack took full advantage, to rack up valuable points while Orfuns came close to scoring on several occasions but just couldn't click on the final payoff thrusts.

Wally Mozewsky, hard-running backfielder, gave the visitors a major at the half way mark in the first quarter when he took the pigskin around right end from his own 45 and ran 65 yards, eluding all tacklers on the way. It was the best gallop of the fray George Ellis converted from placement.

Add Singles

Raiders added a pair of singles in the second heat, the first on a hoist from Jim Loreno to Jerry McGillis from the 33, after a faylor to Luke pass for 30 yards and a nine-yard Brodie plunge had advanced the ball to that point. The second came after an attempted field goal by Raiders that fizzled. Ellis hoisted later to Ron Hodson who was downed well back.

Orfuns took to the air and Johnny Berry, youthful Cornwall product, slung some neat passes to Don McGillis, Lalonde and Naismith for valuable gains. Raiders' strong front wall and agile secondaries proved equal to the challenge. Orfuns outpassed Raiders by a wide margin, completing eight of 16 attempts as against two good in nine tries for the visitors; but two interceptions by Alex. Kenisky in the final quarter, one for a 40 yard run back to Orfuns' 12, nullified serious home threats.

Played Well

Oshawa played smart football throughout and deserved to win on the night's play; but Orfuns had their moments too, and the work of Lally Lalonde, Spike Mathews, Berry, Spook Graham, Clive Naismith, the McGillis boys, Murray Dewart, Johnny Baker (who did most the punting) and Wally Farr merit special mention.

Raiders scored one in the third stanza when Ellis, who kicked a good game, hoofed to the deadline from the 20 about midway. Their final touch came following Kenisky's run back referred to when a Taylor-Loreno lateral clicked beautifully and the latter romped across right end in the final stanza. Ellis converted. Raiders had eight penalties, Orphans one and Raiders lost over 100 yards thereby, but offset this in other ways.

BATTLE IN LOSING CAUSE—Three of the more doughty Petes' warriors of the webbed sticks, who battled hard in a losing cause at Mimico last night were: Curly Mason at left, Goalie Moon Wootton, centre, and Dootch Vitarelli at right. They hustled all the way, but Mounties still won 13-9, and now the Eastern Canada senior lacrosse finals stands at 3-1 for Petes in the best-of-seven series.

Odeon rolled high pinnage of 3527 this week and high single game of 1,287 at Playfair in the Major Bowling League. Robinson Regains Crown After Rugged Battle, Downs Turpin In Tenth

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Sept. 13. (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson was middleweight champion of the world again today, a proud champion, after having fought perhaps the greatest battle of his career in stopping Randy Turpin of England in the 10th round of a savage brawl at the Polo Grounds. Two months and two days after he had lost the crown to the 23-year-old Briton in London, the pride of Harlem came back, bloody and tired, to unleash an onslaught which beat Turpin to the verge of insensibility and forced Referee Ruby Goldstein to spare the short-time title holder further punishment with only eight seconds to go in the final, pulse-stirring round Wednesday night.

The largest crowd ever to witness a fight in this country outside the heavyweight division—61,370—packed the huge ball yard and poured $767,000 into the coffers of the International Boxing Club to watch the peerless negro score the 129th triumph of his 133-fight career.

The gate was expected to go at least a million dollars with movie and theatre television rights contributing a minimum of $225,000. When all of the returns are in Robinson is expected to pick up about $240,000, his richest purse, for his 30-minute workout and Turpin about $200,000.

Referee Right

There was only one small doubt to mar as dramatic a comeback as the ring has seen. Turpin, a gamester and a very fine fighter, thought he should have been permitted to finish that final, desperate round, weather a few more of Sugar Ray's lethal blows, take his rest and come out for the 11th round.

But this observer was of the opinion that Goldstein, one of the most competent officials now operating, stopped the dangerous contest none too soon.

In his dressing room after the fight Turpin declared the referee should not have stopped it.

"I was perfectly keen," Turpin said. "There were only eight seconds to go in the round and I was covering up. I heard the count clearly and you notice I got up well before it was finished."

Robinson said he didn't want to take any chances of the referee stopping the fight after his left eyebrow had been cut.

"It was do or die," said Sugar Ray, "he hurt me several times but not in the 10th."

Puts Up Great Fight

But before disaster struck him, what a fight the young man from old England had put up. Robinson has said he will be glad to meet Randy again in London, and the next time there doubtless will be a procession of chartered planes from this side to watch the pair try to massacre one another.

Until the 10th, Sugar Ray had done no better, in this reporter's opinion, than break even against the rugged, powerful young "booth fighter" from England's carnivals.

Turpin started slowly and gradually gathered his strength until, just before the end, it appeared he almost certainly would grind Robinson down. He was jarring Robinson with his awkward, jumping left jab, making him wince with the force of his short blows in close. He was forcing the fight. Men around us were saying "goodbye Sugar."

Turpin, slammed to the canvas by a right to the jaw, rose shakily at the count of nine, fell into the nearest ropes, and took a brutal beating. Robinson, blood streaming from a cut over his left eye, was trying with everything he had to finish his stubborn foeman.

The avenging Sugar Ray, in his desperate haste, was missing some shots. Turpin obviously was aware of his predicament, and was evading some part of the furious fusillade. But others of Ray's shots were crunching home, and Goldstein had no way of knowing that one of them might not be the one to send Randy home a badly damaged young fighter, or worse.

Out On Feet

As a matter of fact, had it been a normal, midweek fight at any point in this country, the referee undoubtedly would have called a halt sooner than Goldstein did. Turpin was out on his leaden feet with only his fighter's brain ticking feebly.

Through the ninth round Goldstein had scored it 4-4-1. Judge Joe Agnello had put it down 5-4 for Robinson, judge Joseph Barnes 5-3-1 in Sugar Ray's favor. This scorer agreed exactly with Goldstein as that big 10th came around.

There had been rugged round after rugged round in which the two battlers had met furiously, dug into each other's vitals, without either scoring any real advantage.

Slugs Furiously

In the second round Robinson sent Turpin to one knee momentarily with a right to the jaw. There was no time for a count before the Briton was up slugging away furiously. Again in the third chapter Robinson bounced Turpin against the ropes with a clean swipe, but it only brought Randy back fighting the harder.

By the time the eighth came around, Turpin's youth was beginning to pay inevitable dividend. Robinson, 31, looked a little tired. Randy won the eighth by a fair margin, the ninth by a wider one.

Then came the 10th, and with one of the very first blows of the round Turpin slashed open an inch-long cut over Robinson's left eye, right through the eyebrow.

Robinson suddenly began to fight like a catamount, and from then until Goldstein took mercy on Randy, there was no doubt the title would not be going back to England.

Royals Blank Buffalo 5-0

By The Associated Press.

Brilliant pitching by Montreal's Mal Mallette and Syracuse's Bob Keegan made the Royals and Chiefs tremendous favorites today to meet in the final Governor's Cup round.

Mallette shut out Buffalo 5-0 Wednesday night, while Keegan trimmed Rochester 4-1 to give Montreal and Syracuse a 2-to-0 lead in the first-round playoffs.

The best-of-seven series now moves to Buffalo and Syracuse for the next three games.

Tonight Bob Alexander of Montreal will face Tom Acker or Tom Simpson of Buffalo, while Jack Griffore of Syracuse opposes Bob Habenicht of Rochester.

Red Wings Try Out Larger Goal Crease

SAULT STE. MARIE, Sept. 13 (CP)—Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League Wednesday night tried out the new NHL rule which enlarges the goal crease. It was the first application of the rule which extends the crease one foot in front of the net and six inches on each side and puts the face-off circle in front of the net.

The test came in an exhibition game between the Red Wings and their American Hockey League farm team, Indianapolis Capitols.

The rule, which eliminates the face-off circles in the corners, is being given a tryout by the various teams in pre-season exhibitions and at the all-star game in Toronto Oct. 9. It will then be voted on by league officials to determine if the change will be adopted.

Red Sox Edge Tigers 2-1, Chicago Wins

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Managers Al Lopez of Cleveland and Casey Stengel of New York, recovered from Tuesday's ordeal at the hands of revenge-bent second-divisioners, were beating their chests today and all but predicting the American League pennant. Lopez was confident as his Indians moved on to Washington for a night affair after a day's rest.

"We're in first place and we all feel we're there to stay," he said

Stengel, who admitted his Yankees "were awful" in dropping a doubleheader to the tail-end Browns Tuesday, predicted his team will regain the lead.

The Yankees fell into second place when Cleveland split with the sixth-place Athletics and took a full game lead.

"We're not through by a long shot," Casey said. "We'll get back to the top."

Edged Out Tigers

While the Indians and Yankees were taking things easy, Boston's third-place Red Sox edged out the Tigers 2-1. The triumph moved them to within 4½ games of the Tribe.

Bill Wight won the 10th inning hurling duel from Detroit's Ted Gray when Johnny Pesky slammed a one-out triple and scored the deciding run on Clyde Vollmer's long fly.

In the only other American League game, Chicago's White Sox blanked the Senators 3-0. Billy Pierce stopped the Nats with six hits for his 13th victory. Orestes Minoso drove in two of the victors' runs.

New York Giants' faint flag hopes were kept alive when Cincinnati slapped a 6-3 defeat on the National League leading Brooklyn Dodgers. The loss cut the Brooks' margin to 5½ games.

The Giants were rained out of their scheduled game in St. Louis and will play the game off this afternoon. The Cards also have a game tonight against Boston Braves.

NZ Chalks Up Good Profit From '50 Games

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND—(CP)—For Canadian authorities planning the 1954 Empire Games at Vancouver, the final accounting of the BE games here in 1950 should prove a valuable guide. The report just issued shows a profit of £24,686 (about $74,000 Canadian).

While conditions and public preferences in Canada will be different in some circumstances from New Zealand, the report of the company that financed the games here, the British Empire Games (NZ) Limited, provides a useful indication of which sports are likely to bring the biggest returns, and where the chief costs come in.

The profit made here has been turned over to the New Zealand Olympic and British Empire Games Association, to be used mainly to finance New Zealand entries in future Olympic, British Empire and similar games.

Returns from track and field events exceeded admission payments for all other sports combined. The receipts from admissions were:—

Track and field £46,005; swimming £17,983; cycling £9,089; boxing £7,200; rowing £5,997; wrestling £1,347; fencing £964; lawn bowls £475; weight lifting £374.

Experience Teaches

Cycling receipts were swollen because the closing ceremony was held at the final cycling meeting, as a particularly fine stadium with large seating capacity was available. Fencing showed increasing returns as the events proceeded, its popularity being largely due to the spectacular methods of the Canadian contestants. Toward the end a much larger hall could have been used.

Apart from admission charges the chief receipts were from film royalities ($13,769 less £8,058 paid to the government film unit which took the film), sale of programmes and souvenir brochure, and broadcast fees. Total receipts were £100,405.

The major costs were competition expenses, £28,898; housing of teams £27,105, travel subsidies to teams £14,099, and general and administrative expenses of £5,616.

Under the housing item main expenditure was at the Empire Games village at a teachers' training college near Auckland (£14,705) and at the separate rowing camp 100 miles from Auckland (£4,351). Transport of teams cost £4,611 and training facilities £1,451.

URZETTA MARCHES ON—Sam Urzetta, Rochester, N.Y., looks from under the umbrella held by his caddie, Ralph Anders, as a sudden rain halted the National Amateur Tourney in Bethlehem, Pa., temporarily. Urzetta, the defending champion, defeated Jack Selby of Dallas, 4 and 3, to move into the third round. However in the fourth round Urzetta went out 2 and 1 to Joe Gagliardi.

Should Referee Have Stopped Turpin Fight?

By TED SMITS

NEW YORK, Sept. 13—(AP)—Should referee Ruby Goldstein have stopped the Robinson-Turpin fight with eight seconds to go in the tenth round?

"No," says Randolph Turpin, the dethroned middleweight champion.

"Yes," says Sugar Ray Robinson who regained the title.

And "Yes" says everyone else at the ringside.

It was a comparatively dull fight up to the 10th round and then everything happened. First off Turpin opened a cut over Robinson's left eye from which blood gushed forth, soon staining both fighters.

Robinson waded into Turpin with machine-gun rights and lefts to the head and body. Turpin fell to the canvas—the second time in his career he has been knocked down—but bounded up at nine.

Then Robinson cornered him on the ropes, and with Turpin's hands down and the Englishman defenceless, the Harlem Negro pounded his foe. Turpin never went down.

Referee Ruby Goldstein peered anxiously at the dazed champion. Then he stepped in swiftly and proclaimed Robinson the new champion of the world.

Made No Protest

"He was dazed," said Goldstein afterwards. "When I stopped the fight he started to go to Robinson's corner. He kind of fell right in my arms. I started him to his own corner."

No one in Turpin's corner made any protest, said Goldstein.

But afterwards in his dressing room Turpin declared:

"The referee should not have stopped it. I was perfectly keen. There were only eight seconds to go and I was covering up. The doctor will confirm them."

Ringside observers thought he was badly dazed and taking terrific punishment—but it is true that a few minutes later he appeared fresh and calm, and posed with a bright smile alongside Robinson.

Have No Clocks

There are no clocks at outdoor fights such as are common indoors, and this absence might have had an effect on the decision, although Goldstein said his only thought was whether Turpin was in danger of being hurt seriously.

One shrewd London newspaperman, Tony Horstead, of The London Sunday Dispatch, said "Turpin was beaten by the ghost of Georgie Flores."

Flores was the fighter who died Sept. 3 of injuries inflicted in a Madison Square Garden fight with Roger Donoghue. Horstead implied that as a result, referees want to take no chances with fatal blows.

Ringside comment included:

Harold Hayes, London Empire News—"Unquestionably it was the right thing to do. Turpin was just a toy in the hands of Robinson when Ray went cracking."

Ron Barnett, London Sporting Review — "The referee didn't know how much time was left. Under the circumstances it was certainly the right thing to do."

Those smiles tell the rest of the story about the first long step towards that second bundle of $10,000 prize money as the Royals took the lead in the 7 game series by a 7-0 score.

Seven Experts On Sidelines In Golf Tourney

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 13 — (AP)—If anyone had told you that seven Walker Cup starts would be on the sidelines after three days of competition in the 51st national amateur golf championships, you'd probably have recommended a doctor.

But that's just what happened.

Oklahoma city's thin man, Charley Coe, is the only big name left in the tournament. With the exception of bespectacled Harold Paddock, Aurora, O., linksman, all of Coe's Walker Cup team mates, Frank Stranahan, Willie Turnesa, Bobby Knowles, Jimmy McHale, Sam Urzetta, Dick Chapman and Bill Campbell, are on the sidelines.

In fact, there are so many strange names teeing off in Monday's round of sixteen, even the golf experts can't tell a contestant without a program. Lightning not only struck once in this upset-riddled tournament, it flashed seven times.

Wednesday defending champion Urzetta, usually a picture of consistency, fell apart like a youngster and was eliminated, 2 and 1, by a 39-year-old Mamaroneck, N.Y., father of five children. This came shortly before McHale of the host Saucon Valley Country Club bowed out.

Another Head Falls

Before the tumult and shouting was over, out went Chapman, British amateur champion from Pinehurst, N.C.

Teeing off in the upper draw today will be Joe Gagliardi, conqueror of Urzetta, against Robert E. Evans, unknown from Cleveland, O., George E. Victor, who coincidentally hails from Golf, Ill., facing Coe; Billy Picard, Charleston, S.C., son of well known professional Henry Picard, against Tommy Jacobs, Jr., national junior champ from Monticello, Calif., and Bob Eckis, 27-year-old Kenmore, NY, insurance salesman, playing Edward P. Martin, East Cambridge, Mass., probate court officer.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

John Pearson, director of recreation for Brantford, said on Wednesday that commercial sports cliques "monopolize" public park facilities at great expense to the taxpayer.

Mr. Pearson told the Canadian Parks and Recreation Association at Toronto:

"I know of one Ontario town where the taxpayers were called on to pay several thousand dollars to cover the loss suffered by a semi-professional hockey team last season.

"Teams like these are occupying park arenas and stadiums. . . In many cases, the commercialized sports are forcing other more deserving sports out of the picture."

Discussing the problem, the panel, of which Mr. Hardman was a member, suggested that an advisory committee be set up in each community to pass judgment on the merits of commercial organizations before they were permitted to use public parks.

Thirty-five thousand fight fans jammed—and in Chicago even fought—their way into 14 movie houses in 11 United States cities Wednesday night to see the theatre television broadcast of the Robinson-Turpin fight.

Outside the fight arena they were the only persons to see the battle for the world's middleweight championship.

The International Boxing Club, the promoters, banned broadcasts by radio or television of running, round-by-round accounts of the bout.

Most of the movie houses doubled their prices with minimum charges varying from $2 to $2.60.

Art Houtteman, former Detroit Tigers' pitching ace, will be released from the United States army this weekend.

Officials at Camp Pickett announced several days ago that Houtteman would be given a medical discharge for a disability incurred prior to his induction last fall.

About 50 players will be fighting for positions when Guelph Biltmores of Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League open their training camp here next week, coach Alfie Pike said on Wednesday.

Pike said that despite a holdover of 11 players from last year's team and seven promotions from Biltmore Bees, every position on the team would be open for competition.

Frank Tyndall, coach of the Queen's University senior football team, Kingston, Wednesday had 48 candidates working out for positions on the 1951 edition of the tricolor squad.

Five players are trying for the quarterback spot. Favorite is Don Griffin, veteran halfback for the Gaels. Others making bids for the spot are Norm Dyson of Toronto, Emil Vhrynyck of St. Catharines, Al Poutanen of Sudbury and Walter Miller of Ottawa.

Mybesttoyou, owned by Dave Diamond of Vancouver, Wednesday came on in the stretch to win the $2,000 Winnipeg Futurity for two-year-olds foaled in Canada.

It was the colt's first Winnipeg appearance but he had won six of seven previous starts and paid the same price, $2.75 for straight, place and show. Gala Spring was second and Just Hour third.

A new Toronto Argonaut halfback arrived Wednesday night from the United States.

Ed (Catfoot) Cody with four years of professional football experience with Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers behind him, will be in uniform Saturday when Montreal Alouettes bow in here.

14 Theatres Filled For Fight

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP). — The exclusive theatre-television broadcast of the Ray Robinson-Randy Turpin fight Wednesday filled 14 movie houses in 11 cities with 35,000 fight fans — some of whom battled their own way into a Chicago film palace.

There was no radio or television from ringside. The promoters of the bout, the International Boxing Club, even banned round-by-round accounts of the contest.

Reception on the closed telecast circuit proved poor to excellent. Most of the movie houses doubled their prices, and ticket scalpers operated outside some of the theatres.

In Chicago, the fight fans turned fighters as they stampeded into the State Lake Loop Theatre. Angered at slow ticket taking or lack of tickets, an estimated 600 persons smasehd a dozen glass doors to get inside the theatre. At least 25 persons were cut by flying glass.

Marylebone Team Winds Up Tour

MONTREAL, Sept. 13 (CP). — The touring British Marylebone Cricket Club Wednesday wound up a tour of Canada with an exhibition game against an all-Montreal West Indian XI. The score was MCC 254 for seven wickets declared, West Indians 85.

MCC batted first and the great feature of their innings was a fast and furious century by R. W. V. Robins who hit 6s, one five and nine 4s.

He received fine support from Walford (40), Thompson (25), Rudd 38 (not out) and Bartlett (17 not out).

For the West Indians, Clarke took 3-62, Padmore 2-40, Thomas 1-52 and Farley 1-11. Clever catches were made by Procops and Blackburn.

The home batsmen could not compete with the bowling of MCC to any extent and the innings ended tamely.

St. Louis Browns Exercise Option

TORONTO, Sept. 13 (CP). — St. Louis Browns of the American League Wednesday exercised its option and renewed a working agreement with Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League for 1952, it was announced here.

Jack Cooke, who recently purchased the Leafs, made the announcement which ended speculation whether the option—in effect for one season—would be renewed or whether the Leafs would tie in with another major league club.

The agreement brings together two owners widely known for their promotional talents, Bill Veeck of the Browns and Cooke of Toronto. Veeck livened season's proceedings with such ideas as using a midget player and Cooke used give-aways and a flag-pole sitter to boost attendance. Leafs finished fifth this season.

Hastings Beaten

HASTINGS, Sept. 13 (ENS)— Hastings intermediates couldn't have looked worse last night as they took a 12-0 drubbing at the hands of Barriefield-Portsmouth Combines at Kingston before a good crowd.

Friesen, on the mound for the winners, had Hastings eating out of his hand, giving up but four hits. Crowley and Holmes accounted for two apiece. His support was airtight. Smoke started for Hastings.

In the third, the Combines' attack started to click and shoved over three runs on two hits and a pair of errors. The fourth was a repeat and McComb was rushed in, but his team still persisted in fumbling and never did find themselves through the remainder of the game and they are now one game away from elimination.

The teams meet again on Friday in Hastings under the lights.

Radio Worker Born In Germany Regains Name

By The Canadian Press

Radio announcers have many a story, but the story of Bob Kinder is one of the most unusual. When 19-year-old Bob, staff announcer at CKSF in Cornwall, found his birth certificate, he also found his parents and a new name.

He was born in Munich, Germany, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Powell, according to the new birth certificate. Bob remembers only that his parents took him from London to Paris when he was three. Later he was left with an aunt in Paris by his mother, who went to join her husband stationed in Germany before the Second World War started.

Soon after France was invaded, Bob's aunt died and he was placed in a Paris foundling home. He was taken from there by an American couple, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Kinder, who took the boy to Washington, DC. Bob at that time believed his parents were dead.

When Bob's foster father died in 1942, Mrs. Kinder brought him to live in Ottawa. Last year Bob did a broadcast series from Ottawa which attracted the attention of a member of parliament who began tracing Bob's background. That year Mrs. Kinder died, leaving him alone again.

Bob's MP friend found the youngster's parents were still living in New York City and he arranged for Bob to visit them. The Ontario Government provided the cherished birth certificate, and he became Bob Powell again.

Royal Tour Broadcasts

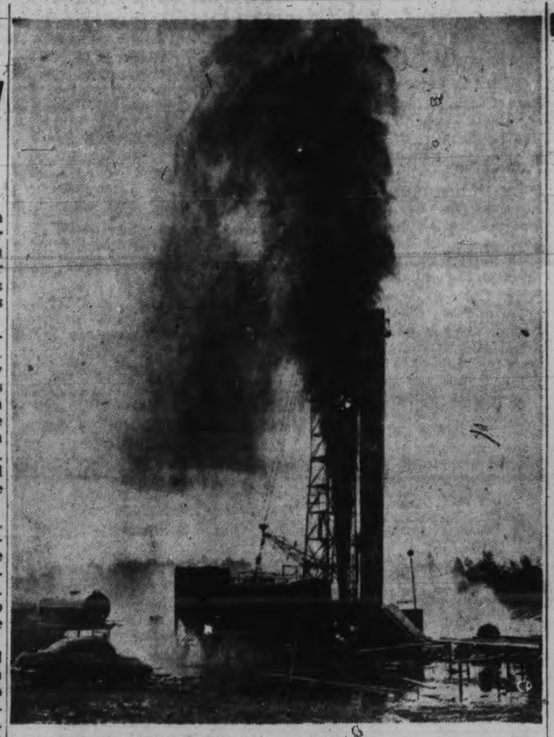
The coming Canadian tour of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will get extensive radio coverage. The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, planning a series of broadcasts over the whole route, will make its facilities and programs available to many countries.

The broadcasts will extend over a period of five weeks, from the landing at Quebec City to the departure from St. John's, Nfld. About 35 on-the-spot actuality broadcasts from 23 Canadian cities will be supplemented by news broadcasts. Besides the two national English networks, there will be coverage of all major events on the French network, while the CBC international service will short-wave programs to all parts of the world.

The detailed planning and direction of the Royal tour broadcasts is under supervision of A. E. Powley, head of the CBC overseas unit during the Second World War and now in charge of the special events department. The CBC has assigned two travelling teams of eight to ten persons each to full-time coverage of the Royal visit.

Charge For Heating

CROWLE, England — (CP)— Because of the high cost and scarcity of fuel, the church in this Lincolnshire village will not be heated on week-days this winter. So the vicar will charge £1 for anybody who wants a warm church for a wedding.



WILD ALBERTA WELL — A 200-foot fountain of oil spurts from California's 11-11 well about 10 miles northwest of Edmonton. The well—which went out of control during the week-eind—is spurting 2,700 barrels a day, soaking grain fields for three-quarters of a mile. One man was injured when 150 feet of pipe was blown into the air. The well finally was brought under control Tuesday.

Saskatchewan Farmers Battling Two Tough Weeds

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask (CP)— Thousands of dollars are being spent to eradicate the menace of two tough types of weed, the toad flax and the leafy spurge.

These hardy perennials are a pretty sight and they decorate many gardens in Western Canada. But they are damaging in grain fields.

R. Duck, Prince Albert provincial agricultural representative, said that many farmers in Western Manitoba have been driven off farms rendered useless by these weeds.

The toad flax grows four feet down into the soil, sending roots sideways as well as down. The roots send shoots upward to produce new plants above ground.

Both the toad flax and the leafy spurge are heavy seed producers. And the seed is widely spread on the clothing of persons, as well as being distributed by winds or animals.

The Buckland district west of Prince Albert has been seriously affected by the toad flax. Duck said one farmer's quarter-section was so badly infested that the farmer leased the land to the municipality for five years so that an effort could be made to clean it up.

Chemicals Ineffective

Chemicals such as 2-4-D won't kill the flowers of these weeds. In farm fields, it takes three full years of summer fallowing to bring them under control.

Mr. Duck said efforts now are being made by the Saskatchewan agriculture department to have city and town councils enforce a prohibition on the weeds in flower plots and gardens.

"City people don't seem to realize that it will take them three years of hoeing to get rid of these weeds," he said.

"Farmers in this district are spending thousands of dollars in an effort to kill weeds, yet they are being grown in gardens right in the city."

Agriculture officials ane not certain just when the weeds were first brought from Europe to Canada. They were probably brought for ornamental purposes, since the toad flax produces beautiful yellow flowers and is often mistaken for snapdragon.

Norwegian Floods

OSLO (CP)—Heavy rains have caused serious floods throughout Southern Norway. Swollen rivers tore away many bridges, interrupting traffic on the Bergen-Oslo railway for several days, roads and farms were damaged extensively.

Discover Flaw In Fluorine

NEW YORK, Sept. 13—(AP)—Discovery of a flaw in the fluorine treatment for children's teeth was reported to the 12th international congress of Pure and Applied Chemistry Wednesday.

Fluorine is added to drinking water in many cities, to give children better teeth.

The flaw is not the fluorine itself, but another mineral, the metal magnesium, which you get in food and drink. Too much magnesium blocks the good work of fluorine.

A possible remedy for the magnesium was suggested by Dr. Albert E. Sobel, of Brooklyn, who made this report. He said a little added phosphorus, in diet, probably would block off the magnesium.

Busy Curb Service In Narcotics Business

WINDSOR, Sept. 13 — (CP) — Evidence of a flourishing "curb service" in narcotics, in which heroin could be obtained within 10 minutes, was disclosed Wednesday when four Windsor men charged under various sections of the Narcotics Act appeared for preliminary hearing.

Leonard Crimaldi, 35, Patrick Riley, 30, Philip Chiamp, 37, and his brother, William, sat silently through the hearing.

RCMP Constable Grant McIvor, a member of the Narcotic Squad, told how an undercover man, Constable C. J. LaBrash, had won the confidence of the group and had purchased heroin on several occasions.

18 Years In Pen For Breakins

WINDSOR, Sept. 13—(CP)—A total of 18 years in penitentiary was given three men, one from Toronto, when they appeared Wednesday in county court on charges of shopbreaking with intent and carrying firearms illegally.

Peter Tornowsky, 36, of Toronto, was sentenced to five years for shopbreaking and an additional two years for being armed with a revolver at the time of the breakin.

Louis Balog, 36, no fixed abode, received six years for shopbreaking and Donald Alone, 21, no fixed abode, was sentenced to three years for the shopbreak and two years for carrying a revolver.

Says Federal Grants Threat To Provinces

QUEBEC, Sept. 13 — (CP) — Rene Chaloult, Nationalist member of the Quebec Legislature for Quebec County, said Wednesday federal grants to universities are a danger to provincial autonomy as far as education is concerned.

Parliament has approved a recommendation by the Massey Commission on Arts and passed a bill authorizing grants to universities and colleges.

Mr. Chaloult, speaking at the 99th annual meeting of the Quebec County Agricultural Society, said it was difficult for some institutions to refuse financial aid "but the problem is so vital for the maintenance of our confederation rights that we will have to study all the consequences."

Mosher's Dream Just Delayed

VANCOUVER, Sept. 13 (CP)—The dream of years of A. R. Mosher, 70-year-old head of the Canadian Congress of Labor, is not over. He wants to see a merger of the CCL with its 350,000 members and the 500,000-strong Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Action of the TLC at its Halifax convention may delay its fulfilment. But Mr. Mosher does not plan to set aside his long-advocated scheme.

"I want to see the CCL and TLC merged into one before I quit," he said Wednesday in an interview.

He is here preparing for the opening Monday of the annual CCL convention.

In Halifax, the TLC voted to withdraw from a national committee set up for permanent co-operation with other labor organizations.

One Merger

In Montreal, the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and other transport workers (CCL) and the National Seamen's Association of Canada have been merged, H. M. McMaster, co-founder and president of the Seamen's Union, announced on Wednesday night.

An agreement transferring the NSAC membership to the CBRE was signed a few days ago following negotiations for some weeks, Mr. McMaster said.

The Seamen's Union, with a membership of 3,500 to 4,000, will become a distinct local of the railways' labor body.

Introduce Teacher At Millbrook H&S

MILLBROOK, Sept. 13 (ENS)—Millbrook Home and School Association met in the auditorium of the school on Monday evening for its first meeting this fall with a record attendance. Invitations had been sent out to parents and all others interested to come to meet the new members of the staff and to see the new departments which had been added to the school.

Dr. M. E. Hobbs of the Durham county area board, introduced the members of the high school staff and told a little of the background of each one. Miss Helen Black, the new principal holds a bachelor of commerce degree from Queen's University; Miss Rita DeGuire is a bachelor of arts from the University of Ottawa; Harry Williams is a graduate of the University of Toronto in biology; R. G. McCallim is a graduate of the University of Toronto in social sciences, Bruce Ingham holds post-graduate degrees in arts and law from the University of Toronto.

Dr. J. W. Wright introduced Miss E. Pakes, the new health nurse, who is also a university graduate.

Members of the public school staff in which there have been no changes this year, were introduced by Louis H. Winslow, who told something of the work done by each in the community. Each introduction was greeted with applause.

Mr. Alex Gilbert, convener of the committee in charge of the family fair to be held the evening of October 15 in the school asked the whole association for their co-operation. Mrs. A. A. Chate and Mrs. G. MacKay are convening the sewing and novelties table. A shower for this table is being held at the home of Mrs. MacKay on October 12. Mrs. Homer Ouellette is to be in charge of the baking table; Mrs. M. E. Hobbs of the fish pond and Miss Kent of the social committee. Conveners for the games are yet to be appointed.

Fraser Carr of Cavan sang two solos "Smiling Through" and "Shortnin' Bread". He was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. G. A. Spicer, who also accompanied a sing-song led by the Rev. A. M. Butler. George Ingham gave two piano solos "Island Spell" by John Ireland and a Chopin Etude.

A suggestion box which had been decorated in the school colors by Mrs. H. C. Argue was called to the attention of the members by the president. She asked that all suggestions for topics any member would like to hear discussed should be put in this box.

The film "You and Your Family" was shown by Charles Forsyth, secretary of the Peterborough YMCA, who led the lively discussion period which followed. In summing up Mr. Forsyth stated that it was a mistake to do work for children, it was better to work with them, to get them to take some of the responsibility themselves. He said that by the time children had reached their 'teens parents should be more and more advisers rather than directors. If a young person had not, by the time he was 21, learned to make his own decisions he would never be able to do so, he would always depend on some one else.

Wilfred Eig-Pshrd shr shr shr of thanks to the speaker. Refreshments were served by Miss Kent and her social committee assisted by some of the men.

Garden Raiding

Indian Sun Dance In Alberta Three-Day Event for Tribes

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE, Alta. — (CP). — Indian dancers did not eat, drink or sleep for three days when the annual sun dance was held in the sand hills near here.

Hundreds of Indians from the Cree, Chippewa, Stoney, Blood, and Blackfoot tribes came miles to attend the ceremony.

Once a pagan feast with human sacrifices, the sun dance now is a religious festival of thanksgiving.

The Indians prayed for the end of a long rainy spell. Their own bumper crops of hay were rotting in fields because of continued rains, but they offered prayers in sympathy for white farmers whose crops were also harmed.

The sun dance lodge was built in a natural amphitheatre among sand hills. About 100 tents and teepees surrounded it in a huge circle.

In Construction

The construction included a ring of heated stones for the medicine man's purification ceremonies, a waist-high barrier of leafy branches behind which were the dancers, and supporting stakes hung with bundles of native herbs.

No nails were used in the construction. Instead, green saplings were woven tight together.

A large centre pole was raised in the main sun dance lodge as the sun dipped behind the hills. The purification and other ceremonies before it was raised were the only part of the three-day ritual which white men were not allowed to see.

Medicine Man Joshua Salteaux led the dozen or more dancers.

The dance was done to a slow, weird rhythm of tom-toms, accompanied by native rattles and shrill whistles made from the wing bones of wild geese.

How to Escape Through Iron Curtain: Pick Mushrooms, Ride Red Police Car

By ALLAN BAUM

BERLIN—(NEA)—There are two very useful items to use if you want to slip through Czechoslovakia's Iron Curtain and escape to freedom in West Berlin.

One is a mushroom hunter's basket.

The other is a Soviet zone "People's Police" car.

Karel Douba, a 32-year-old Czech, used them both for a bizarre flight from Red oppression.

Douba decided to go West after Czech political police had kept him locked up in a Prague prison for a year. His politics? Ping pong.

The table tennis champ of northern Czechoslovakia, Douba was arrested last year.

"All I had done," he explained, "was to tell people in a restaurant how well our tennis stars had done when they fled West. Somes eaves-dropping agent reported me to the police."

When he got out of jail again last May, Douba began making plans. "I was relieved to find border-jumping much easier than I had dreamed," he said. "The woods bordering the Soviet zone weren't really closely guarded at all."

With a mushroom basket in hand—and a couple of mushrooms in it for authenticity—he was able to fool the one guard he met on the Czech side of the border.

The minute the guard turned his back, Douba jumped the ditch that marked the border and was in East Germany.

A little later, after he had worked his way through the Grotteau border woods, his heart almost stopped. He stumbled into the "People's Police" car.

But instead of getting arrested, he got a free ride to the outskirts of Berlin.

"God thing I speak German," he said. "I told the police driver, the only person in the car, that I was from Dresden and going to Berlin. He believed me—and wasn't talkative."

He got to West Berlin simply by boarding the elevated train in the Soviet Sector.

Now in a West Berlin refugee camp, Douba would like to go on further—to South Africa. After his luck with the mushrooms and the police car, he thinks it will be easy.

KAREL DOUBA: "It was much easier than I had dreamed."

Kenya Ranchers Look To Canada

CALGARY (CP) — Socialism and animal ticks may bring British ranchers to Canada.

G. A. Tailby of Kenya Colony in Africa said during a visit here that Britain's Socialist Government is partly responsible for a flood of colonization to East Africa by farmers who want to escape the "restrictive atmosphere" in the United Kingdom.

But the influx of settlers has brought soaring land prices, which in turn have caused many ranchers to look to Canada as a possible home.

Added to zooming land prices are the difficulties of ranching in Africa, said Mr. Tailby.

Marauding leopards and other animals carry off cattle. Ticks carried by wild game carry diseases which infect cattle.

Mr. Tailby said that before herds can be safely started, the land must be cleared of ticks. This is done by putting hardy native Boran cattle on new range.

The ticks flock from wild game to the cattle. Once a month the herds are dipped to kill the ticks. After a year the land is cleared of the parasites.

But migrating herds of game, including gazelles, often re-infect ranches with ticks, he said.

Authorize Contract

BURBANK, Calif., Sept. 13—(AP). — A contract authorizing Canadian manufacture of T-33 jet trainers was announced Wednesday by Lockheed Aircraft Corp. Canadair, Ltd., Montreal Aircraft Company, will build the planes for the Canadian Government. The brief announcement gave no details. (At Ottawa, it was learned the order would amount to 500 aircraft for use by the RCAF. It will be the first time such aircraft will be produced in Canada.)

Reclaim Marsh

CHERBOQUE, NS—(CP)—An engineer says vast areas of the Cheboque marshland could be reclaimed at "a very economical rate". He estimates that more than 1,000 acres of valuable land could be reclaimed between the Cheboque River and Arcadia.

Across The Atlantic Ocean In Four Hours, 15 Minutes

By WING COMDR. ROLAND P. BEAMONT

BALTIMORE, Sept. 13. (NEA)—On that Friday morning there was a certain amount of low cloud and mist around our home aerodrome at Warton, Lancashire, when we flew the Canberra low across the field past the assembled work people of the English Electric Company. However, when we reached Aldergrove in Ireland the clouds had broken and visibility was very good.

After making arrangements for the aircraft's fuel tanks to be topped right up, we went into the station meterological office to check the Atlantic weather and there we found that conditions over the Atlantic and especially at Gander were forecast as quite favorable for our flight.

It did seem at the time that high winds over the last half of the flight might well have an adverse effect on the time taken, and I therefore told Watson, the navigator, to work out a flight plan quickly in order to see where we were.

This preliminary check showed that we could expect to make the crossing in about four hours 25 minutes. And although this was not as good as we would have liked, we decided to fly that day as it was quite possible that more adverse weather would follow in the next few days.

Early Rough Ride

We left Aldergrove at 1:24 local time and climbed straigt-away on course toward a heavy series of thunderstorm clouds. These gave us a rough ride for 10 minutes or so until we finally broke clear over the top into brilliant sunshine . . . and that's the way it was for the remainder of the flight. We flew high above all weather and overcast in clear sunshine and smooth air.

For the pilot there was very little to do but keep the aircraft on a steady course, fly an accurate flight plan, and keep a careful check on fuel consumption against time.

For the radio operator it was a different matter, however. R. H. T. Rylands was busy from the moment of takeoff onwards, establishing contact with stations in Northern Ireland and with weather ships in the Atlantic. Once he had established these contacts he was obtaining navigational aids and information which he passed frequently to the navigator.

Navigator D. A. Watson was constantly checking the estimated flight plan against the information obtained over the radio, and as a result of the combined effort of these two, the Canberra's position was established both in the neighborhood of the first and second weather ships as not more than a few miles off track.

Ran Into Storm

At the end of the third hour, however, we began to run into an area of disturbed communications which probably resulted from a large electrical storm which appeared to be raging over the North Atlantic from 100 to about 500 miles east of Newfoundland. The result of this was that for the last 400 miles of the flight very little information was obtained for navigational checking.

Although Rylands did his very best at the radio, Watson had to rely almost entirely on dead reckoning for course alterations in the last half-hour and for the time for the beginning of the letdown. These times were vital because of the need for maintaining the greatest possible accuracy right down to the letdown over Gander in order not to waste a single minute.

An added complication did crop up during the last hour in that a very heavy overcast was building up beneath us. When we reached a point we estimated as 200 miles from Gander, the situation was this: The letdown had to be commenced from the great altitude at which we were flying, some hundreds of miles away from our destination.

However, owing to the heavy clouds it was not desirable to undertake that letdown without first knowing the weather conditions below the clouds. But since no information could be obtained of local weather at Gander, because of the electrical storms, we had to decide purely on dead reckoning on the exact time to commence letdown into the clouds.

Less 10 Miles Off

After we had descended a few thousand feet, the clouds broke below and I was able to sight land approximately 50 miles ahead of us. A quick check on a map showed that we were less than 10 miles from our proper track in spite of the lack of radio information over the last leg. And we were able to push the aircraft over into our final dive which brought us in over Gander at 3,000 feet at high speed.

Over the airport we picked out Gander Lake at the end of which two boats were to be moored with observers and time recording equipment. The weather was perfect, and as we flew down the lake at 500 feet above the water we could pick out the observation post 10 miles ahead.

Within a couple of minutes of crossing the finish line, Gander tower called us over the radio and confirmed that our official crossing time was four hours, 18½ minutes.

WING COMMANDER BEAMONT, who set a new world's record for Atlantic crossing by piloting a British Canberra twin jet bomber from Ireland to Newfoundland in four hours and 18 minutes. He tells in the accompanying story what it is like to be a pilot on such a flight.

Roadbuilding Faces Crisis Automobile Dealers Told

BANFF, Alta., Sept. 13—(CP)—Canada's $400,000,000 program of roadbuilding and maintenance for 1951 already faces a crisis, Col. C. W. Gilchrist, managing director of the Canadian Good Roads Association, said today in an address to the Federation of Automobile Dealer Associations of Canada.

"There's not sufficient steel," he said. "Some provinces are substituting wood for bridge-building. In another year road programs may be seriously curtailed."

Col. Gilchrist declared that keeping Canada's roads in good shape must be one of the aims of preparedness, in event of war.

"If the highways can't 'take it,' that's not preparedness. If the wheels can't be kept rolling because of traffic bottlenecks, because of insufficient or inadequate roads, that's not preparedeness. Our highways are such a vital part of the national assembly line that to pursue a policy of expanding production without output would be incredibly short-sighted."

Has Suggestions

Col. Gilchrist made the following recommendations:

Taxes derived from highway users should be applied solely to road building.

Uniform and tighter licensing laws in all provinces should be enforced.

There should be more uniformity in insurance regulations.

Highway traffic signs, markings, and signals should be standardized.

Sound regulations should be enforced regarding motor-vehicle sizes, weights and loads.

Every automobile owner should strive to see that everything possible is done through adequate engineering, education and other safety measures to cut down "the appalling death and accident toll on the roads."

Col. Gilchrist said that Canada is lagging far behind the United States and many European countries in highway research; and he announced that creation of a Canadian highways research institute will be proposed at the annual meeting of the Canadian Good Roads Association in Toronto Nov. 1.

Some 1,000 auotmobile dealers are here for the present convention. George W. Hogan, of Toronto, is president.

More Jobless

TORONTO, Sept. 13—(CP)—In July, 534 more persons were receiving relief as unemployables than at the same time last year, an Ontario Welfare Department survey of 40 municipalities shows. In July, 1950, there were 13,227 unemployables on relief against 13,761 this year.

Try To Trace Identity

HALIFAX, Sept. 13 — (CP) — RCMP are checking all the communities named East Meadows in Nova Scotia in an effort to trace the identity of "Didi Ames," the mystery girl who has been in the care of provincial police in Montreal for 10 days.

Church Parade

OTTAWA, Sept. 13 — (CP) — More than 1,000 RCAF officers and airmen will march through the capital this Sunday in a special church parade commemorating Battle of Britain Sunday, the Air Force announced Wednesday. A special guest on the reviewing stand will be Air Vice-Marshall G. V. Walsh, the first air officer commanding the RCAF overseas headquarters and who was in command during the Battle of Britain.

STRIKING CONTRAST in the Communist Chinese "People's Liberation Army" of 1945 and that of today is provided in the two scenes above. Photo at left, made in 1945, shows Red soldiers shouldering home-made cannon barrels, the makings of their makeshift "heavy artillery." The crude weapons were fashioned from sections of tree trunks with holes drilled for muzzles, various chunks of metal and stones for charges, and set off by flash mechanisms. Recent photo at right, from a Red China source, shows a mechanized unit of the Red Army as it paraded in an undisclosed city in celebration of its 24th anniversary.

Morose Monkey Poor Clown

CALGARY (CP). — Joey is a bit of a disappointment at the Calgary Zoo.

Joey, a chimpanzee, doesn't do any of the things chimps are expected to do, and zoo officials think he's plain chump, not chimp. The three-year-old seems to have a decided inferiority complex.

Since his arrival last January, Joey has fooled everybody who expected him to act like chimpanzees do. He won't be dressed up, drink out of paper cups, peel oranges or do any of the regular chimpanzee tricks.

The only thing he's worn up to now has been a slightly sarcastic expression.

He was obtained from a zoo at Kendall, Fla., and was supposed to be a trained chimp. He'll swing on the trapeeze once in a while, but any chimp can do that.

Zoo officials believe the long train ride may have given him a sort of animal amnesia But maybe he's just a cynic at heart.

Equerry Busy Boning Up On Facts About Canada

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON. — (CP)—If the bearskin-hatted sentry outside Clarence House starts chanting "O Canada" and the man on the door whistles "Alouette," it will come as no surprise at all to youthful, Australian-born Michael Parker. In a matter of weeks, he's heard more about Canada than he ever learned at school.

Parker, a bronzed ex-Royal Navy lieutenant, is equerry-in-waiting to Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, as well as being Prince Philip's private secretary and close personal friend. As such, he's a key man in "Operation Maple Leaf", the forthcoming royal tour of Canada.

In a modest office off Pall Mall, tucked away like an architectural afterthought at the rear of Clarence House, the 31-year-old Parker sits opposite a six-foot-wide map of Canada dotted with colored pins and ribbons. An accompanying chart explains that blue strands denote trips the Royal party will make by rail, while red strands for air travel.

Transport arrangements are important to Parker because that's part of his job. In the years he's worked with the Royal family, there hasn't been a slip-up yet. But the credit for that, he says, goes not to himself but the railway and airlines officials who carry out his orders.

Gets "Gen On Canada"

As sailing day Sept. 25 approaches, Parker finds his time increasingly taken up with daily staff conferences, constant telephone calls and a spare-time perusal of the latest "gen" on Canada, including Canadian newspapers and publications.

"Naturally I'm looking forward to visiting Canada," he said in an interview. "Canadian chaps I met during the war used to talk about spending log-cabin vacations in rugged country, with plenty of hunting and fishing about. It sounded like heaven to me."

He also hopes to have time to find out where Canadian communities such as Moose Jaw, Sask., and Medicine Hat, Alta., picked up such outlandish—names—"something to do with your Indian history, I suppose?"—and to visit relatives in Vancouver. His only other visit to Canada was early in 1943 when his Hunt class destroyer stopped at Halifax for about a week.

Met 11 Years Ago

Parker first met Prince Philip about 11 years ago when they were serving in the same flotilla on an east coast convoy route. Their friendship ripened later when, as first lieutenants on different destroyers, they had the usual contacts between commanders—"borrow a bucket of paint, exchange ideas and so forth."

Like all members of the Royal household, Parker doesn't give much away when talking about his employers.

"It's this way, you see. We here come to realize just how much value the Royal family attach to that small part of their life which is private. We do our best to remember that."

ENTERS LUCE FAMILY—Margaret Hamilton, daughter of a Truro, NS, milk dealer, will marry Peter Paul Luce, son of Henry R. Luce, publisher of Time and Life magazines, today. WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP) —Administrator W. Stuart Symington said Wednesday the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will soon release to Britain half the assets Britain posted to secure a $425,000,000 RFC loan Aug. 1, 1941. By Oct. 1, he said the entire loan will have been fully repaid and the remainder of the securities will be turned to Britain.

Quebec School Children Given New Catechism Text

QUEBEC, Sept. 13 (CP) — Roman Catholic school children in Quebec province now have a new catechism text including, for the first time, religious instruction on employer-employee and government-citizen relationships.

The catechism text—used for religious education in Roman Catholic schools—has been in preparation since 1942 and is authorized by archbishops and bishops of Quebec. The simplified text will be taught in grades three to six.

Under a section pertaining to the duties of "inferiors and superiors" the catechism deals with the social doctrine of the church.

Mutual Respect

The employer, the catechism says, must "respect the person, the right of association and the labor agreement of his employees, pay a family-size wage, and facilitate the performance of employees religious duties."

Employees must respect "the person and property of their employers, work consciously and comply with their collective agreement."

The catechism says the best way to "assure justice and charity" between employers and employees is through "Catholic associations or syndicates."

Each group may "suspend work" to solve their dificulties after all other means have failed.

Must Love Country

The catechism adds citizens must "love their country, work for its prosperity and defend it at the cost of their life."

Citizens must "respect legitimate authority, obey just laws, chose conscientiously their governors and accomplish all the duties of a citizen."

"How do citizens chose conscieniously their governors?"

"By voting for the candidate they judge the most able to assure the common good of all citizens."

Those in authority "must respect the rights of all, make just laws, administer justice properly and distribute equitably taxation, grants, and public charges."

The state must respect "the superior right of God and the Roman Catholic church, the rights of the family and the human being, the rights of individual societies and the rights of other countries."

GARBED IN RUSSIAN LABOR CLOTHES, seven Japanese prisoners-of-war arrive in Tokyo via a Russian vessel after more than six years in a Soviet labor camp. This token repatriation of Japanese POWs—of which the Soviet is said to hold many thousands—is regarded by some observers as a move to conciliate Japan for a possible separate peace treaty with Russia.

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 13 (ENS)—The Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. T. Payton.

Following the opening ode the roll call was answered by each member naming a Canadian industry and its relationship to the farm.

Flying Rugged On Crowded Route From Edmonton To Whitehorse

By DONALD GORDON

WHITEHORSE (CP)—FO Jack Thorpe of Toronto calls it a ham and eggs run.

The 990-mile flight path from Edmonton northwest to Whitehorse in the Yukon is one of Canada's busiest airways. It's also one of the roughest, dirtiest and most desolate.

From Edmonton fly the sleek United States Sabre jets on patrol training operations from Montana to Juneau, Alaska. Fast, speedy, four-engine US army transports ply back and forth with supplies for Alaska garrisons. Two airlines—Pan-American and Canadian Pacific—use Whitehorse as their staging area of northern Canadian operations.

And countless "shoestring" airlines equipped with aircraft ranging from surplus Lockheed Hudsons to single-engined Norsemen hop back and forth between the lonely northern air posts.

RCAF personnel are the traffic controllers of the crowded airline. RCAF squadron 435 maintains the supply link that makes the whole operation possible.

Carry Everything

On scheduled runs, the 200-odd men of the squadron carry tires, boots, supplies for the padre and spare parts. Sometimes they carry bodies and sometimes they transport adding machines.

They do it with Dakota transports—crammed to the roof with the essential materials. They work in weather famed for its storms, ice, bumpiness and dreariness.

FO Thorpe was captain of air force flight 989 on a recent trip. In his care were 18 passengers more than a ton of freight, three crew members and the body of a three-year-old child.

He calls the trip a ham and eggs run because all he gets to eat during the two-day trip is greasy ham and eggs.

Thorpe is 25-years-old. His co-pilot, FO Roy Phillip of Saskatoon is 23. His wireless operator, FO Bill Juniper of Picton, Ont., is 20. LAC Emerson Snowdon of Sackville, NB, the flight engineer responsible for keeping the six-year-old aircraft in flying shape, is 28.

After take-off from Edmonton—usually loaded within 10 pounds of the maximum load—squadron 435 transports use the RCAF beam linking the Yukon base with Edmonton headquarters.

Aided By Range Stations

Lonely voices from the isolated range stations along the way supply accurate weather information and guide the heavy air traffic.

Flight 989 flew at 9,000 feet to Fort Nelson. Behind it was a United States transport and overhead were three American jets. During the flight ice piled on the wings and air currents rocked the lumbering aircraft.

From Fort Nelson to Whitehorse flight 989 flew at 12,000 feet to skin over the northern Rocky Mountains. It flew over twisting sections of the Alaska highway—deserted for miles—and past the unused wartime Canol pipeline to Norman Wells on the Arctic circle.

Priority Problem

On arrival at Whitehorse FO Neil Beauchamp of Dauphin, Man., checked the passenger list for the 7 a.m. return flight.

Sgt. Joe McWilliam of Flesherton, Ont., and Cpl. Stan Rohatinsky handled the priority problem in booking 27 passengers in space for 22.

"Lot of people can't stand Whitehorse," McWilliam said. "Too cold. I like it—it's good hockey weather. We use one of the hangars to play in. Bigger rink than Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto."

For the return flight, the plane carried 23 passengers, a half-ton of freight—including more boots—and five pounds of mail. Two laundry tubs and more mail were loaded on at Fort Nelson.

Flight 989 touched down in Edmonton in time for dinner. Six other transports of squadron 435 had arrived before them, back from Churchill, Yellowknife, Coral Harbor on Hudson Bay and trips east.

"If only we could get some real transports," commented a briefing officer.

Charges Labor Ignores UK Art

EDINBURGH — (CP)—John Grierson, wartime head of Canada's National Film Board, says that art went out when Britain's Labor government came in.

Grierson, now producing documentary films at Southall, Middlesex, writes in a magazine published by the Edinburgh Film Festival that the Labor party was too concerned with vast new political programs to worry about artistical matters.

"In the issue, art went out, because the relationship of art to the all-too-immediate purpose and the all-too-immediate measurement of results was not within the political mood," says Grierson.

Add, too, that here was a party with long years of opposition behind it, and a trade union foundation which, in its grasp of cultural values, had never seen beyond suburbia. The only arts it really understood and trusted were the art of the platform and the art of political management."

Grierson formerly was film production chief for the Central Office of Information, a British Government department.

Health Plan Change Sought By UE

Study Other Plans May Seek Company Contribution

Local 524, United Electrical Workers, want to improve the health and welfare plan now in force at the Canadian General Electric Co. plant.

Wednesday night Ross Russell, UE director of organization, addressed a meeting of stewards and officers and outlined a number of similar plans. A committee of the union has been set up to study plans that have been negotiated with other plants under contract with the UE.

At present, Mr. Russell said, the company makes no contribution toward the health and welfare plan. He cited the one that, for the last couple of years, has been in force at Page Hersey Tubes, Ltd., Welland, saying it is one of the best in Canada.

"The company pays 75 per cent of the cost and the employees only 25 per cent. Benefits include sick benefit pay of $30 a week, payable for 13 consecutive weeks; daily hospital fee of $5.50; special hospital service allowance, $55; surgical allowance, $150; diagnostic allowance up to $50; doctor's visits, home or office; maternity allowance."

Further Discussions

Further discussions will be held.

There is a provision in the agreement that permits the union to negotiate with the company a change in the health and welfare plan, Mr. Russell said.

The local has also decided that it is time to have a full-time business agent. Nominations were taken at the September meeting with September 12 being the deadline for qualification.

Three men qualified: Cecil Harvey, Arthur Hunter and Joseph Shaughnessy. The election for the post will be at the meeting on September 27.

Lowdown On Heat

The current September heat wave hit a new high for many years on Wednesday, 81 degrees. Weatherman Jim Harrison does not think it will top this today since the barometer is away down to 29.25 and rain with cooler weather is expected shortly. This September has also had a low in the cool temperature class with 42 degrees registered on Sept. 7. A year ago this month the lowest was 46.3 and highest 66.6.

Mrs. Thompson Remanded Murder Charge

Mrs. Lillian Thompson, 35, charged with the murder of her husband on August 25, was further remanded Wednesday to September 21. Most of the evidence at the preliminary hearing was given.

At 4 p.m. Wednesday, defence council T. J. Carley, KC, and Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw were prepared to argue on the admissibility of a statement Mrs. Thompson is alleged to have made.

However, due to what Mr. Bradshaw termed "the lateness of the hour", the case was put over until next Tuesday.

Witnesses Wednesday were Thomas Gardner, William Jamieson, Constable W. G. Scott, and Dr. Herbert Young.

Constable Scott told of coming to the Thompson home at 519 Howden Ave., where he was met by William Jamieson, a neighbor. The officer went into the house, where he found Mrs. Thompson sitting at the kitchen table, her back to the front door.

Bottle of Whiskey

On the table was a nearly full bottle of rye whiskey and a box of .22 calibre shells. The box of shells would normally hold 50, said the officer, and there were 49 shells in the box.

About 10 p.m., the officer went to Jamieson's house, where Jamieson gave him the rifle he testified he had found in the Thompson house. There was a spent cartridge in the breech, said Constable Scott.

The officer said that Dr. Herbert Young, the coroner, arrived later. The coroner, Constables Scott and Cecil Bowyer entered the house, and Dr. Young gave Mrs. Thompson a warning.

Some questions were asked by the doctor and answers given, Constable Scott, said. The officer had taken the questions and answers down in writing in his notebook.

The officer testified that no threats or promises were made; the statement was voluntary.

He said he found liquor and beer in the house. There was a part bottle of whiskey on the kitchen table, an empty gin bottle on the kitchen floor, a bottle of gin and some beer in the basement.

Repeated Warning

Dr. Young was the next witness. He told court he gave Mrs. Thompson a warning, and repeated the warning before the court.

Mr. Carley cross-examined the coroner on the wording of the warning, asking whether he had told Mrs. Thompson that whatever she said might be used against her at her trial. Dr. Young said he had told her only that whatever she said might be used against her.

Both the coroner and Constable Scott testified that Mrs. Thompson was not told she would be charged with anything.

G. Monkman Orders Chain For Mayor

Pendant, Chain To Be Symbol Of Mayor's Office

Mr. Gordon Monkman of G Whitaker & Co. has ordered from England a chain and pendant symbolic of the mayoral office, its dignity and authority, which he intends to present to the city.

City clerk Outram confirmed today the information which he had received recently, out said he wished that any announcement of the gift should come from Mr. Monkman. The pendant will bear the new coat of arms of Peterborough. Mr. Monkman was out of the city on business today.

It is understood that this chain of office is already here or will be delivered in the near future.

Fine Gift

Mayor Swanston said he did not have much information yet about it, "but it is very significant evidence of Mr. Monkman's interest in the city and its administration. The Mayor's chain is a traditional emblem, and I am sure that the council and the citizens will agree with me that this is a very fine gift; that it will add to the dignity of the office of Mayor and also to the sense of history and connection with the Old Country."

5 Of Pipe Band Injured In 3-Car Crash

Six people were injured early Wednesday afternoon—five of them members of the Havelock Pipe Band—in a three-car crash on Highway 7, three miles west of Marmora.

All of the band members are high school students. They were driving from Havelock to Tweed to play at the fair there.

Injured were:

Piper Bruce Cooke, 16, driver and owner of the car containing the bandsmen, scalp wounds, cracked ribs, injuries to his right leg and bruises.

Shirley Anderson, 16, daughter of Pipe Major Harry Anderson, a cut lip requiring several stitches, other facial injuries and bruises.

Fred Anderson, 14, cousin of Shirley, a chest injury, cracked ribs, and facial cuts. He was unconscious for some time after the accident.

Eleanor Scott, 16, in Civic hospital with a fractured left thigh Her condition is satisfactory.

Shirley Seabrooke, 15, facial injuries. Miss Seabrooke is a new member of the band.

One In Hospital

All are suffering from shock but only Miss Scott is in hospital.

The sixth person injured was the son of Dr. A. R. Dunn, Ottawa. Details of his injuries are lacking.

A slow moving horse and buggy was the indirect cause of the three-car collision. The buggy was going west on the righthand side of the road and a westbound car, driven by W. E. Barranowski, LaTuque, Que., slowed down before passing. Barranowski noticed the oncoming Cooke car.

Dr. Dunn was driving behind Barranowski. He turned out to avoid striking the rear of Barranowski's car and struck the eastbound Cooke car at an angle, knocking it onto the south shoulder of the highway.

Cooke Car Wrecked

The Cooke car was wrecked and Barranowski's car received a damaged door when struck by the back end of the Dunn vehicle during the collision.

The Havelock Pipe Band has engagements booked for the Tweed and Lindsay fairs and the Royal visit to Trenton.

Provincial police from Madoc are investigating the accident.

Peterborough, Lindsay Industries To Try For No Accident Record During October

October without an accident is the challenge that is being renewed to the employees of the manufacturing industries of the city and district. Accomplishment for one month would enlarge and accentuate the ideal of industry—the avoidance of mishaps that are preventable, that are a loss to industry and its workers, and a handicap in every aspect of effect.

Girven Chairman

District Accident Prevention Associations elected J. E. Girven chairman at the meeting Tuesday of their directors. Three of the associations from Lindsay were represented, the others were all from Peterborough.

Mr. Girven succeeds Clyde Cameron, of Peterborough Lock Company.

The accident prevention program will get under way Oct. 2 with a dinner meeting for all shop foremen, leaders and key men of the various plants. It is recalled that the campaign last October accomplished definite improvement, and it is hoped by the executive of the associations that there will be further quickening of awareness of the possibility of accidents, and of the importance of effort to avoid them.

ANNOUNCEMENT was made on Wednesday of the appointment of Robert J. Hatton as city editor of The Examiner. Mr. Hatton joined The Examiner 27 months ago on graduation from the school of journalism of University of Western Ontario and since then has been on the reportorial staff. During the war Mr. Hatton served in the Royal Canadian Air Force.

One of the Alliance's programs is the world missionary program which includes more than 2,500 missionaries and national workers preaching in 20 mission fields, using more than 150 different languages and dialects.

Work at the Peterborough conference will emphasize financing the missionary program which has an annual budget of $2,000,000, more than $100,000 from the offerings in Eastern and Central Canada churches.

Besides the district business, the conference includes extended periods of prayer and devotion. The Rev. Nathan Bailey, Toronto, the district superintendent, is presiding over all conference sessions.

Weekend Brings Dramatic Immigrant Story

A full page photograph of a typical miner at Steep Rock, Ontario, will be on the front page of this week's WEEKEND which Examiner readers will receive on Saturday. Staff writer David Willock tells of a visit to Ste. Anne's Military Hospital where Prof. Philippe Bassa uses the power of music to help repair war shocked minds.

Carved beauty, the goal of the bulge battlers, is not unobtainable even after a summer of forgotten diets, Kate Aitken tells women. She advises that patience and exercise can help along the road to "a perfect 36."

Royal tours of the past are highlighted by Doyle Klyn and there are three pages of pictures showing resemblance in royalty especially between Princess Elizabeth and her grandmother, Queen Mary.

Also to be found in this WEEKEND will be the regular comics which appeared for the first time last Saturday.

Fewer Attend City Playgrounds

Attendance on the city's eight city playgrounds this year was 48,335 as compared with 58,227 during the 1950 season, Alex Sinclair, recreational director, said today.

Mr. Sinclair explained that the attendance during July increased this year but dropped off sharply in August. This decline was noticed in both the swimming classes at Hamilton and Inverlea Parks and at all the playgrounds.

Polio Scare

The recreation director explained that the August polio scare was the principle reason for the decrease.

"The parents kept the children off the playground because they believed there was the danger of contacting polio there."

This year Inverlea park reported the largest attendance, 8,850, more than 1,700 higher than King Edward park which was second.

Other attendance figures were: King Edward, 7,133; Turner, 6,953; Riverside, 6,794; Fleming, 4,907; Hamilton, 4,875; Confederation, 4,776; McKellar, 4,047.

Car Kills Fawn Near Pontypool

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 13 — (ENS).—A Campbellford man, Jack Torrence was motoring with his wife and family near Pontypool Monday evening. A driving rainstorm reduced visibility making driving quite difficult.

Suddenly, a fawn darted out in front of Jack's car, and was instantly killed. The car, a new 1951 model was damaged to the extent of about $25.

Mr. Torrence loaded the carcass of the animal onto his car and drove to Peterborough where he reported the accident to a game overseer there.

While many deer are killed by autos on the highways of the province in the more northerly sections, it is uncommon for such a mishap to occur in Durham county.

Rugby Players Hurt

Two boys are in Civic Hospital with injuries received during a PCVS senior rugby practice at Riverside Park Wednesday night

Donald Ash, 18, 11 Charles St., has a broken nose and James Hendry, 17, Middleton Drive, torn knee ligaments.

Both boys' conditions are reported as satisfactory.

MY FIRST WEDNESDAY OFF. And what do they do? Send a photographer around. Okay, I'll smile for a minute but make it fast. Look, buster, one more crack about my face and I'll go for you like I did for that reporter. Do I bother you on your days off? (Ed. Note: the horse in the picture is Whitey—getting his first Wednesday off. Five days a week he hauls a milk wagon. It used to be six.)—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Wednesdays Off, Oh Boy! We're Going To Like This

Well, here it is Wednesday, and here I am in this stable. No milk wagon to haul, no bottles clinking, no joker in the wagon hollering at me to git-up. I could get to like this. Solitude, quiet, lots of oats, a 40-hour week. Boy! Wonder what the boss is doing? Golf, maybe. That's okay with me, just so long as he stays away until tomorrow morning. I plain don't want to be bothered.

Peace, as I was saying, it's wonderful. Just lying around, doing nothing, nobody to talk... woops! Wonder who this bird is? He's got a look in his eye like a veterinary. I don't think I like him.

Labor Organizer

Funniest darn vet I ever saw. He's got a big yellow pencil and he wants to know how I feel about not working Wednesdays. Maybe he's a labor organizer. Hope he doesn't give me that "Horses of the world, unite" routine.

Hey, fellows! Look! I'm being interviewed. This guy's a reporter. I'll just string him along.

I'll tell him I don't like his looks, and as far as Wednesdays go, no comment. Nuts to him. Hear that? He wants to know do I get bored just standing around in his stall. Hah! As if anybody disliked a day off, even a horse.

I'm not going to tell him anything. Look at him gawking at the harness on the wall there. I wonder if I nipped him on the stern, what would he do? Oh, oh! He turned around and all I got was the end off the lead pencil. It doesn't taste like much, that's for sure.

How's that again? Uh-uh! I knew it; he wants to know do I like hauling a milk wagon. This guy isn't a reporter, he's a jerk. I'll write a letter to the editor and tell him what I think of his staff.

Like hauling a milk wagon! I should live so long. This guy's getting on my nerves. He's too curious. Now he wants to know if children are nice to me and give me apples.

A Pox on Kids

Apples, yet! Last thing I ever got from a kid was a handful of twitch grass. Once I got an apple, but the kid had hollowed it out and filled it full of dirt. Kids! Next time I see one, I'll bite him.

What do I think about a 37½-hour week, with overtime? Look, Mac, if they bring that in, I am going to sleep that extra 2½ hours away just like I would have with these four if you hadn't come along.

Well, he's got a lump of sugar in his hand. Not a bad guy. Not bad at all. Wonder how I ever misjudged him? He has got a kind face.

Might have known there was a joker in it. He wants to know would I do him a favor and come up and help him haul dirt for his garden. That shows how much he knows. Nobody does anything like that this time of year.

He's got the pencil out again. Wait 'til he finds out I nipped the lead off it. He's trying to write. Got another pencil; I must've missed that one. I'll just sneak a peek over his shoulder, and see what he's writing.

I'm Handsome

The dog! He's saying I'm cow-hocked and sway-backed. Me! The handsomest horse on the milk routes. Even some of the drivers say I'm not bad-looking.

I'll get him. Easy now, just a light nip on the back there. Ha-ha! Look at him prance. He'll feel that for a week. Now he'll beat it. No, he's sticking right there. Probably too stunned to move.

Well, if that doesn't move him, I know what will. I'll just nudge this stall door open. There. He didn't see me. Now I'll slip out and work up a good froth in my mouth. That's good. Now, I'll hang my tongue out and roll my eyes a little. He'll think I'm nuts. Hey, fellows! Get this.

There. He's turning around now. Wait 'til he looks up. There he goes. Clean out the door and over the fence in one hop.

Now, as I was about to tell you, this Wednesday business is all right. I spend the best years of my life working like a horse, and just when I'm about to be pensioned off, they come through with a deal like this. Maybe they figure they'll get a few years more out of me.

Like I said, this is all right. Peace....quiet....no nosey reporters....!—J.E.

Quakers Lend Practice Field To Rugby Squad

Without large enough practice grounds for the past two weeks, the PCVS senior and junior teams have been offered the Quaker Oats company softball field, north of Hunter St. bridge. This area is only large enough for one team.

A company official said that "we're trying to help them out for this fall, it's only large enough for practices."

He explained that the field has been offered for the collegiate to do "as they see fit" adding that "we are sorry it is not large enough to play games."

The playing field is not long enough for the regular league games. The official pointed out that if games were played there, that the footballs would likely be dropping into the river.

"The expense for footballs dropping into the river is high. I'd hate to pay for the footballs going in."

Referring to two senior players, Jim Hendry and Donald Ash, who are in the Civic hospital today suffering from torn ligaments and a broken nose, he said that the team hasn't had the proper practice grounds and therefore "may not be in shape."

"All we ask is that the boys be careful of the rock garden."

Man Killed In USA On Way West

Larry Boyler Dies In Duluth Hospital 2 Days After Crash

Larry Boyler, 33-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Boyler, Lansdowne Street East, died on Wednesday in a Duluth, Minnesota, hospital from injuries sustained in a motor accident Sunday.

Particulars of the accident are sketchy. The family were told that Mr. Boyler took to the ditch to avoid a head-on collision. He was taken to Duluth hospital where he died at 3 am Wednesday. Two men in the other car are believed in police custody.

Visited Home

Mr. Boyler returned to Peterborough two weeks ago from Regina with his mother who had been west visiting. He visited in Peterborough with his parents and other relatives until last Thursday and then left for Regina, travelling through the northern United States.

He was to have been married on Thanksgiving Day.

Mr. Boyler lived in Peterborough for five years, prior to enlisting in the RCAF ground crew with which he served for four-and-a-half years. When the war ended, he joined the Pan-American Air Lines in Regina. He was the branch manager.

Besides his parents, surviving are a brother, Keith of Edmonton, and a sister, Mrs. Della McArter, Prince Albert, Sask.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Cadet Awarded King's Sword

The highest award given to a naval cadet in Canada, the King's Sword, was presented recently to Sub-Lieut. Alan T. Squire, only grandson of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Squire, Water St.

Sub-Lieut. Squire is the son of Thomas Early Squire, McCreary, Manitoba, and formerly of Norwood.

The presentation was made by Rear Admiral E. R. Mainguy at the ceremonial cadet division in HMCS Stadacona, Halifax.

Sub-Lieut. Squire was born in McCreary, Manitoba, and attended school there.

At present he is in his fourth year of honor arts at the University of Manitoba. During the summer he made two trips with the Royal Canadian Navy to Britain and the Azores.

The naval cadet visited his grandparents in Peterborough en route home to McCreary, Manitoba, from the east coast.

Doctor Explains Rheumatism To Havelock WI

HAVELOCK, Sept. 13 (ENS)—Dr. Douglas B. Kelly, of the Medical Centre, Peterborough, was the guest speaker Monday afternoon at the meeting of the Havelock Women's Institute held in the council chamber of the town hall.

Dr. Kelly took as his subject "Advances in Rheumatic Diseases." The term meant, he said, rheumatism of the supporting tissues of the skeleton, joint capsules, cells, ligaments about the joints, fibrous structures and muscles. Knowledge of rheumatism has increased tremendously during recent years and ability to treat it is increasing slowly. But curing the disease, he said, was slow progress; in fact, it was in a state of flux.

Estimates in the United States, Dr. Kelly said, showed that rheumatism was twice as common as heart disease. There were three types of rheumatic diseases which he named:

1. Rheumatic fever which came from an infection mostly of the throat and was well known for its effect on the heart.

2. Various forms of arthritis. Under this heading, Dr. Kelly specially dwelt on rheumatoid which was known as the deforming type and mostly feared on that account. He gave the symptoms and said that rest was very helpful in the treatment. A mild type might only need an hour each afternoon while others required long periods in bed. Mental rest was also essential as well as an adequate balanced diet, massage, a certain amount of movement and hot baths. Dr. Kelly said that evidence had been found which showed that the Romans had built baths for the treatment of arthritis, 3,900 years before Christ. He spoke about the drugs used in treatment, ACTH, cortisone and gold injections.

The third type of rheumatism was msucular which means vague aches and pains, stiff neck, etc.

In closing, Dr. Kelly said when we discover more about the causes of rheumatic diseases we may be able to control them in a similar manner in which diphtheria has been brought under control.

Mrs. G. W. Chiles thanked Dr. Kelly. Dr. Kelly was introduced by Mrs. H. W. Roche, who presided for the program, and a solo was sung by Mrs. John Beatty during this period.

Mrs. G. Rigby, Sr., vice-president, presided for the business session.

The matter of the annual oratorical contest, open to grades 7 and 8 in the schools of Havelock and district was discussed and the following committee was appointed to act with a committee from the local Home and School Association to make the necessary arrangements: Mesdames G. Buchanan, B. Jewell and R. Melville.

The local institute will sponsor a short course "Oven Baked Meals" on the afternoons of September 18 and 19. Mesdames W. Bullied, W. Woodbeck and R. Melville were appointed to make the arrangements and Mesdames J. Wilde, G. Hubbel and A. Holland to serve.

Mrs. E. Birdsall of Birdsall Station gave an impromptu address which dealt mainly with the conducting of the oratorical contests. Mrs. H. Mann president of the Trent River Institute and W. Corneil from the Belmont Institute also made a few remarks. Mrs. Birdsall led a period of community singing with Mrs. John Beatty at the piano while the gathering were awaiting the arrival of the guest speaker.

The large attendance included visitors from Toronto, Birdsall Station Trent River and Belmont Township.

Tea hour hostesses were: Mesdames G. W. Chiles, H. W. Roche, J. Wilde, B. Jewell, A. Buckland.

TLC Renews Demand For Health Insurance

HALIFAX, Sept. 13 — (CP)—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada Wednesday revived its demand for national health insurance and direct government measures to hold down living costs.

To combat inflation, the Congress at its annual convention here proposed that a 100-per-cent tax be imposed on excess profits and that the proceeds be used to subsidize food and other necessities to reduce their cost to the consumer. It added:

"We deplore the lack of any provision for the re-institution of price controls and the weak and ineffective steps taken against inflation which serve only to further reduce the purchasing power of the workers, already at a low level."

Efforts Being Made To Negotiate Confract

AYLMER, Sept. 13 — (CP) — Efforts are being made to negotiate a contract between the Oil Workers' International Union (CIO) and the Central Pipe Line Company Ltd., here, suppliers of natural gas to district communities.

Some of the employees of the company met at Vienna and an official of the union issued a statement saying employees had decided to strike. No indication was given when the strike would take place.

Says Trust Companies Invading Law Field

TORONTO, Sept. 13 — (CP) — Lawyer W. S. Martin, of Niagara Falls, Ont., Wednesday night told the Canadian Bar Association that trust companies have invaded the field of executorships and trusteeships which "properly belong to the legal profession."

Mr. Martin contended that this work for which lawyers are fitted by "inheritance, education, experience and temperament" had largely passed itno the hands of the trust companies.

Myrna Talkative On Work Done By UNESCO

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 13—(AP)—Myrna Loy, who never used to seem very talkative, now speaks volubly—as long as the subject is UNESCO.

Although she hasn't abandoned her film career, the one-time "perfect wife" of the screen has definitely given the movies a back seat to her new love. That is the United Nations' Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

A member of the national committee of UNESCO, she has attended three international conferences.

Likes The Work

Asked how long she has been interested in government affairs, she said:

"As long as I can remember. I have always followed national and international affairs. But especially in these times one feels a compulsion to do whatever one can to help world conditions."

Miss Loy's particular field is communication — movies, the press, radio, etc. She described some of the organization's major functions:

"One of our prime concerns . . . has been education. This does not mean merely the basic factors of education—teaching people to read, to till the soil and produce the bare necessities of life. It also means promoting standards for higher learning.

But It's Not Easy

The actress admitted that the constructive aspects of UNESCO are difficult to convey to the public.

"It is the destructive elements of our society that make news," she observed. "Wars and crime make the headlines and the good things that happen get space only if they are cleverly presented.

"So that is our main problem . . . finding people with the talent of making constructive things seem exciting."

Stratocruiser Crashes In US

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13 — (AP). — A mammoth double-decked airliner, on a test and training flight, crashed on its back in shallow water in San Francisco Bay Wednesday, killing the three fliers aboard. It carried no passengers.

United Air Lines said the stratocruiser was being flown by two senior captains, veterans in the service. They were Fred Angstadt and Hugh C. Worthington. With them was Charles Brogden.

About 45 minutes after the ship left San Francisco Airport, it flopped down in the mudflats 20 miles south of San Francisco and about two miles from shore.

The plane, built to carry up to 75 passengers, was a shapeless piece of wreckage.

Atomic Stocks Said Fantastic

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP) —Chairman Brien McMahon (Dem., Conn.) of the Congressional Atomic Energy Committee said Wednesday the destructive power of America's atomic weapons stockpile is truly fantastic.

McMahon said progress in the atomic program has been remarkable. He declined to say whether he was referring to new weapons.

He declined comment when he was asked whether there was any relation between what he had said and President Truman's statement last week that the United States has developed fantastic new weapons which could destroy civilization.

Holding Cheque

DERBY, England, Sept. 13—(Reuters)—Derby police are holding a cheque for £33, mailed by a Canadian in payment of a 54-year-old debt, but they don't know what to do with it. UNITED NATIONS, NY, Sept. 13 (AP)—Foreign Minister Ole Bjorn Kraft, Denmark, said Wednesday his government will consider sending a battalion of volunteer troops to Korea if the truce talks collapse. Denmark so far has confined her support of the UN effort in Korea to sending supplies and a hospital ship.

Sees Higher Taxes

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (Reuters). — Hugh Gaitskell, British Chancelor of the Exchequer, said Wednesday night the increasing British dollar deficit will mean for Britain "higher taxes, higher cost of living, shortages and wages lagging behind." Gaitskell said that the costs of rearmament and increased world prices again were making it difficult for Britain to obtain the dollars to purchase the goods she needed in the United States and the dollar area.

BABY'S CRY IS NOT ALWAYS TEMPER

DISTINGUISH between your baby's cry of pain and cry of temper. The "pain cry" should have instant attention. For the feverish distress due to gas on stomach or bowels or those common digestive upsets, give Baby's Own Tablets at once. As one Toronto Mother reports — she finds they work every time. "I am the mother of nine children, three of them prize babies, and Baby's Own Tablets have been my only medicine in raising them to the healthy children they now are. As soon as my children became a little feverish I at once gave them Baby's Own Tablets and in a very short time the fever disappeared and the children were normal again."

Equally effective for constipation, upset stomach, teething troubles and other minor ailments of babies. Quickly effective. Sweet-tasting. No "sleepy" stuff — no dulling effect. Get a package today. Sickness often strikes in the night. 30c at drug stores. Money back if you are not satisfied.

CHARGES OF HOMICIDE and arson, in connection with the million dollar fire that swept a downtown New York business building Monday night, are laid against Al Keshner (left) and Jake Mayron, a few hours after the blaze that took the lives of a detective and another alleged arsonist. In the hospital are another detective, and a fourth member of the team who allegedly conspired to collect fire insurance. Both are suffering third degree burns.

Fort Churchill Coldest Camp In Canada

OTTAWA — (CP)—Men with service at the Canadian army base in Fort Churchill, Man., can claim to have trained at the coldest camp in Canada.

The defence department has compiled figures on climatic conditions in 33 military camps and training areas. They contained surprises for many serviceman.

Fort Churchill, with a mean annual temperature of 18 degress, was shown as the coldest camp. The average temperature for December at the camp was 11 degrees below zero. January is 19 below, February 17 below and March six below.

Th warmest spots are Nanaimo and Esquimalt in British Columbia where the average temperature for the year is a comfortable 50 degrees above zero. But Esquimalt has less rain than Nanaimo and rates a little higher on the popularity scale.

Wettest Spot

The wettest spot used in the past by the army as a training area was at Countenay, BC, where the average rainfall each year is 52.59 inches. Halifax has average rainfall of 48.66 inches annually.

While not so cold as Fort Churchill, Goose Bay in Labrador and Valcartier, Que., are considered rugged in the winter due to frequent heavy snow storms. GooseBay, with an average fall of 131.8 inches each winter, has a greater fall than Petawawa, Wainwright, Alta., and Esquimalt combined. The snowfall at Valcartier averages 123.7 each winter.

Australia Shows Steady Declines In Wheat Sowing Since 1949

By LOUIS L. LECK.

SYDNEY — (CP). — Chiefly as a result of the rise in wool prices since 1948, Australian wheat acreage is falling rapidly. Compared with the post-war peak of nearly 14,000,000 acres in the 1947-1948 season, private estimates place the area sown in the new season at not more than 11,000,000 acres.

Experts forecast a sharp decline in overseas trade in wheat, Australia's second greatest export after wool. In each of the last two fiscal years wheat and flour exports were worth £108,000,000 to Australia (the Australian pound is currently about $2.38 Canadian), but in the current year they may fall to £70,000,000.

The decline in wheat acreage has been more pronounced in New South Wales than in any other state. The total Australian acreage in 1950-1951 was 14 per cent lower than 1947-1948, and a further substantial decline has been shown this season. In New South Wales alone wheat acreage is about 40 per cent lower than four years ago.

The changes in wheat and wool prices are the chief factor. Compared with four years ago, wheat prices have dropped about 12 per cent, while wool prices have more than tripled.

In recent years domestic requirements have absorbed about 80,000,000 bushels of wheat annually. The 11,000,000 acres sown this season would normally yield about 140,000,000 bushels. At present seasonal conditions are particularly good throughout Australia and another above-average crop may be harvested.

But the growing season in Australio is different to that of Canada, and it is too early to forecast accurately the harvest of late November and December.

If no more than normal yield per acre is obtained, Australia would have only about 60,000,000 bushels of wheat available for export without drawing on its carry-over stocks.

Australia however is committed under the International Wheat Agreement to supply 87,000,000 bushels during this and the next season, and much of its quota for the present IWA year, beginning Aug. 1, is already sold. Australia will probably be able to meet its international commitment this year by drawing on its carry-over but the outlook for the future is doubtful.

Further declines in wheat acreages are predicted for next year's crop season unless the wool market collapses, sending more sheep farmers back into wheat. The latter seems almost improbable.

Australia Developing Crops in Desert

By LOUIS L. LECK

SYDNEY, Australia — (CP)—Australia's biggest co-operative life insurance company, the Australian Mutual Provident is backing with hard cash its belief that it can turn a "desert" into productive farm land.

It has taken up 500,000 acres of the Ninety Mile Desert which stretches from South Australia into Victoria, and is negotiating with the Victoria state government for another half-million acres.

The AMP to roll "a farm a fortnight" off the desert production line and in the process, perhaps, prove the scientific discoveries can again push further into the future the point at which world food production will be unable to meet the demand of expanding world population.

The desert is becoming farm land because scientists discovered that all it needed were "trace" quantities of phosphate, zinc and copper.

Some Rainfall

The area the AMP is turning into farm land is not actual desert. It has an average rainfall of 17 to 22 inches and the soil is absorptive, allowing none of the rain to escape. Plenty of water for stock can be secured by shallow bores.

But the area in the past has grown nothing but sparse cover and stock have never thrived on it.

Australian scientists in 1930 began to investigate "coast disease" which was causing heavy stock losses in some coastal areas. Its severity varied from year to year, from district to district. Cattle died, or became sterile or dropped sickly, stunted calves. Sheep lost condition, their wool became brittle, dry and wiry, their lambs few and sickly.

Copper Was Needed

Researchers studying the failure of plant life to flourish in areas where "coast disease" was prevalent, discovered the experimental plant improved with the addition of "trace" quantities of copper.

Hard research revealed that in these areas there were insufficient amounts of phosphorus and copper for healthy plant life, and insufficient copper and colbalt for animals.

D. C. Riceman showed that the addition of phosphate zinc and copper to the desert soil made it fertile.

Once they were added, plant life thrived, stock grew healthy as they grazed over the land and returned to it the elements which both they and the plants needed.

Cost Light

More important still the needed copper and zinc cost only about seven shillings an acre to add to the land while the use of phosphate — in the form of superphosphate — is standard agricultural practice in Australia.

The AMP, with enormous funds requiring investment, because interested in these discoveries, and after careful investigation decided to embark on the project of making farms from a desert.

Already it has created 10 or 15 farms of 1,000 or 1,200 acres where paddocks are thick with clover, lucerne and varied pasture, and where fat and healthy ewes are raising fine lambs.

The AMP is using mass production methods. Tractors draw disc plows which carve out roots and chew up debris at the rate of 11 acres an hour.

The land is then cultivated, fertilized and revitalized by chemical "shots," fenced, and bores dug for stock water — all at the rate of 30,000 acres a year.

Re-Ride Horse Mighty Bucker

CALGARY (CP)—In the Western United States, rodeo riders are talking about one of the buckingest horses they've come across for years.

Originally called Didsbury Express and renamed Calgary Stampede, the high-kicking bronc has been tossing some of the greatest riders in the rodeo game.

Raised about 200 miles from Calgary, the horse was bought by the Calgary Stampede board as a re-ride horse. He ditched riders so fast that Verne Elliott, who provides bucking stock for most of the large US rodeos, borrowed him for a season.

In return he promised to bring back not only Calgary Stampede but his own best rodeo horse for next year's Calgary Stampede.

The horse has proved such a mighty bucker that his picture and story were page-one news for The Wyoming Eagle. Said The Eagle:

"The tremendous, twisting lunges and stiff-legged landings of the powerful, 1,400-pound chunk of dynamite sent shudders through the crowd and started old-timers to talking about the immortal Midnight."

Midnight is acclaimed the greatest bucking horse that ever lived.

Said The Denver Post: "Calgary Stampede, a big-boned chunk of solid horse flesh . . . so far has defied any human flesh who has crawled on his back.

"Billy Ward, a veteran cowpoke . . . was dusted off like a stuffed fly."

Again Heinz tomato-magic brings you brighter, heartier, more nourishing meals

At the peak of perfection Heinz Aristocrat tomatoes are picked, cooked and bottled within a matter of hours, capturing in sunny September the red-ripe goodness you will be able to enjoy all the year round.

Heinz Tomato Juice as a cocktail, Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup as a warming first course, and Heinz Tomato Ketchup and Chili Sauce to enliven the flavour of main dishes—these four of the famous 57 Varieties enjoy top popularity, for two reasons—first, because Heinz chefs are especially expert with tomatoes, and second, because only a pedigreed crop is good enough for Heinz. That's why we say "Tomato Time is Heinz Time."

When shopping for Ketchup compare Heinz big 13-oz. bottle with other brands. Ounce for ounce you'll find how little it costs to buy this big flavour bargain.

Bethany WA Plans Fall Bazaar

BETHANY, Sept. 13 —(ENS)— Following a two months' vacation the September meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Anglican church was held at the home of Mrs. Alex Sinclair, with 16 members present. Mrs. J. J. Hamilton presided, opening the meeting with prayer, followed by the scripture lesson read by Mrs. Allan Gribble.

In her opening remarks the president spoke of the loss to the society of a faithful member, Mrs. Calvin Reynolds who died last month, and as a tribute to her memory two minutes silent prayer was observed by the members. Greetings were read from Mrs. Ralph Wood, a former life member who is now in England.

Mrs. R. Jarvis read the minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer, Miss Winnifred Nesbitt, gave a report showing a balance of $67 on hand after all expenses had been paid, which included a $100 donation to the wardens of the church. The leader of the Junior Auxiliary gave a report of their activities and told of a picnic held for them in July.

The annual fall bazaar was discussed and many plans made. It was decided to have a parcel post table. Letters will be mailed to interested friends asking for a parcel, which when received will be placed on the table unopened and sold for 25 cents. Various articles completed during the summer months were brought in by Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Morton and Mrs. Hamilton, which will be offered for sale at the bazaar. Talent money was paid in and Mrs Hamilton also reported goods sold to the amount of $14.35 during the vacation months. Total receipts for the day was $30.

An interesting synopsis of a chapter from the study book on "The Mosiem World" was given by Mrs. T. S. Gault. Mrs. Hamilton read several extracts from The Living Messenger and The Church Bulletin. The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Gault and all enjoyed refreshments served by the hostess and members of her committee.

Mrs. Allan Gribble invited the members to meet at her home in October.

Regret Losing Gen. Marshall

OTTAWA, Sept. 13— (CP). — The resignation of Gen. George Marshall as United States Defence Secretary came as a major surprise to official Ottawa Wednesday, to everybody from Defence Minister Claxton on down.

It had been expected that he would be one of three US Cabinet ministers coming here for the Atlantic Pact meeting starting Saturday. His successor, Robert Lovett, will likely take his place alongside State Secretary Acheson and Treasury Secretary Snyder.

Gen. Marshall's resignation is viewed here as a major loss for the whole western world. His great stature and experience made themselves felt in Pact meetings and deliberations from the time he took office a year ago in June.

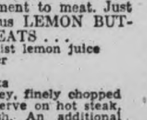
Has YOUR Family started using Dentocillin, Jergen's new penicillin tooth powder? Almost everyone I talk to is (and should be) excited about this new way to reduce tooth decay. In a 2-year test among school children, DENTOCILLIN reduced decay 55% . . . 5 times more than a famous university's ammoniated formula. (Actually, in each individual year of the test, 3 out of 5 children using Dentocillin developed no new cavities.) And results were not dependent on a change of brushing habits. Reason: penicillin effects of a single brushing last up to 24 hours. But, remember, you have to use Dentocillin regularly to effectively reduce decay. Tastes wonderful. Really cleans teeth. 75c for 3 months' supply.

You Wouldn't Believe It if you were to see them together . . . these two beautiful women are not sisters — they're mother and daughter! And you wouldn't be the first to make this delightful mistake about Mrs. Bredin and her daughter, Denise. Mrs. Bredin puts the accent on youth in her clothes, her hair-do and—most important—her complexion. It glows with mature beauty, yet is youthfully young and radiant—thanks to WOODBURY FACIAL SOAP! For Woodbury is more than a cleanser. It's the soap with the beauty-cream ingredient! Woodbury softens the skin as it cleanses! So take a tip from beautiful Mrs. Bredin and her daughter . . . start Woodbury Facials today! (Woodbury's wonderful for beauty baths, too!)

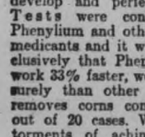
If Corns Have Got You Feeling Grim . . . BLUE-JAY will put you back in trim! That's because the Blue-Jay folks have discovered a new wonder-working medication for corns and calluses called Phenylium. It took them ten years of scientific research to develop and perfect Phenylium. Tests were conducted with Phenylium and other regular corn medicants and it was proved conclusively that Phenylium goes to work 33% faster, works 35% more surely than other remedies, and removes corns completely in 19 out of 20 cases. Why suffer the torments of aching corns? For prompt relief be sure and ask your druggist for Blue Jay Corn Plasters with Phenylium.



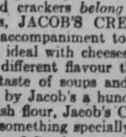
School Days, School Days! . . . do those words remind you of lunches to pack and hungry youngsters rushing home for after-school snacks? Then get a big jar of delicious WAGSTAFFE PURE STRAWBERRY JAM right now—and you'll be ready for snacks 'n' sandwiches galore! Try combining cottage cheese or peanut butter with Wagstaffe Pure Strawberry Jam—they're both delicious sandwich-mixtures! And for after-school snacks — simply spread bread or buns with luscious Wagstaffe Pure Strawberry Jam. It's wholesome eating — for Wagstaffe makes jam the "home-made" way from fresh-picked, sun-ripened berries and pure sugar. Remember, the name Wagstaffe has stood for quality since 1906.

Like Cream In Your Coffee or sugar in your tea . . . these crispy, creamy, unsalted crackers belong with soup, cheese or spreads. Yes, JACOB'S CREAM CRACKERS are the perfect accompaniment to soups hot or cold . . . and they're ideal with cheeses of all kind. They have a special, different flavour that brings out the tangy or salty taste of soups and cheese to perfection. Originated by Jacob's a hundred years ago and made with the finest, softest English flour, Jacob's Cream Crackers are famous the world over. And want something specially good for dessert? . . . Then I'd suggest you try those flaky, lemony Jacob's Lemon Puff Biscuits for a real taste thrill! — available in ½ pound packages at leading stores.

Youngsters Are Always "Starving", aren't they? Well here's something to satisfy even the hugest of appetites . . . BOVRIL for lunch! Serve it as a hot piping drink . . . savoury and m-mmm!—wonderful—with its meaty, beefy-good flavour. If your youngsters take their lunch to school . . . put Bovril in a thermos bottle . . . or—make a dee-licious Bovril sandwich-spread. Bovril's good at any time of the day . . . as an after-school treat—or just before bedtime. It's good for the youngsters—good for your budget, for I know of no tastier way to save on meat! Ask your grocer for Bovril—in three handy forms—Cordial, Concentrate and Cubes.



Ever Notice How Quickly your homemade jams and jellies disappear? It truly pays to "do down" as much fruit in season as you can! Right now, I'm concentrating on those tangy grapes and other fall fruits that overflow the market—and I'm using them to make lots of delicious, crystal-clear, beautifully colored jelly. With CERTO LIQUID PECTIN to help me, I get perfectly set jellies and jams in about 1/3 the time of the old-fashioned long-boil method. It's so simple to follow the easy directions found in the booklet under the label of each Certo bottle. I get up to 50% more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit.



Three Flavour Treats from one package! Just as I do, get QUAKER CORN MEAL and try the scrumptious recipes on the package for Hasty Pudding, Golden Corn Muffins and hot, crusty Corn Bread. M-mmm! You'll thank the folks at Quaker over and over for these grand recipes . . . and for their incomparable Corn Meal. Yes, there's nothing like it . . . this is corn meal made by experts. Try it in dozens of dishes—it's a truly versatile food . . . and much better than bread or cracker crumbs for breading oysters, fish or cutlets. Ask your grocer for it tomorrow. I know you'll agree with me, once you've tried it, that Quaker Corn Meal is something every good cook should have in her kitchen.

Maritime Actress Makes Movie Debut In Britain

FIRST MOVIE—Mary Laura Wood, 27-year-old actress from Sackville, N.B., has completed her first movie role in British-made "Valley of Eagles." She is shown here with her screen husband, John McCallum. Setting is in Norway and Sweden, where much of the film was made. Mary Laura went to Britain in 1946 to try for a stage career and has played the lead in "Deep Are The Roots," where she understudied Betsy Drake, and she took over the lead in "A Streetcar Named Desire" from Vivien Leigh when the show went to the provinces.

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON—(CP)—With blonde streaks in her naturally dark hair, Canadian actress Mary Laura Wood sat in one of London's biggest movie houses and nervously watched her first screen performance.

Mary Laura, a 26-year-old Maritimer who strayed into movies through the stage door of a London theatre, plays the blonde Swedish wife of an atomic scientist in "Valley of Eagles," a British film.

"Maybe I look like a beautiful blonde on celluloid," the Sackville, NB, actress said after the preview, "but in the flesh I was a sort of straw-pink shade.

"So I'm going back to natural as fast as possible."

For the slim, five-foot-four Canadian, this first film part was lots of fun—and a nostalgic reminder of home. "Valley of Eagles" is set against the winter scenery of Norway and Sweden and the company spent three weeks on location there, mostly on the snow-covered slopes north of Oslo.

Once they met a 90-mile-an-hour blizzard. "My false eyelashes got so tied up I couldn't see a thing," she said with a laugh. "Needless to say, no filming was done that day."

Search For Job

Mary Laura, who lives in a flat close behind the London airport terminal, came to Britain in 1946 with no knowledge of the English theatre. Her first attempt at finding a stage job consisted of turning the pages of a telephone directory and making calls that brought no luck.

Then one day, almost haphazardly, she walked through the stage door of the Globe Theatre and joined a line of hopefuls awaiting a test for understudy to Betsy Drake in "Deep Are The Roots." She got the part and eventually took over the lead.

Since then she has understudied Vivien Leigh in "A Streetcar named Desire." She has also landed many varied parts in both the west end and the provinces, and will soon be playing in "Pick-Up Girl" at Richmond, well-known Thames-side district just outside London.

Mary Laura longs for the film to reach Canada. She wants a family verdict from her mother, stepfather, two brothers and a sister. She'd love to see their reactions to the blonde hair-do.

Although she doesn't know when she'll return to Canada for good, she hopes it will soon be possible to visit her mother—now Mrs. A. W. Bennett— in Alma, NB. Brought up on a farm in the Tantramar marshes near Sackville, Mary Laura has not yet seen the house in Alma.

Excelsior Bible C. Hold Meeting

Reports were given by all the committees and it was decided to hold a rummage sale Oct. 23. Further plans were made for the annual bazaar, Nov. 14. Lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. A. Fife, who was assisted by Mrs. H. Fife, Mrs. A. Lowes, Mrs. S. James and Mrs. R. Keating.

Woman Hunter Seeks Big Game Among Rockies

CALGARY (CP)—Helene Nabholz of Switzerland handles a big game rifle with relish—but admits she's a bit squeamish about baiting a fish hook.

"Killing animals doesn't bother me in the least but I just can't put a worm on a hook. It makes me shudder," she confessed Friday.

Miss Nabholz is here waiting for dry weather so she can search for big game on the BC-Alberta border.

She is a veteran hunter—though she'll never be a fisherman—and speaks with brisk authority about hunting methods, game and firearms. She was taught to hunt by her father when a child and has been at it all her life.

The Swiss-born hunter came to Canada after a friend showed her pictures and told glowing reports of a trip two years ago.

When she's not hunting, Miss Nabholz is a equally efficient businesswoman. She manages the family firm—Nabholz Knitting Mill—and lives at Schoenwerd, mid-way between Zurich and Bern.

Versatile Miss Nabholz is also a linguist. She's equally at home in English, French, or German.

Young Mother Hubbard came home from vacation...to find that her cupboard was bare! Now she's stocked up for fall...And the best part of all...She saved at Dominion's Fall Fair!

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"Now that you've driven me to bankruptcy court, you may as well come in and be a creditor too!"

DOROTHY DIX

Must Watch Over Children Even In Father's Custody

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married twice, have two children by my first husband and one by by second. My ex-husband had the custody of our two girls until recently. He neglected them, and when I went to see them they were dirty and sick. Sometimes for five or six months I never even knew where they were. I got them back from their father and things were all right until someone began telling my husband lies about me. He believed these stories and left me. Now I have the three children and don't know where to turn. Should I send the older ones back to their father or try to struggle on?

MIRIAM

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Both your husbands should be responsible for the support of their children, and since you live in a large city, consult the Legal Aid Service or the Family Counselling Service for advice in this matter.

He Will Mistreat Them

Knowing the treatment your ex-husband will give the youngsters if they're returned to him, you would certainly be doing wrong in giving them up. Through the help of either agency I have mentioned, your present husband may be persuaded to return to you.

You are beyond all doubt in the midst of a very muddled affair and you need expert, personal help in straightening it out.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been separated from my husband for approximately six months. We were both very young when we married and through most of the ten years of wedded life we were never happy. As we had no children, we agreed to separate.

Since the settlement of property and legal separation papers have been signed, I have had several opportunities to go out with nice men. I have turned them down because of the fact that I did not know whether, morally speaking, a woman should go out with men until she has secured legal divorce. I have noticed that many women do, but should they?

BARBARA

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Many women don't even wait for a legal separation to go out with other men and I admire your delicacy in questioning the ethics of conduct in your case.

Since you are concerned with doing the right thing, forget dating until the divorce has been granted. Wagging tongues can do a lot of damage, and even though the separation has been granted, trouble could still be caused by malicious gossip. Avoid it!

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am in such desperate need of help that I have considered consulting a psychiatrist, but find the cost of such treatments prohibitive on my budget. Four years ago, at the age of 19, I married Harold, whom I had known for two years. We were quite happy, though we never went anywhere together. Harold doesn't like to mix with people, doesn't care for shows—in fact, likes hunting, or just sitting around doing nothing.

A year ago I had a baby, and following his birth was very nervous. Soon after, I met Ray, and fell in love with him. Ray has a wife and baby, and though I have tried hard to resist him, we have gotten into what is commonly called an "affair." I know it's wrong, but can't break it off. I also know how much trouble will be caused to my husband, but I feel no interest in him. Shall I divorce him?

GEORGIA

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It's difficult to understand how two people as incompatible as you and Harold ever became sufficiently interested in each other to marry. And that seems to be the basis of your trouble. You contracted a marriage based only on physical attractions; when that wore off there was nothing left for mutual security. Now you are proceeding to make a mess of six lives because you haven't the backbone to correct your own mistake.

Will it Change Anything?

Suppose you do divorce your husband, and Ray divorces his wife? Do you think a second marriage will be much different for you from your first? I assure you it won't! After a few romantic months you'll repeat the entire pattern of dissatisfaction, and go off in search of another love! This restless chase for romance offers nothing but tragedy and disaster. Your marriage with Harold may not be the fulfillment of love's young dream—few marriages are—but since he is a devoted husband and father ,whatever chance for happiness you have lies with him.

Psychiatric treatment undoubtedly would be good for you. Many large hospitals now have clinics for such treatment; locate one and see if they can't help you. Don't fool yourself! In the end you have to face your problem and solve it yourself, but authoritative advice can set you on the right track.

LONDON AND PARIS ORIGINALS shown at a fashion tea in Montreal recently included "London Pride" (left). Of lime green silk taffeta this gown's assymetrical shawl collar shows the evening trend toward covered shoulders. The direction of detail is at the back, but a new feature is the lacing effect on the front of the skirt. The afternoon dress (centre), of blued grey taffeta shantung, has a softly draped bodice with vertical neckline, the sleeves cut in one with the bodice. The belted skirt features new swept-to-the-back wide pleats. Ruby colored velvet is used for the striking evening gown (right). Note the important drapery at side of skirt and around the neck.

Percy Twp. Home Wedding Setting

HASTINGS, Sept. 13 (ENS)—A pretty wedding took place Saturday at the home of Mrs Herman Johnston, Percy township, when her youngest daughter, Lillian Evelyn, was united in marriage to Carl Francis Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson of Roseneath. The Rev. J. M. Ritchie of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Hastings, officiated.

The bride entered the room to Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Mrs. J. M. Ritchie, at the organ, and Mr. Donald Beamish on the violin, and was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Harold Johnston.

An arch artistically arranged with cedar boughs was banked with baskets of gladioli, asters and snapdragons. During signing of the register, Mrs. Ritchie sang "Bless This House" and "I Love You Truy."

The bride wore a gown of white slipper satin, trimmed with fine sontache braid. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion fell from a circular headdress of velvet flowers and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Miss Phyliss Johnston, bridesmaid for her sister, wore a similar gown of lilac taffeta with matching headdress and mittens and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Janice Lynn Johnston, cousin of the bride, made an attractive flower girl in a period gown of English organdy over taffeta and carried a nosegay of red roses and carried a nosegay of red rose buds. Ralph Johnston, brother of the bride as ring bearer carried the ring on a cushion of yellow satin, with yellow and mauve ribbons. Groomsman was Donald Adams of Roseneath.

The bride's mother received her guests in a gown of black revelation crepe with matching accessories, and wore a corsage of mauve baby 'mums. She was assisted by the groom's mother who wore a black sheer crepe dress with matching accessories and a corsage of mauve baby 'mums.

Later the bride and groom left for a trip to Watertown, NY, the bride travelling in skipper blue gabardine suit with grey accessories and a corsage of red roses. They will live in Campbellford.

Circle Has Word From Members Now In Trinidad

Jean Wagar Mission Circle of St. James' United Church met this week at the home of the president, Miss Gladys Langton.

Thoughts were with two of members, Misses Marion and Constance Wagar, who arrived safely in Trinidad last Saturday to take up their work under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society. All were pleased to read cards from them telling of an enjoyable trip. Luckily they were safely anchored at Dominica at the time of the hurricane in that region.

Miss Langton conducted the worship service, with the Rev. Heuston McCormack offering prayer and giving a timely talk, inspiring his listeners with courage and determination to press forward in the Master's work.

Miss Barbara Pollock of Havelock assisted greatly by her accompaniments on the piano-accordion of the hymns, and contributed two solos.

The program, based on Trinidad, its people, customs, religions, resources, and opportunities for service, was presented by Miss Langton, Miss Ethel Menzies, Mr. Donald Pollock, Miss Jean Hammond, Mrs. Norma Ephgrave and Mrs. Geo. Hewitt.

Greetings were read from Mrs. F. W. Craik of Alliston. Mrs. George Hewitt was presented with three beautiful cups and saucers from the girls of the Mission Circle.

Toronto Tpyist Chalks Up Point For UK Labor Party

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Sept. 13 —(CP)— Chalk up a propaganda point for Britain's Labor Party, and credit Canada's Olive Richardson with an assist.

Miss Richardson is a tall, smiling, ash-blonde shorthand typist from Toronto. The other day she poked her decorative profile into British politics, and the Labor Party says triumphantly that it just goes to show you.

Here's the story:

Labor came out recently with a new woman's magazine, featuring a girl named "Joan" and dedicated to the proposition that in socialist Britain a working gal can buy a complete outfit for about £10.

How's that again? demanded women's editors across the country. Anybody knows, the Conservative papers said, you couldn't pin a peplum on a poodle for that kind of money, who is this Joan, and in what rummage sale did she stalk her bargains?

To Show Results

So Labor set out to show it could be done. A reporter on the pro-labor Daily Herald selected Miss Richardson as a nicely non-partisan type (Miss Richardson left Canada only a few months ago) and took her to two well-known London department stores. The "Joan" of the original article a fashion model, wasn't available.

"Miss Richardson and I went out together, without any 'laying-on' beforehand," wrote the reporter. "She is a tall girl of average 34-inch bust, 38-inch hip measurements, presenting no special fitting difficulties."

Results of the shopping tour? one green wool suit with pleated skirt and tailored jacket, £6, 17s. A cherry-red felt hat, 10s; black suede shoes, £1; grey cotton jumper, 8s 11d; fabric gloves, 5s 4½d; black leatherette handbag, 29s 11d.

Total expenditure: £10, 11s, 11d. Results: "an outfit," says The Daily Herald; "that any woman could wear with pleasure."

To show it didn't dream the whole thing up, the paper published a picture of Miss Richardson happily wearing the new outfit. It also quoted her as saying a decent outfit back home in Toronto would cost at least £14.

In answer to inquiries, The Daily Herald reporter assured this correspondent that the story was strictly on the level. But she said she couldn't tell me where to get in touch with Miss Richardson because "she doesn't want to get involved in any political hoo-haw."

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Pickle Recipes In Demand With Plenty of Supplies

All signs point to a large pickle pack.

I'm sure I'm receiving more letters asking for pickle recipes than I am for fruit and jam.

Is it because you know how to can fruit and make jams, or is it because you are buying more of the fruit products made by commercial canners?

One reader told me she was making pickles this year instead of buying them (1) because she liked her own better (when she made them according to my recipes!) and (2) because they cost about one-third as much as "store" pickles, or even less if you raised your own cucumbers.

To start off with I have a beauty. It is a chopped pickle or relish that retains much of its crispness although it is cooked. It is excellent for barbecue purposes, and especially with cold meats or on Dagwood-type hamburgers.

Emem's Chopped Pickle

These amounts make 6 pints.

Four cups onions (6 large cooking onions), 4 cups cucumbers (3 medium size), 3 cups cauliflower (2 small or 1 large), ½ cup salt, 5 cups lukewarm water, 5 cups spirit vinegar, 3½ cups brown sugar, 2 tablespoons mustard seeds, 1½ tablespoons celery seed, 1½ teaspoons tumeric, ½ cup flour, ½ cup cold vinegar. Peel or prepare vegetables and put through food chopper. Do not pare the cucumbers. Cover with a brine made of the salt and lukewarm water and let stand overnight. Drain thoroughly in morning. Add the vinegar, sugar, mustard and celery seeds and tumeric. Bring mixture slowly to just below boiling point and simmer—do not boil—for one-half hour. Stir the flour into a small amount of cold vinegar to a smooth paste and stir this into the mixture until it thickens, simmer for 5 minutes longer. Pour into sterile jars and seal. If desired for a variation add 1 dill-size cucumber cut into wafer-thin slices and 1½-inch long fine strips of sweet red pepper. Add these when all other vegetables are added.

Emem's Mother's Favourite Mustard Pickle

If desired this may be kept closely covered in a stone crock in a cool place. The pickles made from this recipe represent the only thing I recognized as a pickle until I was about eleven years old. A job that was sacred to me was the filling of the pickle dish at meal time—and these were the pickles. Needless to say, they are enthusiastically recommended.

Three quarts cucumbers—small size, so half may be left whole and those too large for this cut into quarters, 2 large cauliflowers, 3 quarts pickling onions, 3 red peppers, 3 quarts cider vinegar, 4 cups brown sugar, ½ tablespoon salt, ½ cup flour, 2 tablespoons pepper, 1 teaspoon cayenne (this may be omitted or reduced), 2 tablespoons mustard seed, 1½ tablespoons tumeric, 1 cup dry mustard: Wash the cucumbers, cutting those that are longer than 3 inches; wash cauliflowers and break up into very small flowerets—no more than 1½ inches long; wash and peel onions and cut peppers in strips. Cover with a hot brine made in proportions of ½ cup salt to 1 quart boiling water and let stand overnight. Drain well. Heat vinegar to boiling. Mix the sugar, flour and seasonings, and add vinegar slowly, stirring until thick. Add the drained vegetables and cook 5 minutes, stirring. Pour into sterile pint jars and seal or store in clean stone crock covered with plate that fits top snugly, and store in cold place. Write to me and let me know if these were not the pickles you were hoping for.

Lawyers Split On Board Issue

TORONTO, Sept. 13 (CP). — Two sections of the Canadian Bar Association stood opposed today on the question of whether judges should be appointed to labor conciliation boards.

The British Columbia sub-section on civil justice Wednesday protested the use of judges on boards and royal commissions.

Later in the day, the industrial relations section supported judges on boards. They have earned the respect of management and labor, its resolution said.

The issue may be decided Friday with a vote of all members at the final sessions of the annual meeting here.

At the association's annual meeting in 1950 at Washington, a resolution was passed calling on Ottawa to halt the appointment of judges as chairmen of conciliation and arbitration boards.

Last Big Roundup Of Western Horses

CALGARY, Sept. 13 (CP) — Some 325 horses were trail-herded to the corrals of a Calgary slaughter house yesterday.

Art and Fred Galarneau, well-known Hanna, Alta., cowboys who led the roundup, said it was likely the last big overland herding of horses in the Canadian west.

Johnny Powell, sales manager of the packing plant, which cans horsemeat as fe' for dogs, cats and mink, also predicted the gradual disappearance of the horse.

"Within two years horses will be very, very scarce," he said. "No one seems to be raising horses anymore." The reason is that one horse will eat as much grass as 10 cattle.

Mr. Powell estimated there are only about 500,000 horses left in Canada. In four years, 550,000 had been slaughtered for the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Association alone.

Taxi Driver Jailed 2 Months

LINDSAY, Sept. 13—Convicted on a charge of selling liquor, Leonard Scholer, a Lindsay taxi-driver was sentenced in Lindsay police court to two months in the county gaol.

An 18-year-old Lindsay man, James Woodworth, earlier convicted of being intoxicated, identified the accused as the driver who had sold he and a friend two bottles of liquor on the evening of August 25. The witness was unable to give the accused man's name.

He explained that he and his friend were standing in front of the Kent theatre when he hailed a passing taxi and asked if he could obtain a bottle. The driver, whom he identified as Scholer, took them to a cafe on Queen St. The two men waited in the car while the driver went into the cafe. When he returned the wine was on the seat.

The driver then took them to the white bridge south of Lindsay. The witness said that it was there he paid the accused $4.50—$2.00 each for the two bottles of wine and 50 cents for the ride.

The friend, John Stapleton then took the stand and gave similar evidence, but was not so positive in his identification of the accused.

Magistrate E. A. Gee sentenced Scholer to two months in jail. Immediately defence attorney W. E. Richardson arranged for $200 bail to be set, pending an appeal.

Martin Declares Industry Obliged To Aid Jobless

WINDSOR, Sept. 13 (CP) — Health Minister Martin said Wednesday night industry is under an obligation to do more for unemployed workers.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the Canadian Catholic Historical Association, Mr. Martin said family allowances and unemployment insurance are designed to meet lapses in employment.

"But to me," he said, "it becomes increasingly clear that if a community makes manpower available to an industry, that industry has an obligation in periods of unemployment to do more than is now done to provide for the economic sustenance of unemployed industrial workers."

Mr. Martin traced the growth of social-security measures in Canada and said the federal government has been increasingly drawn into the social welfare field.

"This year, Canada will spend more than $1,000,000,000 on health and social security," said Mr. Martin. "In spite of such a vast increase in health and welfare activities we have come to this high level of public and voluntary expenditures without haste, certainly, and only after careful deliberation of each new measure adopted.

Not Beyond Capacity

"No one need fear that to spend one dollar in 20 of our gross national income for such purposes is either beyond this country's capacity or beyond our people's needs."

Mr. Martin said in the last 11 years, during which Canada's greatest social-security measures were introduced, a greater proportion of Canadians have taken up job opportunities than ever before.

"The productivity of the individual worker has increased steadily year after year to make Canada's rate of industrial progress the highest in the world. And all this while bearing the heavy burden of a great war and of the reconstruction that followed."

"To some, the term 'welfare state' has a sinister note, for they fear the emphasis will be on the state rather than on the welfare. My conception of democracy has never envisaged a condition where the fruits of industry are dutifully laid out at the feet of an omnipotent state to be doled out to a servile and dependent people.

"But to hold millions in the yoke of poverty is not democratic either. We must strike a balance. We must keep a free and enterprising society, but we must make sure that no one who makes the best use of his abilities and opportunities is debarred from a decent standard of life."

Schools Erected For Children In Army Camps

More than 2,000 children of servicemen are eagerly watching the construction of neat, modern schoolhouses to replace the temporary ones they now are attending in camps where their soldier-fathers are stationed.

Two of four new 18-room schools now being rushed to completion are to be ready for occupancy the first of the week. Contractors are expected to put the finishing touches to the two buildings today. The schools are located at Petawawa, Ont., and Camp Shilo, Man.

Another, at Currie Barracks, Calgary, will be ready next February and a fourth, at Fort Henry near Barriefield, Ont., will be completed by December. All four are roomy, multi-windowed structures of modern design complete with auditorium.

A smaller six-classroom school was completed at Picton, Ont., in time for the opening of the new school term.

Still others are under construction at Fort Churchill, Man., and Camp Borden, Ont.

The schools are operated by the Army under the direct jurisdiction of the Department of Education for the province in which the schools are located. Each school is administered by a school committee composed of unit personnel nominated by the officer commanding the camp, and teachers are qualified according to provincial standards.

Last year more than 2,000 children registered at Army conducted schools in the nine main Army centres. With more soldiers now occupying married quarters it is expected that this total will be exceeded this year.

Lack Of Change Plagued Early Banks

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

If you walked into a bank today and asked it to change $5, you would be rather surprised if the bank said:

"Sorry, we are out of change."

Yet, 100 years ago or so, such a reply would not have been surprising.

For one of the problems of the time, for banks or businesses, was to get hold of enough bills and coins to carry on day-to-day transactions. All sorts of strange coins, including doubloons and Spanish dollars, crossed the counters in an attempt to meet the shortage. Banks, while sharing the problem, could at least alleviate it by providing a common place for valuation and exchange.

This situation is recalled in the current monthly review of the Bank of Nova Scotia, which tells about the beginnings of the institution in 1832, as a sort of foreword to the opening in Toronto Sept. 25 of the bank's new 25-storey executive office building.

One of the problems of getting started at all, even though the necessary capital had been subscribed, was to get enough notes and specie; though they were obtained in time from New York. And, in the early years, the agent at Pictou wrote to head office at Halifax, 100 miles distant, to say:

Change Very Scarce

"Gather all the sterling money you can for me and I will make some person going down with a sled call for it as soon as sleighing is good. Change is so scarce I find you have never sent enough of it here, for which you have suffered more severely than you are aware."

The review comments:

"The problem, of course, was that of all young and expanding colonies—the heavy import needs which tended to drain off cash as rapidly as it was earned—but it was complicated in Nova Scotia by the bewildering array of gold and silver coins of various weights, fineness, and degree of baseness."

Incidentally, this shortage of a suitable medium of exchange, to which the review draws attention, is considered by many to have been a major factor, down through the ages, in the slow increase in the distribution of goods and consequently for the slow increase in standards of living.

Under Control

Only in recent years do we seem to have got the problem under control, at least in our internal operations—where central authorities see that there is enough money in circulation to allow transaction of the country's business. We still have a way to go in an international sense.

The review prints the inscription which appears in the lobby of the new executive office building, which reads:

"The Bank of Nova Scotia, erected 1951 and dedicated to the men of vision and integrity who in the year 1832 founded this bank in the city of Halifax, Nova Scotia, and to those who throughout the years have guided its destiny, served it faithfully and nurtured its growth westward to the Pacific, northward to the frontier outposts and south to the islands of the Caribbean."

Follow Model

The bank's charter was closely modelled on that of the Bank of New Brunswick, established in 1820, and which was amalgamated with the Bank of Nova Scotia in 1913.

It remained within the Maritimes until the 1880s, when a branch was opened in Winnipeg in response to the lure of the "Northwest." But, from the first, due to far-flung Maritime shipping enterprises, letters and advices flowed in from New York, Boston, London, Liverpool, Jamaica, Barbados, Martinique, Bahia, Pernambuco, "Demerary," Leghorn and Naples.

And, despite Canada-wide expansion, the review says:

"Still, in a very real sease, Halifax is 'home-town,' just as the home towns of many of its officers, though they may be stationed as far away as Vancouver, San Juan, London or New York, are the cities, towns and country areas of the Maritimes."

For a number of years his major work dealt with Biblical and medieval themes.

Oil Production Likely Increase By Many Times

ATLANTIC CITY, NJ, Sept. 13 —(CP) — Known oil in Western Canada is likely to increase by several times in the next few years, John R. White of Toronto, executive vice-president of Imperial Oil, Ltd., said today in an address to the United States National Petroleum Association.

Present Western production is meeting the oil needs of the Prairie Provinces and about half those of Ontario, he added, and indicated that British Columbia requirements could be met within a few years.' 'It appears that a substantial pipe line, based on supply British Columbia alone, can be justified."

At greater distance than these markets was that of Montreal. At present it was less expensive to supply this market by imports but changing conditions might alter this.

Consider Needs.

However, Mr. White said, Canadian transportation problems and the strategic needs of the North American Continent should be considered in deciding which way Canadian oil should move.

Unless this is done, he added, we might reach a situation in which Canadians were moving oil Eatward, while south of the border Americans were moving oil in a more or less opposite direction."

He said present customs duties between Canada and the United States are not adapted to North American strategic needs.

Western oil reserves, said Mr. White, now are estimated at 1,-350,000,000 barrels, agaiust 45,-000,000 barrels in 1946; and production potential per day at 195,-000 barrels, against 19,000 barrels in 1946. At the same time the hunt for more oil has stepped up tremendously.

Claim New Remedy For Poison Ivy

NEW YORK, Sept. 13—(AP)—A new remedy for poison ivy, made of the magic metal zirconium, was reported today by the National Lead Company at the closing session of the 12th International Congress of Pure and Applied Chemistry.

Zirconium is a white metal, nearly twice as heavy as iron. It is one of the secret new metals for atomic reactors. For poison ivy, the zirconium, with a carbon compound, is mixed in cold cream.

The story behind this discovery is that a National Lead Company official several years ago planned to take his son on a vacation. The boy got poison ivy so badly that the trip was threatened. The official asked his chemists to make something for the poisoning. They immediately produced a metallic cream, forerunner of the zirconium, and it so nearly cured the ivy in two days that the boy went on his trip.

Several years' work resulted in the zirconium ointment. With its use most of the misery of poison ivy is gone in a couple of days.

Two Trappers Decide On Army Life

EDMONTON, Sept. 13 — (CP) —(CP)— Two young Indian trappers from Canada's Far North have traded a life of tramping along trap lines for an army career. But they figure they've done their share of marching, they want to be army drivers.

The recruits are Francis Julius Francis, 20, and Freddie Albert, 18, of the Luchus Indian tribe Mackenzie river valley.

Until Monday they had never travelled more than 100 miles from Aklavik, NWT, at the mouth of the Mackenzie.

Then, they boarded a Canadian Pacific Air Lines plane— fare paid by the Canadian army— and flew 1,500 miles to Edmonton for final processing at the recruiting centre.

They said a moving force in their decision to join the army — they thought it over all summer after last winter's poor trapping season— was Canon C. R. Montgomery, head of the Anglican mission in Aklavik where the young trappers were edcuated.

Easier Living.

Canon Montgomery, who went to Aklavik from Africa after the Second World War, is a brother of Britain's Field Marshall Bernard Montgomery

Francis said joining the army was 'Freddie's idea.' But you could see he liked the idea for he was quick to add, "it will be an easier living than trapping."

Confessing to a desire to drive trucks— neither has driven before although there are trucks in Aklavik— they hope to join the Service Corps.

The trap lines they left behind on the Artic coast will be worked by their families.

Fit For Duty.

The army here first heard about their intentions in a letter from Canon Montgomery. Ten days later a medical-dental team, on a tour of Northern outposts, declared Francis and Freddie fit for army duty.

"We will do all we can to keep them together for the time being," said Capt. D. A. MacLeod, officer commanding the Edmonton manning depot.

He took the new recruits on a city tour, then to a dinner in a downtown cafe. Their biggest thrill came when they climbed into the cab of a railroad locomotive.

Youth Dies Of Wound Victim Of Good Deed

NEW YORK, Sept 13 (AP). — Julian F. Sweeney, 14, died Wednesday of a bullet wound in the head—a victim of his own good deed and a case of mistaken identity.

At twilight Tuesday the youth, son of a Queens insurance agent, went to the roof of his sister's home to fix her television aerial.

Neighbors thought the youth was a prowler and called police. The patrolmen fired four warning shots, but when he refused to halt, fired again.

One bullet found its target.

Blames Other Driver Finds It's His Son

VINELAND, NJ, Sept. 13 (AP). —John Baldsoaro wasn't too sure today about the adage "Like father, like son."

He was out driving Wednesday when an automobile from the opposite direction swung to the wrong side of the road. He swerved. So did the second driver. Both jammed on their brakes.

Baldasaro, shaken but unhurt, jumped out to give "tha' guy" a piece of his mind.

He looked angrily into a familiar face—his son, Louis.

Hiring 3,000 Extra Workers To Begin Making New Jets

MONTREAL Sept. 13 (CP)—Canadair Limited will begin immediate work on the Department of Defence production's order for T-33 jet trainers for the RCAF with the hiring of 3,000 additional workers the company announced today.

With other defence contracts recently announced and for which employees are now being hired. this will raise Canadair's work force to approximately 18,000.

Awarding of the contract to Canadair by Ottawa followed a recent announcement that the Beech United States Air Force T-36-A, newly designed advanced transport trainer, was going into production for the US Air Force at Canadair's plant in suburban Montreal.

The T-33 contract marks the company's third important defence assignment within the last two years, which includes mass production of the F-86 Sabre jets for the Royal Canadian Air Force. Coincident with the announcement of the T-33 contract, the 100th F-86 Sabre today moved off the Canadair production line.

To Bridge Gap

The T-33 will serve in the RCAF training program to bridge the gap between the Harvard trainer and the two operational jet fighters with which RCAF squadrons are equipped. This will ensure a continuing supply of trained jet pilots to meet the nation's defence needs.

All phases of production, from tooling and parts manufacture, through final assembly and flight, the company said, will be handled in Canadair's plant No. 1. This is the largest unit in the company's 40 acres of covered factory space where Canadair 40-passenger, four-engine luxury liners were turned out for Trans-Canada Airlines, British Overseas Airways Corporation and Canadian Pacific Airlines.

The T-33 is a development of the famed F-80 Shooting Star, which distinguished itself in Korea by flying half of all USAF flight sorties against the enemy. The two-place ship is equally efficient in its own way, and can readily be used to teach gunnery, bombing, rocket attack and high speed tactics.

Designed by Lockheed Aircraft Corporation, the T-33 is a two-seat airplane with dual controls and duplicate radio and flight instruments, adaptable to both day and night training operations. Its fully pressurized cabin permits operation at high altitudes. The T-33 is also the standard jet trainer for the United States Air Force and Navy.

Powered with centrifugal flow turbo-jet Allison J-33 engine, the T-33 develops 4,600 pounds of thrust at sea level. Including tip tanks, it has a fuel capacity of close to 700 gallons.

A 14,500-pound aircraft, the T-33 has convention type wings, with a wing span of 38 feet 10½ inches, and an overall length of 37 feet 8½ inches.

In recent tests the T-33 reached an altitude of 37,000 feet and a top speed of 550 miles an hour.

Resignation Worries Europe

PARIS, Sept. 13 (AP) — — — West European newspapers expressed both regret and worry today at the resignation of George C. Marshall as United States defence secretary.

From the other side of the Iron Curtain, there was no comment as yet. The Soviet morning press in Moscow reported the secretary's retirement briefly. Both Marshall and his successor, Robert A. Lovett, have been targets of sharp criticism in the Soviet press.

Leading French newspapers reflected worry.

The Independent Socialist newspaper Combat said that "Marshall quit because he lost the battle for Europe, the battle for the priority of Europe over Asia in the order of the importance of the definite objectives of American policy. . ."

The right-wing newspaper l'Aurore took a similar view.

In West Berlin, newspapers expressed regret but indicated faith that Lovett's appointment meant no change in US opposition to Red aggression.

Owen Sound Firemen Get $350 Increase

OWEN SOUND, Sept. 13 (CP)—Owen Sound firemen this year will receive an increase of $350 in salary. They had asked for $400.

Ald. Randall Browne, chairman of the fire and street lighting committee, Monday night read to Owen Sound city council the decision of an arbitration board which sat here May 15.

Later in the meeting Mayor E. C. Sargent again suggested that the city consider the possibility of establishing a volunteer fire brigade.

Fire protection here costs $70,-000 a year while Barrie, with a volunteer brigade, pays only $10,000 said Mayor Sargent.

Under the new increase, the wage of a first class fireman in Owen Sound this year will be $2,650.

Troops Dig Out Winter Clothes

Winter's chill blast—when it blows—won't catch personnel of the Canadian Army unawares or without their "un'a'wears."

Orders issued this week at army headquarters instruct officers that summer uniforms — regardless of the weather—will not be worn after October 8. Between now and then it is optional whether they wear summer or winter "dress."

The date on which the wearing of winter clothing becomes mandatory fluctuates, taking into consideration climatic conditions in various parts of the country. But in and around Ottawa, at least, summer dress goes into mothballs October 8.

Abbott Expects Britain To Make Loan Payment

WASHINGTON Sept. 13—(CP) — Canada's Finance Minister Douglas C. Abbott said Wednesday he expects Britain to make its first payment on a Canadian loan of $1,250,000,000 when it falls due in December this year.

The Canadian loan was a companion to one of $3,750,000,000 granted by the United States to Britain in 1946.

Abbott, who heads the Canadian delegation to the annual meeting of the boards of governors of the World Bank and International Monetary Fund, told a press conference:

"I have no reason to expect that Britain won't be able to make payment on the principal and interest on the loan when it falls due in December."

He noted Britain had made provision in its budget for payment on the first instalment of the loans to both the United States and Canada. The loan agreements with the United States and Canada called for British repayment over a period of 50 years.

Ready to Pay

Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Gaitskell declared a few days ago that Britain has provided for paying the first instalments on the two loans in its present budget but has not decided on whether to ask for a waiver on payment of the interest.

The loan agreements specify in both cases that payment on the principal must be made but allows waivers on the interest.

On other matters, Abbott declined to speak categorically on whether Canada would fix a new par value for her currency after allowing the Canadian dollar to seek its on level.

Abbott also declared member countries of the fund might take some risks in relaxing exchange controls rather than waiting until all the hurdles were sumounted before taking action.

Abbott disclosed that the fund had completed a study of premium gold sales, but said it would not be reported to the board of directors until after this week's meeting of the governors, of which he is chairman.

He said Canada had approached the fund informally several months ago to obtain an opinion on possible premium gold sales by his government. He said the matter had been considered in view of the fact that 40 per cent of South Africa's gold production now is being sold at premium prices for industrial purposes.

Not Satisfied

Abbott said the fund had previously indicated its dissatisfaction with some practices arising from sales of gold at prices in excess of the fixed rate 35 US dollars an ounce.

He said Canada unquestionably would have a view to express when the gold sales report went to the directors. He added, however, that Canada is anxious to live up to its international obligations.

Abbott said that Canada, as one of the world's major trading nations, is especially concerned with the monetary fund's activities bebecause of his country's vital interest in the stability of exchange rates, a more rapid trend toward convertibility, and the elimination of restrictive trade practices.

Canada was equally interested in the World Bank's program of assistance to under-privileged countries which were potential markets for many Canadian products.

Restrictions Eased On West Berlin Mail

BERLIN, Sept. 13 (Reuters) — East German restrictions on westbound mail trains from West Berlin were reported today to have been eased for the first time in nearly two weeks.

West Berlin postal authorities said that all 36 mail cars for West Germany passed through the inter-zonal border check-point at Marienborn Wednesday night without hindrance.

But eight of 23 Berlin-bound mail cars from Hanover were turned back.

In the last two weeks East German police have sent back cars from both directions because they said they were "over-packed" and could not be properly checked.

Thailand Has Abandoned Traditionally Neutral Role

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

BANGKOK, Sept. 13—(AP)—Premier P. Pibulsonggram has abandoned Thailand's traditionally-neutral role in world politics and committed this prosperous kingdom on the side of the anti-Communist powers.

In gambling that the West will win, Thailand's strong man is accepting the challenge of a hostile Communist China to the north and the danger of his country's eastern flank posed by the Communist-led Vietminh in Indo-China.

Some Thais fear Pibulsonggram has jumped into the Western camp too soon. They believe Thailand should continue to steer a middle course until it becomes certain which side will win.

For centuries, Thailand preserved her independence by balancing off the ambitions of the great powers. The Netherlands and Portugal fought to a stalemate in their efforts to control Thailand as later did France and Britain.

When compelled to Thailand has reluctantly abandoned her neutrality. In the Second World War with Japan knocking on his door Pibulsonggram yielded Thailand to the Japanese but kept the country relatively free of direct domination.

Several Explanations

There are several explanations offered for Pibulsonggram's shift in policy.

One is a Thai belief that although there may be initial Communist victories in Southeast Asia the West eventually will come out on top.

Another is that he is strongly anti-Chinese and fears Peking's hungry outlook on the fat strategic kingdom.

Finally Pibulsonggram knows that he and his political backers are finished if the Communists take Thailand.

What has given the regime more courage to face up to Communist China is the UN success in Korea. To reinforce Pibulsonggram's position, the West is giving Thailand increasing aid.

Furnished Loan

The World Bank has furnished a loan of $24,500,000. Last year the Economic Co-Operation Administration provided $8,500,000 for technical assistance and equipment for communications, agriculture and public health.

With peace, stability and Western economic aid, Thailand is booming. Rice, rubber, teak and tin are her main exports. Her favorable balance of trade runs annually about $40,000,000.

An American military advisory group is assisting the Thai army and air force in training. By June, 1953, the army of 30,000 troops will be re-equipped and reorganized.

Besides stiffening Thai national defence, American military aid is strengthening the government's internal position. In Thailand, political power rests largely upon armed force.

Unusual Quest

LONDON—(CP)—Three language professors have started on a search for quaint words and phrases, particularly in dialect, that are slowly dying out of modern English. Oxford professor Charles Wren, leading the search, said persons interested in dialect will be asked for opinions.

Religious Education Poor In Schools

VICTORIA, B.C., Sept. 13 — (CP)—Religious education in the public schools—not merely the reading of excerpts from the Bible—is a paramount need today, says the executive council of the Church of England in Canada. But the Council declares provincial governments have used "delaying tactics" in introducing religion in the schools.

The council, along with the general board of religious education and the council for social services, is in session here discussing the various problems of the church.

The Ontario government was one of the provincial administrations charged with "blocking tactics." It had failed to implement the recommendations made by a royal commission on education.

But some members of the council maintained the church itself was at fault.

SHINWELL ARRIVES FOR NATO TALKS—The eyes of the world will be on Ottawa this weekend as delegates from the 12 North Atlantic Treaty Nations will confer on Parliament Hill to discuss many points affecting the economy of the member nations. Big 3 Want Germany Aid Defence

Brought Into Lineup Soon As Possible Officials Declare

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14. — (AP)—The Big Three Foreign Ministers said today negotiations will be pressed "as rapidly as possible" to bring west Germany into the European defence lineup.

The Big Three — the United States, Britain and France—also announced a decision to make a "new and resolute effort" to bring about an agreement with Russia on a final post-war settlement with Austria.

A communique, issued near the close of a five-day conference, said that State Secretary Dean Acheson of the United States, Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison of Britain and Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France "found solid grounds for confidence in the growing strength and unity of the free world."

Sympathetic Ear

They announced "sympathy" for Italy's proposal to revise its peace treaty setting a maximum of 300,000 men on Italian armed forces and said "this question will be the subject of further conversations between the governments."

The Big Three said they have agreed on instructions to the High Commissioners for West Germany on negotiating a peace contract with the Bonn government.

The guiding principle of Western policy "continues to be the integration of the federal Republic on a basis of equality within a European community."

No German Army

PARIS, Sept. 14. (AP)—The French foreign ministry said today recruiting of Germans for western defence will begin only when the framework of an European army has been established. It said that under no circumstances can there be even the nucleus of a German national army. The foreign ministry issued the statement in denying a report in the newspaper Figaro that Foreign Minister Robert Schuman had consented to "the immediate raising of German contingents under the authority of the Atlantic Organization."

Make Apology For Cancelling Butter Orders

OTTAWA, Sept. 14 — (CP).—The Canadian Government has publicly apologized to New Zealand for its action on butter import controls which resulted in New Zealand losing opportunities to extend butter sales in Canada.

Trade Minister Howe isued a statement Thursday night placing part of the blame on the government's shoulders, but at the same time making clear that New Zealand's butter prices were higher than those prevailing in Europe where Canada purchased most of her imported butter requirements.

The statement followed discussions between the Trade Department and William Marshall, the chairman of the New Zealand Dairy Produce Marketing Commission. Informants disclosed that the statement was drafted with Mr. Marshall's help.

It disclosed that when the government slapped on import controls on butter August 1, New Zealand was in a position to offer butter to the Canadian trade, but refrained from doing so on the Canadian government's request.

Much Too High

Previous reports disclosed that New Zealand had hopes of selling 10,000,000 pounds of butter in Canada, but the Canadian Government purchased only 3,000,000, giving orders for the remaining 7,000,000 to European sources.

New Zealand offered butter at 63 cents a pound, duty paid. Canada got butter from Sweden, Denmark and the Netherlands at from 60 to 61 cents a pound, duty paid.

The statement said Canada was bound to buy butter on a competitive basis, without discrimination, in line with the terms of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade of which she is a member.

Informants previously disclosed that one of the reasons why Canada switched to European butter was the fact that New Zealand sold butter to Britain for 42 cents a pound, but offered it to Canada for 63 cents.

UN Soldiers Take Peak In Stiff Fight

Spot 6 Enemy Tanks On Western Front, UN Planes Attack

US EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Sept. 14.—(AP)—United Nations infantrymen today wrested a towering peak from bitterly-resisting Communists north of Yanggu as the bloody "battle of the hills" ground on in eastern Korea.

On the other end of the peninsula, six Russian-type T-34 tanks and two self-propelled guns were spotted west of Yonchon. They were immediately attacked by UN artillery, planes and tanks.

An allied briefing officer said they were dug in, and apparently designed for defensive purposes by the Reds.

In the air war, allied planes roared through Korean skies on close-support missions for the infantry and slashing attacks at Red supply lines.

One marine Corsair fighter was downed by Communist ground fire. For the first time in six days there were no reports of jet battles.

Thinly Defended

The UN foot troops captured a mountain peak on the eastern front after getting reports that it was thinly defended.

But die-hard North Koreans repulsed a UN attack on another mountain to the west.

The Red tanks in the west were spotted west of Yonchon, about seven miles north of parallel 38.

Warplanes roared down in screaming dives attacking the tanks. Air observers made no immediate claims. One report said that after the first air strike, the tank crews broke from cover to replace camouflage knocked off by the blast of explosions.

The vehicles were dug in, with only the tops of their hulls and hoods showing above ground.

The Marines in the east apparently were reaching the main Red defence lines. Dense clouds of anti-personnel mines were reported.

The Communists, both Chinese and North Korean, defended their position to the last. Hundreds were killed by bullet, bomb and jellied gasoline.

The fighting was concentrated at several points from the Kumsong sector of east-central Korea to the higher hills near Kansong on the east coast.

The toughest going was generally north of the "punchbowl," an egg-shaped valley north of Inje. This was the scene of the Marine advance.

String On Deal

LONDON, Sept. 14. (AP)—Government officials disclosed today Russia has kept the right to halt grain shipments to Britain unless she can buy commonwealth rubber. This reservation was written into a new Anglo-Soviet contract for the delivery of 1,000,000 tons of coarse grains to this country in the next 12 months. The deal was announced Thursday night.

Child Missing 26 Hours Hold Girl 15

HAMILTON, Sept. 14 (CP)—A 15-year-old girl has been picked up by police and charged in connection with the 26-hour disappearance of three-year-old Danny Schultz from his north-end home. Police Chief A. J. Chamberlain said she will appear in juvenile court on a charge of being an incorrigible.

The break came in the case minutes after Mayor Lloyd Jackson had called for a city-wide search by police and volunteers for the boy.

The girl told police that she had met the boy near his home around noon Thursday — three hours after he had been put out in the back yard to play by his mother.

Police said that she took him to a corner store to buy some candy. In the afternon she walked with him to Van Wagner's beach, leaving there around 10 o'clock Thursday night to find an unlocked car parked in a service station in the vicinity of the beach. There they spent the night sleeping.

This morning the girl started out to walk back to the beach with the youngster to wash. On the journey, they were spotted by Constables William Allan and Arthur Owens and picked up.

The officers took the young boy to his mother, Mrs. James Proudfoot, and delivered the girl to central police station where Det.-Sgt. Stanley Gaylard questioned her.

Say Air Units Troops High On List

May Also Request Arms Shipments Could Be Speeded Up

OTTAWA, Sept. 14. (CP)—The North Atlantic Treaty Organization would like more air squadrons from Canada and would like to get them to Europe fast. It also would like more troops.

Canada, along with the other 11 member nations, is being asked to do more all along the line in the buildup of Europe's defences — from more men and planes to more economic aid.

This question will be discussed at the pact council meeting here and will be brought to a head in Rome in October.

Further Canadian contributions are expected to develop from those meetings. There is speculation here that a speedup of Canada's air contribution, financial aid for European production and construction and care of airfields, communications and barracks, and probably more Canadian arms shipments will emerge.

The shortage of air strength in Europe is one of the major headaches now. Canada has pledged an air division of 11 jet squadrons by 1954 and plans to have the first three in Britain by mid-1952. NATO would like more and she would like them faster.

Inflation Danger

The impact of inflation on the defence programs of the Atlantic countries is also expected to be featured prominently in a report of the NATO council of deputies to the main NATO meeting.

The deputies, under the chairmanship of C. M. Spofford of Washington, will meet in secret at 3 p.m. EDT today in the railway committee room of the commons to put the final touches to their report.

TLC Reconsiders Decision On Co-operation

HALIFAX, Sept. 14 (CP). — The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada decided today to reconsider a decision—reached only Tuesday—to withdraw its continuing co-operation with Canada's other central labor bodies.

By a narrow vote of 117 to 116 the reconsideration motion squeezed through just before the convention delegates adjourned for lunch, and the issue was to be dealt with as the first item on the afternoon agenda.

On Tuesday, the Congress voted to pull the TLC out of a continuing national committee set up between it and the Canadian Congress of Labor, the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor and the independent railway brotherhoods. That action was taken on the suggestion of the Congress executive and today's vote to reopen the question constituted a defeat for the TLC leadership on the point.

In taking the original action on Tuesday, the Congress had launched a similar move that of the American Federation of Labor, its big affiliate in the United States, in withdrawing from a joint committee with the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Housing Program

A government-subsidized, low-rental housing construction program was demanded earlier by the Congress.

Declaring the housing crisis is growing more acute, the TLC proposed the program be undertaken by federal government in co-operation with provincial and municipal governments.

The homes should be "financed by the national credit" and designed to house "those who cannot afford the exhorbitant building costs of today."

The Congress asked also:

1. Strict control of rents as part of the proposed housing plan.
2. Federal aid for slum clearance.
3. Top priority for home building.

Some Witnesses Walk Out During Inquiry Into Whitby Police Force

WHITBY, Sept. 14. (CP)—Several persons listed as witnesses at a police commission inquiry into the police force walked out during Thursday's opening hearing because the commission refused to let the complainants' lawyers take part. The inquiry was adjourned late Thursday until today after some of the complainants declined to testify. Judge J. F. MacRae, commission chairman, called the adjournment "so that there will be no indication that we are trying to cut this short."

He had said earlier:

"I don't think we need the services of solicitors at this time in any shape or form. Commission members will help witnesses to make themselves understood."

Constable Bruce Killen testified that Chief Ron Lowe reduced a charge of speeding at 70 miles an hour to one of going 40 miles an hour. The constable said the change was made at the request of Cpl. Jack Scott, of the Provincial Police, "a friend" of the accused person.

Took Bicycle

Another officer, Constable Robert Crozier, told of being on foot patrol one night last year with Sgt. M. Banks when they passed a bicycle leaning against a wall. Crozier said Banks pointed at the bicycle, said it would just fit his litttle girl, and rode away with it.

"Two weeks later, the Chief called me to his home and told me the owner of the bike had found it at Banks' home in Pickering," Crozier said. "Nothing more was done about it."

Crozier was dismissed from the force several months ago and then reinstated.

Banks gave the commission this explanation of the bicycle incident:

"My granddaughter was staying with me and I said to Crozier that I would like an old bike so she could learn to ride. He said he might be able to arrange it.

"Shortly after midnight he told me there was a bicycle leaning against the iron railing at the library. It couldn't be ridden. I got the bike from Crozier. I was most surprised when Don Briant later told me it was his gorl's bicycle."

TLC Urged Ask New Wage Hike

HALIFAX, Sept. 14 — (CP) — The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada today urged all its member unions to go after a new round of wage increases for their 500,000 members.

The Congress at its annual convention adopted a resolution calling for a "determined effort" to get increases to "compensate for the exhorbitant increase in the cose of living and thereby protect the standard of living of their members."

The convention did not act on a suggestion from Bob Brown, International representative of the Printing Pressmen's Union at Toronto, that it take steps to set up zone councils to get unions in each region to agree on the amounts of wage increases they would seek.

Brown said this would prevent some unions looking for only small increases and thereby impairing the bargaining power of other unions.

Another recommendation of the convention was that all affiliates in their next negotiations with employers press for the closed shop — under which only union members would be employed — and for the check off of union dues.

UK Mansion Owners To Get Press Agent

LONDON, Sept. 14. (Reuters)—Britain's tax-burdened mansion owners, forced to throw open their stately homes to the public and charge admission to pay upkeep costs, may get a press agent soon.

To help them recover from Festival of Britain competition this year (their take is down 20 to 50 per cent from 1950), Sir Harold Werner said Thursday he wants to start "Stately Homes, Inc.", a public-relations outfit for mansions on display.

For many members of distinguished families, whose lands—passed on from generation to generation—cannot be sold to pay high taxes, good gate receipts are about the only way repairs can be paid for.

UN Heads Cool To Prayer Room

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Sept. 14 — (AP) — Secretary-general Trygve Lie and some high United Nations' officials have become cool toward the idea of opening a room for prayer and meditation in the UN headquarters, a responsible source said today.

As a result, this source added, there is a strong possibility such a room might not be made available, despite Lie's announced plan for it.

Lie had been expected to arrange for a room for prayer or meditation in the general assembly building, which is to be completed in 1952. It was said however, that he is veering away from the idea and may not carry it out.

Lie was not available for comment.

There is a struggle in the UN inner circles about the prayer room, it was reported.

Persons supporting the project argue that the UN is setting up an elaborate place for a bar for the delegates. They contend that the UN also can furnish a place to pray or meditate.

Opponents of the plan answer that only a small group of protestants appear to want such a prayer room and that there is not enough space for it.

Berlin Police Stage Battle Of Rocks

BERLIN, Sept. 14 (AP)—Fifty West Berliners and East-Zone Communist police threw rocks at each other Thursday night in a brief border fight, West Berlin police said today.

It was on of several anti-Communist demonstrations during the night.

The fight started when the West Berliners tried to tear down one of the street barricades with which the Communists are gradually sealing East Berlin off from the West.

Windsor Layoffs Said 'Difficult'

OTTAWA, Sept. 14 — (CP) — Arthur MacNamara, Deputy Labor Minister, has returned from a tour of Western Ontario and has found that layoffs at Windsor are causing a "difficult" unemployment situation in that city.

In a report covering his tour, he disclosed today that there are not enough defence orders in sight to take up the slack in the layoffs of some 4,312 men and these men may have to leave Windsor for other centres.

Chairman of a special committee formed to study the labor situation, Mr. MacNamara said he met with various representatives of the automobile industry at Windsor, United Automobile Workers, city officials and officials of the provincial and federal departments of labor in a three-hour conference at Windsor, Sept. 11.

At that meeting he disclosed that Labor Minister Gregg has written to 11,000 employers, stating that stepped-up production by Ford and other Windsor automobile plants in the early months of the year resulted in production exceeding "absorptive capacity" and a reduction in the working force.

British Butchers Have Too Much Meat

LONDON, Sept. 14 (Reuters).—British butchers faced with the unique problem of having too much meat today asked the government to suspend rationing for the next few weeks.

Consumers currently are entitled to spend two shillings a week on fresh meat. Next week the ration goes up another twopence.

Butchers say many families cannot afford to take their full ration. Those who can afford to buy more than the ration are not allowed to. Butchers say they are left each weekend with large stocks of unsold meat.

Their representatives today urged the Food iMnistry to let them sell any surplus meat to all-comers without marking their ration books.

Until this spring the ration was a mere tenpence worth a week, enough to buy a small chop. Recent killings have created a surplus.

Frost Urges Simple Welcome

TORONTO, Sept. 14 — (CP) — Premier Frost today called on all municipalities in Ontario to make the visit of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh the occasion of a "people's welcome."

At the same time he suggested to all municipal officials that decorations be kept to a modest scale.

"Their Royal Highnesses are interested in the people and are anxious that they should have an opportunity of seeing as many as possible," he said in a statement.

"Some inquiries have been made with relation to official decorations. The province proposes to have very modest decorations at the parliament buildings where their Royal Highnesses will be on a number of occasions, and suggests to the municipalities that their decorations should also be of a modest nature . . ."

Want Vigilante Groups To Stem Big Crime Wave

JOHANNESBURG, Sept. 14 — (Reuters)—Driven to action by increasing gangsterism, violence and terror, law-abiding Negro residents of Johannesburg's outlying African townships are seeking official permission to set up vigilante groups.

Already a vigilance committee meets weekly in one group of townships a few miles west of here. Four-man African patrols appointed by this committee nightly walk the streets until dawn.

They search suspicious-looking Africans for weapons and call at illicit drinking dens to see that no drink is sold to young persons.

The committee keeps the townships clear of known criminals by punishing Africans who harbor them.

Families which harbor a criminal are ejected from their homes and boycotted by the committee—a punishment more feared than imprisonment.

The committee has also ordered all women and children to be off the streets by 8 p.m.

In the nearby township of Moroka, a similar movement is brewing. The ward committee is seeking permission to form its own corps of vigilantes.

"If a vigilante guard of our own is formed, we should not be afraid to name criminals and hand them over to the police," said one member of the committee. "At the moment we have no protection against reprisals by thugs if we name them."

Welfare workers, African and white, see the breakdown of African family life as the main cause of the terrifying crime wave among city Africans.

In their own rural environment, African children are rigidly disciplined. But in the towns it is usual for both parents to work, and thousands of children thus run wild in the appalling slums.

They form bands of "Tsotsis," a word once associated with youth and high spirits but today denoting criminal associations.

Soft A Preferred For New World NATO

OTTAWA, Sept. 14. (CP) — Count External Affairs Minister Pearson among those who don't know how to pronounce NATO—abbreviation for North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

When Ted Newton, press chief for the organization showed up at a Pearson press conference, the minister asked him, "How do you pronounce NATO, anyway?"

Mr. Newton admitted there is a difference of opinion. Some use a soft "A", some a hard "A". Personally—he is a former McGill professor of English—he used a soft "A" because it came from Atlantic which had a soft "A". But there was no rigid law.

Hopes To Win Battle Of Ancient Autos If He Gets Enough Water For Tired Motor

BUFFALO, N.Y., Sept 14—(AP)—If he can get enough water Jack Brause expects to win the battle of the ancient autos.

The 76-year-old automotive expert chugged into Buffalo in his 1913 Stanley Steamer Thursday night during a driving rainstorm, a full 2½ hours ahead of his 70-year-old buddy.

Rube De Launty and his 1911 Stoddard-Dayton came in at the end of a tow rope.

De Launty said the rain had conked out his motor.

Brause and De Launty will leave Buffalo today on the fifth day of their Chicago-to-New York race.

Brause, who picked up a lead of an hour and 45 minutes between Cleveland and Bufalo, said his only trouble was getting enough water.

The first thing he did when he arrived in Buffalo was to load up with 40 gallons.

De Launty and Brause are automotive experts who work for the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry.

Ex-Premier Leads Drive To Unseat Mossadegh On Oil

TEHRAN, Sept. 14. (AP)—A campaign to unseat Premier Mohammed Mossadegh in the fight over Iran's oil-nationalization policy today was gathering momentum both inside and outside the country. Said Zia Ed-Din, a former Conservative premier and pro-British head of the inactive National Will Party, reopened his party headquarters and rallied supporters Thursday night in a speech denouncing the premier. Zia Ed-Din, a favorite of the Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi, is the man considered most likely to succeed Mossadegh if a fight led by 14 opposition deputies in the majlis (lower house of parliament) succeeds in unseating the premier.

Britain, hopeful that Mossadegh can be ousted, twisted an economic noose tighter about Iran by ordering ships already at sea with cargoes of "certain scarce materials" to change course and head for other ports.

A Board of Trade spokesman said the order was in line with the British government's decision to suspend the financial and trade benefits it gave Iran before Mossadegh won an oil-nationalization program that has closed down the Anglo - Iranian Oil Company operations at Abadan.

Shaky Position

The British Treasury earlier in the week cut off its guarantee of dollars to Iran. The move will make it difficult for Iran to get raw materials from other sources.

Loss of oil royalties and British payrolls for refinery workers contribute to Iran's shaky financial position.

Although Mossadegh was unable to get parliament's approval for an ultimatum to the British to revive suspended talks on operation of the oil company, the ultimatum was sent to Washington in the hope that Mr. Averell Harriman would relay it to the British.

If the British reject the ultimatum, Mossadegh threatens to expel 350 remaining British oil technicians.

Creed Of Killing

Zia Ed-Din, 62, told his supporters that the Mossadegh government leaders follow a creed "of instigating and encouraging the killing of their political opponents."

He promised free speech, more equitable taxation and land reform. But he did not answer reporters' questions about oil nationalization directly. "Oil has been nationalized—nothing can be done without parliamentary approval," was all he would say.

Czechs Protest Ban On Planes

LONDON, Sept. 14 (Reuters)—Czechoslovakia today accused the United States, Britain and France of "discriminatory and arbitrary action" against Czech aviation in Western Europe.

Jackym Pelnar, Czech delegate to the International Air Transport Association conference here, said the three countries had acted together since April, 1951, in a manner "which plainly manifests the intention of completely thwarting Czech air traffic to Western Europe."

Pelnar said the banning of all Czech airline services over Western Germany by the Allied High Commission from Sept. 10 prevented flights to Paris, Brussels and Amsterdam.

"This means our air communications with Western Europe have been cut off," he said. He added the action would have "a disastrous influence in the development of air transport between Central and West Europe."

The Czech delegate accused the US of "exploiting their influence on other countries, especially those with zones of occupation in We[illegible] Germany (Britain and France) in order that the latter, often against their own interests, should exercise a policy of discrimination against Czechoslovakia and its air transport."

Quebec Mayor Dies In Ottawa Hospital

OTTAWA, Sept. 14 — (CP) — Ernest Laurin, 60-year-old Mayor of the little Quebec village of Perkins Mills, died in an Ottawa Hospital Thursday following an illness of some months.

Mayor Laurin was elected to office last May at Perkins Mills, 25 miles north of here, after a retirement from the office he previously held 20 years ago. His health failed him soon after and he was forced to rest.

He was the third Ottawa district mayor to die recently. Little more than two weeks ago Mayor Grenville Goodwin of Ottawa died suddenly. Thursday Mayor Alphonse Mousette of Hull died in a Hull hospital.

Four Trucks, Car Tangle Highway Crash

An Ottawa army officer received a cut lip and his car was badly damaged in an accident Thursday night a mile and a half east of Brookside pavilion on Highway 7E. Altogether, three trucks, a tractor-trailer and a car were involved.

Capt. Fred Sykes, 29, received a cut lip when he was unable to avoid striking the rear of a westbound tractor trailer that stopped on the highway. His wife and four-year-old son were uninjured.

The sequence of events was as follows:

A truck driven by Ward C. Martin, 263 Townsend St., ran into the west ditch after a blowout. Two stake body trucks, one towing the other, then stopped on the highway to lend a hand.

A west-bound tractor trailer, driven by John Collinson 30, Scarborough, slowed down to avoid the two stake-body trucks, and Capt. Sykes, driving a small English-model car, was unable to stop on the rain-swept highway and his car wedged in underneath the transport.

The transport was undamaged but the car received $300 damage.

OPP Constable Tom Armitage investigated.

Cars Sideswipe

A total of $200 damage was caused in a sideswipe collision on Thursday afternoon on Highway 28, a half mile north of the city.

George Bickell, 43, Tichester Rd., Toronto, was driving north on the highway when he came into sideswipe collision with a southbound car driven by Murney Hall, 44, 148 Rutherford St. Bickell's vehicle was knocked over onto the right shoulder of the road and received $150 damage. Hall's car had both left fenders dented and damage is estimated at $50.

OPP Constable Tom Fitzpatrick investigated.

Farmers Wage Duck Battle

THE PAS, Man., Sept. 14 (CP) —Everything from firecrackers to airplanes has been used to frighten off flocks of wild ducks devouring grain crops in the Carrot River Valley west of this Northern Manitoba town.

Indignant farmers report the duck scourge is even greater than in previous years. They have also used rocket flares and shotguns on their winged enemies but the ducks still come back.

G. B. Gollop, of the Department of Resources and Development at Saskatoon, was sent here recently to find some way of combating the aerial gluttons.

One scheme he has in mind was used successfully in North Dakota last year. Special flyways and feeding grounds for ducks were laid out in large seeded fields where they could gobble unmolested. Ducks finding their way into surrounding fields were discouraged by anxious farmers using a variety of protective measures.

Gollops said his big problem now is to find a field near here big enough to quarter the marauders. But there would still be the problem of keeping the ducks from neighboring crops. Their favorite food is barley which also happens to be the principal grain sown in this area.

Denounce Peron As Dictator

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 14 (AP) —Radical party speakers Thursday night called the government of President Juan D. Peron a dictatorship at a political rally of 40,000 shouting men and women.

Ricardo Balbin and Arturo Frondizi, candidates for president and vice-president, also told the crowd the radicals are sure of victory if the Nov. 11 election is free.

The two candidates described Peron as a "tyrant" and "dictator."

Both Balbin and Frondizi are awaiting trial on charges of desacato (disrespect toward the president).

The radicals' first mass campaign meeting in the capital went off peacefully in Plaza Constitucion with 350 police on hand.

Speakers said the army should impose on Peron the need for a "free electoral campaign."

Burglars Blast Safe Get $1,000 In Cash

KITCHENER, Sept. 14 (CP). — Burglars escaped with $1,000 in cash and an equal amount in cheques when they blasted a safe Thursday night at the Coca Cola Company plant.

Police said loss of the cash, in padlocked driver-salesmen's bags, would be "not more than $1,000."

In blasting the safe with nitroglycerine, the thieves blew three holes in the door of a truck parked about 2½ feet away.

Dug Up Graves To Study Bones

LONDON, Sept. 14 (CP).—A North London youth who plans to become a doctor was questioned Thursday by police investigating recent depredations in the old Scottish Cemetery on St. James St.

Police said earlier they are satisfied that the youth, 17, is the "boy with a knapsack and spade" that other youths saw entering the unused cemetery on different occasions.

The youth made a complete statement to police, according to the department, and was allowed to go home. He will face a charge of attempting to remove a body from a grave.

The inquiry began last Saturday when a five-foot hole was found in the grave of a man buried in 1880.

Police quoted the youth as saying he planned to become a medical student and that he wanted a skeleton for study of bone structure. They said he told them he dug 6½ feet down but found no bones.

Need Power To Deter Aggressors

Warns Legal Process Not Enough To Halt Enemies

TORONTO, Sept. 14. (CP)— Prime Minister St. Laurent said Thursday night that nations would have to be more willing than they now are to acknowledge common obligations before law could take the place of war.

He told the Canadian Bar Association at its annual dinner that the rule of law could only be established by the acceptance through the greater part of the world of common principles to which well - ordered nations should conform.

"But if we are to establish the rule of law among nations," said the Prime Minister, "we must have have sufficient force to uphold the law."

An aggressor who is a world power might be deterred by the sight of powerful forces in the "hands of those who genuinely want peace," said Mr. St. Laurent.

But in the final analysis the deterrent effect of power depended upon the willingness to use it.

Too Rapid

The Prime Minister felt that the legal process had been extended too rapidly in international affairs.

In forming the North Atlantic Alliance, the Western nations were following a legal process to which the Soviet Union had agreed in the San Francisco Charter.

Everyone in the free world would feel happier and more secure if the will of the United Nations were followed everywhere in the world, he continued. Since it was obvious that the surety did not exist, force must be mobilized in support of the will of the United Nations.

The Prime Minister admitted that the mobilization of force in support of the law was a fragile foundation on which to build a genuine rule of law.

But the United Nations with its constitutional veto was not a sufficient guarantee against aggression.

"There is only one way to restrain an aggressor . . ." he said. "That is by being prepared, if the worst comes to the worst, to use force."

The council meetings will be formally opened Saturday at 12:30 p.m. EDT in the commons chamber. An inaugural ceremony at which Foreign Minister Van Zeeland of Belgium, chairman of NATO, will make a statement, will be open to the press.

Close Secret

From then until the conclusion of the meetings Thursday the discussions will be in private in the railway room. Elaborate security arrangements have been made to assure the secrecy of the meetings and for the protection of top secret documents.

Mr. Pearson said the discussions probably will cover:

1. Survey of the international situation at present.

2. An analysis of the defence programs of the member nations and consideration of what more they can do.

3. The impact of the defence programs on the economies of the countries.

4. Consideration of ways to improve economic and general co-operation among the nations.

5. The admission of Greece and Turkey to the organization.

He expects a decision may be reached on the admission of Greece and Turkey and on a resolution calling for greater co-operation. Decisions on other matters, such as the rearmament of Germany, likely will be left for a meeting of the council in Rome in December.

The importance of the meetings here is attested by the strength of the delegations being sent by the member nations.

More than 30 men with the rank of cabinet ministers will head the delegations and will be accompanied by many well-known military figures.

TLC Reconsiders

Joe Barry, Toronto chemical worker said the homes now being built are of poor quality and sell "for such extremely high prices that workers cannot afford to buy them and be saddled with mortgages for the rest of their lives."

Harry Yeo, another chemical worker, said there has been chiselling by builders in home construction.

Jack Andrew, Toronto painter, declared Canada needs a government like the Socialist administration of the United Kingdom, which was building workers' homes.

"We must do away with the blight of landlordism," said Jack Hishon, Toronto machinist.

Municipalities should have the "duty and the monopoly" of providing housing.

As the convention moved through its fifth day, there were signs that a new scrap may be brewing over the issue of TLC cooperating with the nation's other central labor bodies.

Two Polio Cases

Two more diagnosed cases of polio were reported by Board of Health officials today.

One is a five-year-old boy from the city and the other an eight-year-old boy from RR 2, Hastings. There is also one new suspect under observation.

The total for Peterborough district is now 51.

Two Cars Collide As One Backs Out Lane

Two cars were slightly damaged Thursday night in a collision on George St. near McDonnel St.

Kenneth W. Chaplin, 444 Rogers St., was driving south on George St., and saw a car backing out of a lane on the east side of the street. He thought the car would stop, he told police, but it didn't. His car hit the other auto's left rear fender.

The other driver, Mrs. Helen Willcox, 300 London St., said she drove into the lane, found it was the wrong one and started to back out when she thought traffic was slack.

Constable W. A. Scott investigated.

Bank Holdup Suspect Has Face Operation

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 14 — Earl Gilson, 27, of Niagara Falls, third man to be arrested by provincial police following Wednesday's bank holdup attempt at St. Davids, appeared before Magistrate H. D. Hallett here Thursday on a charge of attempted armed robbery. He was remanded without plea to Monday, Sept. 17.

The other two suspects, both wounded and in St. Catharines General Hospital under police guard, were similarly charged before a justice of the peace and remanded in custody. They are George Dabald, 27, and Boyd Englehart, 29, both of Niagara Falls.

Dabald, who was shot in the face by bank manager A. T. Minnis during the attempted holdup, was in fairly serious condition. An operation was performed on his face Thursday and he had been given blood transfusions after he was admitted to hospital. Englehart, shot in the back, was reported as in good condition.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14. (AP) —President Truman said Thursday that as long as he is President Dean Acheson will be secretary of state.

Truman gave newspapermen permission to quote part of his remarks to emphasize that he does not contemplate Acheson's leaving the cabinet, despite frequent Republican demands that Acheson quit or be fired.

Yoshida Refuses To Rearm Japan

TOKYO, Sept. 14 (AP).—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, the cigar-smoking statesman who guided Japan along the road to independence, told his people today he will refuse to rearm this country.

The 72-year-old Yoshida's stand was viewed in some quarters as indicating that he would step out of office as soon as the United States-Japanese security pact becomes law.

He instructed his countrymen to keep faith with the western world.

Yoshida made his remarks at a press conference only three hours after he returned from San Francisco, where he saw Japan once again take its place among the countries of the world.

Asked whether Japan would have to rearm after the security pact goes into effect, Yoshida answered in almost inaudible tones.

An Associated Press Japanese reporter said he heard Yoshida say:

"That's up to Japan. But as far as I am concerned I won't carry it (the rearmament program) out."

The Japanese news agency Kyodo quoted Yoshida as saying, "I am not thinking to rearm."

Other translations varied. But the inference was clear: the tough, suave Yoshida would not personally see to it that guns were put back into the hands of his fellow countrymen.

Older Workers Less Likely Have Accidents Survey Shows

By FRANK CAREY

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 14 — (AP) — Evidence that older workers are less likely to have accidents than younger ones was offered today by three Ohio State University researchers.

Dr. S. L. Pressey and two associates said this was shown in a survey of records of a large department store and of an industrial firm. Each have some employees in ages into the 60s.

They told the International Gerontological Congress that this and other factors demonstrate the "worth of the older worker" in business and industry.

They said their surveys show that the frequency of accidents per 100 employees is "less in the older group and most in the younger."

Also, they said, average days of disability increase only slightly with age—from 2.1 days for men over 31 to 3.2 days for workers in their 60s.

Better Attitude

The researchers offered this profile of the elderly worker:

"As an extra, he is available for longer periods and is more likely to win promotions. As a full-time worker, he appears less likely to be discharged or leave because of dissatisfaction or family circumstances. He is absent less and has a better attitude than the younger.

"He is less likely to have accidents and not very much more subject to illness."

They added that while older workers were laid up a little longer when they were sick, they were ill only a little more frequently than younger workers in the two firms surveyed.

At the same meeting, doctors Irving Lorge and Jacob Tuckman of Columbia University declared:

"Many reasons have been given to explain the reluctance of employers to hire older workers. It is claimed that older workers are slow, increase production costs, have a higher accident rate, are a poor investment. There is very little evidence to justify these complaints."

Larry Boyler Funeral In City

The funeral service for Larry Boyler, 33-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Boyler, Lansdowne St. East, who died Wednesday in a Duluth Minnesota hospital from injuries received in a motor accident, Sunday, will be held Monday at 2 p.m. from the Kave funeral home.

The accident occurred when Mr. Boyler was returning to Regina through the northern United States after visiting his family in Peterborough.

Mr. Boyler lived in Peterborough for five years prior to enlisting in the RCAF ground crew with which he served for four-and-a-half years. When the war ended he joined the Pan-American Advertising Co. at Port Hope and at the time of his death was manager of the district between Fort William and Vancouver.

Besides his parents, surviving are a brother, Keith of Edmonton, and a sister Mrs. Della McArter, Prince Albert, Sask.

Car Buying To Boom In Few Years

BANFF, Alta., Sept. 14 — (CP) —Canadians will be buying more cars than ever a few years hence, Rhys M. Sale, president of the Ford Motor Co. of Canada, Ltd., predicted today in an address to the Canadian Federation of Automobile Dealers Associations.

"The current lull in sales," he said, "is temporary and does not reflect any fundamental weakness in the Canadian automobile market. It stems very largely from such artifical causes as discriminatory credit curbs and savage taxation. If these are corrected, there should be an early stabilization of the market . . .

"I accept assurance that restrictions on credit and the draining off of purchasing power by taxation are basic to an effectitve campaign against inflation. But I am not prepared to concede that any one section of the population, or any one industry, should be asked to bear more than its fair share of the sacrifice."

Not a Luxury.

He said "the attitude in Ottawa seems to be based upon a thin and timeworn belief that the motor car is a luxury. If that were ever true it has certainly not been true for the past 35 years."

Mr. Sale said some 6,000 men formerly engaged in automobile production or feeder plants in Ontario, are idle— 4,000 of them in Windsor—and that this "wastage of produtice effort is inflationary in itself.

"I doubt whether it is practical to induce many of these men to uproot their families and move elsewhere."

He stated that, in addition to the automobile industry, credit restrictions have apparently proved too severe in the housing and home appliances fields.

Train Speed And 80 Level Crossings

The City Council is considering a request from the C.P.R. to increase the speed of their trains through Peterborough from ten to 25 miles an hour. When cars and trucks are allowed a maximum speed of 30 m.p.h. this does not seem an unreasonable request. However, a train is a heavier instrument than a truck, and its strike is therefore more deadly. Before granting the permission the Council should satisfy itself that the safety of the citizens will not be unduly risked by the higher speed. There are some eighty level railway crossings in Peterborough.

* * *

Many of these crossings are shunting lines or seldom-used ones. But Peterborough knows to its sorrow that every single one of its principal streets is crossed at the level by a main C.P.R. or C.N.R. line. Not all these crossings are well marked. Some of them, like the C.N.R. just south of Lansdowne and Monaghan Road and most of the C.N.R. crossings along Bethune, are blind. Incidentally, the Lansdowne-Monaghan Road crossing has a bell signal which sometimes works.

* * *

The main C.P.R. line from George Street at the station right through to the western city limits crosses Aylmer, Park and Monaghan Road—all busy streets with heavy factory traffic on them. It also crosses Highway 7A. In our opinion the signals at these crossings are not bold enough now to warn of a train travelling at 25 m.p.h. Further there is so much shunting and old-womanish fiddling about of yard engines at these crossings (causing the bells to ring and the lights to blink even when the engine is standing still a hundred yards away while the yardmen have a cup of tea) that drivers, justifiably impatient, take a chance and cross anyway. The crossings at Rink Street near the C.G.E are dangerous. There is such a medley of tracks and fussing engines and parked freight cars (blocking the view) that nobody can safely know what is happening on what track when.

* * *

A speed of 25 m.p.h. is not excessive. Perhaps it will help clear the crossings more quickly and allow the C.P.R. noon train from Toronto to come in on time once in a while. If the Council approves a higher speed, it should also request that better signals be put up at various crossings, particularly at Monaghan Road and Romaine Streets. And it might at the same time take the opportunity to tell the companies a few home truths about their clutter of rails in the city, their belch of smoke over it (firing up right in the centre of town), their lackadaisical, whimsically-timed passenger service, and their almost complete disdain of people who want to send telegrams or get some information about trains after office hours; in fact, fifteen hours of the day, except Saturday when the service is reduced to 4½ hours and Sundays when the companies are presumed locally to sleep all day.

More Colour For NATO

External Affairs Minister Pearson himself ordered it. He said: "People at conferences spend a lot of time just looking at walls so let's have something good for them to look at." By "them" he means the illustrious company of delegates to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council assembling in Ottawa tomorrow. So Mr. Pearson, who ought to know a great deal about what people do at conferences, has ordered more colour in the Parliament Buildings: bigger and splashier paintings to be exact.

The fuddle-de-duddledies of former Governors-General, faded or jaded and stolid as death, have come down or been covered. Even the Fathers of Confederation (the black and white cartoon of the canvas which was destroyed in the 1916 fire) was covered. And what, pray, replaces them? Canada's Answer is reported to cover the Fathers. Canada's Answer is certainly not the answer to Mr. Pearson's order to get "lots of colourful Canadian scenes" on the walls. Norman Wilkinson's 1914-18 war painting has lots of canvas—it is huge, but it is not precisely Canadian nor is it colourful. It is blue and gray of warships and cold Atlantic. The soldiers on the ships are presumed to be Canadian—the First Contingent. The painter is English.

But that is only one canvas, and it may have had over-riding priority because it certainly fills space. Perhaps some cunning person thinks it will impress the delegates to NATO psychologically: Canada's answer—troops. If it does, we shall not complain. If troops in a picture will do the job, we can keep our live troops at home this time—maybe.

Mr. McCurry, director of the National Gallery, says that all told the NATO delegates will get a "good impression of Canadian painting" from 25 pictures that have been put in place in the big Senate committee room and other meeting rooms and corridors. So we presume that he has dug into the Gallery basement and come up with some canvases other than Canada's Answer and Vimy Ridge, another grim painting of the first war vintage which delegates will see. We wonder if the portrait of Mr. Mackenzie King, which ordinarily hangs from a pillar in the main entrance hall, is surviving the Pearson dictum to let the delegates have something good to look at?

We wonder, too, if anybody will have the good sense to take the delightful Hobbema from its shaded nook at the entrance to the Library and put it where NATO delegates can see it. Not only is it the best painting in the Houses of Parliament, but it was a gift last year from the Dutch Government to the Canadian people. Tucked back where it was, the Dutch delegate to NATO might conclude that the gift was not appreciated—artistically or otherwise. If we are crass enough to display Canada's Answer, we should have grace enough to display Holland's generosity. And who knows but other delegates might thus be inspired to get their governments to give Canada other such tokens of their esteem?

Mayor To Join Chain Gang

Through a prominent private citizen's generous sense of municipal decorum, Peterborough's mayors are henceforth to have a chain of office. The insignia have been ordered in England and will bear on the pendant a replica of the city's new armorial bearings executed and authorized last year by the College of Heralds. We applaud the gift and the sentiment which inspired it. A chain of office does not itself enlarge the office, but it enhances the dignity and emphasizes the formal authority placed on the occupant and his exercise of that authority on behalf of his fellow-citizens. In the facetious phrase of the Lord Mayor of London, Mayor Swanston will now join the chain gang.

Youthful Hooligans In Stockholm

Sweden is having its problems of youthful deliquency, too, but the reason given for it is singular. One night last week the grandson of Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, Prince Merid Beyne, was nearly lynched by a roistering Stockholm gang. The frail youth, a cripple in Sweden to convalesce was escorting a white Swedish girl home from an evening party when the incident occurred. In Sweden there is little animosity towards coloured people and seldom any racial discrimination openly displayed, so the booting and punching of the young negro Prince was blamed on the drunken viciousness of several gangs who hang around a downtown square and whose rioting for the last six week-ends has been disturbing the peace of Stockholm police.

These roisterers cavort to the latest American jazz in a "dance joint" and generally try to behave as they imagine some Americans behave from having watched Hollywood movies. They prowl their favorite downtown section of the capital and act like hoodlums. Some Stockholmites blame the influence of American movies. Others say that it is "just the quest for excitement of youth pampered by mollycoddling on the part of the authorities and by prosperity in a welfare state." The oddest explanation of all those put forward is that Sweden's 137 years of unbroken peace have been disastrous to Swedish toughness and discipline. They say that the Stockholm youth riots are an attempt by a foolish minority to assert itself by picking fights with the police to prove that they are tough and can take it.

On this continent the same youth manifestations are blamed on the war. Can it be that the Swedes, both rioting youngsters and grave elders, have qualms of inferiority complexion because they have been suffered to live for 137 years at peace with all other peoples of the world? Buck up, Sweden! Many other nations would gladly exchange such qualms for their belligerent history of the last century and a half.

Artificial Wool

Plans are under way to establish a large artificial wool industry in the United States, which is now heavily dependent on imports. The American Government and its Office of Defence Mobilization are so interested in getting the synthetic wool fibre industry established on a large production basis that Government subsidies are being considered for it. Since talk of financing an artificial wool industry began a couple of months ago wool prices in the U.S.A. slumped from $3.85 to less than $1.90 a pound. That, and stock-piling of raw wool by world governments and cloth wholesalers and retailers in a fiercely competitive, outrageously high-priced market, have caused the current slump in wool prices.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR ALPHA: Several weeks ago you promised to straighten out the Burnham family tree "next week". You haven't done so. Why not? Are there some kinks?

ANSWER: I finally got out in my wheel chair to the home of Mr. Mark Burnham, two miles east of Peterborough on Number 7, the large house on the north side just beyond the Keene turn-off. Mr. Burnham kindly put the record straight for me, and here it is.

The first Burnham on the record is Robert, and the date after him is 1581. Of his sons three emigrated to America as early as four years after the Pilgrim Fathers (1620) I cannot reconcile this Puritan emigration with a statement in the Burnham family Bible that Robert was (in proxy) a cup-bearer for Charles at his coronation. The three emigrant sons were John, Thomas and William. Thomas, who settled in Massachusetts was the progenitor of our Burnhams. From him, four generations later, came Asa, born in 1750 or 51. From this Asa the Burnham line in Canada is incontrovertible. Asa had four sons: Asa, Zaccheus, John and Mark, and Zaccheus was the first of these to come to Canada — in 1795 from New Hampshire. They were not thus direct United Empire Loyalists, for the U.E.L. migration was fifteen years earlier.

Now to follow this first Canadian generation of Burnhams.

Asa, son of Asa, was a prominent man in the Cobourg area and his son the Hon. Asa Allworth (1808-74) was mayor of Cobourg and a Senator.

Zaccheus (1777-1857) was the Hon. Zaccheus, the man of property from Cobourg to Peterborough, of whom much has been written in this column. He was a member of the Family Compact and a man of very large estates. He had only one son, but three daughters. The son was the Rev. Mark Burnham, born 1804, rector of St. John's, and of Cavan, and an Oxford man (Queens' College) and obviously inheritor of most of his father's property, judging from his largesse to family and church. The three daughters were Acksay, Maria (who married J. C. Rogers) and Affa who married the Rev. Elam R. Stinson.

* * *

HERE is the Rev. Mark's family of four sons and one daughter: Zaccheus (1840-1913) father of Mr. Mark (whom I visited this week) and of Thomas Henry, Florence M., George, and Annie Stuart; John, who married a daughter of R. D. Rogers and was a barrister and M.P. (he was never an M.D., as Rev. C. Mulvaney states in his 1885 history of the district); George, M.D., Charles (who did not marry) and Amelia.

The Hon. Zaccheus, the father of the Rev Mark, had the older brother Asa (already referred to) and two younger ones, John, and Mark, as I have stated.

John had the following children: Elias, George, M.D., Charles, Zaccheus, Harris, William, Margaret and Christina. The first Mark (1791-1864) was uncle of the Rev. Mark. He came to Canada in 1812. His family included Robert Wilkins B., Maitland B., and Henry Hamilton Burnham of Port Hope.

Here is a simplified diagram which will explain the cousinship of the two Doctors George Burnham, both of whom practised in Peterborough. There was a generation difference between them.

Sons of 1st Asa	1st Generation	2nd Generation
Asa	Hon. Asa A.	—
Hon. Zaccheus	Rev. Mark	Zaccheus (father of Mr. Mark) John M.P. George M.D.
John	Elias	Dr. Geo. Herbert John Hampden M.P.
	Dr. Geo. ("old Dr. Burnham")	Helen Seymour (m. Dr. R. P. Boucher)
Mark	Henry Hamilton	—

It will readily be seen from this diagram that "Old Dr. Burnham" was a brother of Elias, and first cousin of the Rev. Mark; and that the other Dr. George was a son of the Rev. Mark. The late J. Hampden Burnham, M.P. (who died during the last war) was a son of Old Dr. George and nephew of Elias; and Mrs. George Boucher who lives in the Belcher paternal home is a daughter of Helen Seymour Burnham who was daughter of Old Dr. George and wife to Dr. R. P. Boucher.

* * *

THE Reverend Mark lived in the house (now made into apartments) owned until his death in the 30's by Judge Huycke (whose son, Wilfred Huycke, K.C. is now city solicitor). This large house on Engleburn Avenue, Ashburnham, was the prototype of three other houses which the Reverend Mark built for his three married sons. These houses are: (1) the Burnham farm home on Highway 7, which I have referred to already, built for son Zaccheus. (2) The house behind the library—the only one left standing in the new City Hall block, built for son Dr. George Burnham (the younger doctor); (3) the house on Brock Street, near George, on the north side, built for son John, M.P.

"Old Dr. Burnham" lived at the north-west corner of London and Water, where the present Sheriff Harstone home is. The old house was moved up the street, as I mentioned a few Fridays ago. The present house was built for Mr. J. B. McWilliams, father of the present Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba. Old Dr. George's first daughter married Dr. Boucher and his second, the Reverend J. L. Gilmour commemorated in Gilmour Memorial (Baptist) Church; the minister of Murray Street Baptist. It is his grandson who is President of McMaster University, the Rev. Dr. George P. Gilmour.

Elias Burnham, about whom much is whispered, was a first cousin of the Rev. Mark and brother of the venerated Old Dr. Burnham. As I mentioned a few weeks ago, this Elias, barrister and large landowner, (streets are named after him and his children) was considered something of a rake. He left a family which has distinguished itself in several fields in various parts of this continent, and enriched and served Millbrook life well.

If all this record is not clear, try to draw a family tree from the information given above. It is possible.

SIR: A few starlings have been around East City during the summer, but all left about the time Cobourg had the battle with starlings. Do you suppose they left to help their neighbours out? Other summers, starlings by the thousands came to roost in the trees south of the foot-bridge. This year none have been seen. Can you account for it?

ANSWER: A Peterborough bird expert gives me this surprising information: starlings are becoming migratory, and each year more and more of them are winging south at the end of summer. They do not seem to go very far south, but at least they are getting out of this district and back over the border from which they came. This migration is unusual because the starling is an introduced bird, not a native. It was brought to New York from England in 1890. Thus in the short space of sixty years it has learnt the migratory habit of native birds which do not winter this far north. Whether starlings have become migratory because of a shortage of food here in winter, or because of an instinct to keep in the sun has not yet been determined.

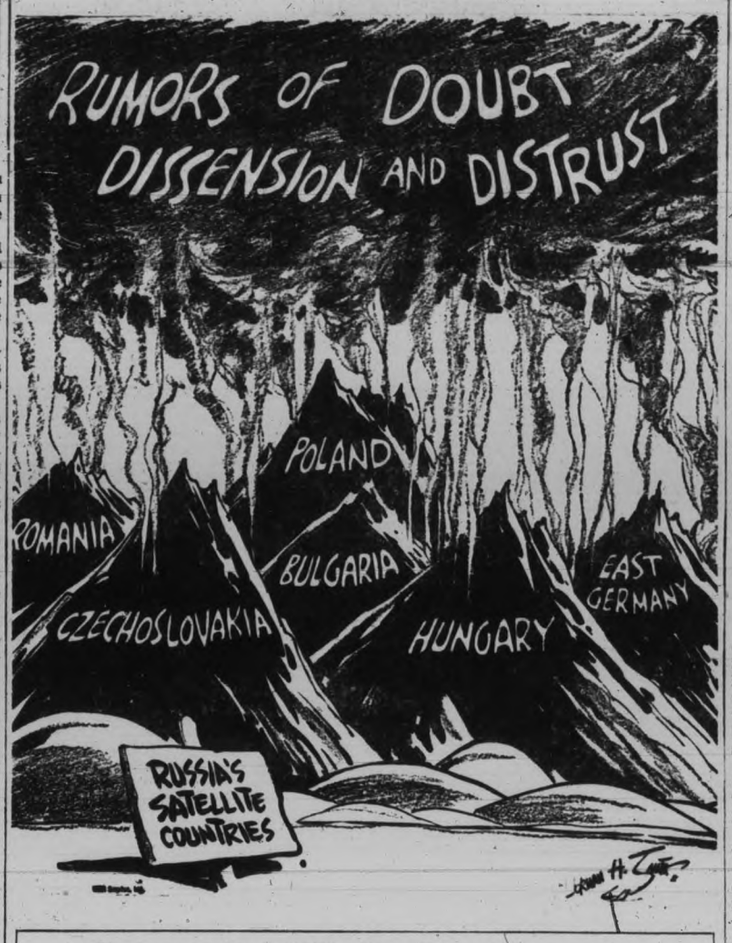
FOR THE RECORD: The exhibition of the Vienna collection of paintings, tapestries, armour, and objets d'art at the Toronto Art Gallery closes tomorrow. I have paid it two visits, for it is the most splendid art exhibit which Toronto and Canada have ever had. The Hapsburg Dukes who collected it from Spain, Italy, the Low Countries, France and Austria during three centuries, were of catholic taste and with the means to indulge it. The selection from the Imperial Viennese collections is rich. Even the Dutch room alone at Toronto is worth travelling hundreds of miles to see: a magnificent Vermeer, a Pietede Hooch recalling Vermeer's little street in Delft, a lively Steen, a splendid Ruisdael landscape and two Rembrandts are samples.

As I left the gallery the other evening about 8.30, crowds were queuing outside the entrance; the gallery itself was thronged. This speaks well for Toronto people, that such an exhibition should be more popular than a movie. Perhaps word has got round that the one Vermeer is worth $1,200,000 and that in the collection of ornaments is the world's largest emerald. The collection includes wonderful cut-stone glass bowls and jugs of the 16th and 17th centuries, the famous Cellini gold salt cellar, elaborate ewers of precious metals wondrously carved and studded with jewels, ugly, blue lapis-stone ware, and exquisite chalcedony and onyx goblets.

The Hapburgs seem to have had a passion for head-hunting. There are no fewer than six canvasses showing Salome with John the Baptist's head, Hannibal with the head of Hasdrubal and Judith with Holofernes' head—four of these by various artists. But the Hapsburg chin (shown in several portraits in the room housing beautiful Velazquez royal children) was strong enough for these and the buxom Rubens wenches.

THERE'S FIRE IN THE HILLS



Conversation With Persian Communist

BY PHILIP TOYNBEE

(Copyright Despatch to the Peterborough Examiner from Teheran)

HE was a big-headed, shaggy man, about fifty years old. When I greeted him in the hotel lounge I expected that there would be something surreptitious, or at least defiant, in his manner. For it is certainly true that a year ago he would never have agreed to meet a foreign journalist.

Nothing in Persia shows more clearly the change which that year has seen than the frank and confident bearing of this member of a party which is still, in dilapidated theory, prescribed. Technically, for whatever record is now kept here, he belonged not to the Tudeh Party but to the Association for Combating Imperialistic Oil Companies in Iran. The absurdity of the title is a token of the Tudeh Party's scornful disregard of the conviction which its disguises may carry.

He played through his record smoothly enough. It was not an occasion for argument, and my few depressed comments on his diatribe aspired only to elicit at least one unanticipated remark. But my companion's preconception was absolute and invincible. America and Britain are imperialist powers by definition, and it is as impossible for them to act out of character as it is for a leopard to change its spots. I muttered something about India. Of course! Of course! the granting of dominion status had been a subtle move against Indian communism. Also it had been forced out of the British Government against their imperialist will.

On Russia he was uncomfortable, but no less unyielding. Russia was the friend of the Persian masses, and had given no evidence of trying to dominate other countries.

This man was a peasant by origin, though now a Teheran newspaper editor and a member of the elusive Persian intelligentsia. His sincerity did at least emerge when he began to talk about the miseries and evils of his own country. His father had died of starvation, and as a child he himself had lapped up the blood from a slaughter-house floor. Meanwhile there was not a landlord in the country who paid anything at all in direct taxes.

* * *

HIS stuttering English acquired a kind of dignity as he spoke about the condition of his fellow-countrymen. He claimed that the threat of Russian domination which was held over Persian heads was nothing but a weapon used by the governing class to maintain their tyrannous position. And if he were not wholly wrong in this, his party would not be the pervasive menace to Persia's freedom which, by common consent, it has been allowed to become.

A man like this will never alter his opinions until too late. His conviction is that the evil he knows must be the worst evil there is and all stories about Russia's oppression of her satellites can be comfortably dismissed as imperialist propaganda. So it would be hard to claim that the interview was a deeply interesting one. But there was a wan and perhaps morbid interest in contemplating this vigorous and passionate man, and in speculating on his future. Before many months are out he may well be a commissar, making genuine efforts to put his principles into practice. A few more months and he will be a dead "traitor" or else a soured and unscrupulous servant of Russia and Stalin.

I gave him the benefit of the doubt; I decided that he would be dead. Perhaps the fiery patriotism of his speeches have already marked him down. Certainly his last remark to me as he was leaving sounded like the heavy tolling of a bell. "Even if Russia did try to dominate Persia under our regime, we are a proud people. We would never allow it to happen". In the present situation this simplicity is by no means a holy one.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And, behold, a woman of Canaan came out of the same coasts, and cried unto him, saying, Have mercy on me, O Lord, thou son of David; my daughter is grievously vexed with a devil. But he answered her not a word. And his disciples came and besought him, saying, Send her away; for she crieth after us.

But he answered and said, I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel. Then came she and worshipped him, saying, Lord, help me.

But he answered and said, It is not meet to take the children's bread, and to cast it to dogs. And she said, Truth, Lord: yet the dogs eat of the crumbs which fall from their masters' table.

Then Jesus answered and said unto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be it unto thee even as thou wilt. And her daughter was made whole from that very hour. (Matt. 15: 22-28.)

Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. (Heb. 11: 1.)

For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God. (Eph. 2: 8.)

Canadian Aide

(Saint John Telegraph-Journal)

Gen. Douglas MacArthur has been given all kinds of glory for the success of the forces under his command in defeating Japan during the Second World War. All the glory does not and never did belong to him exclusively.

The United States air forces in the Pacific were commanded by Gen. George Churchill Kenney, whose retirement from active service took effect on Aug. 31. Gen. Kenney was born in 1889 in Yarmouth, NS, studied at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and subsequently worked as an engineer in Quebec.

Overlooking his Canadian nativity completely, The New York Times has proudly claimed him exclusively for the U.S. as "one of the nation's most distinguished sons," a "soldier's general," whose men "love him and are proud of him, and of every honour that can be bestowed on him."

With that, The Times says:

"It is difficult to overestimate the impact of his imagination on the air war in the Pacific. His inventions, perfections of technique, willingness to experiment and sound common sense made possible the achievements in the air that covered General MacArthur's sweep from New Guinea to Japan.

"As General MacArthur's 'air brain' he contributed decisively to winning the war."

It is perhaps fitting, therefore, to offer as a footnote for U.S. history books that this outstanding air general was Canada's and the Maritime Province's gift to the war in the Pacific and to the success of U.S. arms in that conflict.

Unconsidered Trifles

"George looks worried today. What's wrong with him?"

"Oh, he's been contesting his wife's will."

"She isn't."

BATTLE OF BRITAIN RECALLED—Commemorating the historic Battle of Britain and honoring those who took part in the "last-ditch, stand to save Britain from invasion by the Nazis in the summer of 1940, the RCAF will hold its annual Battle of Britain Sunday this weekend. The day will be marked by church parades and special services at RCAF units across Canada. The above composite photo will recall the exploits of the "famous few" fighter pilots who, with maintenance men and ground defenders, turned back the Luftwaffe's bid to gain air supremacy over Britain. (1) A ground crew waves bon voyage to a flight of Spitfires enroute to intercept the enemy. (2) Mute testimony to the effectiveness of allied aircraft is this "dead" German fighter. (3) Shrouded in black smoke during a heavy German bombardment, the dome of St. Paul's Cathedral in London stands as a symbol of allied faith that democracy would triumph over Naziism. (4) Members of No. 1 Canadian Fighter Squadron prepare for a sortie against enemy installations on the coast of France. (5) Group Captain E. A. "Ernie" McNab, now a staff officer at Air Force Headquarters, who led No. 1 Canadian Fighter Squadron into battle and, compiled a record of 4 enemy planes destroyed, 1 probable and 3 damaged. (6) Not to be overlooked are the air raid wardens whose contributions formed no small part of the over-all defence picture. (7) The allies' first-line fighter in the Batle of Britain—the Spitfire. (8) Early warning, of an impending air attack, sent out by the radar units along the England coast enabled pilots to get into the air in plenty of time to intercept the enemy. Such a warning resulted in a "scramble" as pilots speed to aircraft. (9) The unsung heroes of the Air Force, the ground crew whose expert craftsmanship kept 'em flying. (10) As in the case of this crashed German aircraft, the Luftwaffe's efforts came to nought and David once again, triumphed over Goliath. (National Defence Photos)

Have High Standard Of Living Because Canada Has Much To Sell

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canadians have grown up with the idea that their standard of living should be the same as in the United States. But do we have a right to expect that it should be?

First, after you have stopped taking it for granted that it should be the same, you may ask why it is so close to the American?

Why can a people of such a scattered community—and especially the Canada of a very few years ago—enjoy nearly the same way of life as those of the richest country in the world; and a better way then virtually any other people?

The major part of the answer probably is that never (with the possible exception of the early United States) have so few people owned so much in a national sense.

From the fur-trading days we have been a people with something to sell—more of it to sell than we have been able to gather up. In our most formative modern years, wheat was the major item. We always had forest products and minerals, but the extent of recent demand makes them almost new industries. And to all our raw materials we have added manufacturing.

Live In Between

All along the way, however, we have been living between the advantages of being a few people owning a lot, and the disadvantages of being a few people having to run a large country.

John R. White, executive vice-president, Imperial Oil Ltd., in a speech Thursday to the United States National Petroleum Association in Atlantic City, NJ, put part of the problem as follows:

"From the earliest days, distance and the problems of transport have been the controlling influences in Canada.

"There are 3.32 persons per square mile of land area in Canada, compared with 45.1 persons in the United States. The average Canadian has something over 190 acres to take care of, while the average American has to look after a mere 14 acres. The average Canadian must maintain 15.9 feet of railway against 5.3 feet for the American; he must take care of 212 feet of roads and highways compared with 106 feet."

Multiplies Power

Mr. White also gave the answer to why we have done as well as we have. He said:

"How does a country attain a high living standard in the face of heavy transport costs and a small population?

"Obviously, the answer lies in multiplying the working power of its people by means of mechanical energy. And that is just what Canada has done. Our use of energy in the form of petroleum, natural gas, electricity and coal pow is rated at 207,000,000 British thermal units per person, vary nearly equal to the 229,000 000 units per person in the United States."

So, given the territory capable of producing a high standard of living, the answer seems to lie in putting enough production power into the hands of the people; and, also, on their accomplishing the production.

Have Less Waste

Mere numbers, of course, do not mean higher production. As countries increase in population, so do their non-productive and even wasteful, efforts, tend to increase.

It is widely felt, for instance, that Britain would be better off with a few million less of the part of its population which produces virtually nothing and consumes a lot.

In Canada, because of the relatively small population, there probably is much less waste of this kind. But even here it is sometimes a shock for a city dweller to think upon how few people are actually producing anything even though we may be performing services either essential, or considered essential under a high standard of living.

To come back to the United States—perhaps the greatest debt we owe that country is for the example she has set in demonstrating that a high and continually-rising standard of living is possible, and for showing a way to bring it about.

We believe that anything the United States has, we should have. Perhaps that is too negative an approach. Undoubtedly such a few people with so much to work on could accomplish much more than we do accomplish.

Many Upsets In US Amateur Golf Tourney

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 14 — (AP).—A poker faced suburban New York lawyer tries his golf case against a youth young enough to be his son, and a portly 40-year-old realtor plays a smiling red haired Texan today in the battle of unknowns for the 51st national amateur golf championship.

An almost unbelievable wave of upsets that sent all nine Walker Cup team players to the sidelines narrowed the semi-final field to 39-year-old Joe Gafliardi, Westchester County, NY, lawyer; 16-year-old Tommy Jacobs of Montebello, Calif.; well rounded Jack Benson, Pittsburgh real estate dealer, and North Texas State Teachers College's golf captain, Billy Maxwell.

Young Jacobs, who still has peach fuzz for a beard played some of the four day old tourney's most sensational golf Thursday eliminating Edward P Martin, Winchester, Mass., probate court officer, 4 and 2.

The national junior champion made several great recoveries as he became the youngest player in 47 years to reach this tournament's semi-final round.

Go Back Long Way

Officials of the United States Golf Association dug back to 1904 to find another 16-year-old semi-finalist. He was Fred Herreshoff, who lost to Chandler Egan in the finals. However, young Jacobs, whose father manages a public links course, wasn't the least bit perturbed by all the excitement over his accomplishment. His only comment was, "I'll do my best against Mr. Gagliardi."

Note that respect for his elders, "Mr. Gagliardi." Gagliardi has five children of his own at home, ranging in age from eight to 14.

Gagliardi has earned the role of giant killer. First he eliminated defending champion Sam Urzetta, and then just to prove it was no fluke, he rallied to dump the last members of the Walker Cup squad, Charlie Coe, 1949 winner of the national amateur.

Gagliardi doesn't play sensational golf. But he's consistent. And above all, he seems to put the heat on his opponent with an expressionless, business-like, confident manner.

Mrs. M. Rowe Retires As Golf Union Secy.

TORONTO, Sept. 14 (CP). — Mrs. M. K. Rowe of Toronto, who has been secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union for the last 25 years, will retire at the end of this year.

During Mrs. Rowe's term of office, the Union has grown from an organization of 165 clubs to one of 254 with a membership of over 17,400 players. Mrs. Rowe is credited in large measure with bringing about that growth.

As secretary-treasurer, she has been the connecting link between old and new groups of officers.

In the semi-finals mixed doubles, Mr. and Mrs. Charlton beat W. Elmslie and Miss A. Bubik 6-1, 7-5. They now meet John Faguy and Miss V. Rose in the finals.

Weather Delays Tuna Tourney After Two Days

By JACK BRAYLEY.

WEDGEPORT, NS, Sept. 14 — (CP).—A dawn conference of team captains in a bouncing Cape Island boat riding the turbulent waters of Soldier's Rip was deciding early today whether the 8th international tuna tournament, with Scandinavia in the lead, would wind up today.

The alternative was to go back to port in the hope the weather would clear for Saturday. Deputies fished for the captains until the decision was made.

After two days of tough fishing the score for the big world game fishing classic was:

Scandinavia, two fish for 1,621-½ points.

British Empire, two fish for 1,570½ points.

Chile, one fish for 726 2-3 points.

Cuba, one fish for 664 1-6 points.

United States, no fish and scoreless.

Scandinavia, with the biggest fish, an 805-pounder, was definitely the team to beat to win the tourney because the heavyweight brings a 200-point bonus.

The British got Thursday's heaviest, a 640-pounder boated by South African sportsman Dr. Edwin Coetzee, Johannesburg surgeon, after an hour and 59-minute battle.

Post-war winners of the tourney are Chile last year, the United States in 1949 and 1948 and Cuba in 1947.

Slight Error

Most keenly disappointed was the United States team. Just at the dying moments Thursday Maj. Davis Crowninsheild of Ipswich, Mass., snagged what he thought at first was a tuna. It later turned out to be a cable.

Cuba opened the scoring Thursday an hour after the start. Jose Macia, youthful Havanan who lost a big one after a 45-minute fight Wednesday, played his fish skilfully and boated it after 56 minutes. Wednesday his leader broke at the crucial moment.

An hour later Arvid Carlander, Stockholm pulp magnate, assured Scandinavia of their hold on first place when he landed a 483-pounder.

It was early in the afternoon when Dr. Coetzee got the big one of the day for the British team and brought them within challenge distance of the Vikings.

An interesting side development of this year's match is the great interest by world sportsmen in the capabilities of the easily manoeuvrable and safe boats used by the tuna fleet.

They are called Cape Islanders—a design originating with the nearby Cape Sable Island fishing fleet, and are about 40 feet long, powered by automobile engines.

Pope Leads In Batting During Cricket Season

The local "A" cricket club, which finished the Toronto District Council schedule with a victory over Parkdale late last month, used 25 players in the season. A. Pope led in batting with 233 runs for an average of 46.6 with F. Booth's 233 runs giving him a 22.15 average. B. Roberts had 105 for an average of 15. In bowling, Pope had 32 wickets for a 5.74 average, F. Dyer 10 for an 11 average, and Booth 10 for 17.5.

Of eight matches, Peterborough "A" won three and lost five, with the West Indians defaulting once to them, as they defaulted one to Parkdale. On Sept. 22, the Peterborough-Whitaker Club goes to Ottawa to play the Ottawa Valley Council team which competes in the County championships as Carleton County. This will finish the local season. The results of the season in the District Council:

June 2; vs. Oshawa at home. Score for 40, against 67; lost.

June 9; vs. Dentonia, away. Score for 33, against 41 for 6; lost.

June 16; vs. West Indians at home. Defaulted by West Indians.

June 23; vs. St. Edwards at home. Score for 109 for 6, against 112 for 8; lost.

June 30; vs. Parkdale at home. Defaulted by Peterborough.

July 7: vs. Dentonia at home. Score for 64 for 6, against 56; won.

July 21 vs; West Indians, away. Score for 101, against 104 for 6; lost.

July 25; vs. St. Edwards at home. Score for 57, against 62 for 4, lost.

Aug. 4; vs. Oshawa, away. Score for 137 for 6, against 65; lost.

Aug. 18; vs. Parkdale, away. Score for 175 for 2, against 172; won.

Strenuous Workout

KINGSTON, Sept. 14 (CP). — Frank Tindall, coach of the Queen's University football team Thursday gave his Tricolor cast its most strenuous workout of the season to date. He said he would use all eligible senior players in Saturday's exhibition game here with Ontario Agricultural College. The game would be a test game, for both plays and players.

RANDY TURPIN ended his brief reign as middleweight champion of the world, dropping a TKO decision to Sugar Ray Robinson from whom he had won the crown earlier. Here Turpin sags from a barrage of blows (C), then sprawls flat on his back in the 10th round to end the title bout (D).

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

If the weather is right tonight, there'll be high jinks down at Miller Bowl along about 8.45. And maybe blood on the moon, too. A huge crowd is expected on deck to see the Petes' Timbermen win the Eastern Canada senior lacrosse championship from Mimico Mounties. At least, the players expect to do so, though Mounties have other ideas. It's the fifth of their best-of-seven sawoffs for this crown and the right to go West after the Dominion title and Mann Cup. Petes lead three games to one, and should wrap it up neatly this even before the home crowd. If the weather is satisfactory. Should the locals lose — and perish the horrible thought — the sixth tilt is tomorrow in Mimico.

* * * * * *

And if it goes to the full seven games, the last one will be on a neutral floor in Toronto. Hence, this is definitely the last senior gutted-stick game of the year in Peterborough. It could be a dandy, if they play as they did Wednesday in the Mounties' lair. A hard-hitting and exciting scrap with the refs lenient throughout, figuring it was playoff lacrosse. A see-saw scrap with Mounties finishing a bit stronger as Petes appeared a bit below par. We imagine things will be reversed in Doug Miller's box. There'll be whoop-de-do after in that case, pictures taken, a party later — in fact, the usual championship celebration. It'll be one to remember.

Watch That Peterson, Eh?

Scrappy Don McPhail said he'd be in action here Friday, and so will big Penny Peterson (No. 19), who scored seven goals in the last game. And the trick Dixons and battling Downers. The whole squad. The Crowe crew will be at full strength, also, and are really after this win. If they take it, it'll be the first time a local senior "A" club ever won Eastern Canada honors in any sport, the first time one went after a Dominion title, and the first time one ever flew West — indeed the first time any OLA winner ever went by plane. Don't think those Timbermen aren't after that big trip! You'll see in this game.

* * * * * *

The trip will cost them plenty. Canadian Lacrosse Association, which is taking a healthy cut out of all these eastern and western quarter-finals, semi-finals and finals, pays transportation only, plus meals en route. Everything else come out of the competing clubs in Canadian finals. Hotels, meals, time off work, injury expenses, extra equipment, etc. A big bill. Incidentally, the Petes should take their own cigarettes along, as we hear they're being rationed in B.C. Or are we getting ahead of ourself? Well, some oldtime fans tell us the present power-packed Petes are the strongest OLA team since the great Orillia Terriers of around 1932. It could be. They're mighty good when they're clicking.

Some Sugar For His Tea

Randy Turpin, who lost his middleweight mitt crown the other night in New York to Sugar Ray Robinson, will be toting home to England some two hundred grand next week—plus the promise of a return fight in the Old Country. Which ought to soothe his wounded pride. Few folks bruise easily when slapped in the face with that sort of lettuce. Sugar Ray hauled down even more, and he certainly doesn't have to work again. Has plenty of New York property in Harlem, a big bank account and a piece of several good fighters. He was a lot smarter cookie than Joe Louis, who made much moolah but blew it all and is now in debt.

* * * * * *

Personally we can't go along with fight fans who say: "Poor Joe Louis—a credit to the ring—he shouldn't have to be fighting at his age just to get enough to retire on." Hah, it's like the ball fans (ribbon store clerks, etc.) who chip in to buy Joe DiMaggio—making some $100,000 a season—a car for a present. If Louis is too old to fight, let him get a job somewhere for sixty bucks or so a week like so many older chaps, and stay out of the ring. He's young enough for factory work. Why shouldn't he have been a credit to the ring? Everyone is supposed to do and act his best on the job. And, if he's broke, who is there to blame? After all, he was free, black and 21—and then some. Joe had his big fling, and we can't get unduly worried.

Tiger-Cats Wary Of Stronger Rough Riders

By The Canadian Press.

Carl Voyles, coach of the unbeaten Hamilton Tiger-Cats, thinks that any similarity between the Ottawa Rough Rider team that took a pre-season pasting from the Tiger-Cats and the present Ottawa team, scheduled to tussle with the Cats in Hamilton Saturday, is purely coincidental.

Voyles scouted last Sunday's Rough Rider-Alouette game in Montreal during which the Riders swamped the Montrealers 33-8. He said Thursday night the Ottawans have improved 100 per cent.

"Saturday's game may be one of the toughest in our schedule," he said.

The Big Four game in Hamilton is one of six senior grid games set for this weekend.

Montreal's three time loser Alouettes will be in Toronto Saturday to take on Toronto Argonauts, winners of one game, losers of two.

Busy Time

In the Ontario Rugby Football Union, Toronto's Balmy Beaches are set to play host tonight to the first-place Sarnia Imperials. Then they will hop a train for Windsor to meet the Royals Saturday afternoon.

There will be changes Saturday in the Argo team. Coach Frank Clair said Thursday night that powerful punter Joe Krol would sit out Saturday's game with Alouettes because of what Clair termed Krol's "poor performance" last Saturday against Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

The Toronto plungers have a new import to show off. He is halfback Ed Cody, late of the Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers, said to be a pass-defence expert.

New Faces

New faces will appear also among the Alouettes. Al Stevenson and George Hall will take places in the Montreal line. Stevenson played with the red-and-whiters two years ago and is getting back into action during an army leave. Hall is an Ottawa product who was cut from the Ottawa Rough Riders.

Sarnia Imperials will move to Toronto Saturday as leaders in the ORFU—with victories over both Beaches and Royals to their credit. The Beaches are winners of one game with the Royals.

Jamieson Pitches Orphans To Victory

COBOURG, Sept. 14. — Cobourg's Bill Jamieson, who returned from pitching pro ball in Appleton, Wis., made his first appearance on a Cobourg mound since 1950, a good one here Wednesday night when he pitched Cobourg Orphans' softball team to a decisive 6-1 win over Legionnaires, who represented Cobourg in the Lakeshore intermediate A loop this summer.

Jamieson fanned 12 men and allowed five hits in an abbreviated six inning benefit game for an injured Cobourg player. He was not scored on until the last inning when three singles in a row produced the lone Legionnaire tally.

Jamieson, the property of the Toronto Maple Leafs, powered a triple off Maxie Smith in the first of the sixth to round out his show for the home folks.

Ross Zealand, veteran catcher and manager of the Legionnaires, showed little respect for his former mound ace, getting three straight blows in the loss. He was the only man to get more than two hits on either team.

British Fighter To Take Big Shellacking From Income Tax On Collector Over Fight

LONDON, Sept. 14 (AP) — The pounding Randy Turpin took from Sugar Ray Robinson in New York Wednesday night is nothing to the shellacking he'll get from the local income tax collector.

Maybe he doesn't know it yet, but young Randy put his gleaming new middleweight crown on the line for not much more than peanuts.

By the time the commissioners of inland revenue—"Mr. Bloodsucker" to rueful Britons —have applied their tight formula on him, Randy's cut of $207,076 probably will have shrunk to a little more than $37,000.

The trouble is the 23-year-old former bricklayer has put himself squarely in Britain's ritzy class by swapping punches with Sugar Ray twice in 64 days—and the ritzy class is fair game to the commissioners.

Income tax in Britain really gets going for lower incomes at the basic rate of about 48 per cent. But Randy, who already had fought five times this year before first meeting Robinson, passed that stage long ago.

A surtax in Britain starts at the £2,000 level and rises steeply from an extra 10 per cent to a slashing 50 per cent above the basic rate for everybody getting over £20,000.

Turpin got £10,000 for winning the title from Robinson in July so most of his purse for losing it again comes in the highest bracket.

Randy Turpin Must Wait In Line For 3rd Title Bout With Robinson

By JACK HAND.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP). — Britain's Randy Turpin must wait in line for a third title bout with Sugar Ray Robinson if the middleweight champ's manager, George Gainford, has the right dope.

Gainford's master plan for the Harlem Sugar dandy calls for a mid-December charity defence for the Heart Fund at New York's Madison Square Garden. After that it will be Rocky Graziano in Chicago or Detroit, Laurent Dauthuille in Paris and then Turpin.

A third Robinson-Turpin scrap in London next June is in the works with Jack Solomons, British promoter, trying to set it up for White City Stadium. Nothing is definite yet but it's a natural after the sell-out crowd of 61,370 that bulged the Polo Grounds to pay a $767,626 gross gate.

Robinson, wearing dark glasses and a patch over his slashed left eye, met the press Thursday in his private office in Ray Robinson Enterprises, Inc., in Harlem. He wasn't quite as definite in his plans as Gainford.

"First I'm going to devote a lot of time to my favorite charity —the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund," he said. "I'll get back in training in November and fight for the Heart Fund around Christmas time. After that my plans are not definite."

Hints Retirement

Maybe Sugar Ray will change his mind when he gets hold of his $248,491 share of the big gate. but he says he'll retire in a year.

"I know I've slowed in everything," he said. "I used to see an opening and bang the guy Now I can't always make the move I want."

Turpin, unmarked by the battle although he was stopped in the 10th round, also repeated his plans for retiring in 1952. Although he's only 23, he said he'll go back to work as a brick-layer's laborer after next September come what may.

The sturdy Briton won't fight again this year. After a couple of days at his Grossinger, NY, training camp, he'll see the sights of New York. Then he'll sail for home on Queen Mary Sept. 21. After a "holiday" he'll make a few appearances in the carnival boxing booths to oblige an old friend.

Tigers Turn Back Yanks In 9-2 Shambles, Indians Bow To Nats 1-0

By RALPH RODEN, Associated Press Sports Writer

New York's dreams of a subway World Series are not so bright today. Brooklyn Dodgers, streaking six games ahead in the National League, are just about "in". But New York Yankees whose ball park is just a dime away, are showing signs of cracking up in the American League. On paper the Yanks were expected to encounter little difficulty in hanging up their third straight pennant because of a long home stand, but they are failing to take advantage of the schedule.

The Yanks have played horrible baseball of late. It began on Tuesday when they dropped a doubleheader to the tail-end St. Louis Browns. The Yanks rested Wednesday but the layoff did them no good.

Virgil Trucks and the Detroit Tigers turned back the Bombers 9-2 Thursday. The Yanks remain one game back of the front-running Cleveland Indians, who dropped a 1-0 decision to Washington's Senators. The third-place Boston Red Sox beat St. Louis 5-4 in 10 innings to climb within 3½ games of the top.

Brooklyn pulled six games ahead of the second-place New Yorks without lifting a bat. The Giants dropped a 6-4 decision to St. Louis Cardinals in a unique day-night double header. The Cards lost the night portion of the twin bill to Warren Spahn and the Boston Braves, 2-0. Spahn allowed only one hit, Al Brazle's sixth inning single, in posting his 20th victory.

Started Well

Mickey Mantle started the Yanks off in grand style by belting Trucks' first pitch for a home run. But the Tigers, aided by shoddy fielding, nicked Ed Lopat for single runs in the third and fourth and sewed the game up with seven runs in the fifth.

Trucks allowed seven hits as he chalked up the 100th victory of his major league career.

Bob Porterfield shut out the Indians on three hits in outpitching Bob Lemon, Washington. The Senators scored the only run of the game in the third inning on a two-base error by Bob Avila and Mickey Vernon's single.

Dom DiMaggio tripled with two out and scored the Red Sox' winning run in the 10th against St. Louis on a hit by Johnny Pesky. Ned Garver was the loser and Ellis Kinder the winner.

The Cards scored their six runs in the second against the Giants on six singles, two walks, a sacrifice, error and fly ball lost in the sun. Monte Irvin drove in three runs for New York. Sal Maglie was the loser and reliefer Dick Bokelmann the winner.

LEADS IN US OPEN

US Cup Team Has Tough Test

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14 (AP) The newly named 1951 American Davis Cup team gets another rigorous test today when young Tony Trabert of Cincinnati ties up with a former cup star, Ted Schroeder, in the semi-finals of the 25th annual Pacific southwest tennis tournament.

Trabert is the lone cup team member out of the five entered here who has survived play thus far. In Schroeder, he faces an experienced veteran who may be added to the American team before it heads for Australia in December.

A crack Australian team also has but one man left—Frank Sedgman, its top man.

Sedgman got something of a scare Thursday but finally got his game going to whip stubborn Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., the young man he succeeded as the US singles champion.

It took Sedgmamn five sets to subdue Larsen, 6-1, 5-7, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4.

Earlier in the bitterest encounter of the day, Herb Flam of Los Angeles ousted a player who made the team, Victor Seixas of Philadelphia, 8-6, 4-6, 8-6, 2-6, 7-5.
